REDS DRIVE TO TRAP ALLIED FORCE

U. S. Accepts U. N. Truce Proposals

Pay And Price Curbs On Way, Truman Says

But President Does Not Say When, And Declines To Predict Rollbacks

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—President Truman said today that wages and prices will be controlled as soon as possible but he declined to predict a rollback of prices.

Asked at his news conference whether consumer costs will be forced down to some previous level, Mr. Truman said he would have to cross that bridge when he got to it.

Mr. Truman would not say whether he will ask Congress to amend the Defense Production Act which forbids ceiling prices on some important foods at a level below parity (a pricing formula intended to be fair to the farmer). Some believed a request for broader price control powers over food products may be included in his economic message to Congress tomorrow.

The President gave no indication when controls will be imposed but he said they are on the way.

Labor Opposes Food Controls

Top labor leaders today spoke out for changing the law to eliminate restrictions on food price controls. They demanded that all elements of the economy be stabilized asserting they will not bring wage cases before the Wage Stabilization Board until this is done.

As another condition, they said the board must have authority to make decisions. The board itself is seeking full power over wage and salary ceilings.

So far the only price freeze put into effect is on new car prices. Government officials gave manufacturers a hearing on this freeze today and then went to work on a new auto pricing formula.

John M. Hancock, a New York industrialist named to study the automobile companies' complaint about the freeze, told reporters he is considering a formula to permit price increases "in some cases." ESA has ordered prices held at the Dec. 1 level.

As for general price-wage controls, there were reports that a policy dispute within ESA on this issue may lead to a shakeup in the price-wage agency.

Hoarding Of Rubber Banned

ESA Administrator Alan Valentine and his price director, Michael V. DiSalle, have not seen eye to eye. Valentine yesterday overruled DiSalle's plan for a 30-day, nationwide "moratorium" on price boosts.

Another agency, National Production Authority, banned the hoarding of natural or synthetic rubber.

NPA added rubber to the earlier list of materials which may not be accumulated "in excess of reasonable demands."

An official said the order, listing several basic materials, does not apply to finished products, such as tires.

Truman Drafts New Manpower Policy Directive

Conservation To Be Stressed In Order

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—President Truman is about to set forth a new national manpower policy for the mobilization emergency, calling for conservation of manpower resources all along the line, a defense official said today.

Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, assistant secretary of defense, disclosed the directive would be issued in a few days. All governmental agencies concerned with defense and mobilization have approved it, she said.

It would call upon each group to consider its own needs against overall manpower requirements of mobilization. She added that Mr. Truman would ask industry, agriculture, military and civilian groups to conserve available manpower.

Details Withheld

Mrs. Rosenberg declined to give reporters details about the manpower mobilization policy. She mentioned it briefly in testimony before the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee which is studying the Defense Department's proposals for draft of 18-year olds and universal training.

Mrs. Rosenberg cited the forthcoming policy in answer to a question whether enough young farmers would be deferred from the draft for food production during the emergency.

Chairman Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) asked why military leaders are aiming at a combined total of 3,200,000 in the armed services by June 30, rather than trying to reach President Truman's current goal of nearly 3,500,000 by that date.

Training Facilities Limited

Mrs. Rosenberg said the lower figure was required by limited training facilities and had been approved by high military officials and the President. She added:

"We are fully aware that our speed in building up manpower and production has not been sufficient."

Mr. Truman repeated his 3,500,-00 figure in his state of the union message to Congress Monday. He has urged it be achieved "as soon as possible."

Army Plans To Hike Draft Calls By 50,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Army proposes to increase its draft calls by 50,00 men because of casualties in Korea.

This was disclosed today by a Defense Department official, who said the additional call, suggested to the department, had not yet been served on Selective Service.

The department already has requested Selective Service to supply the Army 80,000 men a month for the first three months in 1950. The extra 50,000 could be sought in a supplemental call, or could be added in later months.

Truman, Shrugging Off Criticism, Says He's Doing His Best

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—President Truman declared tonight that he is doing the best job he can for the U. S. and the free world with no concern for criticism directed at his administration.

The President made his comments at a big reception given by the Democratic National Committee at the Shoreham Hotel in honor of new Democratic members of Congress.

Mr. Truman mentioned other presidents he said were "viciously attacked" in the press and elsewhere.

He cited, among them, Andrew Jackson.

"He didn't care," Mr. Truman continued, "and neither do I."

Bride, 12, Swaps Her School Books For Kitchen Utensils

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 11 (AP)—A 12-year-old girl has swapped her sixth-grade school books for kitchen utensils and has taken up housekeeping for her 19-year-old husband.

She is the former Virginia Pennell, one of nine children. Her husband is Donald Eugene Gray, a furniture factory employe. He's the boy who used to live next door.

How long they courted before they were married Dec. 22 is their secret. In fact, the mariage itself was a secret until yesterday.

Virginia's mother didn't learn of it until four days after the ceremony. She was surprised and said: "I didn't agree to it at first, but now that they've married, what can I do?"

The couple is living in a little basement apartment. Gray is described as a steady worker.

Virginia told a newsman: "I love my husband and I'm glad we got married."

The magistrate who performed the ceremony, George W. Johnson, didn't know the girl was only 12. In applying for the license, Virginia gave her age as 19. The magistrate said he had no reason to doubt it.

Five-Point Plan Includes Talks With Red China

Malik Criticizes Recommendations

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 11 (AP)—The United States accepted today a new U. N. cease-fire plan for Korea calling for a conference on all far Eastern problems by the U. S., Russia, Britain and Red China as soon as the Korean fighting stops.

Chief U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin okayed the plan shortly after its five points were outlined to the U. N. Assembly's Political Committee by Canadian Foreign Minister Lester B. Pearson, member of the three-man U. N. cease-fire committee. Britain, France, India, Norway, Israel and Turkey also accepted the suggestions. But Russia said they must be studied fully.

Malik Criticizes Plan . . . .

Soviet Delegate Jacob A. Malik declared that there was "nothing new in the substance of the proposals," that they sounded "like an ultimatum" and declared that it could not serve as a basis for peace. He asserted that his "first impression" was that the wording of the plan "is deliberately foggy to make possible interpretations in any direction later."

U. N. observers and persons familiar with Russian tactics in the U. N. said they did not believe Malik had closed the door. They said he apparently did not have his instructions and that he had not finally rejected the plan.

One point of the plan suggested talks for a settlement of the question of Formosa as well as other Far Eastern issues. Austin's acceptance of this point was said by several delegates to be much farther than the U. S. has gone and to be the first time the U. S. has even agreed to discuss Formosa with Red China. There was no immediate explanation from the Americans.

Tsiang's Reaction

T. F. Tsiang, Nationalist China, said the set of principles deserve careful study. He said, however, that it did not provide for withdrawal of North Korean forces from South Korea which he called a retreat from earlier principles.

The plan, if finally accepted by all sides, would mean that the U. S. would sit at the same table with Communist China in negotiations. The U. S. does not recognize Red China and has opposed its admission to the U. N. but Austin has told the Political Committee that the U. S. stands ready to talk with Communist China at an appropriate time and in the appropriate forum. The U. S. has insisted that it will not talk with Red China as long as the Communist Chinese are shooting at American and U. N. forces.

The plan will be submitted to the Red Chinese regime as soon as the Assembly approves it.

Senate Debates Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Sen. Tom Connally of Texas told the Senate in a stormy debate on foreign policy today that in "two years or even less," Russia may be ready to challenge the United States in atomic warfare.

With that warning, Connally sparked a full-dress discussion that saw senators on both sides of the aisle wrangling over American troop commitments in Europe and Soviet Russia's intentions.

Sen. Malone (D-Nev.) demanded that President Truman recall Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower from Europe on the ground that the General's trip is being regarded as a pledge of "unlimited American support."

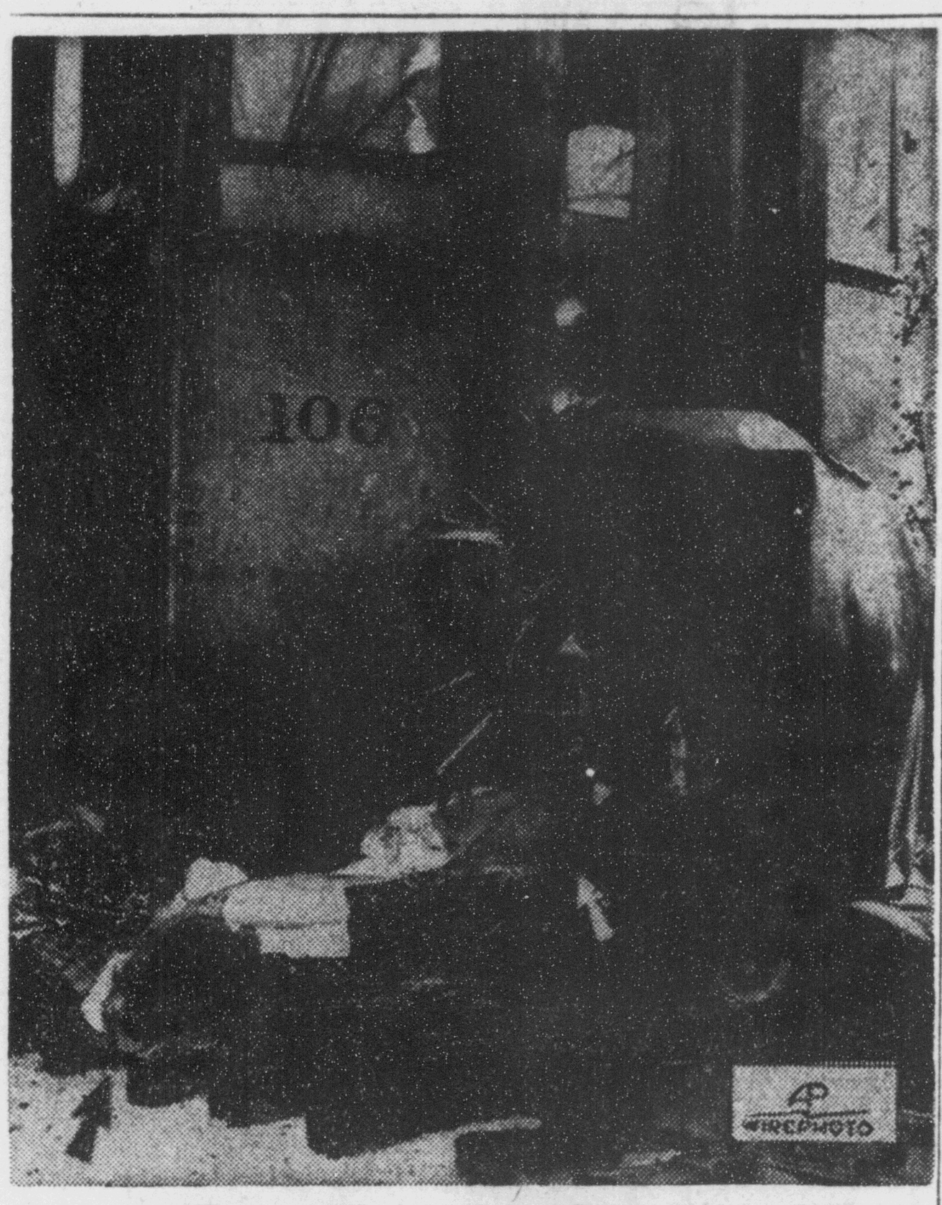
Republican Leader Wherry of Nebraska announced he will ask the Senate on Monday to consider his resolution opposing the movement of any more U. S. troops to Europe until Congress passed on the subject.

In the Senate, two leading Republicans split on the issue of Mr. Truman's power.

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), a staunch advocate of keeping the bulk of American troops at home, conceded that the President has authority to commit troops in time of war.

But under the present circumstances, he said, the matter of committing American soldiers to foreign duty is "well within the power of Congress" to determine.

Sen. Lodge (R-Mass.) disagreed. He said the President already has the power to assign troops to the international army in Europe. The troops must go where the commander-in-chief sends them, Lodge said.



Five Die In Crash

A man, his wife, and three of their children were killed yesterday when this Chicago, South Shore and South Bend train collided with the family's auto six miles west of Michigan City, Ind. Dead are James T. Rice and his wife, Bertha (white arrow), both 29, and their three daughters, Stella June, one; Ruth Marie, 2, and Shirley June, 4. Three other children were in school. One of the dead tots (black arrow) lies sprawled on an auto seat.

Truman Says He Will Consult With Top Lawmakers Before Sending More GIs To Europe

Declares Congress Consent Not Needed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP) — President Truman declared today he has the power to send troops to Europe or anywhere else he thinks they're needed — and he threatened to carry the question to the American people if Congress tries to stop him.

I licked 'em once, the President said in a tartly plain reference to his struggle with the 80th Congress before his election in 1948.

Mr. Truman's remarks, made under brisk cross-questioning at his weekly news conference, added up to a flat rejection of the stand taken by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) that the President must get Congress' consent before putting American soldiers in the new Western European defense force.

Several times Mr. Truman repeated that he will consult Congress as a matter of courtesy before taking this step. But he said with emphasis that, under the Constitution, he doesn't need Congress' consent. And he made it clear that he intends to send men to Europe as soon as he feels they are needed.

A reporter asked what would happen if Congress prevented troops' being sent to Europe by refusing to vote the necessary money.

Mr. Truman's lips tightened.

If Congress wants to do that, he said. They'll have to go to the country, and I'll go to the country with them. Then he added quickly: I licked 'em once.

He also told his news conference:

1—He had no intention of abandoning the "Fair Deal" even though defense programs must get top priority in the present emergency.

2—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, contrary to some published reports, has not recommended that United Nations forces be withdrawn from Korea. Mr. Truman likewise denied a Tokyo report that MacArthur has "muzzled" by Washington to prevent his speaking publicly about Korea.

3—The White House door is always open to Taft or any other senator. But he has no plans to invite Taft to come and see him. (The Senator recently offered to join the President in helping to form a united foreign policy.)

Women Coo At Hat Worn Backwards

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP)—A model at a women's spring hat show today wore a skull cap made of pink satin leaves with two roses in front.

"How charming" and "delightful" cooed 30 women buyers invited to see the new creations (by Aage Thaarup, milliner to Queen Elizabeth).

Miss Gina Davis, emcee-ing the show, looked embarrassed and hurried over to whisper with the model.

The hat was on backwards.

"Ike's" Plane Lands Safely At Copenhagen

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Jan. 11 (AP) — Safely through fog and rain that forced his plane to circle 20 minutes, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower landed here today in his fact-finding tour of West Europe.

The crew of his four-engined U.S. Air Force transport had a tough job in the dense haze. The drone of the engines generated obvious tension in the reception party on the ground, headed by Foreign Minister Ole Bjoern Kraft and the U. S. ambassador, Mrs. Eugenie Anderson. Two rescue cars were kept ready.

Finally the plane came in low, with searchlights glaring. The pilot used every yard of the runway.

Health Officers Alerted

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Public Health Service today put the nation's health officers on the alert against influenza outbreaks.

Tobey Slated For Committee Post

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Sen. Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire was the apparent winner tonight in a sharply-fought contest for a Republican seat on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Tobey in general has been regarded as a supporter of the Truman administration's foreign policy.

He won the nomination for the post from the Republican Committee on Committees on the strength of his seniority. His assignment, like others made by the committee on committees today, is subject to ratification tomorrow by the conference of all Republican senators.

Sen. Hugh Butler of Nebraska, head of the committee which makes the assignments, declined to make public the other nominations until they have been passed upon by the Republican conference. However, from other sources, it was reported that the new assignments included the following:

Sen. John M. Butler of Maryland, District of Columbia Committee and Postoffice-Civil Service Committee.

Moslems Cheer Rita, Aly

NAIROBI, Kenya, Jan. 11 (AP)—Rita Hayworth and her husband, Prince Aly Khan, were pelted with flowers and cheered wildly by Moslems when they arrived here by plane today.

Atom Weapon Tests Will Be Held In Nevada

Small-Scale Blasts Believed Mastered

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission announced today it will use a vast Nevada area for a proving ground to speed up development of atomic weapons, indicating it has mastered a method of small scale explosion tests.

Such an achievement would mean a valuable short cut in vital defense research. Presumably it also would hasten the day when the commission will know if it can actually perfect the tremendously powerful hydrogen bomb. It also may speed up work on new type a-bomb for guided missiles and artillery shells. Military officials have indicated such developments are feasible.

Authorized By Truman

AEC said nothing about small scale atomic blasts but its statement was open to interpretation that such explosives can now be set off.

Achievement of such a method would provide a "test" of the explosiveness of materials designed for an a-bomb without the necessity of detonating a finished bomb itself as was done in the spectacular series of atomic studies in the Pacific.

Sen. Brien McMahon (D-Conn), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Committee, said the new testing ground "will save precious weeks in making certain limited tests vital to weapons development."

Declaring that it has been authorized by President Truman to use a part of the 5,000-square mile Las Vegas, Nev., bombing and gunnery range for "experiments" necessary to the atomic weapons development program, AEC said:

A-Bombs Not H-Bombs

"The use of the x x x range will make available to the Los Alamos, N. M., scientific laboratory a readily accessible site for periodic tests work with a resultant speedup in the weapons development program.

"Tests activities at the new site will include experimental nuclear detonation for the development of atomic bombs—so-called "a-bombs' —carried out under controlled conditions."

A commission spokesman said the phrase "so-called 'a-bomb'" had been intentionally used to make it clear that the Nevada tests were to be aimed at the development of a-bombs, as distinguished from hydrogen bombs.

Radio-TV Race Probe Launched

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission started checking today on how radio and television stations are handling horse racing information.

It sent out questionnaires to all broadcasting outlets directing them to give detailed information about any regular racing programs they may carry, including the source from which they get the race results and other data.

The commission made clear that it is not concerned with the occasional broadcast of major turf features, such as the Kentucky Derby, but rather with regular daily racing programs which might be of aid to illegal bookmakers.

Last October FCC ordered station WTUX at Wilmington, Del. to close down and go off the air. A majority of the commission decided that the station had handled its daily racing broadcasts in such a way to be of assistance to illegal bookmaking operations.

WTUX responded that it had quit broadcasting racing information and asked that the order be reconsidered. Pending a decision on the station's petition, the shutdown order is not in effect.

Youth Executed After Reunion With Mother

OSSINING, N. Y., Jan. 11 (AP)—A scared 20-year-old youth died in the electric chair tonight, after his mother bade him an 11th hour goodbye and then left Sing Sing's death house to go back to prison herself.

The mother—a slayer like her son —was brought from another prison for a brief reunion with the condemned man, Harley G. Lamarr.

TESTIFIES—Mrs. Dorothea Matthews, 31, the "other woman" in the love-nest slaying of Mrs. Andrea Gehr, waits to testify yesterday at Carmel, N. Y., in the second degree murder trial of Herbert Gehr, television director. Mrs. Matthews testified she heard Gehr shout "Who's there" twice before any shots were fired. Mrs. Gehr was slain by a rifle bullet during a divorce-evidence seeking raid on her husband's mountain cottage. (AP Wirephoto)

Two Bombers Crash, Claiming Lives Of 14 Men

B-29 Explodes, Burns; B-50 Wreckage Found

SEGUIN, Tex., Jan. 11 (AP)—Six men died in the fiery crash of a B-29 Superfortress near Seguin today.

Air Force officials said five men parachuted to safety before the big plane from Randolph Air Base, San Antonio, plunged to earth in a farm pasture 10 miles southwest of Seguin. The plane exploded, and burned. Wreckage was scattered over a 200-yard area.

Col. Harold L. Jones, deputy commander of Randolph Field, said the plane was on a combat training mission; that the crew was undertaking transition training to familiarize itself with the B-29.

Jones said no bombs were aboard, and he doubted whether the plane was carrying any machine-gun ammunition.

A farmer reported he found the body of one airman, whose parachute was unopen, in the pasture near the crash.

MUROC, Calif., Jan. 11 (AP)—Bodies of eight men—six Air Force fliers and two civilian technicians —were found in the wreckage of a missing B-50 bomber about 10 miles east of Edwards Air Base here today.

An Air Force rescue team found the plane on a 4,000-foot peak near El Mirage dry lake on the Mojave Desert after it had been spotted from the air by searchers.

The bomber, missing since noon yesterday on a routine test flight, was piloted by Capt. William A. Bailey, 31, Weatherford, Tex. The co-pilot, Maj. Gordon L. Payne, Jr., Atlanta, Ga., and four other crewmen perished.

The civilians killed were C. A. White and W. J. Chrstian, both employes of Ryan Aircraft Corp., at San Diego. The plane did not burn.

"Perils" Author Dies

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 11 (AP)—Charles W. Goddard, 71, author of the "Perils of Pauline," died today at his home.

He had been on the staff of the American Weekly since 1923.

Although he wrote other movie serials, including "The Exploits of Elaine" and "The Hope Diamond Mystery," his "Perils," which starred Pearl White, was the most famous.

20,000 Enemy Troops Begin Flanking Move

2nd Division Holds Firm Near Wonju

TOKYO, Friday, Jan. 12 (AP) — A spearhead of Reds, 30 miles south of the U. S. Second Division's most northerly salient, was reported speeding southward in Central Korea today.

The drive apparently was aimed at cutting the southeast railway at Tanyang.

U. S. Eighth Army headquarters reported leading elements of the Red force (size and nationality not given) were ten miles south of Chechon and six miles from Tanyang.

Tanyang, a railway town 3 miles south of the 8th parallel boundary of South Korea, is 37 miles below Wonju of severe fighting for the past week.

Associated Press Correspondent William C. Barnard reported from U. S. Second Division headquarters Thursday night that two North Korean divisions—about 20,000 men—were sliding past the Second's right (east) flank. The Second Division troops were holding a horseshoe-shaped bulge with its top a mile and a half south of Wonju. Its east prong was west of Chechon, which is 21 miles southeast of Wonju.

Red Buildup Continues

The Reds which the Eighth Army reported ramming through deep snow 10 miles south of Chechon were presumably members of this same two-division North Korean force.

The main force of some 285,000 Chinese and North Korean Communists pressing the U. S. Eighth Army on the western front continued its buildup and the slow shift southward for an expected great new offensive.

The flanking move apparently was aimed at trapping the entire Second Division by driving through the rail junction at Chechon, and striking southward for Chungju. Chungju is only 90 miles north of Taegu on the main highway and rail route leading to the southeast corner of the Korean peninsula.

Censorship prevented further details on location of the Reds.

Eighth Army censors at midnight Thursday clamped the lid on further reference to the Second Division's stand near Wonju.

Allies Holding Ground

Barnard said the Second Division, bolstered by French and Dutch battalions, was stubbornly holding ground one and one-half miles south of Wonju Thursday night. It was filed at 10 p. m. Thursday (8 a. m. EST) but was not received in Tokyo until early Friday morning.

After three days of fighting south of Wonju, an estimated 2,100 enemy dead and wounded littered the freshly-fallen foot-deep snow.

The veteran Second had driven a four-mile bulge in Red lines south of Wonju in a counter-attack designed to interrupt the timetable of an expected Communist offensive through the mountains of Central Korea.

A Second Division spokesman said Allied artillery fire had taken "some of the edge" off the Red front in the main battle area south of Wonju.

In their stubborn stand near Wonju, the Dutch, French and American troops had stopped cold a drive by 30,000 North Koreans.

Draft Official Quits; Too Many Phone Calls

WEIRTON, W. Va., Jan. 11 (AP) — George C. Schwerha quit today as head of the local draft board, explaining:

"All I've been doing the past two months is answering the 'phone. I've been getting calls from people day and night asking deferments for their boys. Some of them weren't even scheduled for induction."

Roman Catholic Clergymen Forbidden To Join Rotary

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 11 (AP) — Roman Catholic clergymen were forbidden today to belong to Rotary clubs and Catholic laymen were warned to follow canon law in regard to membership.

The ban was disclosed with publication by the Vatican's newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano, of a decree by the Supreme Sacred Congregation of the Hold Office, which Pope Pius XII heads.

The reasons were not stated. Spokesmen of Rotary International indicated they were mystified.

However, a source connected with the newspaper said the decree appeared aimed at European and Latin American countries, where Masonic connections have been attributed to Rotary, rather than against Catholic membership in Rotary in the United States, where the international organization was founded 46 years ago.

There have been differences of long standing between the Catholic Church and the Masonic order. The Masons trace the origin of their order back to Old Testament times. The Encyclopedia Britannica says the Mother grand lodge of the world is that of England, established in 1717. All grand lodges in the United States adhere to non-sectarianism in religion and belief in God, and political activity discussion is forbidden, the encyclopedia says.

T. F. Tsiang, Nationalist China, said the set of principles deserve careful study. He said, however, that it did not provide for withdrawal of North Korean forces from South Korea which he called a retreat from earlier principles.

The plan, if finally accepted by all sides, would mean that the U. S. would sit at the same table with Communist China in negotiations. The U. S. does not recognize Red China and has opposed its admission to the U. N. but Austin has told the Political Committee that the U. S. stands ready to talk with Communist China at an appropriate time and in the appropriate forum. The U. S. has insisted that it will not talk with Red China as long as the Communist Chinese are shooting at American and U. N. forces.

The plan will be submitted to the Red Chinese regime as soon as the Assembly approves it.

Senate Debates Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Sen. Tom Connally of Texas told the Senate in a stormy debate on foreign policy today that in "two years or even less," Russia may be ready to challenge the United States in atomic warfare.

With that warning, Connally sparked a full-dress discussion that saw senators on both sides of the aisle wrangling over American troop commitments in Europe and Soviet Russia's intentions.

Sen. Malone (D-Nev.) demanded that President Truman recall Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower from Europe on the ground that the General's trip is being regarded as a pledge of "unlimited American support."

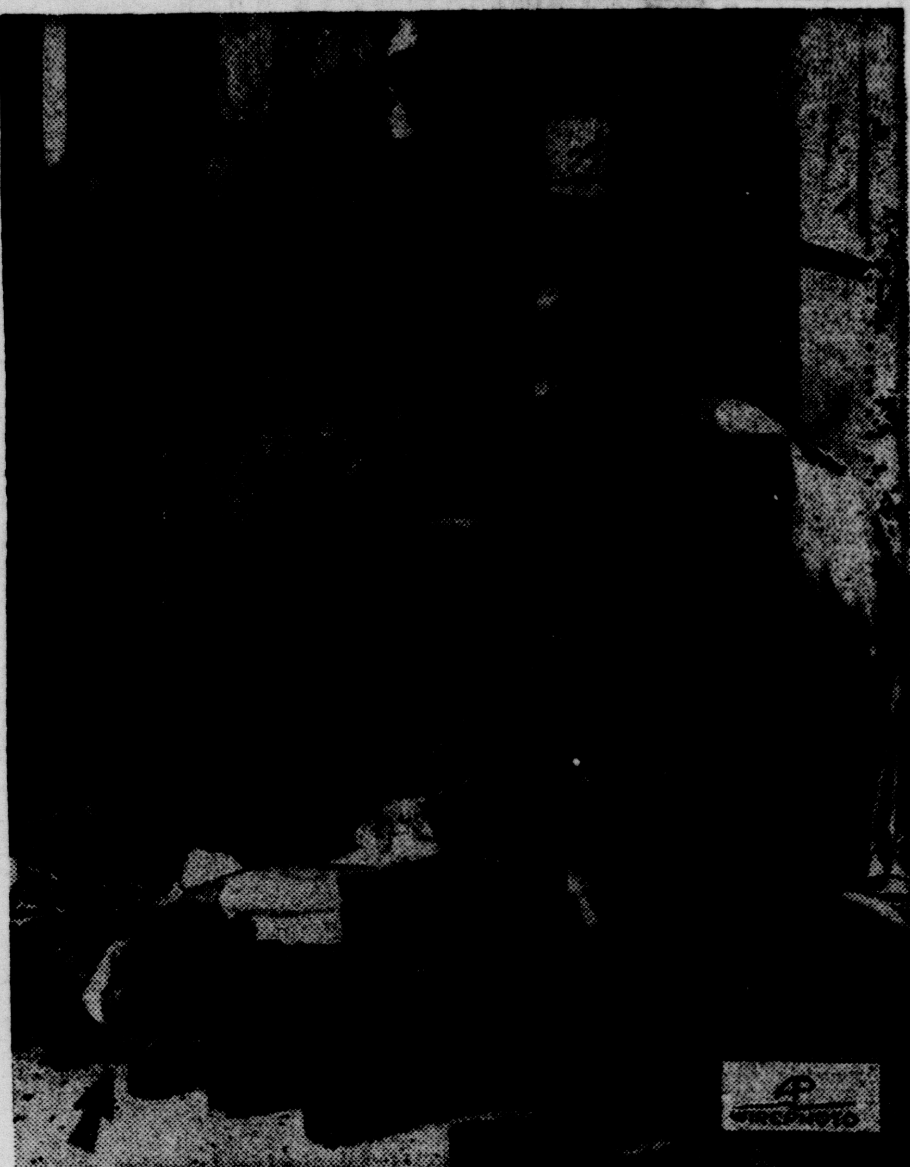
Republican Leader Wherry of Nebraska announced he will ask the Senate on Monday to consider his resolution opposing the movement of any more U. S. troops to Europe until Congress passed on the subject.

In the Senate, two leading Republicans split on the issue of Mr. Truman's power.

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), a staunch advocate of keeping the bulk of American troops at home, conceded that the President has authority to commit troops in time of war.

But under the present circumstances, he said, the matter of committing American soldiers to foreign duty is "well within the power of Congress" to determine.

Sen. Lodge (R-Mass.) disagreed. He said the President already has the power to assign troops to the international army in Europe. The troops must go where the commander-in-chief sends them, Lodge said.



Five Die In Crash

A man, his wife, and three of their children were killed yesterday when this Chicago, South Shore and South Bend train collided with the family's auto six miles west of Michigan City, Ind. Dead are James T. Rice and his wife, Bertha (white arrow), both 29, and their three daughters, Stella June, one; Ruth Marie, 2, and Shirley June, 4. Three other children were in school. One of the dead tots (black arrow) lies sprawled on an auto seat.

Truman Says He Will Consult With Top Lawmakers Before Sending More GIs To Europe

Declares Congress Consent Not Needed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP) — President Truman declared today he has the power to send troops to Europe or anywhere else he thinks they're needed — and he threatened to carry the question to the American people if Congress tries to stop him.

I licked 'em once, the President said in a tartly plain reference to his struggle with the 80th Congress before his election in 1948.

Mr. Truman's remarks, made under brisk cross-questioning at his weekly news conference, added up to a flat rejection of the stand taken by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) that the President must get Congress' consent before putting American soldiers in the new Western European defense force.

Several times Mr. Truman repeated that he will consult Congress as a matter of courtesy before taking this step. But he said with emphasis that, under the Constitution, he doesn't need Congress' consent. And he made it clear that he intends to send men to Europe as soon as he feels they are needed.

A reporter asked what would happen if Congress prevented troops' being sent to Europe by refusing to vote the necessary money.

Mr. Truman's lips tightened.

If Congress wants to do that, he said. They'll have to go to the country, and I'll go to the country with them. Then he added quickly: I licked 'em once.

He also told his news conference:

1—He had no intention of abandoning the "Fair Deal" even though defense programs must get top priority in the present emergency.

2—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, contrary to some published reports, has not recommended that United Nations forces be withdrawn from Korea. Mr. Truman likewise denied a Tokyo report that MacArthur has "muzzled" by Washington to prevent his speaking publicly about Korea.

3—The White House door is always open to Taft or any other senator. But he has no plans to invite Taft to come and see him. (The Senator recently offered to join the President in helping to form a united foreign policy.)

Women Coo At Hat Worn Backwards

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP)—A model at a women's spring hat show today wore a skull cap made of pink satin leaves with two roses in front.

"How charming" and "delightful" cooed 30 women buyers invited to see the new creations (by Aage Thaarup, milliner to Queen Elizabeth).

Miss Gina Davis, emcee-ing the show, looked embarrassed and hurried over to whisper with the model.

The hat was on backwards.

"Ike's" Plane Lands Safely At Copenhagen

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Jan. 11 (AP) — Safely through fog and rain that forced his plane to circle 20 minutes, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower landed here today in his fact-finding tour of West Europe.

The crew of his four-engined U.S. Air Force transport had a tough job in the dense haze. The drone of the engines generated obvious tension in the reception party on the ground, headed by Foreign Minister Ole Bjoern Kraft and the U. S. ambassador, Mrs. Eugenie Anderson. Two rescue cars were kept ready.

Finally the plane came in low, with searchlights glaring. The pilot used every yard of the runway.

Health Officers Alerted

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Public Health Service today put the nation's health officers on the alert against influenza outbreaks.

Tobey Slated For Committee Post

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Sen. Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire was the apparent winner tonight in a sharply-fought contest for a Republican seat on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Tobey in general has been regarded as a supporter of the Truman administration's foreign policy.

He won the nomination for the post from the Republican Committee on Committees on the strength of his seniority. His assignment, like others made by the committee on committees today, is subject to ratification tomorrow by the conference of all Republican senators.

Sen. Hugh Butler of Nebraska, head of the committee which makes the assignments, declined to make public the other nominations until they have been passed upon by the Republican conference. However, from other sources, it was reported that the new assignments included the following:

Sen. John M. Butler of Maryland, District of Columbia Committee and Postoffice-Civil Service Committee.

Moslems Cheer Rita, Aly

NAIROBI, Kenya, Jan. 11 (AP)—Rita Hayworth and her husband, Prince Aly Khan, were pelted with flowers and cheered wildly by Moslems when they arrived here by plane today.

Atom Weapon Tests Will Be Held In Nevada

Small-Scale Blasts Believed Mastered

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission announced today it will use a vast Nevada area for a proving ground to speed up development of atomic weapons, indicating it has mastered a method of small scale explosion tests.

Such an achievement would mean a valuable short cut in vital defense research. Presumably it also would hasten the day when the commission will know if it can actually perfect the tremendously powerful hydrogen bomb. It also may speed up work on new type a-bomb for guided missiles and artillery shells. Military officials have indicated such developments are feasible.

Authorized By Truman

AEC said nothing about small scale atomic blasts but its statement was open to interpretation that such explosives can now be set off.

Achievement of such a method would provide a "test" of the explosiveness of materials designed for an a-bomb without the necessity of detonating a finished bomb itself as was done in the spectacular series of atomic studies in the Pacific.

Sen. Brien McMahon (D-Conn), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Committee, said the new testing ground "will save precious weeks in making certain limited tests vital to weapons development."

Declaring that it has been authorized by President Truman to use a part of the 5,000-square mile Las Vegas, Nev., bombing and gunnery range for "experiments" necessary to the atomic weapons development program, AEC said:

A-Bombs Not H-Bombs

"The use of the x x x range will make available to the Los Alamos, N. M., scientific laboratory a readily accessible site for periodic tests work with a resultant speedup in the weapons development program.

"Tests activities at the new site will include experimental nuclear detonation for the development of atomic bombs—so-called "a-bombs' —carried out under controlled conditions."

A commission spokesman said the phrase "so-called 'a-bomb'" had been intentionally used to make it clear that the Nevada tests were to be aimed at the development of a-bombs, as distinguished from hydrogen bombs.

Radio-TV Race Probe Launched

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission started checking today on how radio and television stations are handling horse racing information.

It sent out questionnaires to all broadcasting outlets directing them to give detailed information about any regular racing programs they may carry, including the source from which they get the race results and other data.

The commission made clear that it is not concerned with the occasional broadcast of major turf features, such as the Kentucky Derby, but rather with regular daily racing programs which might be of aid to illegal bookmakers.

Last October FCC ordered station WTUX at Wilmington, Del. to close down and go off the air. A majority of the commission decided that the station had handled its daily racing broadcasts in such a way to be of assistance to illegal bookmaking operations.

WTUX responded that it had quit broadcasting racing information and asked that the order be reconsidered. Pending a decision on the station's petition, the shutdown order is not in effect.

Youth Executed After Reunion With Mother

OSSINING, N. Y., Jan. 11 (AP)—A scared 20-year-old youth died in the electric chair tonight, after his mother bade him an 11th hour goodbye and then left Sing Sing's death house to go back to prison herself.

The mother—a slayer like her son —was brought from another prison for a brief reunion with the condemned man, Harley G. Lamarr.

TESTIFIES—Mrs. Dorothea Matthews, 31, the "other woman" in the love-nest slaying of Mrs. Andrea Gehr, waits to testify yesterday at Carmel, N. Y., in the second degree murder trial of Herbert Gehr, television director. Mrs. Matthews testified she heard Gehr shout "Who's there" twice before any shots were fired. Mrs. Gehr was slain by a rifle bullet during a divorce-evidence seeking raid on her husband's mountain cottage. (AP Wirephoto)

Two Bombers Crash, Claiming Lives Of 14 Men

B-29 Explodes, Burns; B-50 Wreckage Found

SEGUIN, Tex., Jan. 11 (AP)—Six men died in the fiery crash of a B-29 Superfortress near Seguin today.

Air Force officials said five men parachuted to safety before the big plane from Randolph Air Base, San Antonio, plunged to earth in a farm pasture 10 miles southwest of Seguin. The plane exploded, and burned. Wreckage was scattered over a 200-yard area.

Col. Harold L. Jones, deputy commander of Randolph Field, said the plane was on a combat training mission; that the crew was undertaking transition training to familiarize itself with the B-29.

Jones said no bombs were aboard, and he doubted whether the plane was carrying any machine-gun ammunition.

A farmer reported he found the body of one airman, whose parachute was unopen, in the pasture near the crash.

MUROC, Calif., Jan. 11 (AP)—Bodies of eight men—six Air Force fliers and two civilian technicians—were found in the wreckage of a missing B-50 bomber about 10 miles east of Edwards Air Base here today.

An Air Force rescue team found the plane on a 4,000-foot peak near El Mirage dry lake on the Mojave Desert after it had been spotted from the air by searchers.

The bomber, missing since noon yesterday on a routine test flight, was piloted by Capt. William A. Bailey, 31, Weatherford, Tex. The co-pilot, Maj. Gordon L. Payne, Jr., Atlanta, Ga., and four other crewmen perished.

The civilians killed were C. A. White and W. J. Chrstian, both employes of Ryan Aircraft Corp., at San Diego. The plane did not burn.

"Perils" Author Dies

He had been on the staff of the American Weekly since 1923.

Although he wrote other movie serials, including "The Exploits of Elaine" and "The Hope Diamond Mystery," his "Perils," which starred Pearl White, was the most famous.

Roman Catholic Clergymen Forbidden To Join Rotary

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 11 (AP) — Roman Catholic clergymen were forbidden today to belong to Rotary cluos and Catholic laymen were warned to follow canon law in regard to membership.

The ban was disclosed with publication by the Vatican's newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano, of a decree by the Supreme Sacred Congregation of the Hold Office, which Pope Pius XII heads.

The reasons were not stated. Spokesmen of Rotary International indicated they were mystified.

However, a source connected with the newspaper said the decree appeared aimed at European and Latin American countries, where Masonic connections have been attributed to Rotary, rather than against Catholic membership in Rotary in the United States, where the international organization was founded 46 years ago.

There have been differences of long standing between the Catholic Church and the Masonic order. The Masons trace the origin of their order back to Old Testament times. The Encyclopedia Britannica says the Mother grand lodge of the world is that of England, established in 1717. All grand lodges in the United States adhere to non-sectarianism in religion and belief in God, and political activity discussion is forbidden, the encyclopedia says.

20,000 Enemy Troops Begin Flanking Move

2nd Division Holds Firm Near Wonju

TOKYO, Friday, Jan. 12 (AP) — A spearhead of Reds, 30 miles south of the U. S. Second Division's most northerly salient, was reported speeding southward in Central Korea today.

The drive apparently was aimed at cutting the southeast railway at Tanyang.

U. S. Eighth Army headquarters reported leading elements of the Red force (size and nationality not given) were ten miles south of Chechon and six miles from Tanyang.

Tanyang, a railway town 3 miles south of the 8th parallel boundary of South Korea, is 37 miles below Wonju of severe fighting for the past week.

Associated Press Correspondent William C. Barnard reported from U. S. Second Division headquarters Thursday night that two North Korean divisions—about 20,000 men—were sliding past the Second's right (east) flank. The Second Division troops were holding a horseshoe-shaped bulge with its top a mile and a half south of Wonju. Its east prong was west of Chechon, which is 21 miles southeast of Wonju.

Red Buildup Continues

The Reds which the Eighth Army reported ramming through deep snow 10 miles south of Chechon were presumably members of this same two-division North Korean force.

The main force of some 285,000 Chinese and North Korean Communists pressing the U. S. Eighth Army on the western front continued its buildup and the slow shift southward for an expected great new offensive.

The flanking move apparently was aimed at trapping the entire Second Division by driving through the rail junction at Chechon, and striking southward for Chungju. Chungju is only 90 miles north of Taegu on the main highway and rail route leading to the southeast corner of the Korean peninsula.

Censorship prevented further details on location of the Reds.

Eighth Army censors at midnight Thursday clamped the lid on further reference to the Second Division's stand near Wonju.

Allies Holding Ground

Barnard said the Second Division, bolstered by French and Dutch battalions, was stubbornly holding ground one and one-half miles south of Wonju Thursday night. It was filed at 10 p. m. Thursday (8 a. m. EST) but was not received in Tokyo until early Friday morning.

After three days of fighting south of Wonju, an estimated 2,100 enemy dead and wounded littered the freshly-fallen foot-deep snow.

The veteran Second had driven a four-mile bulge in Red lines south of Wonju in a counter-attack designed to interrupt the timetable of an expected Communist offensive through the mountains of Central Korea.

A Second Division spokesman said Allied artillery fire had taken "some of the edge" off the Red front in the main battle area south of Wonju.

In their stubborn stand near Wonju, the Dutch, French and American troops had stopped cold a drive by 30,000 North Koreans.

Draft Official Quits; Too Many Phone Calls

WEIRTON, W. Va., Jan. 11 (AP) — George C. Schwerha quit today as head of the local draft board, explaining:

"All I've been doing the past two months is answering the 'phone. I've been getting calls from people day and night asking deferments for their boys. Some of them weren't even scheduled for induction."

Study Of Many Living Organisms Made Possible By TV-Microscope

PRINCETON, N. J.—(INS)—Development of a television-microscope which makes possible for the first time the study of many living organism was announced by Princeton University and Radio Corporation of America scientists.

The new research tool will be applied to the study of cancer early next week.

Demonstrated at Princeton by Dr. Arthur K. Parpart, head of the biology department, the new device consists in an ordinary light microscope on which is mounted a television camera no larger than an amateur's 16 mm motion picture camera.

The image projected by the TV camera magnified by 2,800 times an amoeba mounted on a slide.

Chief value of the television-microscope, Dr. Parpart said, is that organism still alive may be viewed and studied as they function. Until now, most organisms had to be killed and stained before they could be viewed under a microscope. The TV-microscope solves the staining problem by using a different kind of tube for projection of images of different organisms.

In the demonstration, newsmen were able to see in clear detail the breaking and reformation of membranes of the amoeba as well as movements within the amoeba. Also shown was movement within a living plant cell.

Designed by RCA scientists, the device was perfected and tested by Princeton scientists at the Hole, Mass., Marine Biological Laboratories.

Red Tape Snarls Romance Of GI And Scotch Lass

MARQUETTE, Mich.—(AP)—Scotch Lass Thomasina Mullin and Air Force Sgt. Emil Paquette, Jr., figure their romance has run into more than its share of bumps.

First it was an ocean that separated them, with Thomasina in Scotland and Paquette at his home here. Now it's half a continent, because Thomasina has arrived in Marquette but Paquette is at an air base at Rapid City, S. D.

But although the two have met only by letter, they hope to get married as soon as military authorities will let them get together.

Blonde, attractive Thomasina and the Marquette GI, both 20, started corresponding more than a year ago. Last March, Paquette asked the Scotch girl to marry him and sent her an engagement diamond.

At that point their courtship got some international publicity. The British customs wouldn't let Thomasina see the ring until she paid nearly $50 in duty. But the London Daily News heard about the difficulty and paid the bill.

Then Thomasina started arrangements to come to this country. There were many complications, but she expected to arrive before Christmas. Sgt. Paquette got a furlough for the wedding they planned.

But red tape got snarled again, and Thomasina was delayed. The young soldier had to start back to his camp Dec. 26. Two hours later, his parents received a cable saying the girl was on her way. She arrived Dec. 31.

Sgt. Paquette now is trying to get another furlough so he can meet and marry his Scottish bride-to-be.

Gloria Swanson's Daughter Seeks British Theater Job

By SYDNEY MIRKIN

LONDON —(AP)— Gloria Swanson decided that daughter knows best. So daughter, 18-year-old Michelle Farmer, remained in London last fall when Gloria returned to the United States. Michelle wants to be an actress and feels the British theater is the best of all possible dramatic training schools.

The pretty youngster is a likeable mixture of determination, poise and confidence. Her features are more regular than her mother's but there is a trace of Gloria in her almost imperceptibly slanted eyes.

Daughter of a woman who was in show business in her middle teens, Michelle at 18 has acted in summer stock and in the west coast company of Tennessee Williams' "Summer and Smoke" and was a photographer's model in New York.

Michelle insists she is not a young woman in a hurry.

"I have a fear of anyone rising too quickly," she said in an interview, "and I don't care if it takes me 20 years to get to the top."

She explained carefully that "top" doesn't mean stardom. "I want to be one of these names that is seen regularly somewhere near the head of the cast."

Michelle says she feels at home here—not a strange feeling since she was born in London. But she laughed as she talked of "coming back"—she left London at the age of five months.

Her plan of action does not include a dramatic school. "I never was good at school and book," she smiled. "I have to get out and play even if I fall on my face until I learn to be an actress."

One of her reasons for choosing England as a training ground is the abundance of repertory theater, which has all but disappeared in the United States.

She is especially interested in one of England's best companies at Windsor and that holiest of holies for young British actors and actresses, the Young Vic, breeding ground for the world famous Old Vic Company.

But her plans are elastic. If she can get a role in a play—Michelle is available.

Anxious that there should be no doubt on this point, she called down the corridor as the interview ended:

"Please make clear I'm looking for a job."

Railway Buys Two Diesels

The Western Maryland Railway has received two new diesel-electric locomotives to be placed in service between Hagerstown and Baltimore.

The two new locomotives were bought from the Electromotive Division of General Motors, and will augment the large fleet of diesels already operating from the local terminal of the Western Maryland. One of the locomotives consists of three units, with a total of 4,500 horsepower; the other, two-units, 3,000 horsepower. Both have incorporated in their design the most modern features accepted by the country's leading railroads, including the latest improvements in air brake equipment and safety controls.

Simple Arithmetic Provides Key To Fashion Collection

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

NEW YORK, (AP) — Simple arithmetic provides the key to Adele Simpson's spring fashion collection, shown to the nation's style reporters.

Mrs. Simpson believes in the simple, straight-line silhouette — plus. Sometimes it's a suit plus a stole or cape, sometimes it's a dress plus a bolero.

In any case this designer feels that the spring costume should have room for variation by addition or subtraction.

Subtract the jacket of a street outfit, for instance, and you have a strapless sheath dress for sunning or party-going.

Subtract the cape from a tailored ensemble and you have a simple, streamlined suit.

So, advises Mrs. Simpson, if you would keep up with fashion this spring, learn your plus and minus rules.

In her "plus" collection Mrs. Simpson shows the "disarmer" jacket over a black crepe sheath dress designed for after-five wear. The "disarmer" is a sort of sling cape lined with black and white scroll print which forms a portrait collar, shrugs obligingly on and off the arms.

The "galivanter" is the Simpson name for a "dress plus" — this time a slim dress in black, navy or pin-checked wool with a detachable shoulder cape.

Dress and cape serve as a complete spring ensemble, while the dress alone is simple enough to be transformed by addition and subtraction of jewelry, scarfs, belts and such.

Also in the lineup was a collection of Parisian Jacques Fath, designed for New Yorker Joseph Halpert. Mr. Fath shows his usual spirited, youthful collection of clean-lined suits and tailored dresses, with tricks such as starched collars and surface details of stitching, braid or tucks.

Treaty Ratification

One important constitutional change would be to abolish the two-thirds requirement for senatorial ratification of treaties, thinks Dr. James K. Pollock of the University of Michigan. Recently he told the American Political Science Association that he would substitute a majority vote of both houses.

A two-thirds vote is notoriously difficult to get on any contested issue. The Senate practice has defeated a number of worthy treaties, and has also prevented others from being submitted because of the likelihood of their defeat. Of course some bad treaties also have been defeated. And some questionable treaties which might otherwise have been presented earlier have been held up until they were improved sufficiently to stand a good chance of two-thirds approval.

Most of the arguments work both ways. If approval were too easy, too many treaties might be made. If ratification is too hard to win, the administration may resort to simple executive agreements, not submitted to Congress at all. This circumvents the Constitution. Authority to do it in specific cases can be given by joint resolution in Congress, so that the legislative body at least approves the intent. Blanket authority to make executive agreements on tariffs is granted under the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act.

In general, important international agreements ought to be made by formal treaty, and the requirement for specific ratification of each treaty is wise, since a treaty binds the nation and the people. The House is more responsive to the people than the Senate, and often differs on matters of foreign relations. The proposition that both should have a voice in treaty ratification is worth considering.

Help For Indians

In bettering the lot of American Indians, as with any other underdeveloped group, the most important agency to be promoted is education. The physical environment of the older tribal members can be improved somewhat, but their mental habits and attitudes are likely to be fairly rigid. It is with the children and the young people that the greatest hope of a better future rests.

The Congressional move nearly a year ago to authorize a ten-year improvement program for the Navajo and Hopi tribes has already brought progress. Some of the hoped-for new buildings for hospitals and schools perhaps must be foregone for the present, owing to government curtailment of non-defense construction. The buildings now in use are being improved, however, and new equipment installed. Boarding schools for Indian children living in isolated districts are being expanded. Public health projects are being pushed and tuberculosis, a major scourge among these Indians, is the object of a concerted attack. Employment conditions are improving on the reservations and some tribesmen, properly trained, are employed in aircraft plants and ammunition depots.

The dependent attitude of the reservation Indian somehow must be changed to one which wants not paternalistic care but a chance for independent action. Future generations may achieve this attitude, if proper help is given now.

Finger On Federal Waste

Some time has passed since a House subcommittee revealed the case of the 50-cent magazine which cost the government $13.39. Nevertheless it is still quite appropriate to recall attention to it, because this is the kind of petty extravagance which the worried taxpayer is likely to snort about and then forget, because $13.39 seems so trifling a sum in a federal budget of billions.

This $13.39 item is not trifling. It is the specific answer to some persistent general questions: Why does government cost so much? What do more than two million government employes do? Where can we look for needless and wasteful items whch can be eliminated? What is the meaning of red tape?

Here is the answer. Red tape is $12.89 worth of paper work to buy something costing 50 cents. This is what we can get along without. This is what we can get rid of to reduce the cost of government and at the same time make it possible for the government to provide more useful services for the people.

Records are necessary. They cost something, but the cost need not be in that proportion.

This incident happened in the Department of the Interior. It could have happened in any government office. We hope this story haunts that department and every other department, and haunts Congress, until something is done about it.

Oldest King Today

Scandinavian kings are long-lived. The oldest monarch in the world today is King Haakon VII of Norway, who is 78. He obtained this distinction at the recent death of King Gustav V of Sweden at the ripe old age of 94.

Gustav may well be the modern champion for old age among kings. He might be the leader for all time if ancient Egyptian history did not record an older. King Pepi II, who ruled over 4,000 years ago, is stated to have come on the throne at the age of six and to have reigned for a length of time variously stated anywhere from 90 to 100 years.

Being a king is a less arduous business today than in early times when a ruler was his own commander-in-chief and an autocrat in internal affairs. The chief duty of a monarch now is to be a symbol of national unity, and to be honored as Americans honor the Flag. That and social obligations take up most of his duties, and should not be too exacting or wearing.

Haakon might have more rivals for the title of oldest reigning king, except that the world has few royal rulers left.

No Immediate War?

If those who are presumed to be informed on world affairs know what they are talking about, the odds are against a general war with Russia in the immediate future.

While all fear World War III, it is widely contended Russia is not ready for all-out war, and there are reports — which may or may not be reliable — that Moscow has made no extensive preparations to defend Russian terrain against bombing.

The Soviet government, however, continues to build up its aggressive military might. The next Red move may be against Southeast Asia, source of oil and rubber needed by the bolsheviki.

In the meantime, there may be other Koreas, with the Soviet seeking to dissipate U. S. military strength in futile foreign engagements.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

After 65

IN THE UNITED STATES there are now approximately 11½ million persons 65 and older. The majority are voters and about one-third are wage earners or wives of wage earners. This has many social and political implications, more so when we consider that it is estimated that in 1960 the figure will reach 15 million and by 1975, 20 million.

One hundred years ago only one in every 38 Americans was past 65; in 1900 the proportion was one in 25; today it is one in 13. These statistics give additional food for thought, especially among those who enjoy lively Saturday night discussions on this changing world. The feminine superiority also is evident; only 90 men to every 100 women survive to this age. Two out of three men in this group are married and the majority of women are widowed.

Individuals approaching old age might find it encouraging to hear that only 3 per cent of the population aged 65 and older live in institutions. In other words, the chances of going to an old people's home, poor farm, or what-have-you is remote. The opposite may be true because there are many excellent institutions where old folk are having the times of their lives with companions of their own age. Four-fifths of all men and women over 65 live with some member of the family; 600,000 of the man and 300,000 of the women have absolutely no income but one-half of these women are not as badly off as it may seem because they are being supported by the husbands.

What health precautions should the elderly take to prolong life? In general, the majority do well by following the usual rules of health: adequate sleep, moderate exercise, periodic examinations, and a proper balance between work and play in keeping with their age. Diet is important but the oldster must be careful not to fall for the recommendations of faddists and self-styled nutritionists. One old codger of my acquaintance became deathly ill when he switched to a diet of yogurt and blackstrap molasses.

Ordinary foods are good enough for most of us and the old do not thrive when their routine is changed markedly. Furthermore, eggs, meat, and milk should not be omitted from the meals becaue of talk that they contain cholesterol, a chemical that is said to induce hardening of the arteries. Most of this work is still experimental. In addition, the body manufactures its own cholesterol of which it can use what it wants. Dietary changes are needed only when chewing is difficult because of dental troubles or if intestinal disturbances are present. But even symptoms such as belching, gas, constipation, and diarrhea often can be corrected, frequently with hydrochloric acid, pepsin, or other ferments should these substances be lacking in the system.

What can be done about the degenerative diseases to which 80 per cent of the elderly population succumb? Common sense dictates that obeying the ordinary rules of health will be as effective as anything. No magic pills will create a fountain of youth and the sooner this is recognized, the better. "Take care of what you got" is a crude expression but good advice. The changes of age are not caused entirely by the passage of time; the summation of insults and injuries of an active and vigorous life also play a role. Examination usually discloses that this leaves some parts weaker than others but when we know where the fifth column lies we are better able to care for ourselves.

The newspaper story from England did not give this information. In this experimental study, thiourea was given to nine mice that were than exposed to lethal doses of X-ray. Eight survived. This is only the beginning of research of this nature and a better question than the one you ased would be whether the plan will work in human beings.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Move To Put Republicans In Cabinet; Dewey Might Be Secretary Of State; Split Between Liberal and Conservative Republicans Increases

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON.—President Truman isn't likely to move on it, but some of his genuine well-wishers have been dropping discreet hints that the most important thing he can do to bring about national unity is appoint two top Republicans to his Cabinet — including possibly Governor Dewey as Secretary of State.

Most unfortunate difficulty about the current bickering over foreign policy is the reaction abroad. All over Europe there has been indecision and dismay. The recent foreign-policy controversies came on top of the Korean disaster, also on top of the President's music-critic letter, both of which increased lack of confidence among our allies.

Most people don't realize it, but the music-critic letter was published all the way from Africa to Norway. To the man in the street it may have been humorous, but to the prime ministers and foreign ministers of Europe, it aroused fear that the head of the United States government might lose his temper, not merely over a music critic but over a potential enemy, and plunge the world into war.

For these and other reasons, some of the top Democrats in Washington ardently hope for more unity, even if means surrounding the President with a few Republicans.

They recall how President Roosevelt increased unity before Pearl Harbor by bringing two leading Republicans—Henry L. Stimson and Frank Knox—into his Cabinet as Secretary of War and Secretary of the Navy. And while there is not too much personal enthusiasm about Governor Dewey in Democratic circles, he is recognized as a man of real ability and deep sincerity as far as his country is concerned.

Furthermore, it is believed that Secretary of State Acheson would be glad to bow out in favor of Dewey in the interest of national unity. Acheson and Dewey have been conferring privately for the last six months, and several times Dewey has come to Acheson's support. Finally, Acheson had privately hoped to leave the State Department, though he does not want to do so under fire.

Naval Comeback

It was just about a year ago that the most harassed and criticized man in Washington was Secretary of the Navy Francis Matthews.

At that time, the admirals were up in arms over unification and one admiral had to be relieved. Captain Crommelin was campaigning for a super airplane carrier. A secret propaganda agency in the Navy was shooting out malice against the air forces. And Matthews was branded as a fresh-water executive from Omaha whose knowledge of shipping was confined to mud scows on the Missouri River.

However, the political pendulum has a habit of swinging into Washington, and today Matthews is riding the crest of the wave.

Secret of his comeback was keeping quiet, being a good sport and working closely with the efficient new executive whom he picked to be chief of naval operations—Adm. Forrest Sherman.

Today the Navy has scored some real triumphs in the Korean War, especially the evacuation of Hungnan where not a single life was lost. And the much-debated super airplane carrier which the Navy so much wanted is to be built after all.

NOTE—Admiral Sherman, who was Matthews' personal choice to be chief of naval operations, has been so fair with the Army and Air Force that, if General Bradley should be promoted to become White House Chief of Staff, Sherman would probably succeed him as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Morse Says No

During every recent election, Wayne Morse, the independent, pro-labor senator from Oregon, has waltzed out into the political arena to make speeches for his conservative anti-labor GOP colleagues. No matter how much Morse disagreed with those colleagues, he rallied to their support at election time—even making a speech against his close friend, Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois, in favor of the Chicago Tribune's candidate, Curley Brooks.

Now, however, Morse says "no more." Failure of Republican leaders to put Morse on the important GOP Policy Committee of the Senate was too much.

"They need not think they can get me to campaign all around the country for reactionary candidates," he told friends, "and then discipline me in the Republican conference by not putting me on the policy committee. I've supported my last reactionary Republican and they can lump it."

When the new policy committee was announced at a closed-door caucus, North Dakota's Sen. Bill Langer snorted: "I protest this kind of a committee with no progressives on it. I think Morse should be on it. You expect him to campaign for you, but when it comes to recognition here, you pass him by."

BEEF BAN—The American people were about to get some extra meat last week at cheaper prices when the telephone rang in Secretary Brannan's apartment telling him that the first case of hoof-and-mouth disease in 13 months had broken out at Colmalteco, Mexico. With hoof-and-mouth disease on the down grade, Brannan had been all set to lift the ban against Mexican beef. As a result of that phone call, however, Mexican cattle must still be banned and the price of beef will continue high.

U. S. SURVIVAL—Army Chief of Staff, Gen. Joe Collins warned the State Armed Services Committee behind closed doors that the United States may not survive—if Western Europe falls into Russian hands. Warning that Russia would turn Europe's industrial warmaking power against us, Collins declared: "If Russia overruns Europe, it not only would make it more difficult for us to defeat Russia, but I think it is doubtful whether we would survive that struggle."

Football And Politics

Oklahoma University's Bud Wilkinson, recently selected as football "coach of the year," proved himself as good a quipper as a coach at a testimonial luncheon by Oklahoma congressmen. Wilkinson even held his own with the Senate's new majority leader, Ernest McFarland, the Arizona Democrat.

"When one of your football players get tackled hard, just tell him that that's the way I feel myself since I became majority leader," Senator McFarland told the visiting coach. "By the way, which one of your boys gets tackled the most and the hardest?"

"I guess maybe it's the same on the football field as here in Congress, Senator," replied Wilkinson. "The star always gets tackled the hardest."

Senator McFarland, a former Oklahoman, suggested that Arizona would be glad to get some of Oklahoma's surplus football players "if you fellows ever get to the point where you have more than you can use."

"Well, seeing as how you originally came from my district and seem to be doing pretty good here in Washington," shot back Congressman Tom Steed of Shawnee, Okla., "I would say that Oklahoma already has made enough contribution to Arizona."

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

Truman And The Southerners

WASHINGTON

FOR FORECASTERS of the Congressional climate, the most important single fact about the President's message to the State of the Union was an omission. The customary defiant demand for the Fair Employment Practices act and other items in the civil rights program was conspicuously not included. After five years, the President left out the almost ritual passage, which has regularly plunged each new session of Congress into an instantaneous, embittered and time-consuming dog fight.

Some time ago, these reporters indicated in this space that the civil rights program was one of the major sacrifices the President would have to make, if he hoped for Congressional cooperation in the world crisis.

At that time and thereafter, many of those closest to the President pressed the same view upon him. Among those in the lead were high State Department officials, who realized that their task would be hopeless if the Southern Democrats were finally alienated from the Administration, as they were showing signs of being. The argument for doing the expedient thing was really un-answerable. There was not only no hope at all of passing a solid civil rights program at this session. It was also clear that an attempt to insist on the civil rights program would certainly delay and quite probably actually imperil the far more urgent foreign and defense program.

Deferred The Issue

To this argument, it is now understood Truman has yielded. The moment when he made up his mind was probably a month or so ago, when the official strategists of the Democratic National Committee supported the views already expressed by legislative chieftains, the President's personal advisers, and the State Department officials.

The President has not changed his mind, to be sure, about civil rights. He has merely deferred the issue. But the effect of what he has done has meanwhile been immeasurably increased by another great change in the relationship between the White House and the Southerners.

Until very recently, even the middle-of-the-road Southerners were either not consulted at all, or were treated with open hostility by the White House dispensers of patronage and other political good things. All this still means much in the South, and bitter feelings resulted. Now, however, a gentle, emollient shower of collectorships, judgeships and the like has caused the memory of past hard feelings to grow dim. For the first time in recent history, the Democratic party in Congress, and particularly in the Senate, can thus be regarded as semi-unified on the major issues immediately ahead.

There is still a handful of extremists like Sen. Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia, whose enthusiasm for economy has led him to rather complete isolationism. But the great mass of middle-of-the-road Southerners typified by the two most influential men in the group, Senators Walter George and Richard Russell, of Georgia, are moving again toward active support of the Administration foreign and defense policy. This was the group among whom Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, and his allies could hope and did hope, even only a month ago, to gain many converts. Since that hope is dead or dying, the Congressional outlook is radically altered.

Real Power Still Missing

U. S. Is Becoming Firmer On Position In Far East

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 — The United States Government has determined definitely that admission of Red China to the United Nations is not only out of the question so far as American approval is concerned but that such action would be to reward aggression.

This basic policy is buttressed also by a determination not to withdraw our troops from Korea but to fight it out there as long as the UN forces are capable of resistance.

What this means is that the United States considers the Far East to be a definite battleground not only for the prestige of the UN but also for the future morale of all the non-Communist elements within China, Japan and the Philippines.

To withdraw voluntarily from Korea is regarded by the American government as virtually tantamount to abandoning the security of Japan and as an invitation to an attack on Japan and perhaps on Alaska.

More Troops Wanted

The pros and cons of staying in Korea or withdrawing have been debated here for a long time. The decision is to stay and to inflict as much punishment as possible on the Communist forces. Rumors that General MacArthur wanted to withdraw not only are without foundation but his attitude is the exact opposite—he wants more troops to assist in holding Korea.

If the Chinese Communists are to be checkmated by any force, it will be by counter-revolutionaries who are expected to be welded together, not necessarily under the leadership of Chiang Kai-Shek or his lieutenants. The American program is to fight it out in Korea and to afford time for the non-Communist forces in Asia to consolidate.

The intimations from London that the ministers of the British commonwealths are actually considering a program which would recommend recognition of Communist China and admission to the United Nations produced the comment here that this can hardly be a unanimous attitude and that the viewpoint of countries like India has been well known for some time.

While it is too extreme a statement to say that the UN will die if the dissension within its councils continues on such a matter as admitting Red China, the fact is that the prestige of the international organization will fade away and attention will then have to be focused on the attitude of individual member governments and groups.

The United States at the moment is engaged in a canvass of all free nations to obtain their approval for the branding of Communist China as an aggressor. The exchanges are secret now, but some day they will be published. The American people then will have an opportunity to judge for themselves which countries stood up and were willing to brand the aggressor and which countries flirted with the idea of appeasing the enemy. The list may determine America's attitude toward such nations for generations to come.

Peiping Not Sincere

It can be stated positively that the United States Government has for some time now been in touch, directly and indirectly, with the Communist authorities and has come to the conclusion that there is no sincerity of purpose in Peiping and that to concede anything now would only whet the appetite of the Red Chinese leaders for more concessions.

The truth is the policy of the United States is growing firmer every day even as the policy of some other governments is growing weaker. The United States recognizes that it must bear the largest responsibility for what is happening in the Pacific because it cannot permit encroachments which, if unchecked at the start, could lead perhaps to the seizure of Alaska. European nations need have no fear that America considers the Far East a primary theatre. The Far East will remain a secondary area and Europe will always be the first consideration. American naval and air forces, however, will operate in the Pacific and a land force big enough to carry on a holding operation there will be continued. The European countries are expected to furnish the bulk of the land forces for the European front, supplemented by American land forces.

American policy is clear and thoroughly understood by those who must express it to other governments. The time is not yet ripe for a public avowal of the American viewpoint. This waits on the evolution of the military situation in Korea and the responses to our note to member governments seeking support for the UN move to brand Red China as the aggressor.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Wooing Of Mao

IT IS BECOMING increasingly clear, from data gathered from all sorts of sources, that the cause of most of our troubles in Korea arises from a fantastic policy of wooing Mao Tze-Tung, the Communist gauleiter in China. It is also clear that Mao and his minister of foreign affairs, Chou En-Lai, encouraged the wooing.

The marriage broker was a leading British merchant, the head of the most important British firm in China, which, for more than a century, has had a dominant voice in setting the British policy in China.

The idea set up several years ago was that as the Communists inevitably take China from Chiang Kai-Shek and the Nationalists, Chiang was to be abandoned. Then Mao was to be wooed away from Stalin. At the right moment, he would come over to our side, declare himself to be a Tito and grab our dough. Then Mao would declare a war on Stalin and the British Empire would be saved forever!

This amazing formula has already cost about 60,000 American casualties. But it is still the formula upon which our policy in China is based. At this very moment an intense propaganda is spreading throughout our country giving the impression that when Mao gets through with us, that is, after he has defeated the American forces in Korea and driven our troops under General MacArthur into the sea, he will turn right around and start a war on Stalin. Therefore, the theory runs, we must not bomb Manchuria or Peking or let Chiang start a war on Canton or Shanghai, because then Mao would be offended. He might change his mind. He might say: "To hell with it! I won't fight Stalin after all."

And what is the argument to support all this? Well, say the Washington wonders, there is Tito. O. K. so, there is Tito. And what does that prove? Why, they come up brightly, if Tito broke with Stalin, why not Mao?

So I ask: What will happen if Mao does not break with Stalin? How many Americans have to be killed before the State Department, the Department of Defense, the Central Intelligence Agency and the President are convinced that this grand speculation is withering nonsense? How many Americans must die to prove that there has been a mistake?

Actually, there has not been a single sign that Mao Tze-Tung would or could break with Stalin. This story that is being spread includes a yarn that some Chinese Communists were trained in Russia and that some were trained in Yenan and that those trained in Yenan hate those trained in Moscow.

One columnist wrote about "an unknown Chinese civilian," Li Lih-San, being in charge in Manchuria. I knew Li Lih-San well in 1925. He was then an important Communist labor leader, a young man of force and ability who managed to tie up much of China in a series of strikes. Unknown to whom? Certainly not to the Chinese people.

Li Lih-San, like Mao Tze-Tung, Chou En-Lai and General Lin Piao, is a confirmed Marxist who has had about 30 years, more or less, of association with international Communism. Precisely what more can the United States offer them than Stalin has already given them?

Someone in defense of this fantasy, which is costing so many lives, suggested that human nature being what it is, these men will break out in a struggle for power. Then we shall bargain with them against Stalin. When is this to occur—before or after more Americans are killed?

A brutal callousness marks our planners in Washington. It used to be that American generals went into war with the guiding principle of economy in the expenditure of American lives. Our people tax themselves billions of dollars in the hope that these expenditures on weapons will save lives. General Douglas MacArthur used to boast how he could achieve victories without great loss of life.

Now, the civilians who run our wars and tie the hands of our generals with UN resolutions throw our lives against artificial sanctuaries which they erect in pursuit of fantastic policies. And this Mao business is fantastic.

Treaty Ratification

One important constitutional change would be to abolish the two-thirds requirement for senatorial ratification of treaties, thinks Dr. James K. Pollock of the University of Michigan. Recently he told the American Political Science Association that he would substitute a majority vote of both houses.

A two-thirds vote is notoriously difficult to get on any contested issue. The Senate practice has defeated a number of worthy treaties, and has also prevented others from being submitted because of the likelihood of their defeat. Of course some bad treaties also have been defeated. And some questionable treaties which might otherwise have been presented earlier have been held up until they were improved sufficiently to stand a good chance of two-thirds approval.

Most of the arguments work both ways. If approval were too easy, too many treaties might be made. If ratification is too hard to win, the administration may resort to simple executive agreements, not submitted to Congress at all. This circumvents the Constitution. Authority to do it in specific cases can be given by joint resolution in Congress, so that the legislative body at least approves the intent. Blanket authority to make executive agreements on tariffs is granted under the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act.

In general, important international agreements ought to be made by formal treaty, and the requirement for specific ratification of each treaty is wise, since a treaty binds the nation and the people. The House is more responsive to the people than the Senate, and often differs on matters of foreign relations. The proposition that both should have a voice in treaty ratification is worth considering.

Help For Indians

In bettering the lot of American Indians, as with any other underdeveloped group, the most important agency to be promoted is education. The physical environment of the older tribal members can be improved somewhat, but their mental habits and attitudes are likely to be fairly rigid. It is with the children and the young people that the greatest hope of a better future rests.

The Congressional move nearly a year ago to authorize a ten-year improvement program for the Navajo and Hopi tribes has already brought progress. Some of the hoped-for new buildings for hospitals and schools perhaps must be foregone for the present, owing to government curtailment of non-defense construction. The buildings now in use are being improved, however, and new equipment installed. Boarding schools for Indian children living in isolated districts are being expanded. Public health projects are being pushed and tuberculosis, a major scourge among these Indians, is the object of a concerted attack. Employment conditions are improving on the reservations and some tribesmen, properly trained, are employed in aircraft plants and ammunition depots.

The dependent attitude of the reservation Indian somehow must be changed to one which wants not paternalistic care but a chance for independent action. Future generations may achieve this attitude, if proper help is given now.

Finger On Federal Waste

Some time has passed since a House subcommittee revealed the case of the 50-cent magazine which cost the government $13.39. Nevertheless it is still quite appropriate to recall attention to it, because this is the kind of petty extravagance which the worried taxpayer is likely to snort about and then forget, because $13.39 seems so trifling a sum in a federal budget of billions.

This $13.39 item is not trifling. It is the specific answer to some persistent general questions: Why does government cost so much? What do more than two million government employes do? Where can we look for needless and wasteful items whch can be eliminated? What is the meaning of red tape?

Here is the answer. Red tape is $12.89 worth of paper work to buy something costing 50 cents. This is what we can get along without. This is what we can get rid of to reduce the cost of government and at the same time make it possible for the government to provide more useful services for the people.

Records are necessary. They cost something, but the cost need not be in that proportion.

This incident happened in the Department of the Interior. It could have happened in any government office. We hope this story haunts that department and every other department, and haunts Congress, until something is done about it.

Oldest King Today

Scandinavian kings are long-lived. The oldest monarch in the world today is King Haakon VII of Norway, who is 78. He obtained this distinction at the recent death of King Gustav V of Sweden at the ripe old age of 94.

Gustav may well be the modern champion for old age among kings. He might be the leader for all time if ancient Egyptian history did not record an older. King Pepi II, who ruled over 4,000 years ago, is stated to have come on the throne at the age of six and to have reigned for a length of time variously stated anywhere from 90 to 100 years.

Being a king is a less arduous business today than in early times when a ruler was his own commander-in-chief and an autocrat in internal affairs. The chief duty of a monarch now is to be a symbol of national unity, and to be honored as Americans honor the Flag. That and social obligations take up most of his duties, and should not be too exacting or wearing.

Haakon might have more rivals for the title of oldest reigning king, except that the world has few royal rulers left.

No Immediate War?

If those who are presumed to be informed on world affairs know what they are talking about, the odds are against a general war with Russia in the immediate future.

While all fear World War III, it is widely contended Russia is not ready for all-out war, and there are reports — which may or may not be reliable — that Moscow has made no extensive preparations to defend Russian terrain against bombing.

The Soviet government, however, continues to build up its aggressive military might. The next Red move may be against Southeast Asia, source of oil and rubber needed by the bolsheviki.

In the meantime, there may be other Koreas, with the Soviet seeking to dissipate U. S. military strength in futile foreign engagements.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

After 65

IN THE UNITED STATES there are now approximately 11½ million persons 65 and older. The majority are voters and about one-third are wage earners or wives of wage earners. This has many social and political implications, more so when we consider that it is estimated that in 1960 the figure will reach 15 million and by 1975, 20 million.

One hundred years ago only one in every 38 Americans was past 65; in 1900 the proportion was one in 25; today it is one in 13. These statistics give additional food for thought, especially among those who enjoy lively Saturday night discussions on this changing world. The feminine superiority also is evident; only 90 men to every 100 women survive to this age. Two out of three men in this group are married and the majority of women are widowed.

Individuals approaching old age might find it encouraging to hear that only 3 per cent of the population aged 65 and older live in institutions. In other words, the chances of going to an old people's home, poor farm, or what-have-you is remote. The opposite may be true because there are many excellent institutions where old folk are having the times of their lives with companions of their own age. Four-fifths of all men and women over 65 live with some member of the family; 600,000 of the man and 300,000 of the women have absolutely no income but one-half of these women are not as badly off as it may seem because they are being supported by the husbands.

What health precautions should the elderly take to prolong life? In general, the majority do well by following the usual rules of health: adequate sleep, moderate exercise, periodic examinations, and a proper balance between work and play in keeping with their age. Diet is important but the oldster must be careful not to fall for the recommendations of faddists and self-styled nutritionists. One old codger of my acquaintance became deathly ill when he switched to a diet of yogurt and blackstrap molasses.

Ordinary foods are good enough for most of us and the old do not thrive when their routine is changed markedly. Furthermore, eggs, meat, and milk should not be omitted from the meals becaue of talk that they contain cholesterol, a chemical that is said to induce hardening of the arteries. Most of this work is still experimental. In addition, the body manufactures its own cholesterol of which it can use what it wants. Dietary changes are needed only when chewing is difficult because of dental troubles or if intestinal disturbances are present. But even symptoms such as belching, gas, constipation, and diarrhea often can be corrected, frequently with hydrochloric acid, pepsin, or other ferments should these substances be lacking in the system.

• — • — •

What can be done about the degenerative diseases to which 80 per cent of the elderly population succumb? Common sense dictates that obeying the ordinary rules of health will be as effective as anything. No magic pills will create a fountain of youth and the sooner this is recognized, the better. "Take care of what you got" is a crude expression but good advice. The changes of age are not caused entirely by the passage of time; the summation of insults and injuries of an active and vigorous life also play a role. Examination usually discloses that this leaves some parts weaker than others but when we know where the fifth column lies we are better able to care for ourselves.

Move To Put Republicans In Cabinet; Dewey Might Be Secretary Of State; Split Between Liberal and Conservative Republicans Increases

WASHINGTON.—President Truman isn't likely to move on it, but some of his genuine well-wishers have been dropping discreet hints that the most important thing he can do to bring about national unity is appoint two top Republicans to his Cabinet — including possibly Governor Dewey as Secretary of State.

Most unfortunate difficulty about the current bickering over foreign policy is the reaction abroad. All over Europe there has been indecision and dismay. Warning that Russia would turn Europe's industrial warmaking power against us, Collins declared: "If Russia overruns Europe, it not only would make it more difficult for us to defeat Russia, but I think it is doubtful whether we would survive that struggle."

Football And Politics

Oklahoma University's Bud Wilkinson, recently selected as football "coach of the year," proved himself as good a quipper as a coach at a testimonial luncheon by Oklahoma congressmen. Wilkinson even held his own with the Senate's new majority leader, Ernest McFarland, the Arizona Democrat.

"When one of your football players get tackled hard, just tell him that that's the way I feel myself since I became majority leader," Senator McFarland told the visiting coach. "By the way, which one of your boys gets tackled the most and the hardest?"

"I guess maybe it's the same on the football field as here in Congress, Senator," replied Wilkinson. "The star always gets tackled the hardest."

Senator McFarland, a former Oklahoman, suggested that Arizona would be glad to get some of Oklahoma's surplus football players "if you fellows ever get to the point where you have more than you can use."

"Well, seeing as how you originally came from my district and seem to be doing pretty good here in Washington," shot back Congressman Tom Steed of Shawnee, Okla., "I would say that Oklahoma already has made enough contribution to Arizona."

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

Truman And The Southerners

WASHINGTON

FOR FORECASTERS of the Congressional climate, the most important single fact about the President's message to the State of the Union was an omission. The customary defiant demand for the Fair Employment Practices act and other items in the civil rights program was conspicuously not included. After five years, the President left out the almost ritual passage, which has regularly plunged each new session of Congress into an instantaneous, embittered and time-consuming dog fight.

Some time ago, these reporters indicated in this space that the civil rights program was one of the major sacrifices the President would have to make, if he hoped for Congressional cooperation in the world crisis.

At that time and thereafter, many of those closest to the President pressed the same view upon him. Among those in the lead were high State Department officials, who realized that their task would be hopeless if the Southern Democrats were finally alienated from the Administration, as they were showing signs of being. The argument for doing the expedient thing was really un-answerable. There was not only no hope at all of passing a solid civil rights program at this session. It was also clear that an attempt to insist on the civil rights program would certainly delay and quite probably actually imperil the far more urgent foreign and defense program.

Deferred The Issue

To this argument, it is now understood Truman has yielded. The moment when he made up his mind was probably a month or so ago, when the official strategists of the Democratic National Committee supported the views already expressed by legislative chieftains, the President's personal advisers, and the State Department officials.

The President has not changed his mind, to be sure, about civil rights. He has merely deferred the issue. But the effect of what he has done has meanwhile been immeasurably increased by another great change in the relationship between the White House and the Southerners.

Until very recently, even the middle-of-the-road Southerners were either not consulted at all, or were treated with open hostility by the White House dispensers of patronage and other political good things. All this still means much in the South, and bitter feelings resulted. Now, however, a gentle, emollient shower of collectorships, judgeships and the like has caused the memory of past hard feelings to grow dim. For the first time in recent history, the Democratic party in Congress, and particularly in the Senate, can thus be regarded as semi-unified on the major issues immediately ahead.

There is still a handful of extremists like Sen. Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia, whose enthusiasm for economy has led him to rather complete isolationism. But the great mass of middle-of-the-road Southerners typified by the two most influential men in the group, Senators Walter George and Richard Russell, of Georgia, are moving again toward active support of the Administration foreign and defense policy. This was the group among whom Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, and his allies could hope and did hope, even only a month ago, to gain many converts. Since that hope is dead or dying, the Congressional outlook is radically altered.

Real Power Still Missing

With the Democrats voting pretty solidly, and such progressive Republicans as Senators Wayne Morse, of Oregon, and Margaret Chase

U. S. Is Becoming Firmer On Position In Far East

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 — The United States Government has determined definitely that admission of Red China to the United Nations is not only out of the question so far as American approval is concerned but that such action would be to reward aggression.

This basic policy is buttressed also by a determination not to withdraw our troops from Korea but to fight it out there as long as the UN forces are capable of resistance.

What this means is that the United States considers the Far East to be a definite battleground not only for the prestige of the UN but also for the future morale of all the non-Communist elements within China, Japan and the Philippines.

To withdraw voluntarily from Korea is regarded by the American government as virtually tantamount to abandoning the security of Japan and as an invitation to an attack on Japan and perhaps on Alaska.

More Troops Wanted

The pros and cons of staying in Korea or withdrawing have been debated here for a long time. The decision is to stay and to inflict as much punishment as possible on the Communist forces. Rumors that General MacArthur wanted to withdraw not only are without foundation but his attitude is the exact opposite—he wants more troops to assist in holding Korea.

If the Chinese Communists are to be checkmated by any force, it will be by counter-revolutionaries who are expected to be welded together, not necessarily under the leadership of Chiang Kai-Shek or his lieutenants. The American program is to fight it out in Korea and to afford time for the non-Communist forces in Asia to consolidate.

The intimations from London that the ministers of the British commonwealths are actually considering a program which would recommend recognition of Communist China and admission to the United Nations produced the comment here that this can hardly be a unanimous attitude and that the viewpoint of countries like India has been well known for some time.

While it is too extreme a statement to say that the UN will die if the dissension within its councils continues on such a matter as admitting Red China, the fact is that the prestige of the international organization will fade away and attention will then have to be focused on the attitude of individual member governments and groups.

The United States at the moment is engaged in a canvass of all free nations to obtain their approval for the branding of Communist China as an aggressor. The exchanges are secret now, but some day they will be published. The American people then will have an opportunity to judge for themselves which countries stood up and were willing to brand the aggressor and which countries flirted with the idea of appeasing the enemy. The list may determine America's attitude toward such nations for generations to come.

Peiping Not Sincere

It can be stated positively that the United States Government has for some time now been in touch, directly and indirectly, with the Communist authorities and has come to the conclusion that there is no sincerity of purpose in Peiping and that to concede anything now would only whet the appetite of the Red Chinese leaders for more concessions.

The truth is the policy of the United States is growing firmer every day even as the policy of some other governments is growing weaker. The United States recognizes that it must bear the largest responsibility for what is happening in the Pacific because it cannot permit encroachments which, if unchecked at the start, could lead perhaps to the seizure of Alaska. European nations need have no fear that America considers the Far East a primary theatre. The Far East will remain a secondary area and Europe will always be the first consideration. American naval and air forces, however, will operate in the Pacific and a land force big enough to carry on a holding operation there will be continued. The European countries are expected to furnish the bulk of the land forces for the European front, supplemented by American land forces.

American policy is clear and thoroughly understood by those who must express it to other governments. The time is not yet ripe for a public avowal of the American viewpoint. This waits on the evolution of the military situation in Korea and the responses to our note to member governments seeking support for the UN move to brand Red China as the aggressor.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Wooing Of Mao

IT IS BECOMING increasingly clear, from data gathered from all sorts of sources, that the cause of most of our troubles in Korea arises from a fantastic policy of wooing Mao Tze-Tung, the Communist gauleiter in China. It is also clear that Mao and his minister of foreign affairs, Chou En-Lai, encouraged the wooing.

The marriage broker was a leading British merchant, the head of the most important British firm in China, which, for more than a century, has had a dominant voice in setting the British policy in China.

The idea set up several years ago was that as the Communists inevitably take China from Chiang Kai-Shek and the Nationalists, Chiang was to be abandoned. Then Mao was to be wooed away from Stalin. At the right moment, he would come over to our side, declare himself to be a Tito and grab our dough. Then Mao would declare a war on Stalin and the British Empire would be saved forever!

This amazing formula has already cost about 60,000 American casualties. But it is still the formula upon which our policy in China is based. At this very moment an intense propaganda is spreading throughout our country giving the impression that when Mao gets through with us, that is, after he has defeated the American forces in Korea and driven our troops under General MacArthur into the sea, he will turn right around and start a war on Stalin. Therefore, the theory runs, we must not bomb Manchuria or Peking or let Chiang start a war on Canton or Shanghai, because then Mao would be offended. He might change his mind. He might say: "To hell with it! I won't fight Stalin after all."

And what is the argument to support all this? Well, say the Washington wonders, there is Tito. O. K. so, there is Tito. And what does that prove? Why, they come up brightly, if Tito broke with Stalin, why not Mao?

So I ask: What will happen if Mao does not break with Stalin? How many Americans have to be killed before the State Department, the Department of Defense, the Central Intelligence Agency and the President are convinced that this grand speculation is withering nonsense? How many Americans must die to prove that there has been a mistake?

Actually, there has not been a single sign that Mao Tze-Tung would or could break with Stalin. This story that is being spread includes a yarn that some Chinese Communists were trained in Russia and that some were trained in Yenan and that those trained in Yenan hate those trained in Moscow.

One columnist wrote about "an unknown Chinese civilian," Li Lih-San, being in charge in Manchuria. I knew Li Lih-San well in 1925. He was then an important Communist labor leader, a young man of force and ability who managed to tie up much of China in a series of strikes. Unknown to whom? Certainly not to the Chinese people.

Li Lih-San, like Mao Tze-Tung, Chou En-Lai and General Lin Piao, is a confirmed Marxist who has had about 30 years, more or less, of association with international Communism. Precisely what more can the United States offer them than Stalin has already given them?

Someone in defense of this fantasy, which is costing so many lives, suggested that human nature being what it is, these men will break out in a struggle for power. Then we shall bargain with them against Stalin. When is this to occur—before or after more Americans are killed?

A brutal callousness marks our planners in Washington. It used to be that American generals went into war with the guiding principle of economy in the expenditure of American lives. Our people tax themselves billions of dollars in the hope that these expenditures on weapons will save lives. General Douglas MacArthur used to boast how he could achieve victories without great loss of life.

Now, the civilians who run our wars and tie the hands of our generals with UN resolutions throw our lives against artificial sanctuaries which they erect in pursuit of fantastic policies. And this Mao business is fantastic.

SIDEGLANCES at celebrities:

Few members of the fourth estate live a more engrossing life than the news photographer. In an age when the increased education of the reporter has filled him with restraint, or caused him to look upon his job as a stepping stone to something big like public relations counsel, the cameraman remains a throwback to a hardier day.

He is still expected to jam his foot in the door as in the days of old, and flush the famous and notorious out of their lairs. He is generally honest and, up to the point where it interferes with his business, law-respecting. But in his book it still ain't a confessing sin to cop a tintype out of a family Bible, if the tintype is that of Uncle Jake who has just been done in by Aunt Flo via the kitchen disposall.

A lot of that lusty flair is centered in a single New York family, the slightly incredible Sarno brood of Yonkers. Six of the seven good-looking and robust Sarno brothers are news photographers. Their dean and the embodiment of their respective outlooks on life is 48-year-old Dick, chief photographer for "The American Weekly" and official and unofficial adviser to hundreds of his colleagues.

The saga of the "six snap-happy Sarnos" can be found in the current Collier's. It reads like something out of "the front page," and if it didn't carry a picture of the young men you'd think you were reading an exciting account of an era of journalism long since interred.

The boys have been in enough wars, death houses, guarded estates, criminal courts, private beaches and gangster conclaves to star in a hundred movies. One of them, Tony, dresses so well that he is the envy of the Goulds, Whitneys, Vanderbilts and other top drawer friends—but they and their broods all converge each Sunday on the home of their mother for a thundering Italian dinner.

Billy Grady, of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, rebutts:

"The no-entertainers ruling came from the Department of the Army, not from us," he writes. "As for the drunks: There were only three people remotely connected with our business in that horde of souses arrested over the holidays.

"Number one was a transportation driver who retired that day and was celebrating the fact of his returning to Iowa for good. The other two were part-time backlot laborers. Just thought I'd pass this information along for what it's worth. I happen to think mine is a pretty good business and I keep parrying stabs whenever I can."

The return of the Charleston takes on fresh menace. Sonja Henie will feature it when she opens her annual Hollywood ice revue at Madison Square Garden on Friday. And on skates.

Seems that Sonja won a leg on the coveted Charlie Morrison Cup at a Charleston contest at Charlie's Mocamba in the movie belt not long ago. Bill Burke, Sonja's general manager, and Catherine Littlefield, choreographer of the ice show, suggested she put the violence on ice.

There's something haunting about the advance information on Sonja's costume for the event. It is a conservative bra and pants ensemble of chartreuse and gold beads, "trimmed with rare exotic feathers from the high mountain vultures of South America."

It's obviously just the thing for the Charleston, and by all means let's buy one just like it. Still I kinda feel a little sorry for those shivering high mountain vultures. Maybe the Marshall Plan can look into their plight.

"HOW I RELIEVE DISTRESS of MONTHLY FEMALE AILMENTS which make me so nervous several days before!"
Read why Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is 'the woman's friend'

"Almost every month I suffered from cramps, headache, or backache—due to female functional ailments. What bothered me most was that I'd start feeling so nervous, tense and strangely restless several days before my period.

"My druggist recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve this distress. He told me to take it regularly throughout the month to help build up resistance against such female misery. (It tastes swell in a little fruit juice.) I must say Lydia Pinkham's Compound is simply wonderful and gives me amazing relief—not only from monthly pain but pre-period nervous tension and tired, dragged-out feelings of this nature. I urge every girl and woman troubled this way to try Pinkham's Compound."

G. S. Leaders Association Plans Group Discussions

Work Shops To Be Held

The Girl Scout Leaders Association decided to divide the meetings into Brownie and Intermediate groups with each group bringing ideas to exchange with other leaders.

Plans were formulated at the first meeting of the year of the association which was held Wednesday night at the Girl Scout House. Mrs. Henry Holzshu told of a book being compiled by Mrs. Ray Mitchell in the New York headquarters, dealing with the needs of Brownies, and to which she has been asked to contribute suggestions. During her study of the subject she will visit the group meetings for ideas.

Mrs. Jean Cioni assumed her duites as president. Other officers serving for the year with her are Mrs. Julia Werner, vice president; Mrs. Beatrice Hoenecker, treasurer; Mrs. Betty Chaney, secretary and Mrs. Phyllis McGaughey, Program chairman.

Senior Troop 12, the teenage group, will hold a square dance January 27, Mrs. Gladys Shumaker announced. It is for all teenage scouts 12 years and older, and is being held in Emmanuel Episcopal parish house. Figures will be called by Edmund Hoey.

The annual luncheon for Leaders, Council and Committeewomen, will be held January 17 at 12:45 at Happy Hills Restaurant, 228 Baltimore Avenue. Reservations are to be made at the scout headquarters until noon January 13.

A work shop on Crafts is being held January 16 from 1 until 3 o'clock at the scout house. Mrs. Earl Nonnenam will be in charge, assisted by Mrs. Chaney. Each one interested is asked to bring a large match box and a paint brush. It was announced that if there are enough leaders and others interested a class in handcraft will be organized and held at Fort Hill High School this semester.

Announcement was made of an Organization meeting to be held January 12 at 1:30. Each leader is asked to send one committeewoman or representative of her troop. It will be at the scout house, with Mrs. J. Gordon Mitchell in charge.

The January work shop held by the Tuberculosis Association will be on Personal Hygiene. Four 10 minutes movies are to be shown.

A demonstration on "Care of the Hair," will be given for all senior Girl Scouts by an operator from Georgia's Beauty Salon, January 15 at 4 p. m.

Mrs. Ross Decker gave out the schedule for the March of Dimes collection to be made by the scouts January 25, 26 and 27 at the theaters. Each girl is to be notified.

Letters of the Community Chest annual dinner and one of appreciation from Miss Jeanette Bonig for help given the Associated Charities for Christmas were read.

The Training committee presented a 35 m.m. propector to the Girl Scout house and Mrs. Roberta McFarland, executive secretary showed slides to demonstrate it.

Social Chart

The WSCS of Calvary Methodist Church, Ridgeley, will sponsor a pie sale January 16 at noon in the church.

A meeting of the Flintstone Homemakers Club will be held at 8 tonight at the home of Mrs. Ferdinand Franchi.

Joint installation of Cumberland and McKinley Chapters OES will be conducted by Miss Bessie Baird, past grand matron, tonight at 8 o'clock at the Masonic temple. Cumberland Chapter is to be host for the occasion.

Aid Society Elects

The Allegany Hospital Aid Society elected Mrs. Mortimer Nehring president at the meeting Tuesday at the nurses home. Mrs. Louis Lippold and Mrs. Harold Peck were named vice presidents; Mrs. A. E. Breig, recording-secretary; Mrs. John Stevens, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. W. F. Kerber, treasurer.

Mrs. Stevens, retiring president, and her chairman reported and brief talks were given by Sister Angela, superintendent of the hospital; and Sister Margaret, director of nurses.

The meeting was preceded by the members attending mass and being entertained by the sisters at the annual communion breakfast.

AT A SMALL DINNER:

Sen. Joseph McCarthy breaking the teeth of Julius Lulley, the happy-grow-fatter restaurateur.

Mrs. Lulley recounts that during the evening she noticed Julius was talking funny.

"I knew he hadn't had that many drinks. I wondered what could be the matter."

Several of the other guests also commented that Lulley was making loose statements. And it seems they were right. His brand new upper plate was in his pants pocket instead of his mouth.

"Thenator McCarthy hath dithfigured me and buthed my teeth," wailed Mr. Lulley. "And thith plate ithnth even paid for yet."

Big tears welled up in his eyes. Everybody, including Joe McCarthy, was sympathetic . . . What had happened to his teeth?

Well, Fearless Joe had not taken a swat at Lulley . . . In fact, it was all very friendly. . . . In his years as a bachelor, ex-Marine Joe McCarthy has learned how to cook a feast fit for gourmets or Lulleys —pheasants, venison or hamburgers . . . Name it and McCarthy can cook it . . . . That evening he prepared a banquet for the guests at the party and it was so delicious that the appreciative but hasty Lulley had chomped down greedily on a pheasant bone and split his new upper plate . . . Very simple . . . Very sad.

This Powers' two-year plan makes it easy to acquire the basic clothes wardrobe every well-dressed woman needs!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

FOLLOWING this column's feature of the well-assembled basic wardrobe (the minimum clothes every well-dressed woman must have to go anywhere at any time), letters poured in requesting a buying plan that would make acquisition of such clothes possible for the woman who could not afford to purchase an entire new wardrobe all at once. Few women can, so the following plan should solve what is a problem to most.

Two Year Purchasing Plan

1. Budget to buy a basic-type winter coat every other year.

2. Budget to buy a warm-weather wrap of basic line in the year that a winter coat is not purchased.

3. Budget to buy a basic year-round suit in the year that a winter coat is not purchased.

4. Budget to buy a basic crepe dress in the early fall or spring of every year.

5. Budget to buy a basic wool dress at the resort sales in January.

6. Budget to buy one full set of accessories each fall.

7. Budget to buy a hat when you buy a coat or suit.

8. Make a two-year plan covering all the above items with exact detail as to type and color desired for each and then stick to it.

Wardrobe Co-ordination

Now, how do you put all that good theory into practice? Decide now what color your new basic winter coat will be. Yes, even if you do not plan to purchase it until next fall or two falls hence. Color co-ordinate everything you buy from now on with the color you have pre-planned for your coat.

If your winter coat is to be royal blue, the wool dress you acquire now must be of a color that is complementary. If you follow this kind of color scheming as you purchase every one of your basic items, your long-awaited coat will play the leading role in an already perfectly cast wardrobe.

How can you decide at this date that your plot will be royal blue? That's easy — by following the fashion trends first, last and always. And blues of all shades will be on the fashion program for several seasons to come.

What about summer dresses, sports attire, evening gowns and such? These are not "basic" clothes —the subject of today's lesson. Right? Right!

P. S. from J. R. P.
YOUR BEAUTY DIET

No matter what your weight problem — whether you want to gain, lose or remain the same — YOUR BEAUTY DIET will provide you with a safe and sane pattern of laboratory-tested menus that can be followed by the entire family according to each individual's needs. YOUR BEAUTY DIET is a way of eating, not starving, and the tasteful, appetizing meals it contains requires no extra planning or preparation! For the booklet, write to me in care of this newspaper and enclose 10c in coin to help cover cost, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Tomorrow: Camouflage for stick-out ears.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug Store.—Advertisement.

Hard Work, Slim Pickings Force Yugoslav Gypsies To Settle Down

BELGRADE — (AP) — Yugoslavia's once wild and wandering tribes of gypsies are settling down slowly in little communities of their own where the violin rules the roost.

Times have changed for the nomadic bands which less than half a century ago roamed the countryside living off the land, begging where they could, raiding henhouses and stealing horses where they could not.

Their temperament has remained torrid despite the changes in their daily way of life. The dagger still darts at the end of an angry quarrel, and the music plays on and on.

Even in curing the itchy feet that brought them from the east to the west, the gypsies never have lost their love of music. Often in shabby clothes, sometimes half-starved, they'll drop their pitchforks in the field to join a gay dance at any hour of the day.

All told, on the basis of Yugoslavia's 1950 census, there are approximately 72,670 persons classified as gypsies living in the country, mostly living on their own little plots of land. A small percentage still travel the countryside with fire-blackened pots and pans.

There's an interesting history wrapped in deep layers of legend going back at least six centuries before the first arrival in Yugoslavia of gypsies from India. Others came later from Turkey, from Romania and Hungary.

They had different religions and somewhat common customs. Some were Moslems, some Orthodox Catholics, some frankly with no religion at all except a worship of music and desire to acquire enough of the world's goods to keep their bellies full.

A large part of them settled down on the broad plains of Serbia. Their talents and their enterprise whirled as merrily and as directly as a merry-go-round. Some became makers of wooden tubs. Others became blacksmiths. A number went to farming.

Along the highways and byways of old Yugoslavia, hundreds practised the ancient art of begging. Horse stealing was regarded as a fine art. Many others turned to the violin and accordion to earn a haphazard livelihood.

Against the soft music and the plaintive tunes of the gypsy fiddler's bow, he and his family are frowsy and quite frequently lousy.

Their clothes are tattered and torn. Their bills for footwear are low for they seldom wear shoes. In summer months, Junior wears a coat of tan and nothing more.

By age old custom, the square outside their one-room cottages takes on a festive air on occasions ranging from birth to marriage to death. The whole community joins in to welcome a new member, takes vicarious pleasure in a wedding, and drinks to the departure of a late member of the tribe.

Mostly, it's hard work and slim pickings. For the gypsies who have settled down on their own farms, its means tilling soil and sweating toil. The wife shares the hard manual labor.

Under a Communistic regime, the way of the gypsies is hard. Their ancient art of extracting a dinar or two with outstretched palm has almost vanished. They know it may bring prosecution and stiff penalties.

POLKA DOT CAKE — Pretty enough for a party. A delicious feather-light Duff's Layer Cake Mix, now in a new, improved formula — baked with chocolate morsels.

Popular Gelatine Dish Is Chocolate Sponge

Chocolate Sponge is a delicacy made with unflavored gelatine and cocoa. It gets its frothy lightness from carefully folding the gelatine mixture into stiffly beaten egg whites. An attractive accompaniment is a ring of leaf-shaped sugar cookies. The veins on the leaves can be made by putting chocolate confectioner's sugar frosting through the smallest opening on a pastry tube.

Chocolate Sponge

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
½ cup cold water
¼ cup cocoa
⅓ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
3 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla

Soften gelatine in cold water in top of double boiler. Place over boiling water. Add cocoa, sugar and salt, and stir until smooth. Beat egg yolks slightly. Slowly add small amount of hot liquid to egg yolks; return to double boiler and cook over hot, not boiling water, stirring constantly until slightly thickened. Remove from heat, add vanilla. Chill until mixture is slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Beat egg whites until stiff; fold in gelatine mixture. Turn into large or individual molds, and chill until firm. Unmold and serve with whipped cream. Yield: 6 servings.

Soup for supper is a life-saver when you're in the thick of the after-holiday rush. Hot canned tomato soup and grilled cheese sandwiches will keep the family happy. Round out the menu with a tossed salad or a fresh-fruit dessert.

Working Girl Time Saver

To save time after you get home from work, mix crabmeat cutlets in the morning while you're cooking breakfast. Cover and store in the refrigerator. There will be more leisure hours for watching your favorite TV program or for a game of canasta in the evening.

Baked Crabmeat Cutlets

½ cup thick white sauce
1 6½-oz. can crabmeat
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 egg
Fine bread crumbs

Combine white sauce, crabmeat, onion and lemon juice. Chill in refrigerator for several hours. Shape into cutlets. Beat egg slightly and dip cutlets in egg. Roll in crumbs. Place on greased pan and bake in a hot oven (450°F) about 15 minutes, or until brown on each side. Serve with hot chili sauce, or tartar sauce. Four cutlets.

Quick Manhattan Clam Chowder

1 can condensed clam chowder,
¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning.

Dilute chowder as directed on can. Add poultry seasoning and simmer 5 minutes. Serve with regular or pilot crackers.

Cake Favorite For Dessert

It's gay—it's light-minded and quite frivolous—our Polka Dot Cake. It's an old favorite served up with a different twist—tender white layer cake with a sprinkling of chopped chocolate morsels. Top it with your favorite frosting and a few more pert little chocolate morsels.

Here's a cake to tempt the newest bride as well as the experienced cook. When you use the layer cake mix, you're sure of a perfect cake every time. Just follow directions on the package—add your milk and you'll have a cake in the oven in 4½ minutes from package to oven. It's as simple as that.

Did you know—you'll help keep that beautiful cake in one piece when you turn it out of the pan if you place the pan first on a cold damp cloth for a few minutes.

Polka Dot Cake

1 pkge. layer cake mix
1¼ cups milk
1 pkge. (6oz.) chocolate morsels

Blend layer cake mix with milk, following directions on package. Chill mixture in refrigerator at least 2 hours. Chop ¾ cup chocolate morsels coarsely with a sharp knife and blend with chilled cake batter. Divide into two 9-inch layer cake pans which have been greased with unsalted shortening, lined with waxed paper and greased again. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 25-30 minutes or until done. Allow to remain in pans 10 minutes before turning out. When cool, sandwich and cover with favorite frosting. Top with remaining ¼ cup chocolate morsels.

Muled Cider

1 quart sweet cider
⅓ cup firmly packed brown sugar
8 whole cloves
6 small sticks cinnamon
6 whole allspice
Pinch of salt

Combine and bring to boil. Simmer gently 10 to 15 minutes. Strain if desired. Serve steaming hot in earthen mugs. Serves 4-5.

—wash white and fresh in no time with Oakite. Oakite in the water makes it easy and gets linens cleaner. They come spotless and white (or bright in the case of the new colored linens.)

Why you should wash new linens with Oakite—Yes, even before using, wash them with Oakite to get out sizing that is often present in new linens. Oakite does not injure water-fast colored fabrics. Also wash regularly with Oakite—it lengthens the life of fabrics.

How to wash linens with Oakite—Add a few tablespoons of Oakite to wash water, then enough of your favorite soap or powder for light suds. It requires only about ½ the usual amount—a big saving. Oakite makes fabrics last longer for it gets all soap out and soapiness often rots the threads.

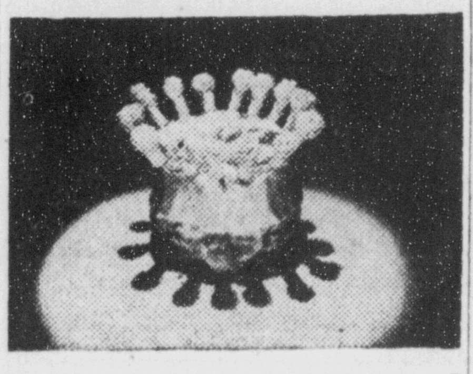
MEAT
CUT
Quiz



Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Pork crown roast.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It is prepared from two or more rib sections. Ribs are frenched, backbone removed, then rib sections shaped and tied into a crown.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By roasting. The first hour the roast is placed bone side down in an open roasting pan. At the end of this time, the roast is turned over and stuffed if desired, then roasting completed. Cooking time is from 35 to 40 minutes per pound in a 350°F. oven.

Sardine Fingers

Half cup mashed canned sardines, 1 lemon, 16 fingers bread (crusts removed from slices and each slice cut into four fingers), 3 tablespoons butter, ½ teaspoon chili powder, 16 strips of pimento Mayonnaise, 1 hard cooked egg, sieved.

Marinate sardines with juice of the lemon for 1 hour. Fry bread fingers in 1 tablespoon of the butter until golden brown on both sides. Blend remaining butter with chili powder. Spread on bread. Cover with mashed sardines. Pipe around edges with mayonnaise put through pastry tube. Garnish top with pimento strip and a sprinkle of hard cooked egg. Makes 16 hors d'oeuvres.

Old Country Dishes Turn American

New England is considered the cradle of American cookery. Here settlers first applied the cookery techniques of the old country on the native foods of the new, developing original dishes that were definitely "American" in character.

The stories which we read in grammar school did not at all exaggerate the food difficulties of the first settlers. In fact, from the moment the Pilgrims landed they were on their own so far as food was concerned and would have starved had the country itself not been able to support them. They depended almost entirely on hunting and fishing, until their first successful harvest. Sea travel was slow, and ships were small, so that early Americans could not count on importing food, and were forced to depend on their own resources.

This was difficult for them, but it has yielded us a rich inheritance of regional dishes and recipes. Clam chowder, fish and seafood pies, codfish balls, boiled dinner, pot pies, Rinktum Ditty, Boston baked beans, cranberry sauce, maple sugar, Parker House rolls, Johnnycake, blueberry muffins, apple pandowdy—are just a few of hundreds of dishes whose origin we owe to New England.

One phase of New England cookery is especially interesting, and has never been satisfactorily explained. New England's early settlers were English, and brought with them English food techniques and preferences. Yet from surviving recipes it is obvious that New England's homemakers outdid their English cousins almost from the moment they landed on American shores. New England food is justly famous for its deft use of seasoning. Almost every known spice, seed and herb is used—and used properly.

Few Americans know that New England's early history is closely associated with the spice trade. From 1799 to 1846 sailing vessels of the port of Salem, in Massachusetts, brought millions of dollars worth of spices to the United States for use here and re-export to other countries. This trade founded New England's early fortunes, laid the basis of the United States merchant marine and the duties paid at the port accounted for one-twentieth of the entire income of the national government.

New England Clam Chowder

4 slices bacon, finely diced, 1 cup finely chopped onion, 2 cans minced clams, 2 cups diced cooked potatoes, 1 quart milk, ¼ teaspoon celery salt, ⅛ teaspoon black pepper, ½ teaspoon poultry seasoning, salt to taste. Butter.

Fry bacon until crisp. Remove bacon from pan and set in warm place. Fry onions in bacon fat until clear (4-5) minutes. Place clams and juice in top of double boiler. Add onions, potatoes, milk and seasonings. Heat over hot water about 20 minutes. Serve topped with a sprinkle of the diced bacon and a small piece of butter. May be garnished with a sprinkle of pap- Serve with regular or pilot crack- rika, too, if desired. Serves 4-6. ers.

NOTE: 1 quart fresh clams and liquor may be used in place of canned.

Poultry seasoning is a perfect blend of sage, thyme, marjoram, savory, and a bit of rosemary, as well as other spices and herbs. Not only does this combination turn the trick for your holiday meals, but it will perk up leftovers. It does more than the name implies because it can be used in stuffings for fish, pork or veal, meat loaf, dumplings, stuffed peppers, gravies, soups and sauces. One clever trick when you are serving unstuffed fowl is to put a pinch of poultry seasoning in your biscuits. A pinch of poultry seasoning will also add zest to the crust for your turkey pie.

Monday Night Meat Dish

- ¾ pound ground veal
- ¾ pound ground pork
- ¼ cup minced onion
- ¼ cup chopped green pepper
- 1 4-oz. package egg noodles, cooked and drained
- 1 No. 2 can cream-style corn
- ½ cup grated cheese.

Brown meat, onion and green pepper. Combine with remaining ingredients, saving 2 tablespoons cheese to sprinkle on top. Pour in a casserole and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 30 minutes. 6 to 8 servings.

Current Queries On Meat .....

Q. Should the fell (the paper-like covering on the fat surface) be removed from lamb steaks and chops before cooking?

A. Yes, but it should not be removed from the leg of lamb.

Q. How is a pocket made for stuffing a rib pork chop?

A. By cutting into the chop along the rib bone.

Q. What is an easy way to thicken gravy for pot-roasts and stews?

A. Add flour to water in a jar, shake, and add to meat stock or drippings.

Q. In broiling, do meats require frequent turning?

A. No, when broiled at a moderate temperature, only one turning is necessary.

Q. What in pork corresponds to round steak in beef?

A. The center cut slice of fresh or smoked ham.

* * * * * *

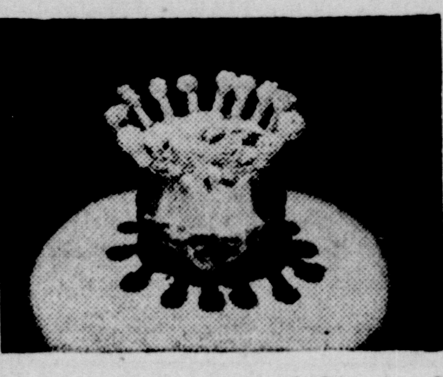
CUT
Quiz



Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Pork crown roast.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It is prepared from two or more rib sections. Ribs are frenched, backbone removed, then rib sections shaped and tied into a crown.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By roasting. The first hour the roast is placed bone side down in an open roasting pan. At the end of this time, the roast is turned over and stuffed if desired, then roasting completed. Cooking time is from 35 to 40 minutes per pound in a 350°F. oven.

Sardine Fingers

Half cup mashed canned sardines, 1 lemon, 16 fingers bread (crusts removed from slices and each slice cut into four fingers), 3 tablespoons butter, ½ teaspoon chili powder, 16 strips of pimento Mayonnaise, 1 hard cooked egg, sieved.

Marinate sardines with juice of the lemon for 1 hour. Fry bread fingers in 1 tablespoon of the butter until golden brown on both sides. Blend remaining butter with chili powder. Spread on bread. Cover with mashed sardines. Pipe around edges with mayonnaise put through pastry tube. Garnish top with pimento strip and a sprinkle of hard cooked egg. Makes 16 hors d'oeuvres.

One Dish Meal Using Last Of Fowl

Fix the last of the holiday fowl this way and it's really a "bird in a gilded cage". Takes just a short time to fix too. You can also make the dish with turkey or ham. And to go with it, how about hot buttered broccoli or peas and a relish dish of celery and olives?

Chicken Finale

2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of chicken soup
2 cups cooked noodles
Diced cooked chicken

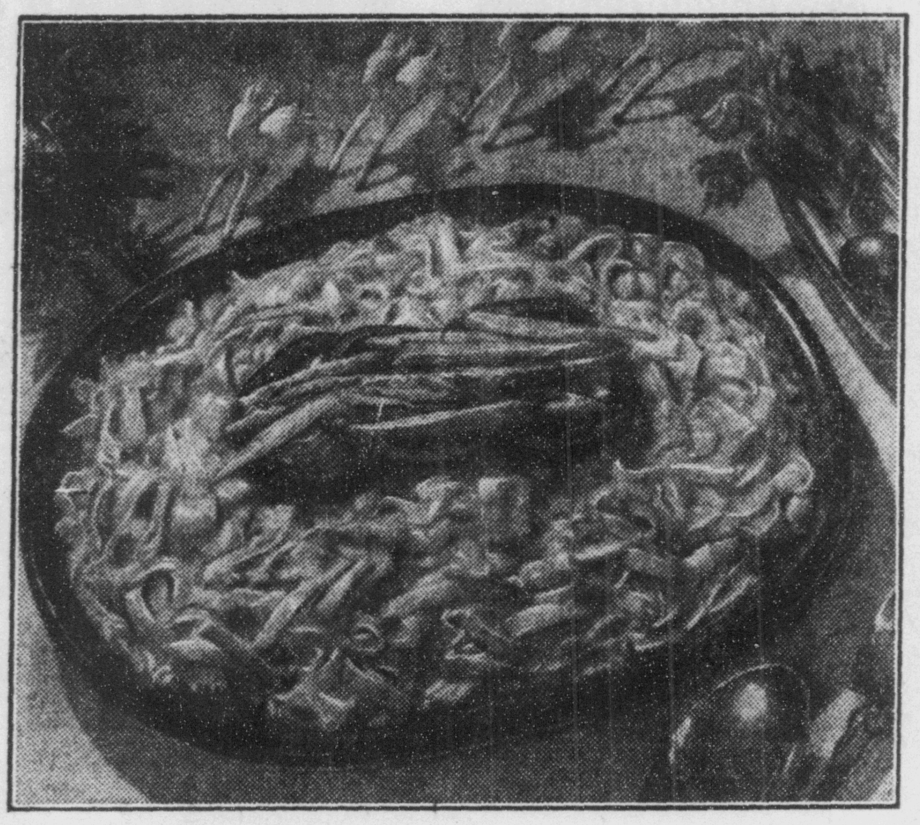
Simmer green pepper in butter in a saucepan until tender. Add soup, noodles — and chicken if desired (½ cup or more is good). Mix all together. Cook over low heat for about 10 minutes or until heated through. Serve on a warm platter; garnish with green pepper rings and additional slivers of chicken. Makes four servings.

Sage Biscuit

2 cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup shortening, ¼ teaspoon powdered sage, ½ to ¾ cup milk.

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Cut in shortening until like coarse meal. Add milk, stirring quickly only until dough forms — soft but not sticky. Turn out onto lightly floured board. Knead about half a minute to shape into a smooth ball. Roll or pat out lightly to ½ inch thickness. Cut with floured cutter. Place on greased baking sheet. Bake in very hot oven (450°F.) about 12 minutes or until golden brown. Makes about 15 two-inch biscuits.

Chicken Finale



Holiday chicken comes to a grand finish in this dish made with condensed cream of chicken soup and noodles.

Short Rib Dinner

2 pounds short ribs
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 cups water
4 medium-sized onions
4 medium-sized carrots
1 No. 2 can peas or 12-oz package frozen peas, cooked.
flour.

Brown short ribs on all sides. Season. Add water, cover, simmer 1½ to 2 hours or until tender. About 45 minuutes before the end of cooking time add potatoes, onions and carrots. Heat canned or cooked frozen peas separately and serve over short ribs and other vegetables. Thicken liquid for gravy. 4 servings.

Post-Holiday Low Calorie Party Meal

What with rich holiday feasting and New Year's resolutions, there'll be a lot of your bridge friends watching their calories at early January luncheons. If it's your turn to play hostess, they'll think you very smart to make it a "Slim-Jane Party." Here's a suggested menu.

Watch-Your-Weight Luncheon

Herb Tomato-Juice Cocktail
Celery Fans with Celery Salt
Broiled Halibut, Cod, or Haddock Steaks
Broccoli Cooked to Perfection
Whole-Wheat Toast
Grapefruit-and-Orange Dessert Salad with Slim-Jane Salad Dressing
Russian Tea

For Nibbling at Four: Apple wedges brushed with lemon juice.

Serve It Prettily

Herb Tomato-juice Cocktail: About 1 hr. before serving, add a pinch of a different herb to each glass. Float a bit of water cress or parsley in each. Let guests guess what's in theirs.

Celery Fans: Cut celery in 3" lengths. Slit in narrow parallel strips almost to end. Chill on ice cubes. To serve, dry. Dip tips in paprika. Dust on celery salt.

All on One Dish: Fix broiled fish in center of dish, with broccoli on both sides. March lemon wedges between rows. Broccoli, perfectly cooked, needs no butter.

The Dessert Salad: Use salad plates from 2 or 3 different sets of "china." Arrange grapefruit and orange sections on shredded lettuce. Sprinkle on grated orange rind. Pass dressing.

Russian Tea: Use glass mugs if possible, cherry preserves instead of sugar.

Whole-Wheat Toast: Make toast at the table. Serve it hot, with a gold star for all who use only half a pat of butter.

Centerpiece: Vegetables in basket on household scale, circled by cress, radishes.

The Prizes: First, a book on calorie counting; booby, a tape measure.

Have Handy for Discussion: A chart on weight according to height.

Slim-Jane Salad Dressing

¾ cup water, 2 teasp. cornstarch, ¼ cup lemon juice, ¾ teasp. salt, 1½ teasp. sugar, 2 tablesp. salad oil, 1 teasp. bottled horse-radish, 1¼ teasp, prepared mustard, ½ teasp. paprika, 1 peeled clove garlic, ½ teasp. Worcestershire sauce, ¼ cup catchup.

Cook together water and cornstarch until clear and thickened—about 5 min. Cool. Add remaining ingredients; beat with hand or electric beater until smooth and blended. Store, covered, in refrigerator. Use as needed, shaking well before using. Makes about 1¼ cups.

One Dish Meal Using Last Of Fowl

Fix the last of the holiday fowl this way and it's really a "bird in a gilded cage". Takes just a short time to fix too. You can also make the dish with turkey or ham. And to go with it, how about hot buttered broccoli or peas and a relish dish of celery and olives?

Chicken Finale

- 2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of chicken soup
- 2 cups cooked noodles
- Diced cooked chicken

Simmer green pepper in butter in a saucepan until tender. Add soup, noodles — and chicken if desired (½ cup or more is good). Mix all together. Cook over low heat for about 10 minutes or until heated through. Serve on a warm platter; garnish with green pepper rings and additional slivers of chicken. Makes four servings.

Sage Biscuit

2 cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup shortening, ¼ teaspoon powdered sage, ½ to ¾ cup milk.

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Cut in shortening until like coarse meal. Add milk, stirring quickly only until dough forms — soft but not sticky. Turn out onto lightly floured board. Knead about half a minute to shape into a smooth ball. Roll or pat out lightly to ½ inch thickness. Cut with floured cutter. Place on greased baking sheet. Bake in very hot oven (450°F.) about 12 minutes or until golden brown. Makes about 15 two-inch biscuits.

Chicken Finale

Holiday chicken comes to a grand finish in this dish made with condensed cream of chicken soup and noodles.

Short Rib Dinner

- 2 pounds short ribs
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups water
- 4 medium-sized onions
- 4 medium-sized carrots
- 1 No. 2 can peas or 12-oz package frozen peas, cooked. flour.

Brown short ribs on all sides. Season. Add water, cover, simmer 1½ to 2 hours or until tender. About 45 minuutes before the end of cooking time add potatoes, onions and carrots. Heat canned or cooked frozen peas separately and serve over short ribs and other vegetables. Thicken liquid for gravy. 4 servings.

Post-Holiday Low Calorie Party Meal

What with rich holiday feasting and New Year's resolutions, there'll be a lot of your bridge friends watching their calories at early January luncheons. If it's your turn to play hostess, they'll think you very smart to make it a "Slim-Jane Party." Here's a suggested menu.

Watch-Your-Weight Luncheon

Herb Tomato-Juice Cocktail
Celery Fans with Celery Salt
Broiled Halibut, Cod, or Haddock Steaks
Broccoli Cooked to Perfection
Whole-Wheat Toast
Grapefruit-and-Orange Dessert Salad with Slim-Jane Salad Dressing
Russian Tea

For Nibbling at Four: Apple wedges brushed with lemon juice.

Serve It Prettily

Herb Tomato-juice Cocktail: About 1 hr. before serving, add a pinch of a different herb to each glass. Float a bit of water cress or parsley in each. Let guests guess what's in theirs.

Celery Fans: Cut celery in 3" lengths. Slit in narrow parallel strips almost to end. Chill on ice cubes. To serve, dry. Dip tips in paprika. Dust on celery salt.

All on One Dish: Fix broiled fish in center of dish, with broccoli on both sides. March lemon wedges between rows. Broccoli, perfectly cooked, needs no butter.

The Dessert Salad: Use salad plates from 2 or 3 different sets of "china." Arrange grapefruit and orange sections on shredded lettuce. Sprinkle on grated orange rind. Pass dressing.

Russian Tea: Use glass mugs if possible, cherry preserves instead of sugar.

Whole-Wheat Toast: Make toast at the table. Serve it hot, with a gold star for all who use only half a pat of butter.

Centerpiece: Vegetables in basket on household scale, circled by cress, radishes.

The Prizes: First, a book on calorie counting; booby, a tape measure.

Have Handy for Discussion: A chart on weight according to height.

Slim-Jane Salad Dressing

¾ cup water, 2 teasp. cornstarch, ¼ cup lemon juice, ¾ teasp. salt, 1½ teasp. sugar, 2 tablesp. salad oil, 1 teasp. bottled horse-radish, 1¼ teasp, prepared mustard, ½ teasp. paprika, 1 peeled clove garlic, ½ teasp. Worcestershire sauce, ¼ cup catchup.

Cook together water and cornstarch until clear and thickened—about 5 min. Cool. Add remaining ingredients; beat with hand or electric beater until smooth and blended. Store, covered, in refrigerator. Use as needed, shaking well before using. Makes about 1¼ cups.

Bill Would Kill "Jim Crow" Law

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 11 (AP)—Another blow at "Jim Crow" was delivered in Maryland's General Assembly today.

Sen. Phoebus (R-Somerset) introduced a repealer of the old statute which these days requires racial segregation only on the Chesapeake ferries.

The measure was one of two legislative old-timers warmed over at Annapolis before the Assembly adjourned the second week of its 90-day session.

The Senate gave tentative approval to a "frisking" bill done up in new form. It would allow prosecutors to submit as evidence any deadly weapons found on a person charged with concealing those articles without a permit.

The crime is now classed a misdemeanor. Evidence seized without a warrant may not be introduced in such cases. The latest Legislative Council bill would characterize the crime as a felony. No matter how obtained, the evidence could be offered.

Other bills put before the Senate before adjournment would:

1. Authorize a $5,000,000 bond issue for a state office building in or near Annapolis. Sen. Phipps (D-Anne Arundel) introduced it. He and Annapolis officials have attacked a state commission studying sites for a projected office building because they have concentrated on Baltimore.

2. Compel the state to buy only Maryland-mined coal for its institutions. Minority Leader Kimble (R-Allegany) was the sponsor.

3. Require execution of death sentences by gas instead of hanging. Sen. Dippel (D-Balto 3rd) was sponsor.

Soldier To Lose Feet, Most Of Both Hands

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Jan 11 (AP)—Frozen on Korean battlefields, Pvt. Hubert Reeves, 19, will lose both feet above the ankles and most of both hands in a series of operations to begin at Percy Jones Army Hospital here tomorrow.

Reeve's mother, Mrs. D. Hubert Reeves, will come here from their Joliet, Ill., home to be with her son. The father, a Joliet roofing company employe, won't be financially able to make the trip.

McKeldin Leans Toward Appointive School Boards

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 11 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin said today that his "general feeling is that school boards should be appointed rather than elected."

Holding his first news conference since taking office yesterday, the new Governor also said that:

"The State Department of Education has a tremendous amount of authority. That ought to be all re-examined."

Both school matters, he said, would be investigated by a commission to study the reorganization of state government agencies and departments.

He already has decided upon the man to head the commission and expects to name him soon.

When speaking about the Department of Education, McKeldin referred particularly to the wide latitude it has in preparing its budgets. Neither the Governor nor the Legislature may cut most of the items in the school budget.

McKeldin also indicated:

1—His new State Roads Commission may consist of Russell P. McCain, Republican of Frederick; Avery Hall, Salisbury businessman and also a Republican, and Thomas Hubbard, chairman of the Baltimore City Planning Commission, a Democrat. McCain, now a member, would be chairman.

2—That it might be better to turn Maryland State College for Negroes at Princess Anne into a high school.

Dulles To Work On Jap Peace Treaty In Tokyo

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP) — Republican Advisor John Foster Dulles, given the rank of ambassador by President Truman, will go to Tokyo in about 10 days to discuss Japanese peace treaty problems with Gen. Douglas MacArthur and political leaders in Japan.

This announcement today by the State Department marked the end of a period of uncertainty within the American government over whether to proceed with Japanese treaty negotiations at this time in view of U. N. reverses in Korea.

Survivor Of Bataan Volunteers For Army

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—A Purple Heart veteran of the Bataan death march volunteered for the Army today.

He is 35-year-old Julian Wyse Adams, who told newsmen:

"I feel my country is at war. At least men are fighting and dying. I'd like to get back myself."

The Army thinks he's probably the first Bataan survivor to offer to return to uniform. A physical examination will determine whether he's accepted.

A native of Greenwood, S. C., Adams now is an official of a soap manufacturing firm.

Oak Hill, W. Va., Coach, Daughter Die In Fire

An overheated furnace apparently touched off the blaze in the new four-room house just beyond the city limits. Only Harvey and his daughter lived there.

When the flames subsided, firemen found Harvey's body in his daughter's room and Elaine's body in his.

Brice Requested Not To Quit Old Job Yet

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 11 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin said he asked Arthur H. Brice today to stay on as commissioner of motor vehicles until he can find a replacement for him.

Under the law, Brice does not have to pick up his commission as tidewater chairman for 27 more days.

Oak Hill, W. Va., Coach, Daughter Die In Fire

An overheated furnace apparently touched off the blaze in the new four-room house just beyond the city limits. Only Harvey and his daughter lived there.

Brice Requested Not To Quit Old Job Yet

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 11 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin said he asked Arthur H. Brice today to stay on as commissioner of motor vehicles until he can find a replacement for him.

Under the law, Brice does not have to pick up his commission as tidewater chairman for 27 more days.

'Chuck' Karmarkovich Dies; WMI League Opens Tonight

Crash Injuries Prove Fatal To Johnstown Ace

Clippers To Disband And Withdraw From All-American Loop

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 11 (AP) — A three-way auto collision today killed George (Chuck) Karmarkovich, 22, captain and high-scoring center for the Johnstown Clippers of the All-American Professional Basketball League.

As a result of the tragedy and of recent financial losses, owners of the Clippers announced the team is being disbanded and withdrawn from the league. A game with Wheeling, W. Va., scheduled for tonight, was canceled.

The accident occurred on the Lincoln Highway about 5½ miles west of Ligonier.

Two carloads of players, after a game at Wheeling, were being driven home by Coach Nat Hickey and Business Manager Harry Finley.

Hickey's car skidded on ice, hit a guard rail, rebounded into the highway and struck another machine. Finley's car, avoiding the wreck, crashed into the guard rail.

Karmarkovich, a passenger in the first machine, died in Johnstown Memorial Hospital of a skull fracture. He was a resident of Franklin, Pa.

Four other team members suffered minor injuries.

Karmarkovich had a brilliant floor record at Waynesburg College, making the all-state team in three seasons ending in 1948, 1949 and 1950. He scored 1,122 points in his three years and got 478 of them in the 1948 - 1949 season. Both marks are all-time school records.

Karmarkovich played with the Altoona Flyers during the latter part of the 1950 All-American League campaign and received a trial with the Baltimore Bullets of the National Basketball Association this season.

"Chuck" was regarded as one of the top players of the league this season and was one of the circuit's leading point getters. In two appearances here against the Spas this season, Karmarkovich scored 32 points on SS. Peter and Paul court.

Johnstown has lost eight games in ten starts in the league and its withdrawal reduces the number of teams to five, namely, Wheeling, Erie, Altoona, Beaver Falls and Cumberland. The loop has functioned with five teams in past years.

DIES IN CRASH—George Karmarkovich, 22, former Pennsylvania all-state basketball star at Waynesburg College, died yesterday from injuries received in an auto accident. He and two other players of the Johnstown Clippers, pro basketball entry in the All-American League, were hurt on their return from a contest at Wheeling. Karmarkovich played with the Altoona Flyers late last season.

Ezzard Charles Is 1-5 Favorite To Retain Title

15-Round Title Bout Set For Garden Ring

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP) — Ezzard Charles, improving with every start, rules a solid 1 to 5 choice to whip tricky Lee Oma tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden in the sixth defense of his world heavyweight title.

The determined champion, sharp and ready at 184 pounds, figures to unhinge the clownish Oma within the 15-round limit, perhaps around the eighth. The scant betting action centers around Lee's chances of going the route. It's about 9 to 5 he won't

New - found respect for 29-year-old Charles after his victory over Joe Louis is reflected at the gate. It won't be a sellout but the International Boxing Club expects about 12,000 fans and $65,000. Millions will follow the bout on television and radio. Ring time is 10 p. m. ,EST).

He's Master of Confusion

Styles make the bout interesting. Oma, a master of confusion, is hard to catch. Sometimes he walks away, drops both hands, and turns his back. He is a master of slipping and catching punches and a pretty fair right hand puncher on his own.

The reform angle is stressed heavily on Oma's story. Spotty is a police way of describing his past record at shows at least 91 official fights. When in shape, he whipped some of the best around. Currently he ranks No. 4 among the heavyweight contenders although he'll be 35 in March.

Oma lost only one of his last 16 fights. That was a knockout by Bob Satterfield which he latter reversed with a decision, Sept. 25 in his last fight. He'll weigh about 192 for this one.

Teddy Bentham, Oma's trainer insists Oma is in "very good shape." Ray Arcel, Charles' trainer, says "Essy's ready." If they both are right, it could be quite a battle.

Charles is ahead of Louis' record for defenses by some three months. Since he beat Jersey Joe Wolcott June 22, 1949 to win the title he has knocked out every opponent — except Louis. Freddie Beshore and Nick Barone were his 1950 KO victims.

Lee Gets Last Chance

A sharp puncher with either hand and a smart boxer who always is in good condition, Charles doesn't figure to be bothered by Oma's style. He did a good job on Walcott who uses much the same tactics.

Oma, signed for 17½ per cent, is getting his last big chance near the end of a checkered career. For Charles, who will pocket the champs share of 40 per cent, this is just another step on his way to becoming the "fightingest" champ ever.

Stadium Inn Tops Legion

Stadium Inn, Frostburg, knocked Farrady Post, American Legion of Frostburg, out of the running for the first half championship of the Men's National Shuffleboard League of Allegany County by scoring a 2-1 win over the Legionnaires.

The victory put Staduim Inn 2½ games in front of the Cumberland K. of C. which plays the Cumberland V.F.W. at the K. of C. Home tonight. The first half race winds up next Thursday with the Cumberland K. of C. at Stadium Inn.

In other matches last night, Clingerman's blanked Frostburg K-C, 3-0; Viaduct Inn topped Goodfellowship Club, 2-1; Amvets skunked Alhambra Club, 3-0; Century A. C., Frostburg beat Mt. Savage VFW, 3-0, and Woodmen of the World downed Frostburg Moose 2-1.

High scorers: P. Judy, Clingerman's 23; C. Delaney, Frostburg K-C 18; Van Horn, Viaduct, 27; Ryan, Goodfellowship, 25; T. Geatz, Amvets 28; Gene Zembower, Alhambra 22; Jim Robertson, Century, 29; Lancaster, Mt. Savage, 17; Russ Reynolds, W.O.W., 20; Green, Frostburg Moose, 25; "Butch" Minnicks, Stadium Inn, 28; Bob Powers, Frostburg Legion, 19.

AHS Copped 44 In Row

By C. V. BURNS

The thirty-first seeason of the Western Maryland Interscholastic Basketball League opens tonight.

Cumberland teams have won 24 of the 30 championships and Central High of Lonaconing is the only up-creek school to win a title in the past 24 years.

Walter L. Bowers, Allegany High mentor, has turned out 16 championship quints in 24 years and eight were undefeated in the league. Two other AHS teams lost out in playoffs.

John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, who made his coaching debut at Penn Avenue in 1929 had a pennant winner in his first year at the South End school.

And it took a champion — state horseshoe pitching champion, that is—to turn the trick.

Wonder hoy many fans remember Freddie Hamilton's shot that gave Penn Avenue a victory over AHS and the championship at the state armory

Hamilton heaved the ball high through the rafters. The ball seemed to disappear —then it swished through the cords to sew up the game.

If you believe time flies just consider the fact that Walter L. Bowers and Major John J. Cavanaugh started coaching at the local schools before any of the present high school boys and girls were born.

Allegany's first W.M.I. League championship team in 1922 was coached by Paul Smith, a graduate of the school which was located on Greene Street in those days and was known as Allegany County High School.

Smith starred in independent basketball for the Taylor A. A. quint, which was sponsored by the N. & G. Taylor Tinplate Company. Home games were played at the Taylor gym on the company's property in the rear of the B. & O. Y. M. C. A. on Virginia Avenue.

Fritz Eiler, now of Eiler Chevrolet, was a member of the same team. Prior to joining the Tinmen, however, Eiler starred for the K. O. G. (Knights of Goodfellowship) quint which played its home games on the third floor of the Jenvey Building, Harrison and South Centre streets.

Back in the 1920s LaSalle was a member of the WMI League and played its home games at the Knights of Columbus gym, North Mechanic street. When the State Armory was built in 1925, LaSalle transferred to that court for its home battles. Then the Explorers moved to the west side court when SS. Peter-Paul School was erected.

Arthur Slocum, now coach at LaSalle, turned out three W. M. I.

Fort Hill, AHS Test Unbeaten Central, Barton

Beall Invades Bruce; Berlin At LaSalle, 7 PVC Tilts Listed

Fort Hill, Central and Barton, the only undefeated high school teams in the tri-state area, will play here tonight as the Western Maryland Interscholastic League opens its 31st season with games billed for the Fort Hill and Allegany courts.

Central At Fort Hill

Coach Johnny Meyer's Central High Tigers, victors in eight games tackle Fort Hill, undefeated in six starts. Last season Central was able to knock off the Sentinels and Campers at Lonaconing but the Tigers suffered defeats on the local courts.

TONIGHT'S CARD

Central at Fort Hill (WMI)
Barton at Allegany (WMI)
Bruce at Beall (WMI)
Berlin (Pa.) at LaSalle
Piedmont at Ridgeley (PVC)
Keyser at Romney (PVC)
Petersburg at Wardensville (PVC)
West Va. Deaf at Fort Ashby (PVC)
Elk Garden at Bayard (PVC)
Mathias at Circleville (PVC)
Moorefield at Franklin (PVC)
Oakland at Terra Alta
Parsons at Tygarts Valley
Bedford Jayvees at Hyndman
Paw Paw at Capon Bridge.

Bob Pence and Jim Hosack will officiate the game at Fort Hill set for 8 o'clock.

AHS Host To Barton

Allegany (2-5) will play host to Coach John Thomas' Barton High basketeers tonight at 8 o'clock Campobello with Bill Hahn and Fred "Tack" Clark assigned to call this one.

Barton has rolled over seven straight opponents, including a 44-39 decision over LaSalle which took AHS 35-34, and it would be something rare for Barton to win here for the Braves have not done so since the 1920s when the up-creek school ruled the roost.

Allegany won league honors last year.

The third W.M.I. League game on tap for tonight finds Bruce and Beall tangling on the Westernport school court at 8 o'clock. Eddie Diehl and Clifton Van Roby will do the whistling in this one.

LaSalle Entertains Berlin

LaSalle will play its third game of the week at home tonight when it meets Berlin-Brothersvalley High of Berlin, Pa., on SS. Peter and Paul boards at 8:15.

The Explorers started off the week by whipping St. Joseph's of Martinsburg, 44-40, and lost to Fort Hill by the score of 37-32.

Lions Invades Ridgeley

In addition to the three games in Cumberland on the same night, there'll be another across the Potomac where Ralph Poling's Ridgeley Blackhawks will tackle "Huck" Miers' Piedmont Lions in a Potomac Valley Conference contest at 8 bells.

Ridgeley, co-champions of 1950, has a 2-0 record so far this season while Piedmont has won two of three conference engagements.

Six Other P.V.C. Tests

Moorefield (5-0), the conference leader, plays the Panthers (2-1) at Franklin tonight, Keyser (3-1) invades Romney (1-4), Wardensville (1-3) plays host to Walt Owens' Petersburg Vikings (4-1), West Virginia Deaf (0-2) is at Fort Ashby (2-2), Elk Garden (1-4) visits Bayard (0-0) for the latter's first P.V.C. test and Circleville (1-3 engages Mathias (1-3) at Circleville.

Other Friday night basket shooting parties find Paw Paw's Mountaineers at Capon Bridge, Bedford High Jayvees at Hyndman High, Parsons at Tygarts Valley (Mill Creek, W. Va.) and Oakland's Highlanders at Terra Alta High in Preston County.

Wrist Injury Puts Jack Rice Out Of Action Six Weeks

Fort Hill High School's undefeated basketball team received bad news yesterday.

Jack Rice, one of the outstanding players on the Sentinels' second team, suffered two broken bones in his right wrist during the Fort Hill-LaSalle game Tuesday night at SS. Peter and Paul gym and will be out of action at least six weeks.

Dr. John K. Rozum advised Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh the extent of Rice's injury last night.

Jack was injured when he fell during a scrimmage in the intra-city game. His place on the second team will be taken by John Shore.

A son of Ralph "Doggie" Rice, Oldtown Road grocer and one-time Allegany High School athlete, Jack formerly starred in the Central YMCA Sunday School League with Grace Methodist.

Crash Injuries Prove Fatal To Johnstown Ace

Clippers To Disband And Withdraw From All-American Loop

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 11 (AP) — A three-way auto collision today killed George (Chuck) Karmarkovich, 22, captain and high-scoring center for the Johnstown Clippers of the All-American Professional Basketball League.

As a result of the tragedy and of recent financial losses, owners of the Clippers announced the team is being disbanded and withdrawn from the league. A game with Wheeling, W. Va., scheduled for tonight, was canceled.

The accident occurred on the Lincoln Highway about 5½ miles west of Ligonier.

Two carloads of players, after a game at Wheeling, were being driven home by Coach Nat Hickey and Business Manager Harry Finley.

Hickey's car skidded on ice, hit a guard rail, rebounded into the highway and struck another machine. Finley's car, avoiding the wreck, crashed into the guard rail.

Karmarkovich, a passenger in the first machine, died in Johnstown Memorial Hospital of a skull fracture. He was a resident of Franklin, Pa.

Four other team members suffered minor injuries.

Karmarkovich had a brilliant floor record at Waynesburg College, making the all-state team in three seasons ending in 1948, 1949 and 1950. He scored 1,122 points in his three years and got 478 of them in the 1948 - 1949 season. Both marks are all-time school records.

Karmarkovich played with the Altoona Flyers during the latter part of the 1950 All-American League campaign and received a trial with the Baltimore Bullets of the National Basketball Association this season.

"Chuck" was regarded as one of the top players of the league this season and was one of the circuit's leading point getters. In two appearances here against the Spas this season, Karmarkovich scored 32 points on SS. Peter and Paul court.

Johnstown has lost eight games in ten starts in the league and its withdrawal reduces the number of teams to five, namely, Wheeling, Erie, Altoona, Beaver Falls and Cumberland. The loop has functioned with five teams in past years.

DIES IN CRASH—George Karmarkovich, 22, former Pennsylvania all-state basketball star at Waynesburg College, died yesterday from injuries received in an auto accident. He and two other players of the Johnstown Clippers, pro basketball entry in the All-American League, were hurt on their return from a contest at Wheeling. Karmarkovich played with the Altoona Flyers late last season.

Ezzard Charles Is 1-5 Favorite To Retain Title

15-Round Title Bout Set For Garden Ring

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP) — Ezzard Charles, improving with every start, rules a solid 1 to 5 choice to whip tricky Lee Oma tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden in the sixth defense of his world heavyweight title.

The determined champion, sharp and ready at 184 pounds, figures to unhinge the clownish Oma within the 15-round limit, perhaps around the eighth. The scant betting action centers around Lee's chances of going the route. It's about 9 to 5 he won't

New - found respect for 29-year-old Charles after his victory over Joe Louis is reflected at the gate. It won't be a sellout but the International Boxing Club, expects about 12,000 fans and $65,000. Millions will follow the bout on television and radio. Ring time is 10 p. m. ,EST).

He's Master of Confusion

Styles make the bout interesting. Oma, a master of confusion, is hard to catch. Sometimes he walks away, drops both hands, and turns his back. He is a master of slipping and catching punches and a pretty fair right hand puncher on his own.

The reform angle is stressed heavily on Oma's story. Spotty is a police way of describing his past record at shows at least 91 official fights. When in shape, he whipped some of the best around. Currently he ranks No. 4 among the heavyweight contenders although he'll be 35 in March.

Oma lost only one of his last 16 fights. That was a knockout by Bob Satterfield which he latter reversed with a decision, Sept. 25 in his last fight. He'll weigh about 192 for this one.

Teddy Bentham, Oma's trainer insists Oma is in "very good shape." Ray Arcel, Charles' trainer, says "Essy's ready." If they both are right, it could be quite a battle.

Charles is ahead of Louis' record for defenses by some three months. Since he beat Jersey Joe Wolcott June 22, 1949 to win the title he has knocked out every opponent — except Louis. Freddie Beshore and Nick Barone were his 1950 KO victims.

Lee Gets Last Chance

A sharp puncher with either hand and a smart boxer who always is in good condition, Charles doesn't figure to be bothered by Oma's style. He did a good job on Walcott who uses much the same tactics.

Oma, signed for 17½ per cent, is getting his last big chance near the end of a checkered career. For Charles, who will pocket the champs share of 40 per cent, this is just another step on his way to becoming the "fightingest" champ ever.

Stadium Inn Tops Legion

Stadium Inn, Frostburg, knocked Farrady Post, American Legion of Frostburg, out of the running for the first half championship of the Men's National Shuffleboard League of Allegany County by scoring a 2-1 win over the Legionnaires.

The victory put Staduim Inn 2½ games in front of the Cumberland K. of C. which plays the Cumberland V.F.W. at the K. of C. Home tonight. The first half race winds up next Thursday with the Cumberland K. of C. at Stadium Inn.

In other matches last night, Clingerman's blanked Frostburg K-C, 3-0; Viaduct Inn topped Goodfellowship Club, 2-1; Amvets skunked Alhambra Club, 3-0; Century A. C., Frostburg beat Mt. Savage VFW, 3-0, and Woodmen of the World downed Frostburg Moose 2-1.

High scorers: P. Judy, Clingerman's 23; C. Delaney, Frostburg K-C 18; Van Horn, Viaduct, 27; Ryan, Goodfellowship, 25; T. Geatz, Amvets 28; Gene Zembower, Alhambra 22; Jim Robertson, Century, 29; Lancaster, Mt. Savage, 17; Russ Reynolds, W.O.W., 20; Green, Frostburg Moose, 25; "Butch" Minnicks, Stadium Inn, 28; Bob Powers, Frostburg Legion, 19.

AHS Copped 44 In Row

By C. V. BURNS

The thirty-first seeason of the Western Maryland Interscholastic Basketball League opens tonight.

Cumberland teams have won 24 of the 30 championships and Central High of Lonaconing is the only up-creek school to win a title in the past 24 years.

Walter L. Bowers, Allegany High mentor, has turned out 16 championship quints in 24 years and eight were undefeated in the league. Two other AHS teams lost out in playoffs.

John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, who made his coaching debut at Penn Avenue in 1929 had a pennant winner in his first year at the South End school.

And it took a champion — state horseshoe pitching champion, that is—to turn the trick.

Wonder hoy many fans remember Freddie Hamilton's shot that gave Penn Avenue a victory over AHS and the championship at the state armory

Hamilton heaved the ball high through the rafters. The ball seemed to disappear —then it swished through the cords to sew up the game.

If you believe time flies just consider the fact that Walter L. Bowers and Major John J. Cavanaugh started coaching at the local schools before any of the present high school boys and girls were born.

Allegany's first W.M.I. League championship team in 1922 was coached by Paul Smith, a graduate of the school which was located on Greene Street in those days and was known as Allegany County High School.

Smith starred in independent basketball for the Taylor A. A. quint, which was sponsored by the N. & G. Taylor Tinplate Company. Home games were played at the Taylor gym on the company's property in the rear of the B. & O. Y. M. C. A. on Virginia Avenue.

Fritz Eiler, now of Eiler Chevrolet, was a member of the same team. Prior to joining the Tinmen, however, Eiler starred for the K. O. G. (Knights of Goodfellowship) quint which played its home games on the third floor of the Jenvey Building, Harrison and South Centre streets.

Back in the 1920s LaSalle was a member of the WMI League and played its home games at the Knights of Columbus gym, North Mechanic street. When the State Armory was built in 1925, LaSalle transferred to that court for its home battles. Then the Explorers moved to the west side court when SS. Peter-Paul School was erected.

Arthur Slocum, now coach at LaSalle, turned out three W. M. I.

Fort Hill, AHS Test Unbeaten Central, Barton

Beall Invades Bruce; Berlin At LaSalle, 7 PVC Tilts Listed

Fort Hill, Central and Barton, the only undefeated high school teams in the tri-state area, will play here tonight as the Western Maryland Interscholastic League opens its 31st season with games billed for the Fort Hill and Allegany courts.

Central At Fort Hill

Coach Johnny Meyer's Central High Tigers, victors in eight games tackle Fort Hill, undefeated in six starts. Last season Central was able to knock off the Sentinels and Campers at Lonaconing but the Tigers suffered defeats on the local courts.

TONIGHT'S CARD

Central at Fort Hill (WMI)
Barton at Allegany (WMI)
Bruce at Beall (WMI)
Berlin (Pa.) at LaSalle
Piedmont at Ridgeley (PVC)
Keyser at Romney (PVC)
Petersburg at Wardensville (PVC)
West Va. Deaf at Fort Ashby (PVC)
Elk Garden at Bayard (PVC)
Mathias at Circleville (PVC)
Moorefield at Franklin (PVC)
Oakland at Terra Alta
Parsons at Tygarts Valley
Bedford Jayvees at Hyndman
Paw Paw at Capon Bridge.

Bob Pence and Jim Hosack will officiate the game at Fort Hill set for 8 o'clock.

AHS Host To Barton

Allegany (2-5) will play host to Coach John Thomas' Barton High basketeers tonight at 8 o'clock Campobello with Bill Hahn and Fred "Tack" Clark assigned to call this one.

Barton has rolled over seven straight opponents, including a 44-39 decision over LaSalle which took AHS 35-34, and it would be something rare for Barton to win here for the Braves have not done so since the 1920s when the up-creek school ruled the roost.

Allegany won league honors last year.

The third W.M.I. League game on tap for tonight finds Bruce and Beall tangling on the Westernport school court at 8 o'clock. Eddie Diehl and Clifton Van Roby will do the whistling in this one.

LaSalle Entertains Berlin

LaSalle will play its third game of the week at home tonight when it meets Berlin-Brothersvalley High of Berlin, Pa., on SS. Peter and Paul boards at 8:15.

The Explorers started off the week by whipping St. Joseph's of Martinsburg, 44-40, and lost to Fort Hill by the score of 37-32.

Lions Invades Ridgeley

In addition to the three games in Cumberland on the same night, there'll be another across the Potomac where Ralph Poling's Ridgeley Blackhawks will tackle "Huck" Miers' Piedmont Lions in a Potomac Valley Conference contest at 8 bells.

Ridgeley, co-champions of 1950, has a 2-0 record so far this season while Piedmont has won two of three conference engagements.

Six Other P.V.C. Tests

Moorefield (5-0), the conference leader, plays the Panthers (2-1) at Franklin tonight, Keyser (3-1) invades Romney (1-4), Wardensville (1-3) plays host to Walt Owens' Petersburg Vikings (4-1), West Virginia Deaf (0-2) is at Fort Ashby (2-2), Elk Garden (1-4) visits Bayard (0-0) for the latter's first P.V.C. test and Circleville (1-3 engages Mathias (1-3) at Circleville.

Other Friday night basket shooting parties find Paw Paw's Mountaineers at Capon Bridge, Bedford High Jayvees at Hyndman High, Parsons at Tygarts Valley (Mill Creek, W. Va.) and Oakland's Highlanders at Terra Alta High in Preston County.

Wrist Injury Puts Jack Rice Out Of Action Six Weeks

Fort Hill High School's undefeated basketball team received bad news yesterday.

Jack Rice, one of the outstanding players on the Sentinels' second team, suffered two broken bones in his right wrist during the Fort Hill-LaSalle game Tuesday night at SS. Peter and Paul gym and will be out of action at least six weeks.

Dr. John K. Rozum advised Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh the extent of Rice's injury last night.

Jack was injured when he fell during a scrimmage in the intra-city game. His place on the second team will be taken by John Shore.

A son of Ralph "Doggie" Rice, Oldtown Road grocer and one-time Allegany High School athlete, Jack formerly starred in the Central YMCA Sunday School League with Grace Methodist.

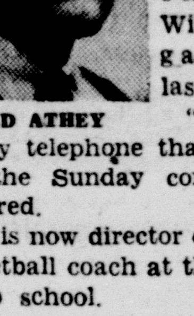
Athey To Play Here Sunday

Ed Will Join Spas For Altoona Game

Ed Athey, former Allegany High, Frostburg State Teachers' College and Washington College basketball star, will definitely play with the Cumberland Spas against the Altoona Flyers in an All - American League game here Sunday night at 9 o'clock. Coach William V. Keegan, announced last night.



ED ATHEY

"Athey advised me by telephone that he'll be here for the Sunday contest," Keegan declared.

Ed is now director of athletics and basketball coach at the Chestertown (Md.) school.

The Spas will play at Altoona Saturday night before playing their first game in three weeks at home Sunday.

Bradley Stopped

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—Bradley's 15-game winning streak was snapped by St. Johns of Brooklyn tonight, the Redmen handing the No. 1 collegiate cage team in the country their first defeat of the season, 68 to 59, in the feature of a doubleheader at Madison Square Garden.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

An Oklahoma preacher interrupted his sermon long enough to ask, "How many of you heard my radio program this morning?" To a man, the congregation answered "Yes." "The devil is at work in Oklahoma," said the preacher gravely. "I wasn't on the air this morning."

A near-sighted director was searching for locations for an impending farm epic when a gust of wind blew off his beret. He gave chase, but every time he apparently had it cornered, it was whisked from under his hand again. Finally a woman looked up from her gardening and called, "What are you trying to do over there, mister?" "I'm trying to recover my beret," he puffed. "Your beret is over there by the stone wall," said the woman. "That's our black hen you've been chasing."

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

CHICAGO, Jan. 11 (INS)—David Selznick, who is being almost secretive about his plans, has made up his mind to one thing for sure:

Alida Valli

He'll make a new English version of "Miracles Can Only Happen Once," the French and Italian picture Alida Valli recently finished in Paris. David lent Valli to co-star with French Star Jean Marias in this—and now that he has seen the love story, he believes it will bear repetition in English.

Once before, Selznick did this when he remade "Intermezzo" from Swedish into English with Ingrid Bergman. It was one of his great hits.

Valli, of course, will repeat in the star role but an American actor will be substituted for Marias.

I'm jumping the gun on this—but it's too hot to keep: I hear that Sharman Douglas will become a permanent citizen of Hollywood when she takes on a public relations job with one of our big studios! Not just ordinary publicity, mind you, but a super-glamor deal similar to the one Anita Colby did for David Selznick several years ago.

That means "consultant" about clothes, social events, etc., a position most definitely up pretty Sharman's street. The daughter of our former ambassador to England likes movietown very much.

All the glamour girls who tested for Ezio Pinza's torrid girl friend in "Strictly Dishonorable" — there were dozens including Zsazsa Gabor —will be disappointed. The role goes to Maria Palmer, continental stage charmer.

The Viennese actress was a Max Reinhardt star in Europe and recently she was in "The Moon Is Down" on Broadway.

She doesn't get Pinza in the picture (Janet Leigh does) but Maria plays love scenes with Ezio in English, Spanish, Italian, French and Hungarian—and that's covering the field if you ask me. Pinza's second M-G-M movie rolls late this month.

Chit-Chat: I wasn't home for Kay Thompson's opening at the Mocambo—but from what I hear about the star-studded turnout, she should be very flattered.

At one table—Ave Gardner, in a black gown and Kathryn Grayson, in white, were an eyeful. They were with the Howard Keels.

The top of Judy Garland's decollette gown was made of flowers. Judy was with Sid Luft, of course.

Lana Turner, like Ava, chose a backless black gown. She and Bob Topping were in a big party with Cubby Broccoli and Nedra Clark and Oil Man Bob Calhoun and Gloria De Haven.

The Pump Room continues to be the same gay place with many familiar Hollywood faces.

Joan and Frank Bering and the Jimmy Harts keep the place moving with the same spark our beloved Ernie originally gave it.

Charles Skouras donated the proceeds from "Halls Of Montezuma" San Francisco premiere to the Marine Corps League there.

Singer Dorothy Shay's brother, Claude Simms, has given up a business career to become a dance instructor at Arthur Murray's Westwood studio.

Ray Schindler, famed detective, will be the houseguest of the Lon Chaney, Jrs., during his Hollywood trip. He's an old friend of the late Lon, Sr.

The Dwight Taylors welcomed a seven-pound daughter Tuesday.

Leon Gordon is justly proud that all seven pictures he has produced at M-G-M, including the current "Kim," have played the Radio City Music Hall in New York—quite a record.

I'm heading back to Hollywood so—

That's all today from Chicago. See you tomorrow!

An Oklahoma preacher interrupted his sermon long enough to ask, "How many of you heard my radio program this morning?" To a man, the congregation answered "Yes." "The devil is at work in Oklahoma," said the preacher gravely. "I wasn't on the air this morning."

A near-sighted director was searching for locations for an impending farm epic when a gust of wind blew off his beret. He gave chase, but every time he apparently had it cornered, it was whisked from under his hand again. Finally a woman looked up from her gardening and called, "What are you trying to do over there, mister?" "I'm trying to recover my beret," he puffed. "Your beret is over there by the stone wall," said the woman. "That's our black hen you've been chasing."

Another near-sighted gentleman was heard moaning at a racetrack bar, "I've got to get these glasses fixed fast. I've just walked into seven fellows I owe money to!"

Bankers Hear Insurance Talk

John Mayhew, district representative of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company, spoke Wednesday night at the Shrine Country Club, before 24 members and guests of the Cumberland Conference, National Association of Bank Auditors and Comptrollers.

Mayhew, introduced by Ralph P. Bender, assistant cashier of the Frostburg National Bank, discussed the forms and scope of indemnity insurance being written to protect banks and other financial institutions. John Conway, cashier of the Cumberland Savings Bank and chairman of the conference, presided. The program was arranged by Ralph P. Bender.

Clerk Of Court Lists December Receipts

The report of Clerk of Court Joseph E. Boden on receipts of his office during December was released yesterday.

Receipts included $1,361.30 for documentary stamps, $375.50 for hunting licenses, $155.34 for alcoholic beverage licenses, $92,18 for business licenses, $861 for marriage licenses, $1, 564.55 for recording fees, and $714.90 for costs in law and equity cases.

The Eiffel Tower in Paris cost more than $1,000,000.

Construction At Peak In 5th Federal Reserve Area

Although somewhat under its peak level of last summer, the construction industry in Fifth Federal Reserve District states is still maintained at a high level, the Federal Bank of Richmond reports in the January issue of its Monthly Review of business and industry.

Building permits in 30 cities of the district in November, the latest month for which complete figures are obtainable, were 27 per cent higher than in the same month a year before, the bank said.

"Announcements of new plant construction have been substantial in recent months, and every week brings further news of such construction," said the bank.

The Fifth Federal Reserve District includes the states of Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina, and the District of Columbia.

A $7,500,000 spun rayon plant at Raeford, N. C.; a $1,000,000 addition to a rayon finishing plant at Old Fort, N. C., and a $1,000,000 machinery plant at Gastonia, N. C.

A $4,000,000 combed fabrics mill at Greenville, S. C.; a $1,250,000 addition to a cotton mill at Clinton, S. C.; a $3,000,000,000 building (including machinery) at Greer, S. C., and a $1,200,000 plant expansion at Gaffney, S. C.

A $3,500,000 enlargement of a plant at Danville, Va.; a $1,000,000 meat packing distribution plant at Norfolk, Va.; a $1,000,000 machinery plant at Towson, Md., and a $1,000,000 improvement in ore-loading piers at Baltimore.

Upward of $3,500,000 have gone into building expansion of telephone facilities in the Fifth District, the bank added.

Other construction, for which figures were not available, includes a new orlon installation at Kinston, N. C. expansion of a duPont plant at Camden, S. C., and an addition to a Union Carbide dynel plant at Charleston, W. Va.

Italian Countess Weds

ALEXANDRIA Egypt, Jan. 11 (AP) — A pretty granddaughter of the late King Vittorio Emanuele III of Italy was married today to a young count from Verona who fell in love with her while painting her portrait.

Kelly Troop Meeting Today

A second meeting of parents interested in their sons joining the new Boy Scout troop to be sponsored by the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company will be held tonight at 7:30 p. m. in the conference room of the Personnel Building at the local plant.

A similar session was held last Friday night and in the event sufficient interest is shown by the adults, the Kelly will take immediate steps to provide quarters, leaders and equipment for the troop.

George W. Sellers, Cumberland District Boy Scout chairman, said F. T. Bell, Kelly personnel manager, will be in charge of the meeting.

The troop is not restricted to sons of Kelly employes, Bell declared, but is for all boys of Scout age.

With the addition of this troop, Cumberland will have 18 separate Boy Scout organizations. This will be the only one sponsored by a major industry.

Twigg Is Suspended In Fatal Shooting

John E. Twigg, 32, of 1100 Oldtown Road, entered a guilty plea in Hampshire County Court at Romney, W. Va., on a charge of "careless and negligent shooting" and Judge Harlan M. Calhoun gave him a suspended sentence of one year in jail, placing him under parole for three years. Twigg was also ordered to pay $2,000 to the family of John Delawder, 57, of Paw Paw, W. Va., who was fatally wounded by Twigg.

Twigg was also fined $100 in the shooting case and an additional $25 and costs for hunting with improper licenses. Attorney Leslie J. Clark, this city, and James Swadley, of Keyser, W. Va., were counsel for Twigg.

Although all GIs who were prisoners of war are entitled to one dollar from Uncle Sam for every day spent in captivity, many have not applied for it.

Takes A Doctor's Advice
Gas Station Man's Aches and Pains Leave Completely After First 3 Bottles Of Hadacol
Father helped, too, who also had deficiencies of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Iron and Niacin.
Wesley Scallions, energetic young gas station attendant in Peoria, Illinois, tells how HADACOL keeps him on the job. Wesley Scallions has this to report:
"I took HADACOL upon the advice of my father who has taken it regularly for some time. He could not eat, was unable to get around, lost sleep and was generally run-down because he had these deficiencies. My brother who is a doctor recommended HADACOL to Dad. Since taking HADACOL, Dad has been feeling like a different man; he now has a hearty appetite, sleeps well and gets around once again on his own.
"I have had pains in my right arm and legs due to these deficiencies. I lost many days of work until I started to take HADACOL. After my first three bottles the pains left me completely and now I work every day without having any pains. I am a gas attendant and need full use of both arms and legs in my line of work. Thanks to HADACOL I can now perform my job satisfactorily and feel fine."
Don't Be Satisfied With Symptomatic Relief
Don't be satisfied with symptomatic relief — HADACOL makes it possible to actually relieve the REAL CAUSE of those cruel nagging aches and pains when due to lack of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Iron and Niacin in the system.
AND LISTEN TO THIS! Continued use of this great HADACOL not only gives continuous, complete relief but helps keep such painful distress from returning.
That's the kind of product you've been wanting—the kind you should buy and start taking at once.
Many doctors recommend HADACOL. It is also wonderful for stomach disturbances (gas pains, indigestion, bloating, heartburn) and a general nervous run-down condition when due to such deficiencies.
Be fair to yourself! If you have such deficiencies—why go around feeling half-alive—burden to others when you you can get this great HADACOL at Rands. Remember—HADACOL must help you or your money back. Trial-size bottle, only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. At Rands.

Clerk Of Court Lists December Receipts

The report of Clerk of Court Joseph E. Boden on receipts of his office during December was released yesterday.

Receipts included $1,361.50 for documentary stamps, $275.50 for hunting licenses, $155.34 for alcoholic beverage licenses, $92,18 for business licenses, $861 for marriage licenses, $1, 564.55 for recording fees, and $714.90 for costs in law and equity cases.

The Eiffel Tower in Paris cost more than $1,000,000.

Construction At Peak In 5th Federal Reserve Area

Although somewhat under its peak level of last summer, the construction industry in Fifth Federal Reserve District states is still maintained at a high level, the Federal Bank of Richmond reports in the January issue of its Monthly Review of business and industry.

Building permits in 30 cities of the district in November, the latest month for which complete figures are obtainable, were 27 per cent higher than in the same month a year before, the bank said.

"Announcements of new plant construction have been substantial in recent months, and every week brings further news of such construction," said the bank.

The Fifth Federal Reserve District includes the states of Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina, and the District of Columbia.

A $4,000,000 combed fabrics mill at Greenville, S. C.; a $1,250,000 addition to a cotton mill at Clinton, S. C.; a $3,000,000,000 building (including machinery) at Greer, S. C., and a $1,200,000 plant expansion at Gaffney, S. C.

A $3,500,000 enlargement of a plant at Danville, Va.; a $1,000,000 meat packing distribution plant at Norfolk, Va.; a $1,000,000 machinery plant at Towson, Md., and a $1,000,000 improvement in ore-loading piers at Baltimore.

Upward of $3,500,000 have gone into building expansion of telephone facilities in the Fifth District, the bank added.

Other construction, for which figures were not available, includes a new orlon installation at Kinston, N. C. expansion of a duPont plant at Camden, S. C., and an addition to a Union Carbide dynel plant at Charleston, W. Va.

Italian Countess Weds

ALEXANDRIA Egypt, Jan. 11 (AP) — A pretty granddaughter of the late King Vittorio Emanuele III of Italy was married today to a young count from Verona who fell in love with her while painting her portrait.

The first President of the United States not born a British subject was Martin van Buren.

Kelly Troop Meeting Today

A second meeting of parents interested in their sons joining the new Boy Scout troop to be sponsored by the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company will be held tonight at 7:30 p. m. in the conference room of the Personnel Building at the local plant.

A similar session was held last Friday night and in the event sufficient interest is shown by the adults, the Kelly will take immediate steps to provide quarters, leaders and equipment for the troop.

George W. Sellers, Cumberland District Boy Scout chairman, said F. T. Bell, Kelly personnel manager, will be in charge of the meeting.

The troop is not restricted to sons of Kelly employes, Bell declared, but is for all boys of Scout age.

With the addition of this troop, Cumberland will have 18 separate Boy Scout organizations. This will be the only one sponsored by a major industry.

Twigg Is Suspended In Fatal Shooting

John E. Twigg, 32, of 1100 Oldtown Road, entered a guilty plea in Hampshire County Court at Romney, W. Va., on a charge of "careless and negligent shooting" and Judge Harlan M. Calhoun gave him a suspended sentence of one year in jail, placing him under parole for three years. Twigg was also ordered to pay $2,000 to the family of John Delawder, 57, of Paw Paw, W. Va., who was fatally wounded by Twigg.

Twigg was also fined $100 in the shooting case and an additional $25 and costs for hunting with improper licenses. Attorney Leslie J. Clark, this city, and James Swadley, of Keyser, W. Va., were counsel for Twigg.

Although all GIs who were prisoners of war are entitled to one dollar from Uncle Sam for every day spent in captivity, many have not applied for it.

The potato was first recognized as a staple food in Europe by the Irish.

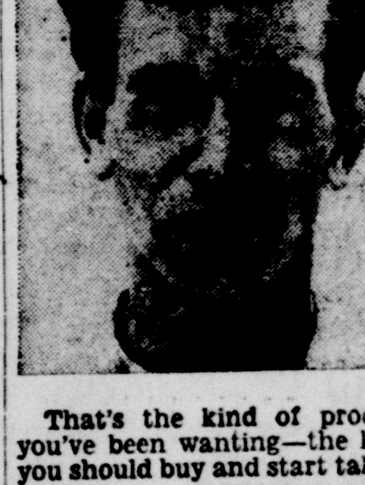
Takes A Doctor's Advice
Gas Station Man's Aches and Pains Leave Completely After First 3 Bottles Of Hadacol
Father helped, too, who also had deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin.


Wesley Scallions, energetic young gas station attendant in Peoria, Illinois, tells how HADACOL keeps him on the job. Wesley Scallions has this to report:
"I took HADACOL upon the advice of my father who has taken it regularly for some time. He could not eat, was unable to get around, lost sleep and was generally run-down because he had these deficiencies. My brother who is a doctor recommended HADACOL to Dad. Since taking HADACOL, Dad has been feeling like a different man; he now has a hearty appetite, sleeps well and gets around once again on his own.
"I have had pains in my right arm and legs due to these deficiencies. I lost many days of work until I started to take HADACOL. After my first three bottles the pains left me completely and now I work every day without having any pains. I am a gas attendant and need full use of both arms and legs in my line of work. Thanks to HADACOL I can now perform my job satisfactorily and feel fine."
Don't Be Satisfied With Symptomatic Relief
Don't be satisfied with symptomatic relief — HADACOL makes it possible to actually relieve the REAL CAUSE of those cruel nagging aches and pains when due to lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin in the system.
AND LISTEN TO THIS! Continued use of this great HADACOL not only gives continuous, complete relief but helps keep such painful distress from returning.
That's the kind of product you've been wanting—the kind you should buy and start taking at once.
Many doctors recommend HADACOL. It is also wonderful for stomach disturbances (gas pains, indigestion, bloating, heartburn) and a general nervous run-down condition when due to such deficiencies.
Be fair to yourself! If you have such deficiencies—why go around feeling half-alive—burden to others when you you can get this great HADACOL at Rands. Remember—HADACOL must help you or your money back. Trial-size bottle, only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. At Rands.

Free State Ends Bumper Canning, Can-Making Year

Value Of Goods In '50 Is $70,000,000

Maryland's important canning industry has just completed one of the most prosperous years in its century-old history, according to a year-end survey of key industry sources.

The value of food products packed by the state's 200 canneries is estimated at more than $70,000,000 for 1950, compared with over $65,000,000 in 1949, according to preliminary figures prepared by Dr. H. L. Stier, head of the Maryland State Department of Markets, University of Maryland.

Farmers producing the state's six major canning vegetables—tomatoes, peas, sweet corn, snap beans, lima beans and spinach—received almost $11,000,000 for products sold to canneries in 1950, Dr. Stier said. They received about $8,335,000 in 1949.

This in turn means that Maryland's can-making industry has chalked up a record production year according to L. M. Goodwin, Maryland district representative for the American Can Company. The 1950 output continues to keep Maryland in third place among the nation's can-making states, he said.

Although complete state-wide statistics are not yet available, American Can's two Baltimore metal container plants recorded an all-time peak output in 1950 for local use as well as export to adjacent states, Goodwin stated. He explained that this output exceeded 1949 production for the two plants by about twelve percent.

"The greater value of the Free State's 1950 food packs was due in large part to an estimated gain of some 16 percent in the total pack of the six major canning vegetables," Dr. Stier pointed out. "Preliminary unofficial data indicates a 1950 pack of 15,039,000 cases of these vegetables, compared with 12,978,000 cases in 1949."

Dr. Stier said that the largest gain was noted in the tomato pack which increased 36 percent over 1949. He also reported gains in the 1950 snap bean and green pea pack. The size of the sweet corn and lima bean packs declined in 1950, he said.

"Greater efficiency in production and a good season were responsible for a 14 percent increase in total production for canning of the six major vegetables, compared with 1949, despite a 12 percent reduction in acreage planted to these crops," Dr. Stier continued. "Total production of these six vegetables in 1950 is estimated at about one-third of : million tons and accounted for some 7.5 percent of the nation's total."

Maryland farmers received an average return of about $130 for every acre planted in canning crops during 1950, Dr. Stier stated.

Commenting on the effect of the present national emergency upon the state's food packing activities, Mr. Goodwin of American Can said: "Maryland's vital food packs are even more important in a mobilization period than in peace-time. Whatever government restrictions may be imposed upon the production and use of metal containers, the state's major food products are certain to have first call on available cans, just as was the case during the last war."

Deaths

E. H. FENSTERMACHER

Edward H. Fenstermacher, 71, who worked out of Cumberland on the B. and O. Railroad, died Tuesday night at his home, 605 Davidson Street, Connellsville, Pa., after a lingering illness. He was known as "Fensy."

A son of the late John and Lydia Billig Fenstermacher, he retired as a conductor after 48 years of service. Mr. Fenstermacher started as a brakeman at Pittsburgh in 1900. Two years later he went to Connellsville, being employed as a passenger conductor.

Mr. Fenstermacher was a member of First Methodist Church; King Solomon Lodge No. 346, A. F. and A. M.; Royal Arch Chapter No. 283; Comas Club; Brotherhood of Railway Conductors and the B. and O. Veteran Employes Association No. 6, all of Connellsville.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Katherine Barr Fenstermacher, three children, a sister and four grandchildren.

Rites will be held today at 2:30 p. m. from the Ansell Funeral Home, Connellsville. Interment will be in Green Ridge Memorial Park there.

Week Of Prayer Begins Monday In Frostburg

Nightly Services Will Run To Jan. 21

FROSTBURG — Universal Week of Prayer will be observed in Frostburg next week, January 15 to 21, every evening, Monday to Sunday, at 7:30.

The prayer series is under the auspices of the Frostburg Ministerial Association. The general theme of the series of services is "A Fellowship Without Frontiers."

The schedule of services is as follows: Monday, Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church, Broadway, Rev. Walter D. Mehrling, guest preacher on "One Christ"; Tuesday, Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church, Rev. J. Fred Zimmerman, guest preacher on "One Compassion"; Wednesday, First Congregational Church, Bowery St. and E. College Ave., Rev. Oscar F. Bowman, guest preacher on "One Confession"; Thursday, First Presbyterian Church, Broadway, Rev. John Bayley Jones, guest preacher on "One Cross"; Friday, Church of the Brethren, Stoyer and Beall Streets, Rev. George L. Wehler, guest preacher on the subject: "One Church"; and Sunday, First Methodist Church, Rev. Harold R. Stoudt, guest preacher on "One Commission."

The host ministers will conduct the services in their respective congregations with the exception of the Thursday evening service which will be conducted by Robert Jones, prominent Presbyterian layman.

The offering will be added to the Association's Hospital Fund. The public is cordially invited to attend.

75 Persons Attend Little League Affair

FROSTBURG—Seventy-five persons attended a recent Little League baseball meeting in Firemen's Hall, with Walter Mackay, representing the Rotary Club, presiding.

Albert S. Paye, Cumberland engineer and president of the Hot Stove League, who managed a Little League in Cumberland last year, gave details and advantages of the community-sponsored program. Remarks were also made by County Commissioner W. H. Lemmert and Arthur G. Ramey.

Movies of the Little League World Series, between Florida and New Jersey, was shown by Gerald Groves, member of the committee. Many of those attending promised support of the movement.

The next meeting will be held January 22, when cooperating groups will make their reports. The meeting will be public and all persons interested will be welcomed.

LONG UNCONSCIOUS—Little Jerry Dulaney, 9, of Pine Grove, W. Va., appears to be wide awake in his hospital bed at Wheeling, but actually he has been unconscious since October 8. On that date he was found unconscious in the yard of his parents' home near Pine Grove. The mother, Mrs. Lee Dulaney, shown with the child, has been his almost constant attendant since then, sleeping on a couch in his room. Her other children are cared for by neighbors Doctors believe the boy is suffering from encephalitis, or sleeping sickness. Other than keeping his eyes open much of the time in recent weeks, Jerry's only other signs of a rally have been his slight, apparent efforts to smile on one or two occasions. (AP Photo)

Mrs. McLane To Head Drive

FROSTBURG—Mrs. W. O. McLane has been appointed chairman of the 1951 March of Dimes.

This will be the 12th consecutive year in which she has headed the drive in this community. Her co-chairman will be Joseph Montana and other assistants will include Robert Powers and U. B. F. Edwards, containers; Maurice Spates and Harry Frost, theatres, and Caspar Taylor and Harry Frost, entertainment.

Mrs. McLane was appointed by John M. Robb, county chairman. The quota for this year is $2,000. because of the increasing number of polio cases in the state during the past 12 months. The quota last year was $1,000 and the amount raised was $1,534.

Robert Powers, of the containers committee, announced that a miniature iron lung will be displayed in all local business places from January 15 through January 31, and urges that liberal contributions be made to these "lungs." Persons desiring to contribute by check should send them to Mrs. McLane, chairman of the March of Dimes campaign, 167 East Main Street.

A meeting of representatives of fraternal and civic groups will be held at the McLane home, January 19, 7:30 p. m., for the purpose of planning a community dance or a number of small affairs.

Keyser Business Men Warned Of Socialism

Chamber Of Commerce Official Speaks There

KEYSER, W. Va. — Keyser business men were told, Wednesday night, to continue to inform "your congressman in Washington" of the dangers of socialism in government and stop the spread of Communism to America.

Duane Strawbridge, program adviser of the Southeastern Division of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, was guest speaker at a joint meeting of the Keyser and Piedmont Chamber of Commerce groups and the Keyser Kiwanis Club. He talked of the dangers that lie ahead that the small town business men can do much to stop.

The visitor said that he had been permitted to be present at big national meetings, and at briefing sessions held in the Pentagon, in Washington, where he had heard much information of the dangers that lie ahead of us in the world-wide threatening attitude of Soviet Communism. He said Keyser has a part, just as all other parts of our country, in the fight facing us in which we have to watch closely for under-cover activities that will wreck our government. He added that Keyser is one of many places where the Chamber of Commerce can be assisted in meeting this threat, which is of tremendous importance right now.

He said we must first look to the socialistic side, which, he said, may and can lead to many changes in our way of life if we are not alerted to its dangers quickly. We must do something about it now, to stop it before it advances beyond our control. Communism is only a step beyond that, he said.

PRODUCTION STOPS—A walkout of almost 5,000 workers, who left their jobs in protest of the company's merit system and failure to reach an agreement on wages has halted all production at the Fairchild Aviation plant, Hagerstown. The strike started shortly after President Truman, in his State of the Union message, set a goal of 50,000 planes as necessary to the defense and security of the United States. The Hagerstown plant produces giant C-119 transport planes. (International)

Ministers Seek Service Change

WESTERNPORT—The monthly meeting of the Tri-Towns Ministerial Association was held recently at the St. James Episcopal Church, with Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, rector of the host church, conducting devotions.

Believing that the graduation service could be held at a more satisfactory and convenient time than at 11 a. m. on Sunday which is now the custom, the association had as its guest speaker, Vernon A. Staggers, principal of the Piedmont High School. Staggers was definitely opposed to a change in time as it had been held at that time for a number of years.

Although no solution was found, work toward the change will be continued by the Ministerial Association. The meeting closed with prayer by Rev. Philip Demuth, pastor of Bloomington Methodist Church.

The Good Friday service will be held at Mt. Calvary Lutheran Church, with Rev. Robert E. Cassell, pastor, in charge of arrangements.

Novel Basketball Game Is Planned

KEYSER, W. Va. — Plans are being completed for the "Li'l Abner" and "Daisy May" basketball game by members of the Keyser High School Alumni Association in Keyser High School gymnasium January 25, 8 p. m.

Players will be dressed as characters in the comic strip.

Male members of the alumni association will match their wits and blasketball training against females. None of the players will wear shoes, although they may wear socks. A rule of the game will be that none of the male members will be permitted to pass or toss the ball in their normal manner, for instance a left handed player must play with his right hand.

The game will be sponsored by the alumni association.

Leather Workers Elect

PARSONS, W. Va.—D. H. McClain was named president of Local 450 Leather Workers Union, of the Armour Leather Company here.

Other officers are Clyde Simmons, vice-president; Victor E. Patch, chief steward; Morris Harsh, financial secretary; Samuel Fansler, recording secretary; Ira Shaffer, chaplain; Robert Bennett, marshall and Samuel Fansler, reporter.

Parsons Girl Is Married

PARSONS, W. Va. — Miss Cynthia "Polly" Propst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Schilansky, Parsons, became the bride of Charles Allen Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ashton Roberts of Hendricks.

Rev. Paul A. Bell, pastor of First Baptist Church, Parsons, officiated at the ceremony at the home of the bridegroom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Linsey, Hendricks, December 31.

The bride, given in marriage by her step father, wore a navy blue street length dress with which she chose navy blue and white accessories. Her bouquet was of Talisman roses and she carried a bride's white Bible.

Mrs. Roberts graduated from Parsons High School 1950 and is employed as a stenographer in the office of the County Clerk.

Roberts, a graduate of Parsons High School, attended Davis and Elkins College and is a veteran of World War II. He is employed in construction work in Falls Church, Va.

Keyser Women Hear Talk On Banking

KEYSER, W. Va. — The Women's Club of Keyser held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening in the National Bank of Keyser with Paul G. Davis as the principal speaker.

He gave four suggestions to the group; keep your money in some bank, make a will, put your valuable papers in a deposit box, and get a birth certificate.

A movie based on the life of a "check" was shown by Edgell Grayson. Following this the women were escorted in groups by the bank personnel throughout the bank and various phases of banking were demonstrated.

W. Va. Sales Tax Up Two Millions

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 11 (AP) — Gross sales tax collections for first half of the current fiscal year increased almost $2,000,000 (M) as compared to the 1949 receipts.

Tax Commissioner C. H. Koontz reported that $16,775,455.09 (M) was collected during the same period a year earlier was $14,785,683.17.

Total collections for the month of December, 1950, were $325,155.45. Receipts for the same month a year ago were $180,702.64.

Prohibitionist Due In Keyser

KEYSER, W. Va.,—Virgil C. Finnell, Winona Lake, Ind., chairman of the Prohibition National Committee and editor of the "National Prohibitionist," will speak in the Church of the Brethren, South Main Street at Fort Avenue, Sunday at 7:30 p. m. His topic will be "God Save America."

Finnell is qualified to deal with any phase of the liquor problem, his sponsors announce. He has been active in moral and reform work for a number of years. His lectures on these lines have taken him into 46 of the 48 states, where he has spoken in churches, schools, colleges and before lyceum, chautauqua and convention audiences.

Rev. I. S. Long, pastor of the Church of the Brethren said: "Church and temperance leaders point out that the demand for national prohibition is growing due to the increase of drinking by women and girls, the higher taxes due to costs of caring for those who have gotten into trouble through drinking alcoholic liquors and the mixing of alcohol with gasoline by some drivers of automobiles on the nation's highways."

Neaman Concert Is Well Attended

KEYSER, W. Va.—Yfrah Neaman, sponsored by the Community Concert Association of Keyser, played to an appreciative audience Monday night.

Despite the extreme cold, a large group was present to hear Neaman, who is still in his twenties but who has won wide recognition for his violin playing

Neaman has been engaged to play August 26 for the Festival of Britain in the new Festival Concert Hall in London.

He said Keyser has a part, just as all other parts of our country, in the fight facing us in which we have to watch closely for under-cover activities that will wreck our government. He added that Keyser is one of many places where the Chamber of Commerce can be assisted in meeting this threat, which is of tremendous importance right now.

He said we must first look to the socialistic side, which, he said, may and can lead to many changes in our way of life if we are not alerted to its dangers quickly. We must do something about it now, to stop it before it advances beyond our control. Communism is only a step beyond that, he said.

PRODUCTION STOPS—A walkout of almost 5,000 workers, who left their jobs in protest of the company's merit system and failure to reach an agreement on wages has halted all production at the Fairchild Aviation plant, Hagerstown. The strike started shortly after President Truman, in his State of the Union message, set a goal of 50,000 planes as necessary to the defense and security of the United States. The Hagerstown plant produces giant C-119 transport planes. (International)

Ministers Seek Service Change

WESTERNPORT — The monthly meeting of the Tri-Towns Ministerial Association was held recently at the St. James Episcopal Church, with Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, rector of the host church, conducting devotions.

Believing that the graduation service could be held at a more satisfactory and convenient time than at 11 a. m. on Sunday which is now the custom, the association had as its guest speaker, Vernon A. Staggers, principal of the Piedmont High School. Staggers was definitely opposed to a change in time as it had been held at that time for a number of years.

Although no solution was found, work toward the change will be continued by the Ministerial Association. The meeting closed with prayer by Rev. Philip Demuth, pastor of Bloomington Methodist Church.

The Good Friday service will be held at Mt. Calvary Lutheran Church, with Rev. Robert E. Cassell, pastor, in charge of arrangements.

Novel Basketball Game Is Planned

KEYSER, W. Va. — Plans are being completed for the "Li'l Abner" and "Daisy May" basketball game by members of the Keyser High School Alumni Association in Keyser High School gymnasium January 25, 8 p. m.

Players will be dressed as characters in the comic strip.

Male members of the alumni association will match their wits and basketball training against females. None of the players will wear shoes, although they may wear socks. A rule of the game will be that none of the male members will be permitted to pass or toss the ball in their normal manner, for instance a left handed player must play with his right hand.

The game will be sponsored by the alumni association.

Leather Workers Elect

PARSONS, W. Va.—D. H. McClain was named president of Local 450 Leather Workers Union, of the Armour Leather Company here.

Other officers are Clyde Simmons, vice-president; Victor E. Patch, chief steward; Morris Harsh, financial secretary; Samuel Fansler, recording secretary; Ira Shaffer, chaplain; Robert Bennett, marshall and Samuel Fansler, reporter.

Parsons Girl Is Married

PARSONS, W. Va. — Miss Cynthia "Polly" Propst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Schilansky, Parsons, became the bride of Charles Allen Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ashton Roberts of Hendricks.

Rev. Paul A. Bell, pastor of First Baptist Church, Parsons, officiated at the ceremony at the home of the bridegroom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Linsey, Hendricks, December 31.

The bride, given in marriage by her step father, wore a navy blue street length dress with which she chose navy blue and white accessories. Her bouquet was of Talisman roses and she carried a bride's white Bible.

Mrs. Roberts graduated from Parsons High School 1950 and is employed as a stenographer in the office of the County Clerk.

Roberts, a graduate of Parsons High School, attended Davis and Elkins College and is a veteran of World War II. He is employed in construction work in Falls Church, Va.

Keyser Women Hear Talk On Banking

KEYSER, W. Va. — The Women's Club of Keyser held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening in the National Bank of Keyser with Paul G. Davis as the principal speaker.

He gave four suggestions to the group; keep your money in some bank, make a will, put your valuable papers in a deposit box, and get a birth certificate.

A movie based on the life of a "check" was shown by Edgell Grayson. Following this the women were escorted in groups by the bank personnel throughout the bank and various phases of banking were demonstrated.

W. Va. Sales Tax Up Two Millions

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 11 (AP) — Gross sales tax collections for first half of the current fiscal year increased almost $2,000,000 (M) as compared to the 1949 receipts.

Tax Commissioner C. H. Koontz reported that $16,775,455.09 (M) was collected during the same period a year earlier was $14,785,683.17.

Total collections for the month of December, 1950, were $325,155.45. Receipts for the same month a year ago were $180,702.64.

Prohibitionist Due In Keyser

KEYSER, W. Va.,—Virgil C. Finnell, Winona Lake, Ind., chairman of the Prohibition National Committee and editor of the "National Prohibitionist," will speak in the Church of the Brethren, South Main Street at Fort Avenue, Sunday at 7:30 p. m. His topic will be "God Save America."

Finnell is qualified to deal with any phase of the liquor problem, his sponsors announce. He has been active in moral and reform work for a number of years. His lectures on these lines have taken him into 46 of the 48 states, where he has spoken in churches, schools, colleges and before lyceum, chautauqua and convention audiences.

Rev. I. S. Long, pastor of the Church of the Brethren said: "Church and temperance leaders point out that the demand for national prohibition is growing due to the increase of drinking by women and girls, the higher taxes due to costs of caring for those who have gotten into trouble through drinking alcoholic liquors and the mixing of alcohol with gasoline by some drivers of automobiles on the nation's highways."

Neaman Concert Is Well Attended

KEYSER, W. Va.—Yfrah Neaman, sponsored by the Community Concert Association of Keyser, played to an appreciative audience Monday night.

Despite the extreme cold, a large group was present to hear Neaman, who is still in his twenties but who has won wide recognition for his violin playing

Neaman has been engaged to play August 26 for the Festival of Britain in the new Festival Concert Hall in London.

Teachers May Ask Legislature For $200 Increase In Salaries

The Legislative Committee of the Maryland State Teachers Association may ask the General Assembly to increase teachers' salaries $200 a year in all categories.

It has been proposed that the request be made at this session of the General Assembly.

The decision to ask for an increase was made at a state-wide meeting last month of county legislative chairmen. They urged action by the Legislative Steering Committee to present a program at this session to increase the state minimum scale.

Statewide, the legislation, if successful, would make the beginning rate for teachers $2,400 instead of $2,200.

The state minimum salary ranges from $2,200 to $3,800 with 16 increase steps provided. The state does not provide extra renumeration for a master's degree but Allegany county adds $200.

Allegany county starts teachers with a bachelor's degree at $2,400 instead of the state minimum of $2,200. The top county scale is $3.-900. It is presumed that in the event the state scale is upped, the county would maintain the same differential which now exists. This means a county teacher would start at $2,600 and reach a top of $4,000.

Harold C. Wickard, chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Allegany County Teachers' Association, represented the local group at the December meeting.

In teachers' salaries Maryland ranks fourth in the nation but although these salaries have more than doubled since 1935, records show the purchasing power of this income is only one-third higher than it was then because of the rapid increase in the cost of living.

From 1935 through 1939, the average teacher's salary was $1,495 with a 100 per cent purchase value.

For 1950-51 the estimated salary of $3,620 has a purchase value of only $2,032.

VA Caring For 13,000 Victims Of Tuberculosis

Nearly 13,000 tuberculosis patients are being cared for in Veterans Administration hospitals, according to the latest reports of the Veterans Administration. Some of these patients, doctors of the agency said, leave the hospital too soon and against medical advice.

Leaving the hospital too soon is a serious year-round problem affecting both the patients and many persons outside the hospital.

When a patient leaves a hospital against medical advice, VA said, he is apt to retard his recovery and sometimes risks his chance of recovery or endangers his life. In addition, he creates the risk of spreading the disease to members of his family and friends.

Although a year-round problem, according to VA doctors, these dangers are especially acute during holiday seasons, when a patient is especially desirous of being in his home.

To combat the difficulty, the Veterans Administration has made every possible effort to explain the dangers frankly both to patients and to their families. Another step is to permit patients to visit their homes at as early a time as it is safe medically for them to do so.

Other methods which have been found by VA to cut down on the number of unauthorized leaves by tuberculosis patients are: furnishing good hospital entertainment for patients, with the aid of volunteer workers; assistance to the families of patients which have serious problems at home; and encouraging families to visit patients in the hospital as often as they can.

Two Kelly Men Injured In Fall

Two Kelly-Springfield Tire Company workers were injured yesterday in an eight-foot fall from a scaffold being used for painting inside the plant.

William Brady, 34, of 310 Furnace Street, suffered possible head injuries, and Benjamin J. Leydig, 59, Hyndman, Pa., sustained a possible fracture of the left leg. Both were admitted to Memorial Hospital for treatment and X-rays.

Plant officials said the men were standing on a board between two ladders, ainting a window sash, when thefell to the concrete floor. Two ambances rushed them to the hospital here attaches reported their contions as satisfactory.

Although a year-round problem, according to VA doctors, these dangers are especially acute during holiday seasons, when a patient is especially desirous of being in his home.

To combat the difficulty, the Veterans Administration has made every possible effort to explain the dangers frankly both to patients and to their families. Another step is to permit patients to visit their homes at as early a time as it is safe medically for them to do so.

Other methods which have been found by VA to cut down on the number of unauthorized leaves by tuberculosis patients are: furnishing good hospital entertainment for patients, with the aid of volunteer workers; assistance to the families of patients which have serious problems at home; and encouraging families to visit patients in the hospital as often as they can.

Two Kelly Men Injured In Fall

Two Kelly-Springfield Tire Company workers were injured yesterday in an eight-foot fall from a scaffold being used for painting inside the plant.

William Brady, 34, of 310 Furnace Street, suffered possible head injuries, and Benjamin J. Leydig, 59, Hyndman, Pa., sustained a possible fracture of the left leg. Both were admitted to Memorial Hospital for treatment and X-rays.

Plant officials said the men were standing on a board between two ladders, painting a window sash when they fell to the concrete floor. Two ambulances rushed them to the hospital where attaches reported their conditions as satisfactory.

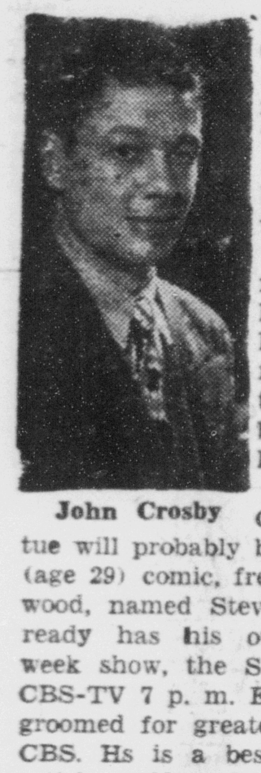
By JOHN CROSBY

New Sprig In The Allen Family Tree

THE Delphic oracle which resides in a sewer at the corner of Broadway and 45th Street and which I consult from time to time informs me that Arthur Godfrey will take off for Europe pretty soon to join General of the Army Eisenhower's staff for a short period. "Who," I asked my oracle, "will be attache to whom in this arrangement—Godfrey to Eisenhower? Or Eisenhower to Godfrey?" Got nothing out of him but derisive laughter.



John Crosby

At any rate, Godfrey's substitue will probably be a rising young (age 29) comic, fresh out of Hollywood, named Steve Allen who already has his own five-times-a-week show, the Steve Allen Show CBS-TV 7 p. m. EST and is being groomed for greater things around CBS. Hs is a bespectacled, brash, satiric, self-confident lad with a somewhat unfortunate air of hauteur toward sponsors, studio audiences and home audiences which may have to be curbed a little if he is to climb to the heights.

• — • — •

Still, he is a very funny man with traces in him of Dave Garroway, Robert Q. Lewis and Ransom Sherman. And he bears a distinguished name in this racket having been preceded by Fred and Gracie. The Allen dynasty is almost as old and difficult to extinguish as the Plantagenets. Last Monday, Allen was baptized (in Lipton's tea) on the Godfrey Talent Scout program when Arthur unaccountably got lost somewhere between Miami and New York. Did a handsome job, too. "This is Arthur Godfrey," he announced. "Well, this isn't Arthur Godfrey, really. I was just trying to scare my wife. I'm not replacing Arthur Godfrey. I'm replacing Robert Q. Lewis who usually replaces Arthur Godfrey."

The commercials on that show are always, to say the least, informal. Allen turned them into a shambles, pouring Lipton's noodle soup into a teapot and then pouring the whole mess into one of Arthur's ukeleles. "Lipton's noodle soup," he announced later. "It has that home-cooked flavor. You cook it at home." Allen handled the talent scouts and their guests (who were all pretty bad) very well and wrung more laughter out of the audience than Godfrey generally does. But then Arthur doesn't deal exclusively in laughter; his is a many-faceted personality and Mr. Allen, I should say, is about six facets short of him.

The edge of Mr. Allen's satire is considerably more in evidence on his own show, a shapeless but amusing affair of great promise. Here Allen wanders around among musicians, a bartender who may be a permanent part of the show, and stray vaudeville acts, musing aloud on things that interest him. Why, he will wonder plaintively, do they make paper cups that resemble wastebaskets or chimneys? Why not make a paper cup that looks like a paper cup? Why, in the movies does a man, who is trying to flee the villains, flatten himself, arms outstretched, against a wall? Why doesn't he take to his heels?

"Television is a wonderful medium," he observes cheerfully. "You can get at nine million people and none of them can get at you . . . We pause now for station identification. This station is five stories high and can be identified by the blue trim on the windows. Isn't that ridiculous? I've often wondered what would happen if someone called up and said they'd found an unidentified radio station at the corner of Madison and 53rd Street."

As yet unsponsored, the Allen show is occasionally interspersed with spot announcements which Allen views with hostility. "Here we pause for a spot," he'll announce glumly. "You know what Shakespeare said about spots. I feel the same way." At various other times, Mr. Allen has eaten a beaver's tale from Nino's ($27 per portion) without relish, played the "Third Man Theme" on a kitchen chair and been hoisted by a balancing artist on to a chair, balanced on another chair balanced on some beer bottles on top of a table. "Stop that lousy applause," he told the audience unhappily.

He also plays the piano with what I consider unwarranted self-depreciation. "Let's get some tricky camera angles to conceal the technical deficiencies." At the end of the show, he plunges—I suppose this is inevitable—into the audience and interviews the customers, treating them rather more roughly than is generally the custom which is all right with me. Some of the people he interviews sound like plants but I'll play along.

Glad To Talk With Taft

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said that he is always ready to discuss American foreign policies with Republicans in Congress but has no plans for calling in Sen. Taft (R-Ohio).

The administration, he noted, already consults the minority party through Republican members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

FOIL THE DANGER HAND

PLENTY of difficult No Trump games depend on a single factor, ability of the declarer to keep the dangerous defender out of the lead at the stage when he is in position to do maximum damage. In order to accomplish this, the fine cardsman uses whatever device happens best to fit the particular situation. It may consist of finessing an optional suit in the direction which, if it fails, will give the unfeared hand the lead. Or it may involve refusal to finesse, playing a top card which might fell a missing honor or at the very worst might cause the unfeared defender to win a trick he otherwise would lose.

South was ready to jump into 3-No Trumps as soon as he heard North's 1-Diamond, but bid the 1-Heart instead to give his side a chance to find a possible 4-4 major suit fit. The 1-Spade then furnished the key for the 3-No Trumps on a very sound basis.

West couldn't lead the unbid suit against that, since there was no such animal. With a set of risky choices, he chose his hearts, opening the fourth-best 6. South took the Q with the A, since he had at least one more sure stopper then. He scored the diamond K when East held up the A, then led toward the heart J for a dummy entry. West scored the K and returned the 5 to the J.

South, with hearts still stopped by the 10, finessed the club J to the Q and West hammered out the third heart stopper with the 7 to the 10, establishing his 9. Now South, with eight tricks sure, laid down three top spades hoping the 7 would set up. When it didn't, he sought the ninth by finessing the club 10. But the K won, and West beat him with the heart 9 and spade J.

South could have improved his mathematical chances by playing the A on the second club lead, hoping thereby to assure the danger hand not gaining the lead. If that presented East a trick with the K, it would be only the fourth defensive trick. If it worked, South would score two extra tricks. He should have tried it.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

By JOHN CROSBY

New Sprig In The Allen Family Tree

John Crosby

THE Delphic oracle which resides in a sewer at the corner of Broadway and 45th Street and which I consult from time to time informs me that Arthur Godfrey will take off for Europe pretty soon to join General of the Army Eisenhower's staff for a short period. "Who," I asked my oracle, "will be attache to whom in this arrangement—Godfrey to Eisenhower? Or Eisenhower to Godfrey?" Got nothing out of him but derisive laughter.

At any rate, Godfrey's substitue will probably be a rising young (age 29) comic, fresh out of Hollywood, named Steve Allen who already has his own five-times-a-week show, the Steve Allen Show CBS-TV 7 p. m. EST and is being groomed for greater things around CBS. He is a bespectacled, brash, satiric, self-confident lad with a somewhat unfortunate air of hauteur toward sponsors, studio audiences and home audiences which may have to be curbed a little if he is to climb to the heights.

• — • — •

Still, he is a very funny man with traces in him of Dave Garroway, Robert Q. Lewis and Ransom Sherman. And he bears a distinguished name in this racket having been preceded by Fred and Gracie. The Allen dynasty is almost as old and difficult to extinguish as the Plantagenets. Last Monday, Allen was baptized (in Lipton's tea) on the Godfrey Talent Scout program when Arthur unaccountably got lost somewhere between Miami and New York. Did a handsome job, too. "This is Arthur Godfrey," he announced. "Well, this isn't Arthur Godfrey, really. I was just trying to scare my wife. I'm not replacing Arthur Godfrey. I'm replacing Robert Q. Lewis who usually replaces Arthur Godfrey."

The commercials on that show are always, to say the least, informal. Allen turned them into a shambles, pouring Lipton's noodle soup into a teapot and then pouring the whole mess into one of Arthur's ukeleles. "Lipton's noodle soup," he announced later. "It has that home-cooked flavor. You cook it at home." Allen handled the talent scouts and their guests (who were all pretty bad) very well and wrung more laughter out of the audience than Godfrey generally does. But then Arthur doesn't deal exclusively in laughter; his is a many-faceted personality and Mr. Allen, I should say, is about six facets short of him.

The edge of Mr. Allen's satire is considerably more in evidence on his own show, a shapeless but amusing affair of great promise. Here Allen wanders around among musicians, a bartender who may be a permanent part of the show, and stray vaudeville acts, musing aloud on things that interest him. Why, he will wonder plaintively, do they make paper cups that resemble wastebaskets or chimneys? Why not make a paper cup that looks like a paper cup? Why, in the movies does a man, who is trying to flee the villains, flatten himself, arms outstretched, against a wall? Why doesn't he take to his heels?

"Television is a wonderful medium," he observes cheerfully. "You can get at nine million people and none of them can get at you . . . We pause now for station identification. This station is five stories high and can be identified by the blue trim on the windows. Isn't that ridiculous? I've often wondered what would happen if someone called up and said they'd found an unidentified radio station at the corner of Madison and 53rd Street."

As yet unsponsored, the Allen show is occasionally interspersed with spot announcements which Allen views with hostility. "Here we pause for a spot," he'll announce glumly. "You know what Shakespeare said about spots. I feel the same way." At various other times, Mr. Allen has eaten a beaver's tale from Nino's ($27 per portion) without relish, played the "Third Man Theme" on a kitchen chair and been hoisted by a balancing artist on to a chair, balanced on another chair balanced on some beer bottles on top of a table. "Stop that lousy applause," he told the audience unhappily.

He also plays the piano with what I consider unwarranted self-depreciation. "Let's get some tricky camera angles to conceal the technical deficiencies." At the end of the show, he plunges—I suppose this is inevitable—into the audience and interviews the customers, treating them rather more roughly than is generally the custom which is all right with me. Some of the people he interviews sound like plants but I'll play along.

Glad To Talk With Taft

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said that he is always ready to discuss American foreign policies with Republicans in Congress but has no plans for calling in Sen. Taft (R-Ohio).

The administration, he noted, already consults the minority party through Republican members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

FOIL THE DANGER HAND

PLENTY of difficult No Trump games depend on a single factor, ability of the declarer to keep the dangerous defender out of the lead at the stage when he is in position to do maximum damage. In order to accomplish this, the fine cardsman uses whatever device happens best to fit the particular situation. It may consist of finessing an optional suit in the direction which, if it fails, will give the unfeared hand the lead. Or it may involve refusal to finesse, playing a top card which might fell a missing honor or at the very worst might cause the unfeared defender to win a trick he otherwise would lose.

South was ready to jump into 3-No Trumps as soon as he heard North's 1-Diamond, but bid the 1-Heart instead to give his side a chance to find a possible 4-4 major suit fit. The 1-Spade then furnished the key for the 3-No Trumps on a very sound basis.

West couldn't lead the unbid suit against that, since there was no such animal. With a set of risky choices, he chose his hearts, opening the fourth-best 6. South took the Q with the A, since he had at least one more sure stopper then. He scored the diamond K when East held up the A, then led toward the heart J for a dummy entry. West scored the K and returned the 5 to the J.

South, with hearts still stopped by the 10, finessed the club J to the Q and West hammered out the third heart stopper with the 7 to the 10, establishing his 9. Now South, with eight tricks sure, laid down three top spades hoping the 7 would set up. When it didn't, he sought the ninth by finessing the club 10. But the K won, and West beat him with the heart 9 and spade J.

South could have improved his mathematical chances by playing the A on the second club lead, hoping thereby to assure the danger hand not gaining the lead. If that presented East a trick with the K, it would be only the fourth defensive trick. If it worked, South would score two extra tricks. He should have tried it.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

We wish to take this means of expressing our sincere appreciation to our friends, relatives and neighbors, for the kindness extended to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our dear mother, Mrs. Nancy Obaker. We especially wish to thank the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes, and loaned cars for the funeral.
WALTER OBAKER, LEO OBAKER, and MRS. BRUCE KEEFER.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our darling wife and mother, Eleanora Blacklin, who passed away three years ago today, January 12, 1948.

In memory's lovely garden
Where remembered joy blooms fair,
Your memory, dearest Mother,
Is the brightest blossom there.
Away in the land of the Sunrise
Standing by Heavens door.
Dearest Mother we know you are waiting
Not dead just gone before.
In that blessed land called Heaven
We pray we once more will be,
United with our good kind loving Mother.
For all eternity.

Sadly missed by your,
HUSBAND and DAUGHTERS

In memory of our dear father, Richard W. Long, who passed away January 12, 1949.

Our family circle has been broken,
A link has gone from our chain;
Some day we hope to meet you,
Some day we know not when.
We do not forget you nor do we intend.
We think of you always, and will to the end.
How sweet the memory still,
The world can never fill.

Sadly missed by his,
CHILDREN and GRANDCHILDREN.

Cards of Thanks

We wish to take this means of expressing our sincere appreciation to our friends, relatives and neighbors, for the kindness extended to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our dear mother, Mrs. Nancy Obaker. We especially wish to thank the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes, and loaned cars for the funeral.
WALTER OBAKER, LEO OBAKER, and MRS. BRUCE KEEFER.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our darling wife and mother, Eleanora Blacklin, who passed away three years ago today, January 12, 1948.

In memory's lovely garden
Where remembered joy blooms fair,
Your memory, dearest Mother,
Is the brightest blossom there.
Away in the land of the Sunrise
Standing by Heavens door.
Dearest Mother we know you are waiting
Not dead just gone before.
In that blessed land called Heaven
We pray we once more will be,
United with our good kind loving Mother.
For all eternity.

Sadly missed by your,
HUSBAND and DAUGHTERS

In memory of our dear father, Richard W. Long, who passed away January 12, 1949.

Our family circle has been broken,
A link has gone from our chain;
Some day we hope to meet you,
Some day we know not when.
We do not forget you nor do we intend,
We think of you always, and will to the end.
How sweet the memory still,
The world can never fill.

Sadly missed by his,
CHILDREN and GRANDCHILDREN.

Paw Paw, Bayard Defeat Silents

Mountaineers Break Loss Streak, 68-36

ROMNEY, W. Va., Jan. 11—The West Virginia School for the Deaf suffered two setbacks in games played this week.

Bayard High defeated the Silents in a Potomac Valley Conference at Bayard, 65-25. Allen, Bayard forward, scored 14 field goals and 33 points. Smith and Pyles led the home team with 11 and 10 tallies. Bayard's Jayvees won the prelim, 28-1.

Paw Paw snapped a five-game losing streak, defeating the Silents 68 to 36. Largent, McCabe and Rockwell with 14, 12 and 10 markers, paced the victors in scoring. M. Pyles topped the locals with 13 points.

West Virginia Deaf School's Jayvees defeated Paw Paw, 20-14. Tuell and Kelly headed the winners with six and five points. Lineups:

Freddie Scolari Balks At Taking Cut At Syracuse

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Little Freddie Scolari, one of pro basketball's top stars, said today that he will not play for the Syracuse Nationals.

The five-year veteran said he may pack up and go home to San Francisco because "one thing is sure, I'm not going to Syracuse despite the fact they drafted me."

The former ace of the Washington Capitols, who ranks eighth among the National Basketball Association scorers, was drafted by Syracuse when Washington dropped out of the league earlier this week.

He declined to say what he was going to do about his rhubarb with Leo Ferris, executive director of the Syracuse Nats. But it was reported that he will confer with NBA President Maurice Podoloff tomorrow in New York City.

Scolari said Ferris told him over the telephone that "I'd have to take a 25 per cent seasonal cut for the rest of the season because I was a little man." A retroactive seasonal cut of 25 per cent amounts to 50 per cent for the rest of this season, Freddie figured out.

"I'm not making a tremendous salary now and a 50 percent cut for the rest of this season would leave me just where I started five years ago," he said.

"I definitely was interested in playing for Syracuse before this talk because I like Al Cervi and his players—and the fans there."

Sunday School Games Are Transferred From AHS To Fort Hill Gym

Saturday games in the Central YMCA Sunday School Basketball League, scheduled for the Allegany High School court, have been transferred to the Fort Hill High School girls' gym, Clifton Van Roby announced last night.

The games transferred are:

12 noon—St. Mark's vs. Calvary. 12:55—LaVale Methodist vs. Wiley Ford. 1:50—United Brethren vs. St. Paul's. 2:45 — Maccabees vs. St. John's. 3:40—Central Methodist vs. Grace Baptist. 4:35—Living Stone vs. Grace Methodist.

The other Saturday games on the "Y" court are:

12 noon—First Baptist vs. Potomac Park. 12:55—Trinity Lutheran vs. St. Matthews. 1:50—St. Luke's vs. Park Place. 2:45 — Zion Reformed vs. Kingsley Methodist. 3:40 — First Presbyterian vs. Centre Street. 4:35 — Emmanuel Episcopal vs. First Methodist.

Market Stages Recovery To Post New 1950-51 High

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—The stock market raced ahead today in an amazing display of strength and established a new 1950-51 high.

Prices recovered all the ground lost in yesterday's severe slump—and more.

The gains ran to $1 and $3 a share among the leaders, and in some instances much higher. Superior Oil of California advanced $25 to $390.

On average the market again stands at the highest level in more than 20 years. Today's movement added an estimated $1,500,000,000 to the value of all listed securities on the exchange.

Inflation psychology plus renewed Korean peace feelers in the United Nations backed by the British were taken into account by brokers in explaining the upsurge of prices.

Steels, rails and motors led the way with quite a number of other groups and individual issues joining in, including metal mining, aircrafts, and air lines.

Just before the close there was big forward push that gave a substantial lift to rails and brought the radio-television division forward with a rush. The tape was a minute late at the close.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced $1.60 to $91.10, a new high since October, 1930. The industrial component was up $1.90, rails $1.70, and utilities 40 cents.

The volume expanded to 3,490,000 shares as compared with yesterday's total of 3,270,000 shares. International Telephone headed the list of the most active issues up 1⅜ at 15½. Discussion of I. T. & T's earnings prospects include war contracts to subsidiaries, its television connections, and the improving foreign currency situation which betters its foreign operations.

New York Central, an old favorite, was second up 1⅞ at 24½. There were several others not so frequently seen on the list including Standard Gas & Electric up 1⅛ at 11¼, Hayes Mfg. up ⅞ at 8⅛, Remington Rand up ⅞ at 15⅝, Chicago Corp. up ¾ at 13⅞, and Pepsi-Cola up ⅝ at 10½.

Sport Slants

League championship teams at Barton High in the 1920s. On two other occasions his teams were nosed out for the title in playoff contests.

Raymond "Ike" Law, swimming instructor, basketball referee, baseball and football manager, and basketball promoter, who still talks of the "good old days," was coach of LaSalle's only W. M. I. League championship team in 1927.

Mel Henry, an alumnus of Penn Avenue High, where he started out as mascot, then starred in basketball and football; coached the gridders at Fort Hill and Virginia Tech, and is now football and basketball mentor at Hagerstown High, tutored the Central High cagers of Lonaconing who bagged W. M. I. honors in 1943.

J. Stanley Hunter, one-time Carnegie Tech grid star, coached Beall High quints that won W. M. I. League championships in 1921 and 1924. He started at Beall in 1919 and at one time tutored track, football, basketball and soccer. Football faded out in 1921 and was revived five years ago with Joe Hoopengardner as coach. Ed Finzel supplanted Hunter as basketball and soccer mentor in 1935 but the latter continued to coach track until 1948. Prof. is still a member of the Beall faculty.

The longest winning streak in the history of the league is credited to Allegany High School. The Campers won 44 consecutive games. They were undefeated in 1944, 1945, 1946 and 1947 and copped their four games of the 1948 season before being stopped by Fort Hill.

Smith, of Maine, going along, Sen. Taft can hardly command a majority for his viewpoint on foreign and defense policy, except on minor matters. This is true although the issue has now been squarely posed by the speeches of Sen. Taft, former President Herbert Hoover, and Joseph P. Kennedy. For the time being, the great measures of the foreign and defense program, although they will be tumultuously debated, must be regarded as pretty safe to pass.

There is no safeguard, however, against real danger. The present program may get by. But the improvement in the Congressional outlook has not restored the real power of the government and the country to act quickly and decisively on the world stage. It has not assured a right response to the immense new challenges which the next months may bring. It has not even deprived the Hoover-Taft-Kennedy school of thought of its real asset, which is the want of confidence in the national leadership.

There is only one way to achieve these great ends and to unify the country. In 1943, in comparable but much less dangerous circumstances, Franklin Delano Roosevelt dismissed "Dr. New Deal" and called in "Dr. Win the War" (as he himself put it), in order to organize the nearest equivalent to a national coalition government that our system allows. Ten years later, almost every responsible leader of his own party believes that Harry S. Truman must do the same thing all over again, in order to carry the nation through the new time of peril.

Paw Paw, Bayard Defeat Silents

Mountaineers Break Loss Streak, 68-36

ROMNEY, W. Va., Jan. 11—The West Virginia School for the Deaf suffered two setbacks in games played this week.

Bayard High defeated the Silents in a Potomac Valley Conference at Bayard, 65-25. Allen, Bayard forward, scored 14 field goals and 33 points. Smith and Pyles led the home team with 11 and 10 tallies. Bayard's Jayvees won the prelim, 28-1.

Paw Paw snapped a five-game losing streak, defeating the Silents 68 to 36. Largent, McCabe and Rockwell with 14, 12 and 10 markers, paced the victors in scoring. M. Pyles topped the locals with 13 points.

West Virginia Deaf School's Jayvees defeated Paw Paw, 20-14. Tuell and Kelly headed the winners with six and five points. Lineups:

Freddie Scolari Balks At Taking Cut At Syracuse

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Little Freddie Scolari, one of pro basketball's top stars, said today that he will not play for the Syracuse Nationals.

The five-year veteran said he may pack up and go home to San Francisco because "one thing is sure, I'm not going to Syracuse despite the fact they drafted me."

The former ace of the Washington Capitols, who ranks eighth among the National Basketball Association scorers, was drafted by Syracuse when Washington dropped out of the league earlier this week.

He declined to say what he was going to do about his rhubarb with Leo Ferris, executive director of the Syracuse Nats. But it was reported that he will confer with NBA President Maurice Podoloff tomorrow in New York City.

Scolari said Ferris told him over the telephone that "I'd have to take a 25 per cent seasonal cut for the rest of the season because I was a little man." A retroactive seasonal cut of 25 per cent amounts to 50 per cent for the rest of this season, Freddie figured out.

"I'm not making a tremendous salary now and a 50 percent cut for the rest of this season would leave me just where I started five years ago," he said.

"I definitely was interested in playing for Syracuse before this talk because I like Al Cervi and his players—and the fans there."

Sunday School Games Are Transferred From AHS To Fort Hill Gym

The other Saturday games on the "Y" court are:

12 noon—First Baptist vs. Potomac Park. 12:55—Trinity Lutheran vs. St. Matthews. 1:50—St. Luke's vs. Park Place. 2:45 — Zion Reformed vs. Kingsley Methodist. 3:40 — First Presbyterian vs. Centre Street. 4:35 — Emmanuel Episcopal vs. First Methodist.

Market Stages Recovery To Post New 1950-51 High

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—The stock market raced ahead today in an amazing display of strength and established a new 1950-51 high.

Prices recovered all the ground lost in yesterday's severe slump—and more.

The gains ran to $1 and $3 a share among the leaders, and in some instances much higher. Superior Oil of California advanced $25 to $390.

On average the market again stands at the highest level in more than 20 years. Today's movement added an estimated $1,500,000,000 to the value of all listed securities on the exchange.

Inflation psychology plus renewed Korean peace feelers in the United Nations backed by the British were taken into account by brokers in explaining the upsurge of prices.

Steels, rails and motors led the way with quite a number of other groups and individual issues joining in, including metal mining, aircrafts, and air lines.

Just before the close there was big forward push that gave a substantial lift to rails and brought the radio-television division forward with a rush. The tape was a minute late at the close.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced $1.60 to $91.10, a new high since October, 1930. The industrial component was up $1.90, rails $1.70, and utilities 40 cents.

The volume expanded to 3,490,000 shares as compared with yesterday's total of 3,270,000 shares. International Telephone headed the list of the most active issues up 1⅜ at 15½. Discussion of I. T. & T's earnings prospects include war contracts to subsidiaries, its television connections, and the improving foreign currency situation which betters its foreign operations.

New York Central, an old favorite, was second up 1⅞ at 24½. There were several others not so frequently seen on the list including Standard Gas & Electric up 1⅛ at 11¼, Hayes Mfg. up ⅞ at 8⅛, Remington Rand up ⅞ at 15⅝, Chicago Corp. up ¾ at 13⅞, and Pepsi-Cola up ⅝ at 10½.

Sport Slants

League championship teams at Barton High in the 1920s. On two other occasions his teams were nosed out for the title in playoff contests.

Raymond "Ike" Law, swimming instructor, basketball referee, baseball and football manager, and basketball promoter, who still talks of the "good old days," was coach of LaSalle's only W. M. I. League championship team in 1927.

Mel Henry, an alumnus of Penn Avenue High, where he started out as mascot, then starred in basketball and football; coached the gridders at Fort Hill and Virginia Tech, and is now football and basketball mentor at Hagerstown High, tutored the Central High cagers of Lonaconing who bagged W. M. I. honors in 1943.

J. Stanley Hunter, one-time Carnegie Tech grid star, coached Beall High quints that won W. M. I. League championships in 1921 and 1924. He started at Beall in 1919 and at one time tutored track, football, basketball and soccer. Football faded out in 1921 and was revived five years ago with Joe Hoopengardner as coach. Ed Finzel supplanted Hunter as basketball and soccer mentor in 1935 but the latter continued to coach track until 1948. Prof. is still a member of the Beall faculty.

The longest winning streak in the history of the league is credited to Allegany High School. The Campers won 44 consecutive games. They were undefeated in 1944, 1945, 1946 and 1947 and copped their four games of the 1948 season before being stopped by Fort Hill.

Smith, of Maine, going along, Sen. Taft can hardly command a majority for his viewpoint on foreign and defense policy, except on minor matters. This is true although the issue has now been squarely posed by the speeches of Sen. Taft, former President Herbert Hoover, and Joseph P. Kennedy. For the time being, the great measures of the foreign and defense program, although they will be tumultuously debated, must be regarded as pretty safe to pass.

There is no safeguard, however, against real danger. The present program may get by. But the improvement in the Congressional outlook has not restored the real power of the government and the country to act quickly and decisively on the world stage. It has not assured a right response to the immense new challenges which the next months may bring. It has not even deprived the Hoover-Taft-Kennedy school of thought of its real asset, which is the want of confidence in the national leadership.

There is only one way to achieve these great ends and to unify the country. In 1943, in comparable but much less dangerous circumstances, Franklin Delano Roosevelt dismissed "Dr. New Deal" and called in "Dr. Win the War" (as he himself put it), in order to organize the nearest equivalent to a national coalition government that our system allows. Ten years later, almost every responsible leader of his own party believes that Harry S. Truman must do the same thing all over again, in order to carry the nation through the new time of peril.

State Coal Bill Introduced By Senator Kimble

DST Referendum Asked For Cumberland

Bills calling upon the state to buy only state-mined coal in Maryland institutions and for a referendum on Daylight Saving Time in Cumberland were introduced yesterday by Robert B. Kimble, Senate minority leader.

The first, Senate Bill 46, specifies that the State Purchasing Bureau must buy coal mined in Maryland unless the Board of Public Works in the event of an extraordinary emergency or set of circumstances shall direct.

The bill was referred to the Finance committee.

Kimble also introduced a bill to allow the Mayor and Council of Cumberland by ordinance to adopt Daylight Savings Time, and to require that any such ordinance must be submitted to the voters at a referendum.

The city now has an ordinance providing for DST in the city.

Among the other Senate bills introduced yesterday were:

SB47 — by Dippel — to provide that death sentences shall be carried out in a lethal gas chamber instead of by hanging (Judiciary).

SB48 — by Phipps — to authorize a $5,000,000 bond issue for construction of a state office building, and to specify that such a building must be constructed in or within five miles of Annapolis (Finance).

SB49 — by Phoebus — to repeal Maryland's "Jim Crow" segregation statute.

Western Maryland senators yesterday were appointed to major Senate committees. They were:

Kimble, (Allegany County) — Aviation, Roads and Transportation; Education and Rules.

Fraley, (Garrett County)—Labor; Education; Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Service Charges Delay Payments Of Tax Bills

Many of the delinquent tax payments have had to be referred back to taxpayers who forgot to add service charges and interest, George E. Davis, city tax collector, announced yesterday.

Davis said a service charge of 50 cents is added to each delinquent tax bill, plus two per cent interest on bills paid until January 14. The interest rate will jump to 2½ per cent after that date, he said.

Collections of delinquent taxes this week have been exceptionally good, he said, but nearly a score of payments were delayed by failure to include extra charges.

Improvements in the tax office will begin in the near future, Davis said.

The work will include the modernization of windows in the tax collector's section of City Hall, with outmoded window equipment replaced with modern fixtures.

The project will also provide additional room and a better display for the collection windows.

Farmers Warned On Income Tax

Owners of Allegany county farms were reminded yesterday by County Agent R. F. McHenry that they should file 104OF income tax forms and estimated 1950 earnings with the Collector of Internal Revenue, Cumberland Post Office Building, on or before next Monday, January 15.

The farmers have until March 15 to pay their 1950 Federal income tax.

McHenry and Joseph Steger, county assistant agent, have assisted a number of farmers in filling out their income tax forms. They recommend that other farmers who seek advice go directly to the Collector of Internal Revenue's office.

LaVale PTA Executive Board Holds Meeting

Plans were made to buy equipment for the school playground and to hold a square dance at a meeting of the executive board of the LaVale Parent-Teacher Association last night in the school building.

Carl O. Belt, president of the PTA, said last night the organization hopes to buy all necessary equipment for the playground this year.

The square dance tentatively is planned for March 2 in the LaVale Fire Hall and a floor show will be presented. Edmund F. Hoey, city recreation director, will call figures for the dance, Belt said.

A regular meeting of the entire PTA will be held next Thursday at the school beginning at 8:15 p.m., Belt stated. William G. Barger will be the guest speaker and his topic will be "Civil Defense."

Pack 8 Committee To Meet Tonight

A committee meeting of Cub Pack No. 8, sponsored by St. Mary's by St. Mary's Church, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the home of William J. Hay, 604 Elwood Street.

Plans for the observance of Scout week and the pack's participation in the Scout pageant next month will be discussed.

Baltimore Pike Fire Department's New Leaders

Six Men Seek Top Post In Textile Union

Election Will Be Held Jan. 22-24

Auditing committee nominees are James McGann, David Rennie, Walter Hymes, Neff Herring and Peter Clark. Declining were Harry Troutman and James Roby. Three will be elected. McGann is an incumbent.

Nominees for warden are Francis Harvey, the incumbent; Walter Mahaney. Declining were Carl Hinkle, Homer Berry, Gilbert Lewis, James McGann, Richard Jenkins and Richard Boyden.

The election will be conducted by the Honest Ballot Association of New York City. Voting booths will be at the union hall on North Mechanic Street where ballots may be cast from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. A booth will be at the Celanese plant where votes may be cast at shift changes and ballots may also be cast at the main cafeteria, CA cafeteria and Block 5 cafeteria during lunch periods.

Union officials said that nominees have until January 17 at 5 p. m. to decline.

Candidates for the various offices must receive a majority of the ballots to be elected. There may be some runoffs necessary as in past elections.

Births Announced

Memorial Hospital announces the following births:

Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Shaner, Woodlawn, LaVale, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pressman, 18 Grant Street, announce the birth of a son last Friday at Miners Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Blackburn, Everett, Pa., a daughter last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Stroup, 127 Academy Street, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., a son last night

Kelly-Union Committee To Plan For Blood Bank Here

The Labor-Management committee of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant this week named a sub-committee to investigate the possibility of sponsoring a blood bank.

Named to the committee were H. C. Nelson, service manager, and A. C. Howard, safety director, for the company, and Ralph C. Beard, vice president, and John H. Chisholm, for Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastics Workers of America (CIO).

Beard said the committee will act as a fact finding board and report back to the committee.

Tentative plans discussed at a recent meeting of the union called for workers at the Kelly plant to have their blood typed and recorded so supplies of blood could be supplied on short notice.

The plan would also provide for building up a substantial blood bank in local hospitals for use in emergencies in the area.

New Cooling Unit Being Installed At Kelly Plant

Steam Jet Replaces Ammonia Type System

Preparations are underway at Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant to replace the present ammonia refrigerating unit used to cool water pumped to the plant, with a new steam jet unit, a company official said last night.

The new unit will be approximately 40 feet high and measure about 40 by 15 feet around the base. Construction work has already begun on the foundation the spokesmen reported.

The new refrigerating unit is being placed next to the refrigeration building near the machine shop at the Kelly and will be used to supplement the water tower at the plant for cooling river water used to cool rubber during the process of making truck and automobile tires.

The water tower supplies the main tire plant with water but sometimes the water needs additional cooling during the hot weather and the refrigeration unit aids this phase of the production.

The new refrigeration system uses low pressure steam to create a vacuum which in turn vaporizes and cools the water as it passes through the unit.

Kelly engineers began cleaning out the intake tunnel which pulls water from the Potomac River and pumps it to the Kelly plant Christmas week and are continuing the cleansing process in the outlet tunnel, taking sand and mud from the tunnel prior to the pumping of water through the refrigeration system.

The George F. Hazelwood Contracting Company has the basic contract for placing the unit.

Spring Gap 4-H Plans Program

The Spring Gap 4-H Boys formulated plans for the year, last night at the community building. Joseph Roby presided.

It was decided to sponsor a party for 4-H boys going into service, to be held February 8 in conjunction with the next meeting. Forestry will be studied in February and the county-wide recreation meeting will also be held.

A discussion on chickens will be given by Joseph Riley for the March meeting; William Twigg is to speak on gardens in April; Joseph Roby, James Ritchie, Herbert Shipe and Ray Rashenberger will give an electrical demonstration in May.

During the summer the outdoors is being stressed with a discussion on insects for June; campfire in July and a tour in August.

Swine will be studied for September; soil conservation in October; wild life in November and in December a Christmas party will be planned.

Weather

The slight precipitation which glazed the streets and sidewalks of Cumberland yesterday morning didn't turn out to be the order of the day as the weather waxed warm again and only .02 rainfall was recorded. The official thermometers registered a high of 41 and low of 31 with the 10 o'clock reading 35. City degree-o-mometers hit a high of 45 and low of 36 for the day. It's slated to be fair and not so cold today the weatherman says.

City's Traffic Record Is Good During 1950

One Fatal Accident Is Reported Here

Deaths and injuries from traffic accidents last year were the lowest in Cumberland since 1946, according to Lt. Edwin R. Lilya, chief of the traffic bureau of the Cumberland Police Department.

In his report to Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn, the traffic bureau head listed one death, 68 pedestrian injuries and 76 injuries in vehicles from the 292 accidents reported here last year.

Property damage in 1950, however, totaled $56,380, as compared to 1949's $47,945.

The December, 1950, report in Cumberland showed 749 parking violations, including 18 state cases. They included four drunken driving charges and 15 counts on careless driving.

Total accidents for the month included five pedestrians struck by motor vehicles, 24 vehicle collisions, one collision between a vehicle and a train and five cases of collisions with fixed objects.

Saturday proved to be the most dangerous day to drive in this city in December, with 11 accidents recorded. Tuesdays had a clean slate for the month.

Traffic enforcement officers said the December record is notable in that streets were slippery for much of the month due to weather conditions.

The record proves, they said, that most accidents can be prevented if motorists drive carefully, as they must when road conditions are unfavorable.

Delay Costs Miner Benefits

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 11 (AP) — An Allegany county coal miner waited too long to apply for silicosis disability benefits, the Maryland Court of Appeals ruled today.

The court upheld an Allegany County Circuit Court judgment that Harry Theodore Gower, a coal mine motorman, was not entitled to compensation for a bad lung condition because he had claimed to be disabled from silicosis in 1948, seven years after his last date of exposure.

The State Industrial Accident Commission had awarded Gower compensation.

The high court pointed to statute specifying no one can claim compensation for silicosis who does not report disability before three years after last exposure.

Teachers To Meet

The Allegany County Teachers Association will meet Saturday at 10 a. m. in Fort Hill High School. The meeting was originally planned in Allegany High School.

Suggestion Plan Is Adopted For Police, Firemen

Board To Judge Merit Of Ideas

Members of the Cumberland Police and Fire Departments are being invited to make suggestions for the improvements of the departments, Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long, announced yesterday.

Suggestion boxes, Commissioner Long said, have been placed in Police Headquarters and at all of the city's fire stations.

He said the plan is being adopted to "give the men on the job" an opportunity to express themselves.

The suggestion plan, he said, has proved its worth during the years it has been in operation in industry.

A Suggestion Board will be named to meet periodically and discuss the merits of suggestions offered by members of the department.

The board will consist of Commissioner Long, Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn, Acting Fire Chief William L. Lindner and one representative each from the police and fire departments.

Suggestions which the board finds have merit will be given a fair trial, pending formal adoption or rejection.

Suitable recognition will be given to members who make worthwhile suggestions, Commissioner Long said.

All suggestions will be judged on merit alone and must be signed before they may be brought before the Suggestion Board.

Farmers Should Submit Reports

Between 50 and 60 of the Allegany county farmers who participated in the Production and Marketing Administration's 1950 lime and fertilizer program have not yet submitted their required reports to the county committee's headquarters, 37 Washington Street.

Albert O'Neal, chairman of the county PMA committee, said yesterday that farmers should have come to the headquarters and made out their reports by December 31, 1950. Those who have not should comply with the report requirement immediately. Some 400 Allegany county farmers participated in the program last year. Their reports are supposed to show how much lime and fertilizer was used and where it was placed.

The county committee met yesterday to formulate plans for the 1951 program. It is planned that lime and fertilizer will be distributed this year on the basis of need rather than a flat figure per acre.

Handbooks and letters will be sent out next week announcing the 1951 program to county farmers. They must come to the Washington Street office by April 15 to apply for participation in the soil improvement program.

Mr. And Mrs. L. B. Brown Visit Friends Here

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie B. Brown, Brigantine, N. J., have been visiting friends and relatives here for the past week. Mrs. Brown was Miss Gertrude Matlick of this city, and a brother of Major Robert Matlick here.

Mr. Brown is remembered here for his activity in the formation of the local Boy Scout Council and work with Boy Scout Troops. He was scout master of Troop No. 5 for a number of years. He was associated with the Kelly Springfield Tire Company and the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, here for a number of years and in 1938 was promoted to assistant manager at Hagerstown by the insurance company.

He was later promoted to assistant manager at Frederick and then transferred to Washington, D. C. In 1948 he purchased a business at Brigantine, which he is now conducting.

Committee Says 30,000 Favor County Library

Only One Group Opposed Proposal

Organizations representing 30,000 persons are in favor of the establishment of a county library in Allegany county, according to a recent letter from two of the officers of a committee which recently surveyed the library situation in the county.

The letter, signed by Mrs. Stanley Buckley, committee president, and Mrs. Lester B. Reed, committee secretary, has been released for publication by Mrs. Reed. It was sent to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners last month.

William H. Lemmert, president of the board, Wednesday said the committee's proposal will be turned down. He said the county board is opposed to participation in the state air program under which the county would be required to set aside certain sums for a mobile library, or a permanent library building. He said the cost would be prohibitive.

"First things come first, and we do not have the money to appropriate for library service when there are thousands of our residents out of work and in dire need," Lemmert declared.

The committee's letter read in part:

"Acting as your appointed committee, we have canvassed the entire community. We sent questionaires to organizations representing the whole population asking their reaction to the establishment of a county library in Allegany County.

The letters brought affirmative responses from groups representing 30,000 persons. There was one negative reply received.

"We believe, gentlemen, that you will agree with our conclusion that Allegany county persons wish for and deserve library service. If any further information is desired in regard to the survey, kindly let us know.

The letter also listed the organizations which replied affirmatively to the library questionaires. They were:

Homemakers Clubs throughout the county, PTAs, 4-H Clubs, Coin Clubs Western Maryland Motor Club, VFW organizations throughout the county, VFW auxiliaries, Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Rebekah Lodges, Women's Societies of Christian Service, Volunteer Fire Companies and Auxiliary, Dapper Dan Club and Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Industrial Group May Amend Charter

The Executive committee of the Cumberland Industrial Promotion Corporation met yesterday in the Chamber of Commerce office to discuss possible changes in its charter.

Present were William L. Walsh, chairman, David Kauffman, William L. Wilson, Jr., Joseph M. Naughton and H. W. Smith, secretary.

Francis Petrott Dies Suddenly In Frederick

FRANCIS PETROTT

FREDERICK, Md., Jan. 11 (AP)—Francis Petrott, secretary of state under former Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor and Maryland's adjutant general during World War II, died suddenly tonight at his home. He was 54 years old.

Dr. R. W. aBer, Frederick County medical examiner, said Petrott collapsed at his home about 10:30 p. m. and apparently died immediately.

Petrott was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1896, moving to Frederick in 1925, when he married the former Miss Mary James.

He was appointed secretary of state by O'Conor May 17, 1939, and served until May 15, 1941. Two years later he became state adjutant with the rank of major general.

A well-known attorney throughout the state, he also served as magistrate here for several years.

In September 1945 he was appointed a member of the Unemployment Compensation Board.

Auto Tag Bill Is Introduced By Delegation

Would Authorize County Distribution

A bill to authorize the Board of Allegany County Commissioners to designate an officer, other than the county treasurer, to sell motor vehicle tags in this county was introduced yesterday in the Maryland General Assembly.

The proposed measure was introduced in the House by the Allegany County Delegation. It was referred to the Ways and Means Committee.

The delegation said the distribution of motor vehicle tags in this county has been discussed for some time and that various proposals have been made for a county set up.

They pointed out that the distributor would have to be a county official or an agent of the Commissioners, since the set up would have to be supervised and bond would have to be posted.

In many counties, they pointed out, the work is done by the treasurer, who is also tax collector.

Delegate Horace P. Whitworth, Jr. yesterday introduced a resolution HJR2, to ratify the proposed constitutional amendment limiting the number of terms any person may be president of the United States to two. The resolution was referred to the Judiciary committee.

The Assembly adjourned until Monday at 8 p. m.

Trinity Church Will Install New Officers

Newly-elected officers of Trinity Lutheran Church will be installed at the regular service Sunday morning.

The officers are John F. Chisholm, president of the congregation; Karl Kiiffner, vice - president; Elmer Welsh, reelected secretary; C. E Hieserman, treasurer; Walter Kiiffner, Sunday School superintendent; Raymond Wigfield, L. Bealky, A. Kiiffner, Harold Knippenberg and Cloid True, members of the Church Council.

Officers were elected Monday at the annual meeting of the Voters' Assembly. At that time the annual report of the treasury revealed a balance of $1,300 at the close of 1950. The auditing committee reported completion of its work and all books of the congregation were correct and in good order.

News In Brief

Aliens of this section who did not register at the Cumberland Post Office by deadline time Wednesday have been given a two-week grace period until January 24, Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon said yesterday. A total of 83 aliens have registered here, records show.

The total of returns in the Christmas Seal Sale is $11,329 toward a goal of $15,000, officials of the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association said yesterday.

"The Calling of Matthew," a Cathedral film, will be shown in the Church of the Brethren, Second and Cedar Streets, at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. The public is invited.

Answer False Alarm

West Side Fire Company and Truck Company No. 1 were called to Prospect Square last night at 9:30 o'clock by a false alarm. Firemen said someone pulled Fire Alarm Box 16 there.

Area Singled Out In Report On Employment

State Group Cites Reasons For Jobless

"With the possible exception of the Cumberland and Oakland areas, there is no present need for a public works program."

That was the conclusion of a State committee, which has urged Maryland communities not to wait for a depression to solve their unemployment problems, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Annapolis.

The committee complimented local groups in Western Maryland and said "their zeal has demonstrated the important service that such a committee can render in working toward preventing unemployment."

City Needs New Plants

"In Cumberland," the committee declared, "too much dependence has been placed on a few industries," and new industries must be attracted. "Only by industrial growth can the area be permanently benefited," it said.

Oakland's problem was attributed to a decline in mining and added "there seems little hope for any improvement in that industry." Development of recreational facilities would offer some assistance, the committee said.

The Committee on Employment and Relief appointed at the suggestion of the 1950 General Assembly also called for "a shelf of public works" programs to help take up future slacks in employment.

William H. Mahaney, chairman of the Department of Employment Security, headed the committee.

Reports, distributed earlier to legislators, were made public yesterday.

A group of Senators, Delegates and State officials was assigned to survey employment problems.

Public Works Question

Whether local public works projects should be encouraged headed the list of questions placed before the committee on its appointment by Governor Lane. Rising unemployment in Western Maryland a year ago was one of the main reasons for the study.

Stimulated by war in Korea, more jobs were becoming available throughout the State even as its investigation progressed, the committee noted. It suggested the legislature seek current employment data on Cumberland and Oakland, where the increase had not been as pronounced.

"Had as much state and local interest been displayed in the whole problem of unemployment before disaster hit, the unemployment problems which developed might have been averted or at least lessened to a considerable degree," the committee said.

Some 70,600, or 7.5 per cent of the labor force, were unemployed in October 1949, the committee reported. Last October the number had dwindled to 42,800, or only 4.5 per cent of an expanded labor pool.

The committee described Maryland Jobless Compensation Law as "one of the most liberal in the country," which did much to alleviate "distress caused by unemployment."

It referred questions on Federal-State-County relationship in Social Security affairs to Dr. Elwyn A. Mauck, director of the State Fiscal Research Bureau. He will submit a separate report.

Makes Recommendations

If unemployment remains acute in the Cumberland and Oakland areas, the committee recommended to the Legislature that:

1. The immediate needs of the area be given priority consideration.
2. Contemplated state projects be accelerated in order to put some unemployed to work.
3. Wherever possible, County-State projects be set up as a works program with a sliding scale of matching funds.
4. The Employment Security Department intensify its testing program to determine additional aptitudes and skills of the jobless.
5. Training programs be set up to rehabilitate workers to other skills.
6. Some immediate thought be given to advancing funds for transportation of unemployed workers to other areas of the State.

Three Local Men Enlist In Marines

They were James Edward Layton, 20, Williams Road, RFD No. 2, city; Lester Wilber Davis, 25, of 501 North Centre Street; and Richard Ellsworth Smith, 18, Williams Road, RFD No. 2, city.

They were sent to Parris Island, S. C., for eight weeks basic training.

Merchants To Meet

The Mercantile Bureau of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce will meet today at 10:30 a. m. in the Chamber offices. Business will include a discussion on special promotion programs.

M. F. Prendergast Ill

M. F. Prendergast, 511 Washington Street, was admitted to Allegany Hospital last night after becoming ill at his home. His condition was reported to be serious.

To Aid Polio Drive

Kelly Local 26, Rubber Workers Union (CIO), will aid in the March of Dimes drive here, Ralph C. Beard, vice president, announced yesterday.

State Coal Bill Introduced By Senator Kimble

DST Referendum Asked For Cumberland

Bills calling upon the state to buy only state-mined coal in Maryland institutions and for a referendum on Daylight Saving Time in Cumberland were introduced yesterday by Robert B. Kimble, Senate minority leader.

The first, Senate Bill 46, specifies that the State Purchasing Bureau must buy coal mined in Maryland unless the Board of Public Works in the event of an extraordinary emergency or set of circumstances shall direct.

The bill was referred to the Finance committee.

Kimble also introduced a bill to allow the Mayor and Council of Cumberland by ordinance to adopt Daylight Savings Time, and to require that any such ordinance must be submitted to the voters at a referendum.

The city now has an ordinance providing for DST in the city.

Among the other Senate bills introduced yesterday were:

SB47 — by Dippel — to provide that death sentences shall be carried out in a lethal gas chamber instead of by hanging (Judiciary).

SB48 — by Phipps — to authorize a $5,000,000 bond issue for construction of a state office building, and to specify that such a building must be constructed in or within five miles of Annapolis (Finance).

SB49 — by Phoebus — to repeal Maryland's "Jim Crow" segregation statute.

Western Maryland senators yesterday were appointed to major Senate committees. They were:

Kimble, (Allegany County) — Aviation, Roads and Transportation; Education and Rules.

Fraley, (Garrett County)—Labor; Education; Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Service Charges Delay Payments Of Tax Bills

Many of the delinquent tax payments have had to be referred back to taxpayers who forgot to add service charges and interest, George E. Davis, city tax collector, announced yesterday.

Davis said a service charge of 50 cents is added to each delinquent tax bill, plus two per cent interest on bills paid until January 14. The interest rate will jump to 2½ per cent after that date, he said.

Collections of delinquent taxes this week have been exceptionally good, he said, but nearly a score of payments were delayed by failure to include extra charges.

Improvements in the tax office will begin in the near future, Davis said.

The work will include the modernization of windows in the tax collector's section of City Hall, with outmoded window equipment replaced with modern fixtures.

The project will also provide additional room and a better display for the collection windows.

Farmers Warned On Income Tax

Owners of Allegany county farms were reminded yesterday by County Agent R. F. McHenry that they should file 1040F income tax forms and estimated 1950 earnings with the Collector of Internal Revenue, Cumberland Post Office Building, on or before next Monday, January 15.

The farmers have until March 15 to pay their 1950 Federal income tax.

McHenry and Joseph Steger, county assistant agent, have assisted a number of farmers in filling out their income tax forms. They recommend that other farmers who seek advice go directly to the Collector of Internal Revenue's office.

LaVale PTA Executive Board Holds Meeting

Plans were made to buy equipment for the school playground and to hold a square dance at a meeting of the executive board of the LaVale Parent-Teacher Association last night in the school building.

Carl O. Belt, president of the PTA, said last night the organization hopes to buy all necessary equipment for the playground this year.

The square dance tentatively is planned for March 2 in the LaVale Fire Hall and a floor show will be presented. Edmund F. Hoey, city recreation director, will call figures for the dance, Belt said.

A regular meeting of the entire PTA will be held next Thursday at the school beginning at 8:15 p.m., Belt stated. William G. Barger will be the guest speaker and his topic will be "Civil Defense."

Pack 8 Committee To Meet Tonight

A committee meeting of Cub Pack No. 8, sponsored by St. Mary's by St. Mary's Church, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the home of William J. Hay, 604 Elwood Street.

Plans for the observance of Scout week and the pack's participation in the Scout pageant next month will be discussed.

Glenwood Allen, Lindley Dye, Ishmiel Adams, Richard Jenkins, Raymond Dreyer, John Kreitzburg, Francis Monahan, Carl Hinkle, James Lease, Sylvester Martin, Charles Brode, Benjamin Brown and James Summers.

Incumbents are Baker, Wright, Adams and Hinkle. Aldridge was not renominated. Five will be elected to the board.

Nominees for board of trustees are John F. Fatkin, James Roby, George Harris, Roy Craze, Neff Herring, Charles Jones, Harry Wright, James McGann, David Rennie, Allan Mace, Richard Jenkins, Donald Roach. Declining for this nomination were Richard Boyden, Floyd Grady, and Steve Cesnick.

Incumbent trustees are Fatkin, Harris, Craze and Jones. Five will be elected.

Recording secretary nominees are John Estes, G. I. Allen, Madeline Carter, Charles Davis. Neff Herring declined. Gilbert Lewis, the incumbent, was not renominated.

Plans Announced

Auditing committee nominees are James McGann, David Rennie, Walter Hymes, Neff Herring and Peter Clark. Declining were Harry Troutman and James Roby. Three will be elected. McGann is an incumbent.

Nominees for warden are Francis Harvey, the incumbent; Walter Mahaney. Declining were Carl Hinkle, Homer Berry, Gilbert Lewis, James McGann, Richard Jenkins and Richard Boyden.

The election will be conducted by the Honest Ballot Association of New York City. Voting booths will be at the union hall on North Mechanic Street where ballots may be cast from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. A booth will be at the Celanese plant where votes may be cast at shift changes and ballots may also be cast at the main cafeteria, CA cafeteria and Block 5 cafeteria during lunch periods.

Union officials said that nominees have until January 17 at 5 p. m. to decline.

Candidates for the various offices must receive a majority of the ballots to be elected. There may be some runoffs necessary as in past elections.

Births Announced

Memorial Hospital announces the following births:

Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Shaner, Woodlawn, LaVale, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pressman, 18 Grant Street, announce the birth of a son last Friday at Miners Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Blackburn, Everett, Pa., a daughter last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Stroup, 127 Academy Street, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., a son last night

Kelly-Union Committee To Plan For Blood Bank Here

The Labor-Management committee of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant this week named a sub-committee to investigate the possibility of sponsoring a blood bank.

Named to the committee were H. C. Nelson, service manager, and A. C. Howard, safety director, for the company, and Ralph C. Beard, vice president, and John H. Chisholm, for Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastics Workers of America (CIO).

Beard said the committee will act as a fact finding board and report back to the committee.

Tentative plans discussed at a recent meeting of the union called for workers at the Kelly plant to have their blood typed and recorded so supplies of blood could be supplied on short notice.

The plan would also provide for building up a substantial blood bank in local hospitals for use in emergencies in the area.

New Cooling Unit Being Installed At Kelly Plant

Steam Jet Replaces Ammonia Type System

Preparations are underway at Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant to replace the present ammonia refrigerating unit used to cool water pumped to the plant, with a new steam jet unit, a company official said last night.

The new unit will be approximately 40 feet high and measure about 40 by 15 feet around the base. Construction work has already begun on the foundation the spokesmen reported.

The new refrigerating unit is being placed next to the refrigeration building near the machine shop at the Kelly and will be used to supplement the water tower at the plant for cooling river water used to cool rubber during the process of making truck and automobile tires.

The water tower supplies the main tire plant with water but sometimes the water needs additional cooling during the hot weather and the refrigeration unit aids this phase of the production.

The new refrigeration system uses low pressure steam to create a vacuum which in turn vaporizes and cools the water as it passes through the unit.

Kelly engineers began cleaning out the intake tunnel which pulls water from the Potomac River and pumps it to the Kelly plant Christmas week and are continuing the cleansing process in the outlet tunnel, taking sand and mud from the tunnel prior to the pumping of water through the refrigeration system.

The George F. Hazelwood Contracting Company has the basic contract for placing the unit.

Spring Gap 4-H Plans Program

The Spring Gap 4-H Boys formulated plans for the year, last night at the community building. Joseph Roby presided.

It was decided to sponsor a party for 4-H boys going into service, to be held February 8 in conjunction with the next meeting. Forestry will be studied in February and the county-wide recreation meeting will also be held.

A discussion on chickens will be given by Joseph Riley for the March meeting; William Twigg is to speak on gardens in April; Joseph Roby, James Ritchie, Herbert Shipe and Ray Rashenberger will give an electrical demonstration in May.

During the summer the outdoors is being stressed with a discussion on insects for June; campfire in July and a tour in August.

Swine will be studied for September; soil conservation in October; wild life in November and in December a Christmas party will be planned.

Weather

The slight precipitation which glazed the streets and sidewalks of Cumberland yesterday morning didn't turn out to be the order of the day as the weather waxed warm again and only .02 rainfall was recorded. The official thermometers registered a high of 41 and low of 31 with the 10 o'clock reading 35. City degree-o-mometers hit a high of 45 and low of 36 for the day. It's slated to be fair and not so cold today the weatherman says.

City's Traffic Record Is Good During 1950

One Fatal Accident Is Reported Here

Deaths and injuries from traffic accidents last year were the lowest in Cumberland since 1946, according to Lt. Edwin R. Lilya, chief of the traffic bureau of the Cumberland Police Department.

In his report to Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn, the traffic bureau head listed one death, 68 pedestrian injuries and 76 injuries in vehicles from the 292 accidents reported here last year.

Property damage in 1950, however, totaled $56,380, as compared to 1949's $47,945.

The December, 1950, report in Cumberland showed 749 parking violations, including 18 state cases. They included four drunken driving charges and 15 counts on careless driving.

Total accidents for the month included five pedestrians struck by motor vehicles, 24 vehicle collisions, one collision between a vehicle and a train and five cases of collisions with fixed objects.

Saturday proved to be the most dangerous day to drive in this city in December, with 11 accidents recorded. Tuesdays had a clean slate for the month.

Traffic enforcement officers said the December record is notable in that streets were slippery for much of the month due to weather conditions.

The record proves, they said, that most accidents can be prevented if motorists drive carefully, as they must when road conditions are unfavorable.

Delay Costs Miner Benefits

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 11 (AP) — An Allegany county coal miner waited too long to apply for silicosis disability benefits, the Maryland Court of Appeals ruled today.

The court upheld an Allegany County Circuit Court judgment that Harry Theodore Gower, a coal mine motorman, was not entitled to compensation for a bad lung condition because he had claimed to be disabled from silicosis in 1948, seven years after his last date of exposure.

The State Industrial Accident Commission had awarded Gower compensation.

The high court pointed to statute specifying no one can claim compensation for silicosis who does not report disability before three years after last exposure.

Teachers To Meet

The Allegany County Teachers Association will meet Saturday at 10 a. m. in Fort Hill High School. The meeting was originally planned in Allegany High School.

Suggestion Plan Is Adopted For Police, Firemen

Board To Judge Merit Of Ideas

Members of the Cumberland Police and Fire Departments are being invited to make suggestions for the improvements of the departments, Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long, announced yesterday.

Suggestion boxes, Commissioner Long said, have been placed in Police Headquarters and at all of the city's fire stations.

He said the plan is being adopted to "give the men on the job" an opportunity to express themselves.

The suggestion plan, he said, has proved its worth during the years it has been in operation in industry.

A Suggestion Board will be named to meet periodically and discuss the merits of suggestions offered by members of the department.

The board will consist of Commissioner Long, Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn, Acting Fire Chief William L. Lindner and one representative each from the police and fire departments.

Suggestions which the board finds have merit will be given a fair trial, pending formal adoption or rejection.

Suitable recognition will be given to members who make worthwhile suggestions, Commissioner Long said.

All suggestions will be judged on merit alone and must be signed before they may be brought before the Suggestion Board.

Farmers Should Submit Reports

Between 50 and 60 of the Allegany county farmers who participated in the Production and Marketing Administration's 1950 lime and fertilizer program have not yet submitted their required reports to the county committee's headquarters, 37 Washington Street.

Albert O'Neal, chairman of the county PMA committee, said yesterday that farmers should have come to the headquarters and made out their reports by December 31, 1950. Those who have not should comply with the report requirement immediately. Some 400 Allegany county farmers participated in the program last year. Their reports are supposed to show how much lime and fertilizer was used and where it was placed.

The county committee met yesterday to formulate plans for the 1951 program. It is planned that lime and fertilizer will be distributed this year on the basis of need rather than a flat figure per acre.

Handbooks and letters will be sent out next week announcing the 1951 program to county farmers. They must come to the Washington Street office by April 15 to apply for participation in the soil improvement program.

Mr. And Mrs. L. B. Brown Visit Friends Here

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie B. Brown, Brigantine, N. J., have been visiting friends and relatives here for the past week. Mrs. Brown was Miss Gertrude Matlick of this city, and a brother of Major Robert Mattlick here.

Mr. Brown is remembered here for his activity in the formation of the local Boy Scout Council and work with Boy Scout Troops. He was scout master of Troop No. 5 for a number of years. He was associated with the Kelly Springfield Tire Company and the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, here for a number of years and in 1938 was promoted to assistant manager at Hagerstown by the insurance company.

He was later promoted to assistant manager at Frederick and then transferred to Washington, D. C. In 1948 he purchased a business at Brigantine, which he is now conducting.

Committee Says 30,000 Favor County Library

Only One Group Opposed Proposal

Organizations representing 30,000 persons are in favor of the establishment of a county library in Allegany county, according to a recent letter from two of the officers of a committee which recently surveyed the library situation in the county.

The letter, signed by Mrs. Stanley Buckley, committee president, and Mrs. Lester B. Reed, committee secretary, has been released for publication by Mrs. Reed. It was sent to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners last month.

William H. Lemmert, president of the board, Wednesday said the committee's proposal will be turned down. He said the county board is opposed to participation in the state air program under which the county would be required to set aside certain sums for a mobile library, or a permanent library building. He said the cost would be prohibitive.

"First things come first, and we do not have the money to appropriate for library service when there are thousands of our residents out of work and in dire need," Lemmert declared.

The committee's letter read in part:

"Acting as your appointed committee, we have canvassed the entire community. We sent questionaires to organizations representing the whole population asking their reaction to the establishment of a county library in Allegany County.

The letters brought affirmative responses from groups representing 30,000 persons. There was one negative reply received.

"We believe, gentlemen, that you will agree with our conclusion that Allegany county persons wish for and deserve library service. If any further information is desired in regard to the survey, kindly let us know.

The letter also listed the organizations which replied affirmatively to the library questionaires. They were:

Homemakers Clubs throughout the county, PTAs, 4-H Clubs, Coin Clubs Western Maryland Motor Club, VFW organizations throughout the county, VFW auxiliaries, Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Rebekah Lodges, Women's Societies of Christian Service, Volunteer Fire Companies and Auxiliary, Dapper Dan Club and Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Industrial Group May Amend Charter

The Executive committee of the Cumberland Industrial Promotion Corporation met yesterday in the Chamber of Commerce office to discuss possible changes in its charter.

Present were William L. Walsh, chairman, David Kauffman, William L. Wilson, Jr., Joseph M. Naughton and H. W. Smith, secretary.

Francis Petrott Dies Suddenly In Frederick

FRANCIS PETROTT

FREDERICK, Md., Jan. 11 (AP)—Francis Petrott, secretary of state under former Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor and Maryland's adjutant general during World War II, died suddenly tonight at his home. He was 54 years old.

Dr. R. W. aBer, Frederick County medical examiner, said Petrott collapsed at his home about 10:30 p. m. and apparently died immediately.

Petrott was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1896, moving to Frederick in 1925, when he married the former Miss Mary James.

He was appointed secretary of state by O'Conor May 17, 1939, and served until May 15, 1941. Two years later he became state adjutant with the rank of major general.

A well-known attorney throughout the state, he also served as magistrate here for several years.

In September 1945 he was appointed a member of the Unemployment Compensation Board.

Auto Tag Bill Is Introduced By Delegation

Would Authorize County Distribution

A bill to authorize the Board of Allegany County Commissioners to designate an officer, other than the county treasurer, to sell motor vehicle tags in this county was introduced yesterday in the Maryland General Assembly.

The proposed measure was introduced in the House by the Allegany County Delegation. It was referred to the Ways and Means Committee.

The delegation said the distribution of motor vehicle tags in this county has been discussed for some time and that various proposals have been made for a county set up.

They pointed out that the distributor would have to be a county official or an agent of the Commissioners, since the set up would have to be supervised and bond would have to be posted.

In many counties, they pointed out, the work is done by the treasurer, who is also tax collector.

Delegate Horace P. Whitworth, Jr. yesterday introduced a resolution HJR2, to ratify the proposed constitutional amendment limiting the number of terms any person may be president of the United States to two. The resolution was referred to the Judiciary committee.

The Assembly adjourned until Monday at 8 p. m.

Trinity Church Will Install New Officers

Newly-elected officers of Trinity Lutheran Church will be installed at the regular service Sunday morning.

The officers are John F. Chisholm, president of the congregation; Karl Kiiffner, vice - president; Elmer Welsh, reelected secretary; C. E Hieserman, treasurer; Walter Kiiffner, Sunday School superintendent; Raymond Wigfield, L. Bealky, A. Kiiffner, Harold Knippenberg and Cloid True, members of the Church Council.

Officers were elected Monday at the annual meeting of the Voters' Assembly. At that time the annual report of the treasury revealed a balance of $1,300 at the close of 1950. The auditing committee reported completion of its work and all books of the congregation were correct and in good order.

News In Brief

Aliens of this section who did not register at the Cumberland Post Office by deadline time Wednesday have been given a two-week grace period until January 24, Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon said yesterday. A total of 83 aliens have registered here, records show.

The total of returns in the Christmas Seal Sale is $11,329 toward a goal of $15,000, officials of the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association said yesterday.

"The Calling of Matthew," a Cathedral film, will be shown in the Church of the Brethren, Second and Cedar Streets, at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. The public is invited.

Answer False Alarm

West Side Fire Company and Truck Company No. 1 were called to Prospect Square last night at 9:30 o'clock by a false alarm. Firemen said someone pulled Fire Alarm Box 16 there.

Area Singled Out In Report On Employment

State Group Cites Reasons For Jobless

"With the possible exception of the Cumberland and Oakland areas, there is no present need for a public works program."

That was the conclusion of a State committee, which has urged Maryland communities not to wait for a depression to solve their unemployment problems, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Annapolis.

The committee complimented local groups in Western Maryland and said "their zeal has demonstrated the important service that such a committee can render in working toward preventing unemployment."

City Needs New Plants

"In Cumberland," the committee declared, "too much dependence has been placed on a few industries," and new industries must be attracted. "Only by industrial growth can the area be permanently benefited," it said.

Oakland's problem was attributed to a decline in mining and added "there seems little hope for any improvement in that industry." Development of recreational facilities would offer some assistance, the committee said.

The Committee on Employment and Relief appointed at the suggestion of the 1950 General Assembly also called for "a shelf of public works" programs to help take up future slacks in employment.

William H. Mahaney, chairman of the Department of Employment Security, headed the committee.

Reports, distributed earlier to legislators, were made public yesterday.

A group of Senators, Delegates and State officials was assigned to survey employment problems.

Public Works Question

Whether local public works projects should be encouraged headed the list of questions placed before the committee on its appointment by Governor Lane. Rising unemployment in Western Maryland a year ago was one of the main reasons for the study.

Stimulated by war in Korea, more jobs were becoming available throughout the State even as its investigation progressed, the committee noted. It suggested the legislature seek current employment data on Cumberland and Oakland, where the increase had not been as pronounced.

"Had as much state and local interest been displayed in the whole problem of unemployment before disaster hit, the unemployment problems which developed might have been averted or at least lessened to a considerable degree," the committee said.

Some 70,600, or 7.5 per cent of the labor force, were unemployed in October 1949, the committee reported. Last October the number had dwindled to 42,800, or only 4.5 per cent of an expanded labor pool.

The committee described Maryland Jobless Compensation Law as "one of the most liberal in the country," which did much to alleviate "distress caused by unemployment."

It referred questions on Federal-State-County relationship in Social Security affairs to Dr. Elwyn A. Mauck, director of the State Fiscal Research Bureau. He will submit a separate report.

Makes Recommendations

If unemployment remains acute in the Cumberland and Oakland areas, the committee recommended to the Legislature that:

1. The immediate needs of the area be given priority consideration.
2. Contemplated state projects be accelerated in order to put some unemployed to work.
3. Wherever possible, County-State projects be set up as a works program with a sliding scale of matching funds.
4. The Employment Security Department intensify its testing program to determine additional aptitudes and skills of the jobless.
5. Training programs be set up to rehabilitate workers to other skills.
6. Some immediate thought be given to advancing funds for transportation of unemployed workers to other areas of the State.

Three Local Men Enlist In Marines

They were James Edward Layton, 20, Williams Road, RFD No. 2, city; Lester Wilber Davis, 25, of 501 North Centre Street; and Richard Ellsworth Smith, 18, Williams Road, RFD No. 2, city.

They were sent to Parris Island, S. C., for eight weeks basic training.

Merchants To Meet

The Mercantile Bureau of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce will meet today at 10:30 a. m. in the Chamber offices. Business will include a discussion on special promotion programs.

M. F. Prendergast Ill

M. F. Prendergast, 511 Washington Street, was admitted to Allegany Hospital last night after becoming ill at his home. His condition was reported to be serious.

To Aid Polio Drive

Kelly Local 26, Rubber Workers Union (CIO), will aid in the March of Dimes drive here, Ralph C. Beard, vice president, announced yesterday.

Pay And Price Curbs On Way, Truman Says

But President Does Not Say When, And Declines To Predict Rollbacks

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—President Truman said today that wages and prices will be controlled as soon as possible but he declined to predict a rollback of prices.

Asked at his news conference whether consumer costs will be forced down to some previous level, Mr. Truman said he would have to cross that bridge when he got to it.

Mr. Truman would not say whether he will ask Congress to amend the Defense Production Act which forbids ceiling prices on some important foods at a level below parity (a pricing formula intended to be fair to the farmer). Some believed a request for broader price control powers over food products may be included in his economic message to Congress tomorrow.

The President gave no indication when controls will be imposed but he said they are on the way.

Labor Opposes Food Controls

Top labor leaders today spoke out for changing the law to eliminate restrictions on food price controls. They demanded that all elements of the economy be stabilized asserting they will not bring wage cases before the Wage Stabilization Board until this is done.

As another condition, they said the board must have authority to make decisions. The board itself is seeking full power over wage and salary ceilings.

So far the only price freeze put into effect is on new car prices. Government officials gave manufacturers a hearing on this freeze today and then went to work on a new auto pricing formula.

John M. Hancock, a New York industrialist named to study the automobile companies' complaint about the freeze, told reporters he is considering a formula to permit price increases "in some cases." ESA has ordered prices held at the Dec. 1 level.

As for general price-wage controls, there were reports that a policy dispute within ESA on this issue may lead to a shakeup in the price-wage agency.

Hoarding Of Rubber Banned

ESA Administrator Alan Valentine and his price director, Michael V. DiSalle, have not seen eye to eye. Valentine yesterday overruled DiSalle's plan for a 30-day, nationwide "moratorium" on price boosts.

Another agency, National Production Authority, banned the hoarding of natural or synthetic rubber.

NPA added rubber to the earlier list of materials which may not be accumulated "in excess of reasonable demands."

An official said the order, listing several basic materials, does not apply to finished products, such as tires.

Truman Drafts New Manpower Policy Directive

Conservation To Be Stressed In Order

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—President Truman is about to set forth a new national manpower policy for the mobilization emergency, calling for conservation of manpower resources all along the line, a defense official said today.

Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, assistant secretary of defense, disclosed the directive would be issued in a few days. All governmental agencies concerned with defense and mobilization have approved it, she said.

It would call upon each group to consider its own needs against overall manpower requirements of mobilization. She added that Mr. Truman would ask industry, agriculture, military and civilian groups to conserve available manpower.

Details Withheld

Mrs. Rosenberg declined to give reporters details about the manpower mobilization policy. She mentioned it briefly in testimony before the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee which is studying the Defense Department's proposals for draft of 18-year olds and universal training.

Mrs. Rosenberg cited the forthcoming policy in answer to a question whether enough young farmers would be deferred from the draft for food production during the emergency.

Chairman Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) asked why military leaders are aiming at a combined total of 3,200,000 in the armed services by June 30, rather than trying to reach President Truman's current goal of nearly 3,500,000 by that date.

Training Facilities Limited

Mrs. Rosenberg said the lower figure was required by limited training facilities and had been approved by high military officials and the President. She added:

"We are fully aware that our speed in building up manpower and production has not been sufficient."

Mr. Truman repeated his 3,500,00 figure in his state of the union message to Congress Monday. He has urged it be achieved "as soon as possible."

Army Plans To Hike Draft Calls By 50,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Army proposes to increase its draft calls by 50,00 men because of casualties in Korea.

This was disclosed today by a Defense Department official, who said the additional call, suggested to the department, had not yet been served on Selective Service.

The department already has requested Selective Service to supply the Army 80,000 men a month for the first three months in 1950. The extra 50,000 could be sought in a supplemental call, or could be added in later months.

Truman, Shrugging Off Criticism, Says He's Doing His Best

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—President Truman declared tonight that he is doing the best job he can for the U. S. and the free world with no concern for criticism directed at his administration.

The President made his comments at a big reception given by the Democratic National Committee at the Shoreham Hotel in honor of new Democratic members of Congress.

Mr. Truman mentioned other presidents he said were "viciously attacked" in the press and elsewhere.

He cited, among them, Andrew Jackson.

"He didn't care," Mr. Truman continued, "and neither do I."

Bride, 12, Swaps Her School Books For Kitchen Utensils

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 11 (AP)—A 12-year-old girl has swapped her sixth-grade school books for kitchen utensils and has taken up housekeeping for her 19-year-old husband.

She is the former Virginia Pennell, one of nine children. Her husband is Donald Eugene Gray, a furniture factory employe. He's the boy who used to live next door.

How long they courted before they were married Dec. 22 is their secret. In fact, the mariage itself was a secret until yesterday.

Virginia's mother didn't learn of it until four days after the ceremony. She was surprised and said: "I didn't agree to it at first, but now that they've married, what can I do?"

The couple is living in a little basement apartment. Gray is described as a steady worker.

Virginia told a newsman: "I love my husband and I'm glad we got married."

The magistrate who performed the ceremony, George W. Johnson, didn't know the girl was only 12. In applying for the license, Virginia gave her age as 19. The magistrate said he had no reason to doubt it.

Five-Point Plan Includes Talks With Red China

Malik Criticizes Recommendations

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 11 (AP)—The United States accepted today a new U. N. cease-fire plan for Korea calling for a conference on all far Eastern problems by the U. S., Russia, Britain and Red China as soon as the Korean fighting stops.

Chief U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin okayed the plan shortly after its five points were outlined to the U. N. Assembly's Political Committee by Canadian Foreign Minister Lester B. Pearson, member of the three-man U. N. cease-fire committee. Britain, France, India, Norway, Israel and Turkey also accepted the suggestions. But Russia said they must be studied fully.

Malik Criticizes Plan . . . .

Soviet Delegate Jacob A. Malik declared that there was "nothing new in the substance of the proposals," that they sounded "like an ultimatum" and declared that it could not serve as a basis for peace. He asserted that his "first impression" was that the wording of the plan "is deliberately foggy to make possible interpretations in any direction later."

U. N. observers and persons familiar with Russian tactics in the U. N. said they did not believe Malik had closed the door. They said he apparently did not have his instructions and that he had not finally rejected the plan.

One point of the plan suggested talks for a settlement of the question of Formosa as well as other Far Eastern issues. Austin's acceptance of this point was said by several delegates to be much farther than the U. S. has gone and to be the first time the U. S. has even agreed to discuss Formosa with Red China. There was no immediate explanation from the Americans.

Tslang's Reaction

T. F. Tsiang, Nationalist China, said the set of principles deserve careful study. He said, however, that it did not provide for withdrawal of North Korean forces from South Korea which he called a retreat from earlier principles.

The plan, if finally accepted by all sides, would mean that the U. S. would sit at the same table with Communist China in negotiations. The U. S. does not recognize Red China and has opposed its admission to the U. N. but Austin has told the Political Committee that the U. S. stands ready to talk with Communist China at an appropriate time and in the appropriate forum. The U. S. has insisted that it will not talk with Red China as long as the Communist Chinese are shooting at American and U. N. forces.

The plan will be submitted to the Red Chinese regime as soon as the Assembly approves it.

Senate Debates Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Sen. Tom Connally of Texas told the Senate in a stormy debate on foreign policy today that in "two years or even less," Russia may be ready to challenge the United States in atomic warfare.

With that warning, Connally sparked a full-dress discussion that saw senators on both sides of the aisle wrangling over American troop commitments in Europe and Soviet Russia's intentions.

Sen. Malone (D-Nev.) demanded that President Truman recall Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower from Europe on the ground that the General's trip is being regarded as a pledge of "unlimited American support."

Republican Leader Wherry of Nebraska announced he will ask the Senate on Monday to consider his resolution opposing the movement of any more U. S. troops to Europe until Congress passed on the subject.

In the Senate, two leading Republicans split on the issue of Mr. Truman's power.

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), a staunch advocate of keeping the bulk of American troops at home, conceded that the President has authority to commit troops in time of war.

But under the present circumstances, he said, the matter of committing American soldiers to foreign duty is "well within the power of Congress" to determine.

Sen. Lodge (R-Mass.) disagreed. He said the President already has the power to assign troops to the international army in Europe. The troops must go where the commander-in-chief sends them, Lodge said.

Five Die In Crash

A man, his wife, and three of their children were killed yesterday when this Chicago, South Shore and South Bend train collided with the family's auto six miles west of Michigan City, Ind. Dead are James T. Rice and his wife, Bertha (white arrow), both 29, and their three daughters, Stella June, one; Ruth Marie, 2, and Shirley June, 4. Three other children were in school. One of the dead tots (black arrow) lies sprawled on an auto seat.

Truman Says He Will Consult With Top Lawmakers Before Sending More GIs To Europe

Declares Congress Consent Not Needed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP) — President Truman declared today he has the power to send troops to Europe or anywhere else he thinks they're needed — and he threatened to carry the question to the American people if Congress tries to stop him.

I licked 'em once, the President said in a tartly plain reference to his struggle with the 80th Congress before his election in 1948.

Mr. Truman's remarks, made under brisk cross-questioning at his weekly news conference, added up to a flat rejection of the stand taken by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) that the President must get Congress' consent before putting American soldiers in the new Western European defense force.

Several times Mr. Truman repeated that he will consult Congress as a matter of courtesy before taking this step. But he said with emphasis that, under the Constitution, he doesn't need Congress' consent. And he made it clear that he intends to send men to Europe as soon as he feels they are needed.

A reporter asked what would happen if Congress prevented troops' being sent to Europe by refusing to vote the necessary money.

Mr. Truman's lips tightened.

If Congress wants to do that, he said. They'll have to go to the country, and I'll go to the country with them. Then he added quickly: I licked 'em once.

He also told his news conference:

1—He had no intention of abandoning the "Fair Deal" even though defense programs must get top priority in the present emergency.

2—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, contrary to some published reports, has not recommended that United Nations forces be withdrawn from Korea. Mr. Truman likewise denied a Tokyo report that MacArthur has "muzzled" by Washington to prevent his speaking publicly about Korea.

3—The White House door is always open to Taft or any other senator. But he has no plans to invite Taft to come and see him. (The Senator recently offered to join the President in helping to form a united foreign policy.)

Women Coo At Hat Worn Backwards

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP)—A model at a women's spring hat show today wore a skull cap made of pink satin leaves with two roses in front.

"How charming" and "delightful" cooed 30 women buyers invited to see the new creations (by Aage Thaarup, milliner to Queen Elizabeth).

Miss Gina Davis, emcee-ing the show, looked embarrassed and hurried over to whisper with the model.

The hat was on backwards.

"Ike's" Plane Lands Safely At Copenhagen

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Jan. 11 (AP) — Safely through fog and rain that forced his plane to circle 20 minutes, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower landed here today in his fact-finding tour of West Europe.

The crew of his four-engined U.S. Air Force transport had a tough job in the dense haze. The drone of the engines generated obvious tension in the reception party on the ground, headed by Foreign Minister Ole Bjoern Kraft and the U. S. ambassador, Mrs. Eugenie Anderson. Two rescue cars were kept ready.

Finally the plane came in low, with searchlights glaring. The pilot used every yard of the runway.

Health Officers Alerted

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Public Health Service today put the nation's health officers on the alert against influenza outbreaks.

Tobey Slated For Committee Post

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Sen. Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire was the apparent winner tonight in a sharply-fought contest for a Republican seat on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Tobey in general has been regarded as a supporter of the Truman administration's foreign policy.

He won the nomination for the post from the Republican Committee on Committees on the strength of his seniority. His assignment, like others made by the committee on committees today, is subject to ratification tomorrow by the conference of all Republican senators.

Sen. Hugh Butler of Nebraska, head of the committee which makes the assignments, declined to make public the other nominations until they have been passed upon by the Republican conference. However, from other sources, it was reported that the new assignments included the following:

Sen. John M. Butler of Maryland, District of Columbia Committee and Postoffice-Civil Service Committee.

Moslems Cheer Rita, Aly

NAIROBI, Kenya, Jan. 11 (AP)—Rita Hayworth and her husband, Prince Aly Khan, were pelted with flowers and cheered wildly by Moslems when they arrived here by plane today.

Atom Weapon Tests Will Be Held In Nevada

Small-Scale Blasts Believed Mastered

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission announced today it will use a vast Nevada area for a proving ground to speed up development of atomic weapons, indicating it has mastered a method of small scale explosion tests.

Such an achievement would mean a valuable short cut in vital defense research. Presumably it also would hasten the day when the commission will know if it can actually perfect the tremendously powerful hydrogen bomb. It also may speed up work on new type a-bomb for guided missiles and artillery shells. Military officials have indicated such developments are feasible.

Authorized By Truman

AEC said nothing about small scale atomic blasts but its statement was open to interpretation that such explosives can now be set off.

Achievement of such a method would provide a "test" of the explosiveness of materials designed for an a-bomb without the necessity of detonating a finished bomb itself as was done in the spectacular series of atomic studies in the Pacific.

Sen. Brien McMahon (D-Conn), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Committee, said the new testing ground "will save precious weeks in making certain limited tests vital to weapons development."

Declaring that it has been authorized by President Truman to use a part of the 5,000-square mile Las Vegas, Nev., bombing and gunnery range for "experiments" necessary to the atomic weapons development program, AEC said:

A-Bombs Not H-Bombs

"The use of the x x x range will make available to the Los Alamos, N. M., scientific laboratory a readily accessible site for periodic tests work with a resultant speedup in the weapons development program.

"Tests activities at the new site will include experimental nuclear detonation for the development of atomic bombs—so-called "a-bombs" —carried out under controlled conditions."

A commission spokesman said the phrase "so-called 'a-bomb'" had been intentionally used to make it clear that the Nevada tests were to be aimed at the development of a-bombs, as distinguished from hydrogen bombs.

Radio-TV Race Probe Launched

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission started checking today on how radio and television stations are handling horse racing information.

It sent out questionnaires to all broadcasting outlets directing them to give detailed information about any regular racing programs they may carry, including the source from which they get the race results and other data.

The commission made clear that it is not concerned with the occasional broadcast of major turf features, such as the Kentucky Derby, but rather with regular daily racing programs which might be of aid to illegal bookmakers.

Last October FCC ordered station WTUX at Wilmington, Del. to close down and go off the air. A majority of the commission decided that the station had handled its daily racing broadcasts in such a way to be of assistance to illegal bookmaking operations.

WTUX responded that it had quit broadcasting racing information and asked that the order be reconsidered. Pending a decision on the station's petition, the shutdown order is not in effect.

Youth Executed After Reunion With Mother

OSSINING, N. Y., Jan. 11 (AP)—A scared 20-year-old youth died in the electric chair tonight, after his mother bade him an 11th hour goodbye and then left Sing Sing's death house to go back to prison herself.

The mother—a slayer like her son—was brought from another prison for a brief reunion with the condemned man, Harley G. Lamarr.

TESTIFIES—Mrs. Dorothea Matthews, 31, the "other woman" in the love-nest slaying of Mrs. Andrea Gehr, waits to testify yesterday at Carmel, N. Y., in the second degree murder trial of Herbert Gehr, television director. Mrs. Matthews testified she heard Gehr shout "Who's there" twice before any shots were fired. Mrs. Gehr was slain by a rifle bullet during a divorce-evidence seeking raid on her husband's mountain cottage. (AP Wirephoto)

Two Bombers Crash, Claiming Lives Of 14 Men

B-29 Explodes, Burns; B-50 Wreckage Found

SEGUIN, Tex., Jan. 11 (AP)—Six men died in the fiery crash of a B-29 Superfortress near Seguin today.

Air Force officials said five men parachuted to safety before the big plane from Randolph Air Base, San Antonio, plunged to earth in a farm pasture 10 miles southwest of Seguin. The plane exploded, and burned. Wreckage was scattered over a 200-yard area.

Col. Harold L. Jones, deputy commander of Randolph Field, said the plane was on a combat training mission; that the crew was undertaking transition training to familiarize itself with the B-29.

Jones said no bombs were aboard, and he doubted whether the plane was carrying any machine-gun ammunition.

A farmer reported he found the body of one airman, whose parachute was unopen, in the pasture near the crash.

MUROC, Calif., Jan. 11 (AP)—Bodies of eight men—six Air Force fliers and two civilian technicians—were found in the wreckage of a missing B-50 bomber about 10 miles east of Edwards Air Base here today.

An Air Force rescue team found the plane on a 4,000-foot peak near El Mirage dry lake on the Mojave Desert after it had been spotted from the air by searchers.

The bomber, missing since noon yesterday on a routine test flight, was piloted by Capt. William A. Bailey, 31, Weatherford, Tex. The co-pilot, Maj. Gordon L. Payne, Jr., Atlanta, Ga., and four other crewmen perished.

The civilians killed were C. A. White and W. J. Chrstian, both employes of Ryan Aircraft Corp., at San Diego. The plane did not burn.

"Perils" Author Dies

He had been on the staff of the American Weekly since 1923.

Although he wrote other movie serials, including "The Exploits of Elaine" and "The Hope Diamond Mystery," his "Perils," which starred Pearl White, was the most famous.

Roman Catholic Clergymen Forbidden To Join Rotary

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 11 (AP) — Roman Catholic clergymen were forbidden today to belong to Rotary clubs and Catholic laymen were warned to follow canon law in regard to membership.

The ban was disclosed with publication by the Vatican's newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano, of a decree by the Supreme Sacred Congregation of the Hold Office, which Pope Pius XII heads.

The reasons were not stated. Spokesmen of Rotary International indicated they were mystified.

However, a source connected with the newspaper said the decree appeared aimed at European and Latin American countries, where Masonic connections have been attributed to Rotary, rather than against Catholic membership in Rotary in the United States, where the international organization was founded 46 years ago.

There have been differences of long standing between the Catholic Church and the Masonic order. The Masons trace the origin of their order back to Old Testament times. The Encyclopedia Britannica says the Mother grand lodge of the world is that of England, established in 1717. All grand lodges in the United States adhere to non-sectarianism in religion and belief in God, and political activity discussion is forbidden, the encyclopedia says.

20,000 Enemy Troops Begin Flanking Move

2nd Division Holds Firm Near Wonju

TOKYO, Friday, Jan. 12 (AP) — A spearhead of Reds, 30 miles south of the U. S. Second Division's most northerly salient, was reported speeding southward in Central Korea today.

The drive apparently was aimed at cutting the southeast railway at Tanyang.

U. S. Eighth Army headquarters reported leading elements of the Red force (size and nationality not given) were ten miles south of Chechon and six miles from Tanyang.

Tanyang, a railway town 3 miles south of the 8th parallel boundary of South Korea, is 37 miles below Wonju of severe fighting for the past week.

Associated Press Correspondent William C. Barnard reported from U. S. Second Division headquarters Thursday night that two North Korean divisions—about 20,000 men—were sliding past the Second's right (east) flank. The Second Division troops were holding a horseshoe-shaped bulge with its top a mile and a half south of Wonju. Its east prong was west of Chechon, which is 21 miles southeast of Wonju.

Red Buildup Continues

The Reds which the Eighth Army reported ramming through deep snow 10 miles south of Chechon were presumably members of this same two-division North Korean force.

The main force of some 285,000 Chinese and North Korean Communists pressing the U. S. Eighth Army on the western front continued its buildup and the slow shift southward for an expected great new offensive.

The flanking move apparently was aimed at trapping the entire Second Division by driving through the rail junction at Chechon, and striking southward for Chungju. Chungju is only 90 miles north of Taegu on the main highway and rail route leading to the southeast corner of the Korean peninsula.

Censorship prevented further details on location of the Reds.

Eighth Army censors at midnight Thursday clamped the lid on further reference to the Second Division's stand near Wonju.

Allies Holding Ground

Barnard said the Second Division, bolstered by French and Dutch battalions, was stubbornly holding ground one and one-half miles south of Wonju Thursday night. It was filed at 10 p. m. Thursday (8 a. m. EST) but was not received in Tokyo until early Friday morning.

After three days of fighting south of Wonju, an estimated 2,100 enemy dead and wounded littered the freshly-fallen foot-deep snow.

The veteran Second had driven a four-mile bulge in Red lines south of Wonju in a counter-attack designed to interrupt the timetable of an expected Communist offensive through the mountains of Central Korea.

A Second Division spokesman said Allied artillery fire had taken "some of the edge" off the Red front in the main battle area south of Wonju.

In their stubborn stand near Wonju, the Dutch, French and American troops had stopped cold a drive by 30,000 North Koreans.

Draft Official Quits; Too Many Phone Calls

WEIRTON, W. Va., Jan. 11 (AP) — George C. Schwerha quit today as head of the local draft board, explaining:

"All I've been doing the past two months is answering the 'phone. I've been getting calls from people day and night asking deferments for their boys. Some of them weren't even scheduled for induction."

Study Of Many Living Organisms Made Possible By TV-Microscope

PRINCETON, N. J.—(INS)—Development of a television-microscope which makes possible for the first time the study of many living organism was announced by Princeton University and Radio Corporation of America scientists.

The new research tool will be applied to the study of cancer early next week.

Demonstrated at Princeton by Dr. Arthur K. Parpart, head of the biology department, the new device consists in an ordinary light microscope on which is mounted a television camera no larger than an amateur's 16 mm motion picture camera.

The image projected by the TV camera magnified by 2,800 times an amoeba mounted on a slide.

Chief value of the television-microscope, Dr. Parpart said, is that organism still alive may be viewed and studied as they function. Until now, most organisms had to be killed and stained before they could be viewed under a microscope. The TV-microscope solves the staining problem by using a different kind of tube for projection of images of different organisms.

In the demonstration, newsmen were able to see in clear detail the breaking and reformation of membranes of the amoeba as well as movements within the amoeba. Also shown was movement within a living plant cell.

Designed by RCA scientists, the device was perfected and tested by Princeton scientists at the Hole, Mass., Marine Biological Laboratories.

Red Tape Snarls Romance Of GI And Scotch Lass

MARQUETTE, Mich.—(AP)—Scotch Lass Thomasina Mullin and Air Force Sgt. Emil Paquette, Jr., figure their romance has run into more than its share of bumps.

First it was an ocean that separated them, with Thomasina in Scotland and Paquette at his home here. Now it's half a continent, because Thomasina has arrived in Marquette but Paquette is at an air base at Rapid City, S. D.

But although the two have met only by letter, they hope to get married as soon as military authorities will let them get together.

Blonde, attractive Thomasina and the Marquette GI, both 20, started corresponding more than a year ago. Last March, Paquette asked the Scotch girl to marry him and sent her an engagement diamond.

At that point their courtship got some international publicity. The British customs wouldn't let Thomasina see the ring until she paid nearly $50 in duty. But the London Daily News heard about the difficulty and paid the bill.

Then Thomasina started arrangements to come to this country. There were many complications, but she expected to arrive before Christmas. Sgt. Paquette got a furlough for the wedding they planned.

But red tape got snarled again, and Thomasina was delayed. The young soldier had to start back to his camp Dec. 26. Two hours later, his parents received a cable saying the girl was on her way. She arrived Dec. 31.

Sgt. Paquette now is trying to get another furlough so he can meet and marry his Scottish bride-to-be.

Gloria Swanson's Daughter Seeks British Theater Job

By SYDNEY MIRKIN

LONDON —(AP)— Gloria Swanson decided that daughter knows best.

So daughter, 18-year-old Michelle Farmer, remained in London last fall when Gloria returned to the United States. Michelle wants to be an actress and feels the British theater is the best of all possible dramatic training schools.

The pretty youngster is a likeable mixture of determination, poise and confidence. Her features are more regular than her mother's but there is a trace of Gloria in her almost imperceptibly slanted eyes.

Daughter of a woman who was in show business in her middle teens, Michelle at 18 has acted in summer stock and in the west coast company of Tennessee Williams' "Summer and Smoke" and was a photographer's model in New York.

Michelle insists she is not a young woman in a hurry.

"I have a fear of anyone rising too quickly," she said in an interview, "and I don't care if it takes me 20 years to get to the top."

She explained carefully that "top" doesn't mean stardom. "I want to be one of these names that is seen regularly somewhere near the head of the cast."

Michelle says she feels at home here—not a strange feeling since she was born in London. But she laughed as she talked of "coming back"—she left London at the age of five months.

Her plan of action does not include a dramatic school. "I never was good at school and book," she smiled. "I have to get out and play even if I fall on my face until I learn to be an actress."

One of her reasons for choosing England as a training ground is the abundance of repertory theater, which has all but disappeared in the United States.

She is especially interested in one of England's best companies at Windsor and that holiest of holies for young British actors and actresses, the Young Vic, breeding ground for the world famous Old Vic Company.

But her plans are elastic. If she can get a role in a play—Michelle is available.

Anxious that there should be no doubt on this point, she called down the corridor as the interview ended:

"Please make clear I'm looking for a job."

Railway Buys Two Diesels

The Western Maryland Railway has received two new diesel-electric locomotives to be placed in service between Hagerstown and Baltimore.

The two new locomotives were bought from the Electromotive Division of General Motors, and will augment the large fleet of diesels already operating from the local terminal of the Western Maryland. One of the locomotives consists of three units, with a total of 4,500 horsepower; the other, two-units, 3,000 horsepower. Both have incorporated in their design the most modern features accepted by the country's leading railroads, including the latest improvements in air brake equipment and safety controls.

Simple Arithmetic Provides Key To Fashion Collection

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

NEW YORK, (AP) — Simple arithmetic provides the key to Adele Simpson's spring fashion collection, shown to the nation's style reporters.

Mrs. Simpson believes in the simple, straight-line silhouette — plus. Sometimes it's a suit plus a stole or cape, sometimes it's a dress plus a bolero.

In any case this designer feels that the spring costume should have room for variation by addition or subtraction.

Subtract the jacket of a street outfit, for instance, and you have a strapless sheath dress for sunning or party-going.

Subtract the cape from a tailored ensemble and you have a simple, streamlined suit.

So, advises Mrs. Simpson, if you would keep up with fashion this spring, learn your plus and minus rules.

In her "plus" collection Mrs. Simpson shows the "disarmer" jacket over a black crepe sheath dress designed for after-five wear. The "disarmer" is a sort of sling cape lined with black and white scroll print which forms a portrait collar, shrugs obligingly on and off the arms.

The "galivanter" is the Simpson name for a "dress plus" — this time a slim dress in black, navy or pin-checked wool with a detachable shoulder cape.

Dress and cape serve as a complete spring ensemble, while the dress alone is simple enough to be transformed by addition and subtraction of jewelry, scarfs, belts and such.

Also in the lineup was a collection of Parisian Jacques Fath, designed for New Yorker Joseph Halpert. Mr. Fath shows his usual spirited, youthful collection of clean-lined suits and tailored dresses, with tricks such as starched collars and surface details of stitching, braid or tucks.

Treaty Ratification

One important constitutional change would be to abolish the two-thirds requirement for senatorial ratification of treaties, thinks Dr. James K. Pollock of the University of Michigan. Recently he told the American Political Science Association that he would substitute a majority vote of both houses.

A two-thirds vote is notoriously difficult to get on any contested issue. The Senate practice has defeated a number of worthy treaties, and has also prevented others from being submitted because of the likelihood of their defeat. Of course some bad treaties also have been defeated. And some questionable treaties which might otherwise have been presented earlier have been held up until they were improved sufficiently to stand a good chance of two-thirds approval.

Most of the arguments work both ways. If approval were too easy, too many treaties might be made. If ratification is too hard to win, the administration may resort to simple executive agreements, not submitted to Congress at all. This circumvents the Constitution. Authority to do it in specific cases can be given by joint resolution in Congress, so that the legislative body at least approves the intent. Blanket authority to make executive agreements on tariffs is granted under the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act.

In general, important international agreements ought to be made by formal treaty, and the requirement for specific ratification of each treaty is wise, since a treaty binds the nation and the people. The House is more responsive to the people than the Senate, and often differs on matters of foreign relations. The proposition that both should have a voice in treaty ratification is worth considering.

Help For Indians

In bettering the lot of American Indians, as with any other underdeveloped group, the most important agency to be promoted is education. The physical environment of the older tribal members can be improved somewhat, but their mental habits and attitudes are likely to be fairly rigid. It is with the children and the young people that the greatest hope of a better future rests.

The Congressional move nearly a year ago to authorize a ten-year improvement program for the Navajo and Hopi tribes has already brought progress. Some of the hoped-for new buildings for hospitals and schools perhaps must be foregone for the present, owing to government curtailment of non-defense construction. The buildings now in use are being improved, however, and new equipment installed. Boarding schools for Indian children living in isolated districts are being expanded. Public health projects are being pushed and tuberculosis, a major scourge among these Indians, is the object of a concerted attack. Employment conditions are improving on the reservations and some tribesmen, properly trained, are employed in aircraft plants and ammunition depots.

The dependent attitude of the reservation Indian somehow must be changed to one which wants not paternalistic care but a chance for independent action. Future generations may achieve this attitude, if proper help is given now.

Finger On Federal Waste

Some time has passed since a House subcommittee revealed the case of the 50-cent magazine which cost the government $13.39. Nevertheless it is still quite appropriate to recall attention to it, because this is the kind of petty extravagance which the worried taxpayer is likely to snort about and then forget, because $13.39 seems so trifling a sum in a federal budget of billions.

This $13.39 item is not trifling. It is the specific answer to some persistent general questions: Why does government cost so much? What do more than two million government employes do? Where can we look for needless and wasteful items whch can be eliminated? What is the meaning of red tape?

Here is the answer. Red tape is $12.89 worth of paper work to buy something costing 50 cents. This is what we can get along without. This is what we can get rid of to reduce the cost of government and at the same time make it possible for the government to provide more useful services for the people.

Records are necessary. They cost something, but the cost need not be in that proportion.

This incident happened in the Department of the Interior. It could have happened in any government office. We hope this story haunts that department and every other department, and haunts Congress, until something is done about it.

Oldest King Today

Scandinavian kings are long-lived. The oldest monarch in the world today is King Haakon VII of Norway, who is 78. He obtained this distinction at the recent death of King Gustav V of Sweden at the ripe old age of 94.

Gustav may well be the modern champion for old age among kings. He might be the leader for all time if ancient Egyptian history did not record an older. King Pepi II, who ruled over 4,000 years ago, is stated to have come on the throne at the age of six and to have reigned for a length of time variously stated anywhere from 90 to 100 years.

Being a king is a less arduous business today than in early times when a ruler was his own commander-in-chief and an autocrat in internal affairs. The chief duty of a monarch now is to be a symbol of national unity, and to be honored as Americans honor the Flag. That and social obligations take up most of his duties, and should not be too exacting or wearing.

Haakon might have more rivals for the title of oldest reigning king, except that the world has few royal rulers left.

No Immediate War?

If those who are presumed to be informed on world affairs know what they are talking about, the odds are against a general war with Russia in the immediate future.

While all fear World War III, it is widely contended Russia is not ready for all-out war, and there are reports — which may or may not be reliable — that Moscow has made no extensive preparations to defend Russian terrain against bombing.

The Soviet government, however, continues to build up its aggressive military might. The next Red move may be against Southeast Asia, source of oil and rubber needed by the bolsheviki.

After 65

IN THE UNITED STATES there are now approximately 11½ million persons 65 and older. The majority are voters and about one-third are wage earners or wives of wage earners. This has many social and political implications, more so when we consider that it is estimated that in 1960 the figure will reach 15 million and by 1975, 20 million.

One hundred years ago only one in every 38 Americans was past 65; in 1900 the proportion was one in 25; today it is one in 13. These statistics give additional food for thought, especially among those who enjoy lively Saturday night discussions on this changing world. The feminine superiority also is evident; only 90 men to every 100 women survive to this age. Two out of three men in this group are married and the majority of women are widowed.

Individuals approaching old age might find it encouraging to hear that only 3 per cent of the population aged 65 and older live in institutions. In other words, the chances of going to an old people's home, poor farm, or what-have-you is remote. The opposite may be true because there are many excellent institutions where old folk are having the times of their lives with companions of their own age. Four-fifths of all men and women over 65 live with some member of the family; 600,000 of the man and 300,000 of the women have absolutely no income but one-half of these women are not as badly off as it may seem because they are being supported by the husbands.

What health precautions should the elderly take to prolong life? In general, the majority do well by following the usual rules of health: adequate sleep, moderate exercise, periodic examinations, and a proper balance between work and play in keeping with their age. Diet is important but the oldster must be careful not to fall for the recommendations of faddists and self-styled nutritionists. One old codger of my acquaintance became deathly ill when he switched to a diet of yogurt and blackstrap molasses.

Ordinary foods are good enough for most of us and the old do not thrive when their routine is changed markedly. Furthermore, eggs, meat, and milk should not be omitted from the meals becaue of talk that they contain cholesterol, a chemical that is said to induce hardening of the arteries. Most of this work is still experimental. In addition, the body manufactures its own cholesterol of which it can use what it wants. Dietary changes are needed only when chewing is difficult because of dental troubles or if intestinal disturbances are present. But even symptoms such as belching, gas, constipation, and diarrhea often can be corrected, frequently with hydrochloric acid, pepsin, or other ferments should these substances be lacking in the system.

• — • — •

What can be done about the degenerative diseases to which 80 per cent of the elderly population succumb? Common sense dictates that obeying the ordinary rules of health will be as effective as anything. No magic pills will create a fountain of youth and the sooner this is recognized, the better. "Take care of what you got" is a crude expression but good advice. The changes of age are not caused entirely by the passage of time; the summation of insults and injuries of an active and vigorous life also play a role. Examination usually discloses that this leaves some parts weaker than others but when we know where the fifth column lies we are better able to care for ourselves.

Move To Put Republicans In Cabinet; Dewey Might Be Secretary Of State; Split Between Liberal and Conservative Republicans Increases

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON.—President Truman isn't likely to move on it, but some of his genuine well-wishers have been dropping discreet hints that the most important thing he can do to bring about national unity is appoint two top Republicans to his Cabinet — including possibly Governor Dewey as Secretary of State.

Most unfortunate difficulty about the current bickering over foreign policy is the reaction abroad. All over Europe there has been indecision and dismay. The recent foreign-policy controversies came on top of the Korean disaster, also on top of the President's music-critic letter, both of which increased lack of confidence among our allies.

Most people don't realize it, but the music-critic letter was published all the way from Africa to Norway. To the man in the street it may have been humorous, but to the prime ministers and foreign ministers of Europe, it aroused fear that the head of the United States government might lose his temper, not merely over a music critic but over a potential enemy, and plunge the world into war.

For these and other reasons, some of the top Democrats in Washington ardently hope for more unity, even if means surrounding the President with a few Republicans.

They recall how President Roosevelt increased unity before Pearl Harbor by bringing two leading Republicans—Henry L. Stimson and Frank Knox—into his Cabinet as Secretary of War and Secretary of the Navy. And while there is not too much personal enthusiasm about Governor Dewey in Democratic circles, he is recognized as a man of real ability and deep sincerity as far as his country is concerned.

Furthermore, it is believed that Secretary of State Acheson would be glad to bow out in favor of Dewey in the interest of national unity. Acheson and Dewey have been conferring privately for the last six months, and several times Dewey has come to Acheson's support. Finally, Acheson had privately hoped to leave the State Department, though he does not want to do so under fire.

Naval Comeback

It was just about a year ago that the most harassed and criticized man in Washington was Secretary of the Navy Francis Matthews.

At that time, the admirals were up in arms over unification and one admiral had to be relieved. Captain Crommelin was campaigning for a super airplane carrier. A secret propaganda agency in the Navy was shooting out malice against the air forces. And Matthews was branded as a fresh-water executive from Omaha whose knowledge of shipping was confined to mud scows on the Missouri River.

However, the political pendulum has a habit of swinging into Washington, and today Matthews is riding the crest of the wave.

Secret of his comeback was keeping quiet, being a good sport and working closely with the efficient new executive whom he picked to be chief of naval operations—Adm Forrest Sherman.

Today the Navy has scored some real triumphs in the Korean War, especially the evacuation of Hungnan where not a single life was lost. And the much-debated super airplane carrier which the Navy so much wanted is to be built after all.

NOTE—Admiral Sherman, who was Matthews' personal choice to be chief of naval operations, has been so fair with the Army and Air Force that, if General Bradley should be promoted to become White House Chief of Staff, Sherman would probably succeed him as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Morse Says No

During every recent election, Wayne Morse, the independent, pro-labor senator from Oregon, has waltzed out into the political arena to make speeches for his conservative anti-labor GOP colleagues. No matter how much Morse disagreed with those colleagues, he rallied to their support at election time—even making a speech against his close friend, Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois, in favor of the Chicago Tribune's candidate, Curley Brooks.

Now, however, Morse says "no more." Failure of Republican leaders to put Morse on the important GOP Policy Committee of the Senate was too much.

"They need not think they can get me to campaign all around the country for reactionary candidates," he told friends, "and then discipline me in the Republican conference by not putting me on the policy committee. I've supported my last reactionary Republican and they can lump it."

When the new policy committee was announced at a closed-door caucus, North Dakota's Sen. Bill Langer snorted: "I protest this kind of a committee with no progressives on it. I think Morse should be on it. You expect him to campaign for you, but when it comes to recognition here, you pass him by."

BEEF BAN—The American people were about to get some extra meat last week at cheaper prices when the telephone rang in Secretary Brannan's apartment telling him that the first case of hoof-and-mouth disease in 13 months had broken out at Colmalteco, Mexico. With hoof-and-mouth disease on the down grade, Brannan had been all set to lift the ban against Mexican beef. As a result of that phone call, however, Mexican cattle must still be banned and the price of beef will continue high.

U. S. SURVIVAL—Army Chief of Staff, Gen. Joe Collins warned the State Armed Services Committee behind closed doors that the United States may not survive—if Western Europe falls into Russian hands. Warning that Russia would turn Europe's industrial warmaking power against us, Collins declared: "If Russia overruns Europe, it not only would make it more difficult for us to defeat Russia, but I think it is doubtful whether we would survive that struggle."

Football And Politics

Oklahoma University's Bud Wilkinson, recently selected as football "coach of the year," proved himself as good a quipper as a coach at a testimonial luncheon by Oklahoma congressmen. Wilkinson even held his own with the Senate's new majority leader, Ernest McFarland, the Arizona Democrat.

"When one of your football players get tackled hard, just tell him that that's the way I feel myself since I became majority leader," Senator McFarland told the visiting coach. "By the way, which one of your boys gets tackled the most and the hardest?"

"I guess maybe it's the same on the football field as here in Congress, Senator," replied Wilkinson. "The star always gets tackled the hardest."

Senator McFarland, a former Oklahoman, suggested that Arizona would be glad to get some of Oklahoma's surplus football players "if you fellows ever get to the point where you have more than you can use."

"Well, seeing as how you originally came from my district and seem to be doing pretty good here in Washington," shot back Congressman Tom Steed of Shawnee, Okla., "I would say that Oklahoma already has made enough contribution to Arizona."

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

Truman And The Southerners

WASHINGTON

FOR FORECASTERS of the Congressional climate, the most important single fact about the President's message to the State of the Union was an omission. The customary defiant demand for the Fair Employment Practices act and other items in the civil rights program was conspicuously not included. After five years, the President left out the almost ritual passage, which has regularly plunged each new session of Congress into an instantaneous, embittered and time-consuming dog fight.

Some time ago, these reporters indicated in this space that the civil rights program was one of the major sacrifices the President would have to make, if he hoped for Congressional cooperation in the world crisis.

At that time and thereafter, many of those closest to the President pressed the same view upon him. Among those in the lead were high State Department officials, who realized that their task would be hopeless if the Southern Democrats were finally alienated from the Administration, as they were showing signs of being. The argument for doing the expedient thing was really un-answerable. There was not only no hope at all of passing a solid civil rights program at this session. It was also clear that an attempt to insist on the civil rights program would certainly delay and quite probably actually imperil the far more urgent foreign and defense program.

Deferred The Issue

To this argument, it is now understood Truman has yielded. The moment when he made up his mind was probably a month or so ago, when the official strategists of the Democratic National Committee supported the views already expressed by legislative chieftains, the President's personal advisers, and the State Department officials.

The President has not changed his mind, to be sure, about civil rights. He has merely deferred the issue. But the effect of what he has done has meanwhile been immeasurably increased by another great change in the relationship between the White House and the Southerners.

Until very recently, even the middle-of-the-road Southerners were either not consulted at all, or were treated with open hostility by the White House dispensers of patronage and other political good things. All this still means much in the South, and bitter feelings resulted. Now, however, a gentle, emollient shower of collectorships, judgeships and the like has caused the memory of past hard feelings to grow dim. For the first time in recent history, the Democratic party in Congress, and particularly in the Senate, can thus be regarded as semi-unified on the major issues immediately ahead.

There is still a handful of extremists like Sen. Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia, whose enthusiasm for economy has led him to rather complete isolationism. But the great mass of middle-of-the-road Southerners typified by the two most influential men in the group, Senators Walter George and Richard Russell, of Georgia, are moving again toward active support of the Administration foreign and defense policy. This was the group among whom Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, and his allies could hope and did hope, even only a month ago, to gain many converts. Since that hope is dead or dying, the Congressional outlook is radically altered.

Real Power Still Missing

With the Democrats voting pretty solidly, and such progressive Republicans as Senators Wayne Morse, of Oregon, and Margaret Chase

U. S. Is Becoming Firmer On Position In Far East

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 — The United States Government has determined definitely that admission of Red China to the United Nations is not only out of the question so far as American approval is concerned but that such action would be to reward aggression.

This basic policy is buttressed also by a determination not to withdraw our troops from Korea but to fight it out there as long as the UN forces are capable of resistance.

What this means is that the United States considers the Far East to be a definite battleground not only for the prestige of the UN but also for the future morale of all the non-Communist elements within China, Japan and the Philippines.

To withdraw voluntarily from Korea is regarded by the American government as virtually tantamount to abandoning the security of Japan and as an invitation to an attack on Japan and perhaps on Alaska.

More Troops Wanted

The pros and cons of staying in Korea or withdrawing have been debated here for a long time. The decision is to stay and to inflict as much punishment as possible on the Communist forces. Rumors that General MacArthur wanted to withdraw not only are without foundation but his attitude is the exact opposite—he wants more troops to assist in holding Korea.

If the Chinese Communists are to be checkmated by any force, it will be by counter-revolutionaries who are expected to be welded together, not necessarily under the leadership of Chiang Kai-Shek or his lieutenants. The American program is to fight it out in Korea and to afford time for the non-Communist forces in Asia to consolidate.

The intimations from London that the ministers of the British commonwealths are actually considering a program which would recommend recognition of Communist China and admission to the United Nations produced the comment here that this can hardly be a unanimous attitude and that the viewpoint of countries like India has been well known for some time.

While it is too extreme a statement to say that the UN will die if the dissension within its councils continues on such a matter as admitting Red China, the fact is that the prestige of the international organization will fade away and attention will then have to be focused on the attitude of individual member governments and groups.

The United States at the moment is engaged in a canvass of all free nations to obtain their approval for the branding of Communist China as an aggressor. The exchanges are secret now, but some day they will be published. The American people then will have an opportunity to judge for themselves which countries stood up and were willing to brand the aggressor and which countries flirted with the idea of appeasing the enemy. The list may determine America's attitude toward such nations for generations to come.

Peiping Not Sincere

It can be stated positively that the United States Government has for some time now been in touch, directly and indirectly, with the Communist authorities and has come to the conclusion that there is no sincerity of purpose in Peiping and that to concede anything now would only whet the appetite of the Red Chinese leaders for more concessions.

The truth is the policy of the United States is growing firmer every day even as the policy of some other governments is growing weaker. The United States recognizes that it must bear the largest responsibility for what is happening in the Pacific because it cannot permit encroachments which, if unchecked at the start, could lead perhaps to the seizure of Alaska. European nations need have no fear that America considers the Far East a primary theatre. The Far East will remain a secondary area and Europe will always be the first consideration. American naval and air forces, however, will operate in the Pacific and a land force big enough to carry on a holding operation there will be continued. The European countries are expected to furnish the bulk of the land forces for the European front, supplemented by American land forces.

American policy is clear and thoroughly understood by those who must express it to other governments. The time is not yet ripe for a public avowal of the American viewpoint. This waits on the evolution of the military situation in Korea and the responses to our note to member governments seeking support for the UN move to brand Red China as the aggressor.

These Days By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Wooing Of Mao

IT IS BECOMING increasingly clear, from data gathered from all sorts of sources, that the cause of most of our troubles in Korea arises from a fantastic policy of wooing Mao Tze-Tung, the Communist gauleiter in China. It is also clear that Mao and his minister of foreign affairs, Chou En-Lai, encouraged the wooing.

The marriage broker was a leading British merchant, the head of the most important British firm in China, which, for more than a century, has had a dominant voice in setting the British policy in China.

The idea set up several years ago was that as the Communists inevitably take China from Chiang Kai-Shek and the Nationalists, Chiang was to be abandoned. Then Mao was to be wooed away from Stalin. At the right moment, he would come over to our side, declare himself to be a Tito and grab our dough. Then Mao would declare a war on Stalin and the British Empire would be saved forever!

This amazing formula has already cost about 60,000 American casualties. But it is still the formula upon which our policy in China is based. At this very moment an intense propaganda is spreading throughout our country giving the impression that when Mao gets through with us, that is, after he has defeated the American forces in Korea and driven our troops under General MacArthur into the sea, he will turn right around and start a war on Stalin. Therefore, the theory runs, we must not bomb Manchuria or Peking or let Chiang start a war on Canton or Shanghai, because then Mao would be offended. He might change his mind. He might say: "To hell with it! I won't fight Stalin after all."

And what is the argument to support all this? Well, say the Washington wonders, there is Tito. O. K. so, there is Tito. And what does that prove? Why, they come up brightly, if Tito broke with Stalin, why not Mao?

So I ask: What will happen if Mao does not break with Stalin? How many Americans have to be killed before the State Department, the Department of Defense, the Central Intelligence Agency and the President are convinced that this grand speculation is withering nonsense? How many Americans must die to prove that there has been a mistake?

Actually, there has not been a single sign that Mao Tze-Tung would or could break with Stalin. This story that is being spread includes a yarn that some Chinese Communists were trained in Russia and that some were trained in Yenan and that those trained in Yenan hate those trained in Moscow.

One columnist wrote about "an unknown Chinese civilian," Li Lih-San, being in charge in Manchuria. I knew Li Lih-San well in 1925. He was then an important Communist labor leader, a young man of force and ability who managed to tie up much of China in a series of strikes. Unknown to whom? Certainly not to the Chinese people.

Li Lih-San, like Mao Tze-Tung, Chou En-Lai and General Lin Piao, is a confirmed Marxist who has had about 30 years, more or less, of association with international Communism. Precisely what more can the United States offer them than Stalin has already given them?

Someone in defense of this fantasy, which is costing so many lives, suggested that human nature being what it is, these men will break out in a struggle for power. Then we shall bargain with them against Stalin. When is this to occur—before or after more Americans are killed?

A brutal callousness marks our planners in Washington. It used to be that American generals went into war with the guiding principle of economy in the expenditure of American lives. Our people tax themselves billions of dollars in the hope that these expenditures on weapons will save lives. General Douglas MacArthur used to boast how he could achieve victories without great loss of life.

Now, the civilians who run our wars and tie the hands of our generals with UN resolutions throw our lives against artificial sanctuaries which they erect in pursuit of fantastic policies. And this Mao business is fantastic.

SIDEGLANCES at celebrities:

Few members of the fourth estate live a more engrossing life than the news photographer. In an age when the increased education of the reporter has filled him with restraint, or caused him to look upon his job as a stepping stone to something big like public relations counsel, the cameraman remains a throwback to a hardier day.

He is still expected to jam his foot in the door as in the days of old, and flush the famous and notorious out of their lairs. He is generally honest and, up to the point where it interferes with his business, law-respecting. But in his book it still ain't a confessing sin to cop a tintype out of a family Bible, if the tintype is that of Uncle Jake who has just been done in by Aunt Flo via the kitchen disposall.

A lot of that lusty flair is centered in a single New York family, the slightly incredible Sarno brood of Yonkers. Six of the seven good-looking and robust Sarno brothers are news photographers. Their dean and the embodiment of their respective outlooks on life is 48-year-old Dick, chief photographer for "The American Weekly" and official and unofficial adviser to hundreds of his colleagues.

The saga of the "six snap-happy Sarnos" can be found in the current Collier's. It reads like something out of "the front page," and if it didn't carry a picture of the young men you'd think you were reading an exciting account of an era of journalism long since interred.

The boys have been in enough wars, death houses, guarded estates, criminal courts, private beaches and gangster conclaves to star in a hundred movies. One of them, Tony, dresses so well that he is the envy of the Goulds, Whitneys, Vanderbilts and other top drawer friends—but they and their broods all converge each Sunday on the home of their mother for a thundering Italian dinner.

The return of the Charleston takes on fresh menace. Sonja Henie will feature it when she opens her annual Hollywood ice revue at Madison Square Garden on Friday. And on skates.

Seems that Sonja won a leg on the coveted Charlie Morrison Cup at a Charleston contest at Charlie's Mocamba in the movie belt not long ago. Bill Burke, Sonja's general manager, and Catherine Littlefield, choreographer of the ice show, suggested she put the violence on ice.

There's something haunting about the advance information on Sonja's costume for the event. It is a conservative bra and pants ensemble of chartreuse and gold beads, "trimmed with rare exotic feathers from the high mountain vultures of South America."

It's obviously just the thing for the Charleston, and by all means let's buy one just like it. Still I kinda feel a little sorry for those shivering high mountain vultures. Maybe the Marshall Plan can look into their plight.

"HOW I RELIEVE DISTRESS of MONTHLY FEMALE AILMENTS
which make me so nervous several days before!"
Read why Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is 'the woman's friend'

"Almost every month I suffered from cramps, headache, or backache—due to female functional ailments. What bothered me most was that I'd start feeling so nervous, tense and strangely restless several days before my period.

"My druggist recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve this distress. He told me to take it regularly throughout the month to help build up resistance against such female misery. (It tastes swell in a little fruit juice.) I must say Lydia Pinkham's Compound is simply wonderful and gives me amazing relief—not only from monthly pain but pre-period nervous tension and tired, dragged-out feelings of this nature. I urge every girl and woman troubled this way to try Pinkham's Compound."

P. S. Many women prefer Lydia Pinkham's TABLETS with added iron. Handy to carry in purse.

G. S. Leaders Association Plans Group Discussions

Work Shops To Be Held

The Girl Scout Leaders Association decided to divide the meetings into Brownie and Intermediate groups with each group bringing ideas to exchange with other leaders.

Plans were formulated at the first meeting of the year of the association which was held Wednesday night at the Girl Scout House. Mrs. Henry Holzshu told of a book being compiled by Mrs. Ray Mitchell in the New York headquarters, dealing with the needs of Brownies, and to which she has been asked to contribute suggestions. During her study of the subject she will visit the group meetings for ideas.

Mrs. Jean Cioni assumed her duites as president. Other officers serving for the year with her are Mrs. Julia Werner, vice president; Mrs. Beatrice Hoenecker, treasurer; Mrs. Betty Chaney, secretary and Mrs. Phyllis McGaughey, Program chairman.

Senior Troop 12, the teenage group, will hold a square dance January 27, Mrs. Gladys Shumaker announced. It is for all teenage scouts 12 years and older, and is being held in Emmanuel Episcopal parish house. Figures will be called by Edmund Hoey.

The annual luncheon for Leaders, Council and Committeewomen, will be held January 17 at 12:45 at Happy Hills Restaurant, 228 Baltimore Avenue. Reservations are to be made at the scout headquarters until noon January 13.

A work shop on Crafts is being held January 16 from 1 until 3 o'clock at the scout house. Mrs. Earl Nonnenam will be in charge, assisted by Mrs. Chaney. Each one interested is asked to bring a large match box and a paint brush. It was announced that if there are enough leaders and others interested a class in handcraft will be organized and held at Fort Hill High School this semester.

Announcement was made of an Organization meeting to be held January 12 at 1:30. Each leader is asked to send one committeewoman or representative of her troop. It will be at the scout house, with Mrs. J. Gordon Mitchell in charge.

The January work shop held by the Tuberculosis Association will be on Personal Hygiene. Four 10 minutes movies are to be shown.

A demonstration on "Care of the Hair," will be given for all senior Girl Scouts by an operator from Georgia's Beauty Salon, January 15 at 4 p. m.

Mrs. Ross Decker gave out the schedule for the March of Dimes collection to be made by the scouts January 25, 26 and 27 at the theaters. Each girl is to be notified.

Letters of the Community Chest annual dinner and one of appreciation from Miss Jeanette Bonig for help given the Associated Charities for Christmas were read.

The Training committee presented a 35 m.m. propector to the Girl Scout house and Mrs. Roberta McFarland, executive secretary showed slides to demonstrate it.

A meeting of the Flintstone Homemakers Club will be held at 8 tonight at the home of Mrs. Ferdinand Franchi.

Joint installation of Cumberland and McKinley Chapters OES will be conducted by Miss Bessie Baird, past grand matron, tonight at 8 o'clock at the Masonic temple. Cumberland Chapter is to be host for the occasion.

Aid Society Elects

The Allegany Hospital Aid Society elected Mrs. Mortimer Nehring president at the meeting Tuesday at the nurses home. Mrs. Louis Lippold and Mrs. Harold Peck were named vice presidents; Mrs. A. E. Breig, recording-secretary; Mrs. John Stevens, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. W. F. Kerber, treasurer.

Mrs. Stevens, retiring president, and her chairman reported and brief talks were given by Sister Angela, superintendent of the hospital; and Sister Margaret, director of nurses.

The meeting was preceded by the members attending mass and being entertained by the sisters at the annual communion breakfast.

"Bill" Seiler Has Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. William Seiler entertained with a party recently honoring their son, William, on his eighth birthday, at their home, 712 Maryland Avenue.

A blue and white color scheme was carried out in the refreshment table appointments and repeated in the large birthday cake topped with a miniature horse and cowboy.

Games were played and prizes awarded to James Rickard, Gary Davis and Robert K. Smith. Novelty hats and serpentines were given to the guests and moving pictures were shown.

Others attending were Edward Melvin, Ross Luteman, William Luteman, Charles Carnes, Edward Hopcraft, Donald Cranford, John Hamilton, Timothy Barnes, Robert Blank, Carl Grimes, Clyde Grimes, Cheryle Daniels, Sue Daniels and Sally Seiler.

Cresap DAR Delegates Are Named

Cresap Chapter Daughters of the American revolution elected delegates and alternated to the state convention at the meeting Wednesday afternoon in the Green Room of Central YMCA.

Mrs. A. M. Hutchenson, regent, presided. Miss Ella Hodgson and Mrs. Joseph Lechenstein were elected delegates to the state DAR conference to be held at the Shereton-Belvedere, Baltimore, March 6-7. Mrs William Edwards and Mrs. Marshall Twigg were named alternates.

The regent appointed Mrs. Walter Pierce chairman of the Ways and Means committee.

Mrs. Hume Opie Annan, executive secretary of the Crippled Children League, was the guest speaker and gave a comprehensive talk on her work with the league.

Mrs. Marshall Twigg and Miss Mary Brengle was hostesses for the meeting and served refreshments at the conclusion of the business session. A bowl of spring flowers centered the tea table.

Personals

Mrs. Thomas A. Dougherty, 709 Lincoln Street, has returned to her home from Allegany Hospital.

Mrs. Grace Moore Heads Allegany Nurses Alumnae

Tri-Hi-Y To Hold Winter Fantasy Dance

Allegany Tri-Hi-Y will hold it's "Winter Fantasy," dance tomorrow night in the gymnasium. The winter scene is being carried out in the decorations of a horse drawn sleigh, "snow" covered pine boughs and silhouettes of couples in sleighs.

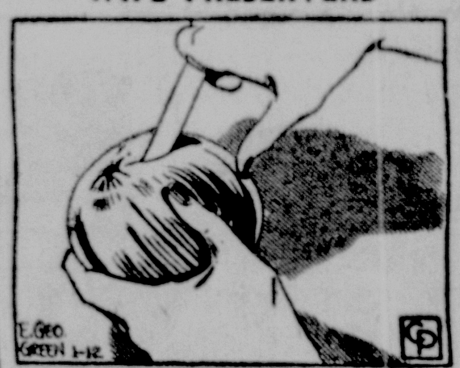
Music will be by Buddy Patterson's Orchestra which will play from the center of the floor beneath an illuminated star. The Smith triplets will play during intermission.

The same theme is repeated in the dance programs of a snow covered window through which can be seen the silhouettes of a girl and boy dancing.

Frances Reynolds and Betty Ruehl are co-chairmen of decorations; Doris Twigg, Program chairman; Nancy Murray, Refreshment chairman; Ann Riggleman, Publicity chairman; Carol Conrad, Invitations chairman; Barbara Twigg, Ticket chairman; and Diane Warden, Entertainment chairman.

Officers of the Navy Mothers Club will be installed tonight with Lt. Commander F. A. Lewis officiating. Members whose birthdays are in November and December will be honored.

WIFE PRESERVERS



Do you ever have trouble starting to peel an apple by the knife slipping over the smooth skin? Make a small length-wide cut with the paring knife, then proceed to pare the apple.

Homecoming To Be Celebrated In Fall

The annual meeting and election of officers was held by the Allegany Hospital Nurses Alumnae Association Wednesday night in the nurses home.

Mrs. Grace Fox Moore was elected president; Miss Mary Louise Grassi, second vice president; and Miss Lorraine Pratt, treasurer. Mrs. Stella Sell and Mrs. Catherine Armbruster are the two new members of the board of directors.

Officers remaining in their duties are Miss Kathleen Mullan, first vice president; and Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis, secretary. Other members of the board of directors are Miss Virginia Welsh and Mrs. Helen Allen.

The annual secretary's report was given by Mrs. Lewis and the annual roll call was given.

The group discussed holding a dance before Lent and announced the annual Homecoming celebration, a biennial affair, is to be held in the fall of this year.

Valentine Day will be celebrated at the next meeting.

WASHINGTON

COVERING all fronts, a quick spin from Embassy Avenue to Senate Street, from door to door, party to party and office to office.

IN THOMAS BLAISDELL'S OFFICE:

They're readying for next Friday's move . . . Blaisdell, the Department of Commerce's assistant secretary, suddenly resigned about a fortnight ago . . Really sneaked out . . . Most papers buried the story in back pages . . But Blaisdell was to Remington what Acheson was to Hiss . . . And now that William Remington's perjury trial for denying he was Communist draws to a close, Mr. Blaisdell suddenly finds out he has "an exciting offer from the University of California." His office says he's "going to be a visiting professor of international relations."

AUSTINE

Ha! That's good one!

ON THE HILL!

Military policemen peering from the Capitol's roof . . . They were adding protection while Pres. Truman was making his delayed "State of the dis-Union message," as one Dixiecrat called it . . . was first time MP's took to the roof since the days when they walked around up there during the last war, surrounded by wooden "guns."

After hearing Truman, Maine solon Owen Brewster was epigramming:

"Can anybody blame us for spelling it 'Governmint?'"

Diplomats steaming mad . . . They were put in rows of threes in the bummest seats in the House . . . Less applause than for any speech Truman ever made.

For the new Congress, Dr. Calver, the Senate physician, showed up with his arm in a sling . . .

And Senator Humphrey of Minn., another casualty . . . Both with fractured fists . . No connection . . .

Usually Senators from the same state do not sit together . . . This time there are three exceptions sitting cheek by jowl—two Rhode Island Senators, bright-eyed Theodore Green and sawed-off John Pastore . . . the two Florida Senators, Smathers and Holland, also desk by desk . . . Senators Bennett and Watkins of Utah sitting together, too . . . Desks are assigned by seniority the same as office space, so it's really a coincidence.

Bing Crosby sending Senator Herman Walker of Idaho congratulations in a recording . . . Der Bingle and Der Herman have corresponded by green celluloid disc records for quite awhile . . . Crosby supported recently-elected Walker in his campaign.

• — • — •

ON THE COCKTAIL FRONT:

Granddaddy of newsmen, Arthur Sears Henning, and his merry wife greeting every prominent Republican in Washington at their annual party . . . Flowered hats apparently are out before the crocuses . . . In a blue bonnet sprayed with periwinkle Mrs. Homer Ferguson . . . Another Senate lady, Mary Elizabeth Kem, trying to smell the violets on Mrs. Karl Mundt's shoulder . . . Mrs. Walter Trohan decked in pink hyacinths.

Justice Harold Burton waiting for his wife to arrive . . . She'd been "working" over at the Congressional Club . . . At their party the wives of Congressmen (Harold Burton was in Congress, remember?) threw down the red carpet to welcome all the new members of Congress . . . Incidentally, for the first time in the history of the Congressional Club, their President is also a Congresswoman — Representative Margaret Church, newly elected from Illinois.

To borrow a phrase from Hollywood—"The joint was jumping" . . . Gypsy Lewis, widow of the picturesque James Hamilton Lewis, reminiscing about the many openings of Congress she remembers . . . New Maryland Senator, John Marshall Butler, listening attentively.

Two ladies giggling about a lavender lad at the State Dept. "Yes," quipped one, "he's a regular Dr. Jekyll and Miss Hyde."

AT A SMALL DINNER:

Sen. Joseph McCarthy breaking the teeth of Julius Lulley, the happy-grow-fatter restaurateur.

Mrs. Lulley recounts that during the evening she noticed Julius was talking funny.

"I knew he hadn't had that many drinks. I wondered what could be the matter."

Several of the other guests also commented that Lulley was making loose statements. And it seems they were right. His brand new upper plate was in his pants pocket instead of his mouth.

"Thenator McCarthy hath dithfigured me and buthed my teeth," wailed Mr. Lulley. "And thith plate ithnth even paid for yet."

Big tears welled up in his eyes. Everybody, including Joe McCarthy, was sympathetic . . . What had happened to his teeth?

Well, Fearless Joe had not taken a swat at Lulley . . . In fact, it was all very friendly. . . . In his years as a bachelor, ex-Marine Joe McCarthy has learned how to cook a feast fit for gourmets or Lulleys —pheasants, venison or hamburgers . . . Name it and McCarthy can cook it . . . . That evening he prepared a banquet for the guests at the party and it was so delicious that the appreciative but hasty Lulley had chomped down greedily on a pheasant bone and split his new upper plate . . . Very simple . . . Very sad.

This Powers' two-year plan makes it easy to acquire the basic clothes wardrobe every well-dressed woman needs!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

FOLLOWING this column's feature of the well-assembled basic wardrobe (the minimum clothes every well-dressed woman must have to go anywhere at any time), letters poured in requesting a buying plan that would make acquisition of such clothes possible for the woman who could not afford to purchase an entire new wardrobe all at once. Few women can, so the following plan should solve what is a problem to most.

Two Year Purchasing Plan

1. Budget to buy a basic-type winter coat every other year.
2. Budget to buy a warm-weather wrap of basic line in the year that a winter coat is not purchased.
3. Budget to buy a basic year-round suit in the year that a winter coat is not purchased.
4. Budget to buy a basic crepe dress in the early fall or spring of every year.
5. Budget to buy a basic wool dress at the resort sales in January.
6. Budget to buy one full set of accessories each fall.
7. Budget to buy a hat when you buy a coat or suit.
8. Make a two-year plan covering all the above items with exact detail as to type and color desired for each and then stick to it.

Wardrobe Co-ordination

Now, how do you put all that good theory into practice? Decide now what color your new basic winter coat will be. Yes, even if you do not plan to purchase it until next fall or two falls hence. Color co-ordinate everything you buy from now on with the color you have pre-planned for your coat.

If your winter coat is to be royal blue, the wool dress you acquire now must be of a color that is complementary. If you follow this kind of color scheming as you purchase every one of your basic items, your long-awaited coat will play the leading role in an already perfectly cast wardrobe.

How can you decide at this date that your plot will be royal blue? That's easy — by following the fashion trends first, last and always. And blues of all shades will be on the fashion program for several seasons to come.

What about summer dresses, sports attire, evening gowns and such? These are not "basic" clothes —the subject of today's lesson. Right? Right!

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug Store.—Advertisement.

Hard Work, Slim Pickings Force Yugoslav Gypsies To Settle Down

BELGRADE — (AP) — Yugoslavia's once wild and wandering tribes of gypsies are settling down slowly in little communities of their own where the violin rules the roost.

Times have changed for the nomadic bands which less than half a century ago roamed the countryside living off the land, begging where they could, raiding henhouses and stealing horses where they could not.

Their temperament has remained torrid despite the changes in their daily way of life. The dagger still darts at the end of an angry quarrel, and the music plays on and on.

Even in curing the itchy feet that brought them from the east to the west, the gypsies never have lost their love of music. Often in shabby clothes, sometimes half-starved, they'll drop their pitchforks in the field to join a gay dance at any hour of the day.

All told, on the basis of Yugoslavia's 1950 census, there are approximately 72,670 persons classified as gypsies living in the country, mostly living on their own little plots of land. A small percentage still travel the countryside with fire-blackened pots and pans.

There's an interesting history wrapped in deep layers of legend going back at least six centuries before the first arrival in Yugoslavia of gypsies from India. Others came later from Turkey, from Romania and Hungary.

They had different religions and somewhat common customs. Some were Moslems, some Orthodox Catholics, some frankly with no religion at all except a worship of music and desire to acquire enough of the world's goods to keep their bellies full.

A large part of them settled down on the broad plains of Serbia. Their talents and their enterprise whirled as merrily and as directly as a merry-go-round. Some became makers of wooden tubs. Others became blacksmiths. A number went to farming.

Along the highways and byways of old Yugoslavia, hundreds practised the ancient art of begging. Horse stealing was regarded as a fine art. Many others turned to the violin and accordion to earn a haphazard livelihood.

Against the soft music and the plaintive tunes of the gypsy fiddler's bow, he and his family are frowsy and quite frequently lousy. Their clothes are tattered and torn. Their bills for footwear are low for they seldom wear shoes. In summer months, Junior wears a coat of tan and nothing more.

By age old custom, the square outside their one-room cottages takes on a festive air on occasions ranging from birth to marriage to death. The whole community joins in to welcome a new member, takes vicarious pleasure in a wedding, and drinks to the departure of a late member of the tribe.

Mostly, it's hard work and slim pickings. For the gypsies who have settled down on their own farms, its means tilling soil and sweating toil. The wife shares the hard manual labor.

Under a Communistic regime, the way of the gypsies is hard. Their ancient art of extracting a dinar or two with outstretched palm has almost vanished. They know it may bring prosecution and stiff penalties.

POLKA DOT CAKE — Pretty enough for a party. A delicious feather-light Duff's Layer Cake Mix, now in a new, improved formula — baked with chocolate morsels.

Cake Favorite For Dessert

It's gay—it's light-minded and quite frivolous—our Polka Dot Cake. It's an old favorite served up with a different twist—tender white layer cake with a sprinkling of chopped chocolate morsels. Top it with your favorite frosting and a few more pert little chocolate morsels.

Here's a cake to tempt the newest bride as well as the experienced cook. When you use the layer cake mix, you're sure of a perfect cake every time. Just follow directions on the package—add your milk and you'll have a cake in the oven in 4½ minutes from package to oven. It's as simple as that.

Did you know—you'll help keep that beautiful cake in one piece when you turn it out of the pan if you place the pan first on a cold damp cloth for a few minutes.

Polka Dot Cake

1 pkge. layer cake mix
1¼ cups milk
1 pkge. (6oz.) chocolate morsels

Blend layer cake mix with milk, following directions on package. Chill mixture in refrigerator at least 2 hours. Chop ¾ cup chocolate morsels coarsely with a sharp knife and blend with chilled cake batter. Divide into two 9-inch layer cake pans which have been greased with unsalted shortening, lined with waxed paper and greased again. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 25-30 minutes or until done. Allow to remain in pans 10 minutes before turning out. When cool, sandwich and cover with favorite frosting. Top with remaining ¼ cup chocolate morsels.

Muled Cider

1 quart sweet cider
⅓ cup firmly packed brown sugar
8 whole cloves
6 small sticks cinnamon
6 whole allspice
Pinch of salt

Combine and bring to boil. Simmer gently 10 to 15 minutes. Strain if desired. Serve steaming hot in earthen mugs. Serves 4-5.

Popular Gelatine Dish Is Chocolate Sponge

Chocolate Sponge is a delicacy made with unflavored gelatine and cocoa. It gets its frothy lightness from carefully folding the gelatine mixture into stiffly beaten egg whites. An attractive accompaniment is a ring of leaf-shaped sugar cookies. The veins on the leaves can be made by putting chocolate confectioner's sugar frosting through the smallest opening on a pastry tube.

Chocolate Sponge

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
½ cup cold water
¼ cup cocoa
⅓ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
3 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla

Soften gelatine in cold water in top of double boiler. Place over boiling water. Add cocoa, sugar and salt, and stir until smooth. Beat egg yolks slightly. Slowly add small amount of hot liquid to egg yolks; return to double boiler and cook over hot, not boiling water, stirring constantly until slightly thickened. Remove from heat, add vanilla. Chill until mixture is slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Beat egg whites until stiff; fold in gelatine mixture. Turn into large or individual molds, and chill until firm. Unmold and serve with whipped cream. Yield: 6 servings.

Soup for supper is a life-saver when you're in the thick of the after-holiday rush. Hot canned tomato soup and grilled cheese sandwiches will keep the family happy. Round out the menu with a tossed salad or a fresh-fruit dessert.

Working Girl Time Saver

To save time after you get home from work, mix crabmeat cutlets in the morning while you're cooking breakfast. Cover and store in the refrigerator. There will be more leisure hours for watching your favorite TV program or for a game of canasta in the evening.

Baked Crabmeat Cutlets

½ cup thick white sauce
1 6½-oz. can crabmeat
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 egg
Fine bread crumbs

Combine white sauce, crabmeat, onion and lemon juice. Chill in refrigerator for several hours. Shape into cutlets. Beat egg slightly and dip cutlets in egg. Roll in crumbs. Place on greased pan and bake in a hot oven (450°F) about 15 minutes, or until brown on each side. Serve with hot chili sauce, or tartar sauce. Four cutlets.

Quick Manhattan Clam Chowder

1 can condensed clam chowder,
¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning.

Dilute chowder as directed on can. Add poultry seasoning and simmer 5 minutes. Serve with regular or pilot crackers.

"Thanks, Mrs. Filbert, for the Best Margarine there is!"

Writes Mrs. Fred Hohman, 1705 Bruce Street, Richmond, Va. in a spontaneous note to Mrs. M. V. Filbert, maker of Mrs. Filbert's Margarine.

Mrs. M. V. Filbert

Real homestyle care is my secret for fresher sweeter margarine!

"There just isn't any substitute for homestyle care and really fine ingredients. That's why I make up my margarine fresh every day, from my own personal recipe. I check the quality at my own dinner table—and I think you'll agree it's delicious!

People like you keep writing me raves like these!

Natick, Mass. 'Mrs. Filbert, your fresh sweet margarine is just tops!' Mrs. Barbara R. Paul, 7 Concord Street.

Cleveland, Ohio. 'Yours is much sweeter and smoother than other brands I've tried!' Mrs. Pearl Zell, 2072 East 221st Street. (Small batch blending gives it that smoothness, Mrs. Zell.)

Collinsville, Conn. 'We've tried all brands and have voted Mrs. Filbert's most delicious!' Mrs. A. H. Sears, Albany Turnpike R.F.D.

Washington, D. C. 'All my friends, as well as myself, use only the best—and that's Mrs. Filbert's!' Mrs. Margaret Parker, 42 Buchanan Street, N.E.

Chester, Pa. 'My husband would never let me use margarine until we tried Mrs. Filbert's!' Mrs. Virginia Connell, 712 Defense Road.

Try my margarine yourself—Golden Quarters or extra-thrifty Golden Pound. Buy it today—and let your family be judge and jury!"

So White — So Quick with OAKITE

SHEETS and TOWELS

—wash white and fresh in no time with Oakite. Oakite in the water makes it easy and gets linens cleaner. They come spotless and white (or bright in the case of the new colored linens.)

Why you should wash new linens with Oakite—Yes, even before using, wash them with Oakite to get out sizing that is often present in new linens. Oakite does not injure water-fast colored fabrics. Also wash regularly with Oakite—it lengthens the life of fabrics.

How to wash linens with Oakite—Add a few tablespoons of Oakite to wash water, then enough of your favorite soap or powder for light suds. It requires only about ½ the usual amount—a big saving. Oakite makes fabrics last longer for it gets all soap out and soapiness often rots the threads.

Monday Night Meat Dish

- ¾ pound ground veal
- ¾ pound ground pork
- ¼ cup minced onion
- ¼ cup chopped green pepper
- 1 4-oz. package egg noodles, cooked and drained
- 1 No. 2 can cream-style corn
- ½ cup grated cheese.

Brown meat, onion and green pepper. Combine with remaining ingredients, saving 2 tablespoons cheese to sprinkle on top. Pour in a casserole and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 30 minutes. 6 to 8 servings.

Current Queries On Meat . . . . .

Q. Should the fell (the paper-like covering on the fat surface) be removed from lamb steaks and chops before cooking?

A. Yes, but it should not be removed from the leg of lamb.

Q. How is a pocket made for stuffing a rib pork chop?

A. By cutting into the chop along the rib bone.

Q. What is an easy way to thicken gravy for pot-roasts and stews?

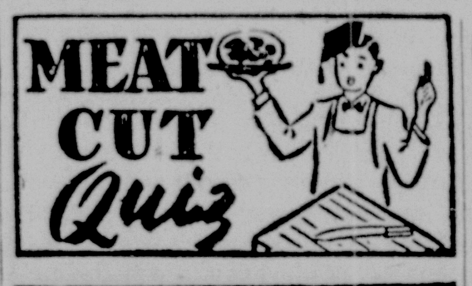
A. Add flour to water in a jar, shake, and add to meat stock or drippings.

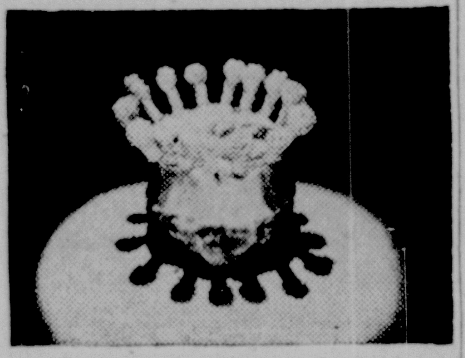
Q. In broiling, do meats require frequent turning?

A. No, when broiled at a moderate temperature, only one turning is necessary.

Q. What in pork corresponds to round steak in beef?

A. The center cut slice of fresh or smoked ham.





Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Pork crown roast.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It is prepared from two or more rib sections. Ribs are frenched, backbone removed, then rib sections shaped and tied into a crown.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By roasting. The first hour the roast is placed bone side down in an open roasting pan. At the end of this time, the roast is turned over and stuffed if desired, then roasting completed. Cooking time is from 35 to 40 minutes per pound in a 350°F. oven.

Sardine Fingers

Half cup mashed canned sardines, 1 lemon, 16 fingers bread (crusts removed from slices and each slice cut into four fingers), 3 tablespoons butter, ½ teaspoon chili powder, 16 strips of pimento Mayonnaise, 1 hard cooked egg, sieved.

Marinate sardines with juice of the lemon for 1 hour. Fry bread fingers in 1 tablespoon of the butter until golden brown on both sides. Blend remaining butter with chili powder. Spread on bread. Cover with mashed sardines. Pipe around edges with mayonnaise put through pastry tube. Garnish top with pimento strip and a sprinkle of hard cooked egg. Makes 16 hors d'oeuvres.

Old Country Dishes Turn American

New England is considered the cradle of American cookery. Here settlers first applied the cookery techniques of the old country on the native foods of the new, developing original dishes that were definitely "American" in character.

The stories which we read in grammar school did not at all exaggerate the food difficulties of the first settlers. In fact, from the moment the Pilgrims landed they were on their own so far as food was concerned and would have starved had the country itself not been able to support them. They depended almost entirely on hunting and fishing, until their first successful harvest. Sea travel was slow, and ships were small, so that early Americans could not count on importing food, and were forced to depend on their own resources.

This was difficult for them, but it has yielded us a rich inheritance of regional dishes and recipes. Clam chowder, fish and seafood pies, codfish balls, boiled dinner, pot pies, Rinktum Ditty, Boston baked beans, cranberry sauce, maple sugar, Parker House rolls, Johnnycake, blueberry muffins, apple pandowdy—are just a few of hundreds of dishes whose origin we owe to New England.

One phase of New England cookery is especially interesting, and has never been satisfactorily explained. New England's early settlers were English, and brought with them English food techniques and preferences. Yet from surviving recipes it is obvious that New England's homemakers outdid their English cousins almost from the moment they landed on American shores. New England food is justly famous for its deft use of seasoning. Almost every known spice, seed and herb is used—and used properly.

Few Americans know that New England's early history is closely associated with the spice trade. From 1799 to 1846 sailing vessels of the port of Salem, in Massachusetts, brought millions of dollars worth of spices to the United States for use here and re-export to other countries. This trade founded New England's early fortunes, laid the basis of the United States merchant marine and the duties paid at the port accounted for one-twentieth of the entire income of the national government.

New England Clam Chowder

4 slices bacon, finely diced, 1 cup finely chopped onion, 2 cans minced clams, 2 cups diced cooked potatoes, 1 quart milk, ¼ teaspoon celery salt, ⅛ teaspoon black pepper, ½ teaspoon poultry seasoning, salt to taste. Butter.

Fry bacon until crisp. Remove bacon from pan and set in warm place. Fry onions in bacon fat until clear (4-5) minutes. Place clams and juice in top of double boiler. Add onions, potatoes, milk and seasonings. Heat over hot water about 20 minutes. Serve topped with a sprinkle of the diced bacon and a small piece of butter. May be garnished with a sprinkle of pap-
Serve with regular or pilot crackrika, too, if desired. Serves 4-6.

NOTE: 1 quart fresh clams and liquor may be used in place of canned.

Poultry seasoning is a perfect blend of sage, thyme, marjoram, savory, and a bit of rosemary, as well as other spices and herbs. Not only does this combination turn the trick for your holiday meals, but it will perk up leftovers. It does more than the name implies because it can be used in stuffings for fish, pork or veal, meat loaf, dumplings, stuffed peppers, gravies, soups and sauces. One clever trick when you are serving unstuffed fowl is to put a pinch of poultry seasoning in your biscuits. A pinch of poultry seasoning will also add zest to the crust for your turkey pie.

One Dish Meal Using Last Of Fowl

Fix the last of the holiday fowl this way and it's really a "bird in a gilded cage". Takes just a short time to fix too. You can also make the dish with turkey or ham. And to go with it, how about hot buttered broccoli or peas and a relish dish of celery and olives?

Chicken Finale

- 2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of chicken soup
- 2 cups cooked noodles
- Diced cooked chicken

Simmer green pepper in butter in a saucepan until tender. Add soup, noodles — and chicken if desired (½ cup or more is good). Mix all together. Cook over low heat for about 10 minutes or until heated through. Serve on a warm platter; garnish with green pepper rings and additional slivers of chicken. Makes four servings.

Sage Biscuit

2 cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup shortening, ¼ teaspoon powdered sage, ½ to ¾ cup milk.

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Cut in shortening until like coarse meal. Add milk, stirring quickly only until dough forms — soft but not sticky. Turn out onto lightly floured board. Knead about half a minute to shape into a smooth ball. Roll or pat out lightly to ½ inch thickness. Cut with floured cutter. Place on greased baking sheet. Bake in very hot oven (450°F.) about 12 minutes or until golden brown. Makes about 15 two-inch biscuits.

Chicken Finale

Holiday chicken comes to a grand finish in this dish made with condensed cream of chicken soup and noodles.

Short Rib Dinner

- 2 pounds short ribs
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups water
- 4 medium-sized onions
- 4 medium-sized carrots
- 1 No. 2 can peas or 12-oz package frozen peas, cooked.
- flour.

Brown short ribs on all sides. Season. Add water, cover, simmer 1½ to 2 hours or until tender. About 45 minuutes before the end of cooking time add potatoes, onions and carrots. Heat canned or cooked frozen peas separately and serve over short ribs and other vegetables. Thicken liquid for gravy. 4 servings.

Post-Holiday Low Calorie Party Meal

What with rich holiday feasting and New Year's resolutions, there'll be a lot of your bridge friends watching their calories at early January luncheons. If it's your turn to play hostess, they'll think you very smart to make it a "Slim-Jane Party." Here's a suggested menu.

Watch-Your-Weight Luncheon

Herb Tomato-Juice Cocktail
Celery Fans with Celery Salt
Broiled Halibut, Cod, or Haddock Steaks
Broccoli Cooked to Perfection
Whole-Wheat Toast
Grapefruit-and-Orange Dessert Salad with Slim-Jane Salad Dressing
Russian Tea

For Nibbling at Four: Apple wedges brushed with lemon juice.

Serve It Prettily

Herb Tomato-juice Cocktail: About 1 hr. before serving, add a pinch of a different herb to each glass. Float a bit of water cress or parsley in each. Let guests guess what's in theirs.

Celery Fans: Cut celery in 3" lengths. Slit in narrow parallel strips almost to end. Chill on ice cubes. To serve, dry. Dip tips in paprika. Dust on celery salt.

All on One Dish: Fix broiled fish in center of dish, with broccoli on both sides. March lemon wedges between rows. Broccoli, perfectly cooked, needs no butter.

The Dessert Salad: Use salad plates from 2 or 3 different sets of "china." Arrange grapefruit and orange sections on shredded lettuce. Sprinkle on grated orange rind. Pass dressing.

Russian Tea: Use glass mugs if possible, cherry preserves instead of sugar.

Whole-Wheat Toast: Make toast at the table. Serve it hot, with a gold star for all who use only half a pat of butter.

Centerpiece: Vegetables in basket on household scale, circled by cress, radishes.

The Prizes: First, a book on calorie counting; booby, a tape measure.

Have Handy for Discussion: A chart on weight according to height.

Slim-Jane Salad Dressing

¾ cup water, 2 teasp. cornstarch, ¼ cup lemon juice, ¾ teasp. salt, 1½ teasp. sugar, 2 tablesp. salad oil, 1 teasp. bottled horse-radish, 1¼ teasp. prepared mustard, ½ teasp. paprika, 1 peeled clove garlic, ½ teasp. Worcestershire sauce, ¼ cup catchup.

Cook together water and cornstarch until clear and thickened—about 5 min. Cool. Add remaining ingredients; beat with hand or electric beater until smooth and blended. Store, covered, in refrigerator. Use as needed, shaking well before using. Makes about 1¼ cups.

Bill Would Kill "Jim Crow" Law

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 11 (AP)—Another blow at "Jim Crow" was delivered in Maryland's General Assembly today.

Sen. Phoebus (R-Somerset) introduced a repealer of the old statute which these days requires racial segregation only on the Chesapeake ferries.

The measure was one of two legislative old-timers warmed over at Annapolis before the Assembly adjourned the second week of its 90-day session.

The Senate gave tentative approval to a "frisking" bill done up in new form. It would allow prosecutors to submit as evidence any deadly weapons found on a person charged with concealing those articles without a permit.

The crime is now classed a misdemeanor. Evidence seized without a warrant may not be introduced in such cases. The latest Legislative Council bill would characterize the crime as a felony. No matter how obtained, the evidence could be offered.

Other bills put before the Senate before adjournment would:

1. Authorize a $5,000,000 bond issue for a state office building in or near Annapolis. Sen. Phipps (D-Anne Arundel) introduced it. He and Annapolis officials have attacked a state commission studying sites for a projected office building because they have concentrated on Baltimore.

2. Compel the state to buy only Maryland-mined coal for its institutions. Minority Leader Kimble (R-Allegany) was the sponsor.

3. Require execution of death sentences by gas instead of hanging. Sen. Dippel (D-Balto 3rd) was sponsor.

Soldier To Lose Feet, Most Of Both Hands

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Jan 11 (AP)—Frozen on Korean battlefields, Pvt. Hubert Reeves, 19, will lose both feet above the ankles and most of both hands in a series of operations to begin at Percy Jones Army Hospital here tomorrow.

Reeve's mother, Mrs. D. Hubert Reeves, will come here from their Joliet, Ill., home to be with her son. The father, a Joliet roofing company employe, won't be financially able to make the trip.

Belgian Gets Arms Post

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP) — Henri Janne, a Belgian, was named today chairman of the North Atlantic Defense Production Board, whose task is the speeding of arms deliveries to Gen. Eisenhower's new Atlantic command.

McKeldin Leans Toward Appointive School Boards

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 11 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin said today that his "general feeling is that school boards should be appointed rather than elected."

Holding his first news conference since taking office yesterday, the new Governor also said that:

"The State Department of Education has a tremendous amount of authority. That ought to be all re-examined."

Both school matters, he said, would be investigated by a commission to study the reorganization of state government agencies and departments.

He already has decided upon the man to head the commission and expects to name him soon.

When speaking about the Department of Education, McKeldin referred particularly to the wide latitude it has in preparing its budgets. Neither the Governor nor the Legislature may cut most of the items in the school budget.

McKeldin also indicated:

1—His new State Roads Commission may consist of Russell P. McCain, Republican of Frederick; Avery Hall, Salisbury businessman and also a Republican, and Thomas Hubbard, chairman of the Baltimore City Planning Commission, a Democrat. McCain, now a member, would be chairman.

2—That it might be better to turn Maryland State College for Negroes at Princess Anne into a high school.

Dulles To Work On Jap Peace Treaty In Tokyo

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP) — Republican Advisor John Foster Dulles, given the rank of ambassador by President Truman, will go to Tokyo in about 10 days to discuss Japanese peace treaty problems with Gen. Douglas MacArthur and political leaders in Japan.

This announcement today by the State Department marked the end of a period of uncertainty within the American government over whether to proceed with Japanese treaty negotiations at this time in view of U. N. reverses in Korea.

Survivor Of Bataan Volunteers For Army

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—A Purple Heart veteran of the Bataan death march volunteered for the Army today.

He is 35-year-old Julian Wyse Adams, who told newsmen:

"I feel my country is at war. At least men are fighting and dying. I'd like to get back myself."

The Army thinks he's probably the first Bataan survivor to offer to return to uniform. A physical examination will determine whether he's accepted.

A native of Greenwood, S. C., Adams now is an official of a soap manufacturing firm.

Bright plumage on some birds acts as war paint to scare away other birds.

Oak Hill, W. Va., Coach, Daughter Die In Fire

An overheated furnace apparently touched off the blaze in the new four-room house just beyond the city limits. Only Harvey and his daughter lived there.

When the flames subsided, firemen found Harvey's body in his daughter's room and Elaine's body in his.

Brice Requested Not To Quit Old Job Yet

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 11 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin said he asked Arthur H. Brice today to stay on as commissioner of motor vehicles until he can find a replacement for him.

The Senate confirmed Brice's nomination to be chairman of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission Tuesday, the day before McKeldin took office.

Under the law, Brice does not have to pick up his commission as tidewater chairman for 27 more days.

'Chuck' Karmarkovich Dies; WMI League Opens Tonight

Crash Injuries Prove Fatal To Johnstown Ace

Clippers To Disband And Withdraw From All-American Loop

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 11 (AP) — A three-way auto collision today killed George (Chuck) Karmarkovich, 22, captain and high-scoring center for the Johnstown Clippers of the All-American Professional Basketball League.

Karmarkovich was formerly a floor star at Waynesburg College.

As a result of the tragedy and of recent financial losses, owners of the Clippers announced the team is being disbanded and withdrawn from the league. A game with Wheeling, W. Va., scheduled for tonight, was canceled.

The accident occurred on the Lincoln Highway about 5½ miles west of Ligonier.

Two carloads of players, after a game at Wheeling, were being driven home by Coach Nat Hickey and Business Manager Harry Finley.

Hickey's car skidded on ice, hit a guard rail, rebounded into the highway and struck another machine. Finley's car, avoiding the wreck, crashed into the guard rail.

Karmarkovich, a passenger in the first machine, died in Johnstown Memorial Hospital of a skull fracture. He was a resident of Franklin, Pa.

Four other team members suffered minor injuries.

The Clippers were owned by the Century Enterprises, Inc., of Johnstown, which announced the disbandment through business Manager Finley.

Karmarkovich had a brilliant floor record at Waynesburg College, making the all-state team in three seasons ending in 1948, 1949 and 1950. He scored 1,122 points in his three years and got 478 of them in the 1948 - 1949 season. Both marks are all-time school records.

Karmarkovich played with the Altoona Flyers during the latter part of the 1950 All-American League campaign and received a trial with the Baltimore Bullets of the National Basketball Association this season.

"Chuck" was regarded as one of the top players of the league this season and was one of the circuit's leading point getters. In two appearances here against the Spas this season, Karmarkovich scored 32 points on SS. Peter and Paul court.

Johnstown has lost eight games in ten starts in the league and its withdrawal reduces the number of teams to five, namely, Wheeling, Erie, Altoona, Beaver Falls and Cumberland. The loop has functioned with five teams in past years.

Stadium Inn Tops Legion

Stadium Inn, Frostburg, knocked Parrady Post, American Legion of Frostburg, out of the running for the first half championship of the Men's National Shuffleboard League of Allegany County by scoring a 2-1 win over the Legionnaires.

The victory put Staduim Inn 2½ games in front of the Cumberland K. of C. which plays the Cumberland V.F.W. at the K. of C. Home tonight. The first half race winds up next Thursday with the Cumberland K. of C. at Stadium Inn.

In other matches last night, Clingerman's blanked Frostburg K-C, 3-0; Viaduct Inn topped Goodfellowship Club, 2-1; Amvets skunked Alhambra Club, 3-0; Century A. C., Frostburg beat Mt. Savage VFW, 3-0, and Woodmen of the World downed Frostburg Moose 2-1.

High scorers: P. Judy, Clingerman's 23; C. Delaney, Frostburg K-C 18; Van Horn, Viaduct, 27; Ryan, Goodfellowship, 25; T. Geatz, Amvets 28; Gene Zembower, Alhambra 22; Jim Robertson, Century, 29; Lancaster, Mt. Savage, 17; Russ Reynolds, W.O.W., 20; Green, Frostburg Moose, 25; "Butch" Minnicks, Stadium Inn, 28; Bob Powers, Frostburg Legion, 19.

Facts And Figures On Bout Between Charles And Oma

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP) — Facts and figures for the Ezzard Charles—Lee Oma heavyweight championship bout tomorrow night:

Date — Friday Jan. 12.

Place — Madison Square Garden.

Time — 10:00 p. m. (EST). (first preliminary at 8:30 p. m. (EST).

Participants — Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati, heavyweight champion of the world, vs. Lee Oma of Buffalo.

Distance — 15 rounds.

Officials — Referee and two judges to be named at ringside.

Radio — American Broadcasting Company.

Television — National Broadcasting Company.

Probable attendance—12,000.

Probable gate — $65,000.

Fighters; Split—Charles 40 per cent, Oma 17½ per cent.

Odds — Charles 1 to 5 favorite.

DIES IN CRASH—George Karmarkovich, 22, former Pennsylvania all-state basketball star at Waynesburg College, died yesterday from injuries received in an auto accident. He and two other players of the Johnstown Clippers, pro basketball entry in the All-American League, were hurt on their return from a contest at Wheeling. Karmarkovich played with the Altoona Flyers late last season.

Ezzard Charles Is 1-5 Favorite To Retain Title

15-Round Title Bout Set For Garden Ring

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP) — Ezzard Charles, improving with every start, rules a solid 1 to 5 choice to whip tricky Lee Oma tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden in the sixth defense of his world heavyweight title.

The determined champion, sharp and ready at 184 pounds, figures to unhinge the clownish Oma within the 15-round limit, perhaps around the eighth. The scant betting action centers around Lee's chances of going the route. It's about 9 to 5 he won't

New - found respect for 29-year-old Charles after his victory over Joe Louis is reflected at the gate. It won't be a sellout but the International Boxing Club expects about 12,000 fans and $65,000. Millions will follow the bout on television and radio. Ring time is 10 p. m. ,EST).

He's Master of Confusion

Styles make the bout interesting. Oma, a master of confusion, is hard to catch. Sometimes he walks away, drops both hands, and turns his back. He is a master of slipping and catching punches and a pretty fair right hand puncher on his own.

The reform angle is stressed heavily on Oma's story. Spotty is a police way of describing his past record at shows at least 91 official fights. When in shape, he whipped some of the best around. Currently he ranks No. 4 among the heavyweight contenders although he'll be 35 in March.

Oma lost only one of his last 16 fights. That was a knockout by Bob Satterfield which he latter reversed with a decision, Sept. 25 in his last fight. He'll weigh about 192 for this one.

Teddy Bentham, Oma's trainer insists Oma is in "very good shape." Ray Arcel, Charles' trainer, says "Essy's ready." If they both are right, it could be quite a battle.

Charles is ahead of Louis' record for defenses by some three months. Since he beat Jersey Joe Wolcott June 22, 1949 to win the title he has knocked out every opponent — except Louis. Freddie Beshore and Nick Barone were his 1950 KO victims.

Lee Gets Last Chance

A sharp puncher with either hand and a smart boxer who always is in good condition, Charles doesn't figure to be bothered by Oma's style. He did a good job on Walcott who uses much the same tactics.

Oma, signed for 17½ per cent, is getting his last big chance near the end of a checkered career. For Charles, who will pocket the champs share of 40 per cent, this is just another step on his way to becoming the "fightingest" champ ever.

If Charles gets past Oma, he'll probably defend against Walcott in Miami, Feb. 28 although details have not been worked out.

AHS Copped 44 In Row

By C. V. BURNS

The thirty-first seeason of the Western Maryland Interscholastic Basketball League opens tonight.

Cumberland teams have won 24 of the 30 championships and Central High of Lonaconing is the only up-creek school to win a title in the past 24 years.

Walter L. Bowers, Allegany High mentor, has turned out 16 championship quints in 24 years and eight were undefeated in the league. Two other AHS teams lost out in playoffs.

John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, who made his coaching debut at Penn Avenue in 1929 had a pennant winner in his first year at the South End school.

And it took a champion — state horseshoe pitching champion, that is—to turn the trick.

Wonder hoy many fans remember Freddie Hamilton's shot that gave Penn Avenue a victory over AHS and the championship at the state armory

Hamilton heaved the ball high through the rafters. The ball seemed to disappear —then it swished through the cords to sew up the game.

If you believe time flies just consider the fact that Walter L. Bowers and Major John J. Cavanaugh started coaching at the local schools before any of the present high school boys and girls were born.

Allegany's first W.M.I. League championship team in 1922 was coached by Paul Smith, a graduate of the school which was located on Greene Street in those days and was known as Allegany County High School.

Smith starred in independent basketball for the Taylor A. A. quint, which was sponsored by the N. & G. Taylor Tinplate Company. Home games were played at the Taylor gym on the company's property in the rear of the B. & O. Y. M. C. A. on Virginia Avenue.

Fritz Eiler, now of Eiler Chevrolet, was a member of the same team. Prior to joining the Tinmen, however, Eiler starred for the K. O. G. (Knights of Goodfellowship) quint which played its home games on the third floor of the Jenvey Building, Harrison and South Centre streets.

Back in the 1920s LaSalle was a member of the WMI League and played its home games at the Knights of Columbus gym, North Mechanic street. When the State Armory was built in 1925, LaSalle transferred to that court for its home battles. Then the Explorers moved to the west side court when SS. Peter-Paul School was erected.

Arthur Slocum, now coach at LaSalle, turned out three W. M. I.

Fort Hill, AHS Test Unbeaten Central, Barton

Beall Invades Bruce; Berlin At LaSalle, 7 PVC Tilts Listed

Fort Hill, Central and Barton, the only undefeated high school teams in the tri-state area, will play here tonight as the Western Maryland Interscholastic League opens its 31st season with games billed for the Fort Hill and Allegany courts.

Central At Fort Hill

Coach Johnny Meyer's Central High Tigers, victors in eight games tackle Fort Hill, undefeated in six starts. Last season Central was able to knock off the Sentinels and Campers at Lonaconing but the Tigers suffered defeats on the local courts.

Bob Pence and Jim Hosack will officiate the game at Fort Hill set for 8 o'clock.

AHS Host To Barton

Allegany (2-5) will play host to Coach John Thomas' Barton High basketeers tonight at 8 o'clock Campobello with Bill Hahn and Fred "Tack" Clark assigned to call this one.

Barton has rolled over seven straight opponents, including a 44-39 decision over LaSalle which took AHS 35-34, and it would be something rare for Barton to win here for the Braves have not done so since the 1920s when the up-creek school ruled the roost.

Allegany won league honors last year.

The third W.M.I. League game on tap for tonight finds Bruce and Beall tangling on the Westernport school court at 8 o'clock. Eddie Diehl and Clifton Van Roby will do the whistling in this one.

LaSalle Entertains Berlin

LaSalle will play its third game of the week at home tonight when it meets Berlin-Brothersvalley High of Berlin, Pa., on SS. Peter and Paul boards at 8:15.

The Explorers started off the week by whipping St. Joseph's of Martinsburg, 44-40, and lost to Fort Hill by the score of 37-32.

Lions Invades Ridgeley

In addition to the three games in Cumberland on the same night, there'll be another across the Potomac where Ralph Poling's Ridgeley Blackhawks will tackle "Huck" Miers' Piedmont Lions in a Potomac Valley Conference contest at 8 bells.

Ridgeley, co-champions of 1950, has a 2-0 record so far this season while Piedmont has won two of three conference engagements.

Six Other P.V.C. Tests

Moorefield (5-0), the conference leader, plays the Panthers (2-1) at Franklin tonight, Keyser (3-1) invades Romney (1-4), Wardensville (1-3) plays host to Walt Owens' Petersburg Vikings (4-1), West Virginia Deaf (0-2) is at Fort Ashby (2-2), Elk Garden (1-4) visits Bayard (0-0) for the latter's first P.V.C. test and Circleville (1-3 engages Mathias (1-3) at Circleville.

Other Friday night basket shooting parties find Paw Paw's Mountaineers at Capon Bridge, Bedford High Jayvees at Hyndman High, Parsons at Tygarts Valley (Mill Creek, W. Va.) and Oakland's Highlanders at Terra Alta High in Preston County.

Wrist Injury Puts Jack Rice Out Of Action Six Weeks

Fort Hill High School's undefeated basketball team received bad news yesterday.

Jack Rice, one of the outstanding players on the Sentinels' second team, suffered two broken bones in his right wrist during the Fort Hill-LaSalle game Tuesday night at SS. Peter and Paul gym and will be out of action at least six weeks.

Dr. John K. Rozum advised Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh the extent of Rice's injury last night.

Jack was injured when he fell during a scrimmage in the intra-city game. His place on the second team will be taken by John Shore.

A son of Ralph "Doggie" Rice, Oldtown Road grocer and one-time Allegany High School athlete, Jack formerly starred in the Central YMCA Sunday School League with Grace Methodist.

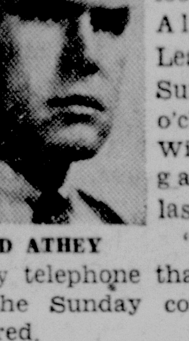
Athey To Play Here Sunday

Ed Will Join Spas For Altoona Game



ED ATHEY

Ed Athey, former Allegany High, Frostburg State Teachers' College and Washington College basketball star, will definitely play with the Cumberland Spas against the Altoona Flyers in an All - American League game here Sunday night at 9 o'clock. Coach William V. Keegan, announced last night.

"Athey advised me by telephone that he'll be here for the Sunday contest," Keegan declared.

Ed is now director of athletics and basketball coach at the Chestertown (Md.) school.

The Spas will play at Altoona Saturday night before playing their first game in three weeks at home Sunday.

Bradley Stopped

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—Bradley's 15-game winning streak was snapped by St. Johns of Brooklyn tonight, the Redmen handing the No. 1 collegiate cage team in the country their first defeat of the season, 68 to 59, in the feature of a doubleheader at Madison Square Garden.

Forty & Eight Wins Another

Senior Loop Leaders Swamp Sport Shoppe

Forty and Eight Club's basketeers made it nine straight in the Central YMCA Senior Men's Basketball League last night by trouncing the runner-up Sport Shoppe quint, 48-19. The victory gave the undefeated 40 and 8 a lead of 1½ games.

Comer and Eckard shared 28 points for the victors.

In other tilts the American Legion snapped a nine-game losing streak by whipping the C. & P. Telephone Company, 36-24, and Local No. 26, URW, topped the Independents, 35-33. Lineups:

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

An Oklahoma preacher interrupted his sermon long enough to ask, "How many of you heard my radio program this morning?" To a man, the congregation answered "Yes." "The devil is at work in Oklahoma," said the preacher gravely. "I wasn't on the air this morning."

A near-sighted director was searching for locations for an impending farm epic when a gust of wind blew off his beret. He gave chase, but every time he apparently had it cornered, it was whisked from under his hand again. Finally a woman looked up from her gardening and called, "What are you trying to do over there, mister?" "I'm trying to recover my beret," he puffed. "Your beret is over there by the stone wall," said the woman. "That's our black hen you've been chasing."

Another near-sighted gentleman was heard moaning at a racetrack bar, "I've got to get these glasses fixed fast. I've just walked into seven fellows I owe money to!"

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

CHICAGO, Jan. 11 (INS)—David Selznick, who is being almost secretive about his plans, has made up his mind to one thing for sure:

Alida Valli

He'll make a new English version of "Miracles Can Only Happen Once," the French and Italian picture Alida Valli recently finished in Paris. David lent Valli to co-star with French Star Jean Marias in this—and now that he has seen the love story, he believes it will bear repetition in English.

Once before, Selznick did this when he remade "Intermezzo" from Swedish into English with Ingrid Bergman. It was one of his great hits.

Valli, of course, will repeat in the star role but an American actor will be substituted for Marias.

• — • — •

I'm jumping the gun on this—but it's too hot to keep: I hear that Sharman Douglas will become a permanent citizen of Hollywood when she takes on a public relations job with one of our big studios! Not just ordinary publicity, mind you, but a super-glamor deal similar to the one Anita Colby did for David Selznick several years ago.

That means "consultant" about clothes, social events, etc., a position most definitely up pretty Sharman's street. The daughter of our former ambassador to England likes movie-town very much.

• — • — •

All the glamour girls who tested for Ezio Pinza's torrid girl friend in "Strictly Dishonorable" — there were dozens including Zsazsa Gabor —will be disappointed. The role goes to Maria Palmer, continental stage charmer.

The Viennese actress was a Max Reinhardt star in Europe and recently she was in "The Moon Is Down" on Broadway.

She doesn't get Pinza in the picture (Janet Leigh does) but Maria plays love scenes with Ezio in English, Spanish, Italian, French and Hungarian—and that's covering the field if you ask me. Pinza's second M-G-M movie rolls late this month.

• — • — •

Chit-Chat: I wasn't home for Kay Thompson's opening at the Mocambo—but from what I hear about the star-studded turnout, she should be very flattered.

At one table—Ave Gardner, in a black gown and Kathryn Grayson, in white, were an eyeful. They were with the Howard Keels.

The top of Judy Garland's decollette gown was made of flowers. Judy was with Sid Luft, of course.

Lana Turner, like Ava, chose a backless black gown. She and Bob Topping were in a big party with Cubby Broccoli and Nedra Clark and Oil Man Bob Calhoun and Gloria De Haven.

Snapshots of Hollywood and Chicago collected at random:

Greta Garbo heads immediately back to New York the day she's given her citizenship papers in Los Angeles.

The Pump Room continues to be the same gay place with many familiar Hollywood faces.

Greg Bautzer, on his way to New York; Abe Lastfogel, Ted Briskin and a pretty blonde, are a few I glimpsed while lunching there.

Joan and Frank Bering and the Jimmy Harts keep the place moving with the same spark our beloved Ernie originally gave it.

Charles Skouras donated the proceeds from "Halls Of Montezuma" San Francisco premiere to the Marine Corps League there.

Singer Dorothy Shay's brother, Claude Simms, has given up a business career to become a dance instructor at Arthur Murray's Westwood studio.

Ray Schindler, famed detective, will be the houseguest of the Lon Chaney, Jrs., during his Hollywood trip. He's an old friend of the late Lon, Sr.

The Dwight Taylors welcomed a seven-pound daughter Tuesday.

Leon Gordon is justly proud that all seven pictures he has produced at M-G-M, including the current "Kim," have played the Radio City Music Hall in New York—quite a record.

I'm heading back to Hollywood so—

That's all today from Chicago. See you tomorrow!

John Mayhew, district representative of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company, spoke Wednesday night at the Shrine Country Club, before 24 members and guests of the Cumberland Conference, National Association of Bank Auditors and Comptrollers.

Mayhew, introduced by Ralph P. Bender, assistant cashier of the Frostburg National Bank, discussed the forms and scope of indemnity insurance being written to protect banks and other financial institutions. John Conway, cashier of the Cumberland Savings Bank and chairman of the conference, presided. The program was arranged by Ralph P. Bender.

Clerk Of Court Lists December Receipts

The report of Clerk of Court Joseph E. Boden on receipts of his office during December was released yesterday.

Receipts included $1,361.30 for documentary stamps, $275.50 for hunting licenses, $155.34 for alcoholic beverage licenses, $92,18 for business licenses, $861 for marriage licenses, $1, 564.55 for recording fees, and $714.90 for costs in law and equity cases.

Construction At Peak In 5th Federal Reserve Area

Although somewhat under its peak level of last summer, the construction industry in Fifth Federal Reserve District states is still maintained at a high level, the Federal Bank of Richmond reports in the January issue of its Monthly Review of business and industry.

Building permits in 30 cities of the district in November, the latest month for which complete figures are obtainable, were 27 per cent higher than in the same month a year before, the bank said.

"Announcements of new plant construction have been substantial in recent months, and every week brings further news of such construction," said the bank.

The Fifth Federal Reserve District includes the states of Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina, and the District of Columbia.

Among the important building projects of the area the bank listed these:

A $7,500,000 spun rayon plant at Raeford, N. C.; a $1,000,000 addition to a rayon finishing plant at Old Fort, N. C., and a $1,000,000 machinery plant at Gastonia, N. C.

A $4,000,000 combed fabrics mill at Greenville, S. C.; a $1,250,000 addition to a cotton mill at Clinton, S. C.; a $3,000,000,000 building (including machinery) at Greer, S. C., and a $1,200,000 plant expansion at Gaffney, S. C.

A $3,500,000 enlargement of a plant at Danville, Va.; a $1,000,000 meat packing distribution plant at Norfolk, Va.; a $1,000,000 machinery plant at Towson, Md., and a $1,000,000 improvement in ore-loading piers at Baltimore.

Upward of $3,500,000 have gone into building expansion of telephone facilities in the Fifth District, the bank added.

Other construction, for which figures were not available, includes a new orlon installation at Kinston, N. C. expansion of a duPont plant at Camden, S. C., and an addition to a Union Carbide dynel plant at Charleston, W. Va.

Kelly Troop Meeting Today

A second meeting of parents interested in their sons joining the new Boy Scout troop to be sponsored by the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company will be held tonight at 7:30 p. m. in the conference room of the Personnel Building at the local plant.

A similar session was held last Friday night and in the event sufficient interest is shown by the adults, the Kelly will take immediate steps to provide quarters, leaders and equipment for the troop.

George W. Sellers, Cumberland District Boy Scout chairman, said F. T. Bell, Kelly personnel manager, will be in charge of the meeting.

The troop is not restricted to sons of Kelly employes, Bell declared, but is for all boys of Scout age.

With the addition of this troop, Cumberland will have 18 separate Boy Scout organizations. This will be the only one sponsored by a major industry.

Twigg Is Suspended In Fatal Shooting

John E. Twigg, 32, of 1100 Oldtown Road, entered a guilty plea in Hampshire County Court at Romney, W. Va., on a charge of "careless and negligent shooting" and Judge Harlan M. Calhoun gave him a suspended sentence of one year in jail, placing him under parole for three years. Twigg was also ordered to pay $2,000 to the family of John Delawder, 57, of Paw Paw, W. Va., who was fatally wounded by Twigg.

Twigg was also fined $100 in the shooting case and an additional $25 and costs for hunting with improper licenses. Attorney Leslie J. Clark, this city, and James Swadley, of Keyser, W. Va., were counsel for Twigg.

Although all GIs who were prisoners of war are entitled to one dollar from Uncle Sam for every day spent in captivity, many have not applied for it.

Takes A Doctor's Advice
Gas Station Man's Aches and Pains Leave Completely After First 3 Bottles Of Hadacol
Father helped, too, who also had deficiencies of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Iron and Niacin.

Wesley Scallions, energetic young gas station attendant in Peoria, Illinois, tells how HADACOL keeps him on the job. Wesley Scallions has this to report:

"I took HADACOL upon the advice of my father who has taken it regularly for some time. He could not eat, was unable to get around, lost sleep and was generally run-down because he had these deficiencies. My brother who is a doctor recommended HADACOL to Dad. Since taking HADACOL, Dad has been feeling like a different man; he now has a hearty appetite, sleeps well and gets around once again on his own.

"I have had pains in my right arm and legs due to these deficiencies. I lost many days of work until I started to take HADACOL. After my first three bottles the pains left me completely and now I work every day without having any pains. I am a gas attendant and need full use of both arms and legs in my line of work. Thanks to HADACOL I can now perform my job satisfactorily and feel fine."

Don't Be Satisfied With Symptomatic Relief

Don't be satisfied with symptomatic relief — HADACOL makes it possible to actually relieve the REAL CAUSE of those cruel nagging aches and pains when due to lack of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Iron and Niacin in the system.

AND LISTEN TO THIS! Continued use of this great HADACOL not only gives continuous, complete relief but helps keep such painful distress from returning.

That's the kind of product you've been wanting—the kind you should buy and start taking at once.

Many doctors recommend HADACOL. It is also wonderful for stomach disturbances (gas pains, indigestion, bloating, heartburn) and a general nervous run-down condition when due to such deficiencies.

Be fair to yourself! If you have such deficiencies—why go around feeling half-alive—burden to others when you you can get this great HADACOL at Rands. Remember—HADACOL must help you or your money back. Trial-size bottle, only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. At Rands.

Free State Ends Bumper Canning, Can-Making Year

Value Of Goods In '50 Is $70,000,000

Maryland's important canning industry has just completed one of the most prosperous years in its century-old history, according to a year-end survey of key industry sources.

The value of food products packed by the state's 200 canneries is estimated at more than $70,000,000 for 1950, compared with over $65,000,000 in 1949, according to preliminary figures prepared by Dr. H. L. Stier, head of the Maryland State Department of Markets, University of Maryland.

Farmers producing the state's six major canning vegetables—tomatoes, peas, sweet corn, snap beans, lima beans and spinach—received almost $11,000,000 for products sold to canneries in 1950, Dr. Stier said. They received about $8,335,000 in 1949.

This in turn means that Maryland's can-making industry has chalked up a record production year according to L. M. Goodwin, Maryland district representative for the American Can Company. The 1950 output continues to keep Maryland in third place among the nation's can-making states, he said.

Although complete state-wide statistics are not yet available, American Can's two Baltimore metal container plants recorded an all-time peak output in 1950 for local use as well as export to adjacent states, Goodwin stated. He explained that this output exceeded 1949 production for the two plants by about twelve percent.

"The greater value of the Free State's 1950 food packs was due in large part to an estimated gain of some 16 percent in the total pack of the six major canning vegetables," Dr. Stier pointed out. "Preliminary unofficial data indicates a 1950 pack of 15,039,000 cases of these vegetables, compared with 12,978,000 cases in 1949."

Dr. Stier said that the largest gain was noted in the tomato pack which increased 36 percent over 1949. He also reported gains in the 1950 snap bean and green pea pack. The size of the sweet corn and lima bean packs declined in 1950, he said.

"Greater efficiency in production and a good season were responsible for a 14 percent increase in total production for canning of the six major vegetables, compared with 1949, despite a 12 percent reduction in acreage planted to these crops," Dr. Stier continued. "Total production of these six vegetables in 1950 is estimated at about one-third of a million tons and accounted for some 7.5 percent of the nation's total."

Maryland farmers received an average return of about $130 for every acre planted in canning crops during 1950, Dr. Stier stated.

Commenting on the effect of the present national emergency upon the state's food packing activities, Mr. Goodwin of American Can said: "Maryland's vital food packs are even more important in a mobilization period than in peace-time. Whatever government restrictions may be imposed upon the production and use of metal containers, the state's major food products are certain to have first call on available cans, just as was the case during the last war."

Deaths

E. H. FENSTERMACHER

Edward H. Fenstermacher, 71, who worked out of Cumberland on the B. and O. Railroad, died Tuesday night at his home, 605 Davidson Street, Connellsville, Pa., after a lingering illness. He was known as "Fensy."

A son of the late John and Lydia Billig Fenstermacher, he retired as a conductor after 48 years of service. Mr. Fenstermacher started as a brakeman at Pittsburgh in 1900. Two years later he went to Connellsville, being employed as a passenger conductor.

Mr. Fenstermacher was a member of First Methodist Church; King Solomon Lodge No. 346, A. F. and A. M.; Royal Arch Chapter No. 283; Comas Club; Brotherhood of Railway Conductors and the B. and O. Veteran Employes Association No. 6, all of Connellsville.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Katherine Barr Fenstermacher, three children, a sister and four grandchildren.

Rites will be held today at 2:30 p. m. from the Ansell Funeral Home, Connellsville. Interment will be in Green Ridge Memorial Park there.

MICHAEL C. S. TWIGG

Michael C. S. Twigg, 73-year-old farmer of Route 1, Oldtown, died Wednesday at his home.

The body is at the Hafer Funeral Home. A service will be conducted Saturday at 2 p. m. in Oldtown Methodist Church by Rev. T. E. Richardson. Interment will be in Oliver Grove Methodist Cemetery.

MRS. ALLIE NUZUM

PARSONS, W. Va. — A funeral service for Mrs. Allie Nuzum, 63, of Fairmont, who died Wednesday in Tucker County Hospital, Parsons, will be held at 2 p. m. today from First Baptist Church here.

Rev. J. William Bonnor, pastor of Baptist Temple, Fairmont, will officiate and interment will be in the Parsons cemetery.

McCLURE RITES

A requiem mass for Robert L. McClure, 81, of 439 North Centre Street, who died Tuesday night at Allegany Hospital, will be celebrated today at 9 a. m. in St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Interment will take place in the parish cemetery.

MISS BERTHA DARR

WESTERNPORT — A funeral service was held yesterday afternoon at Boal's Funeral Home for Miss Bertha L. Darr, 58, formerly of Westernport, who died Monday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Wayne Irwin, LaVale.

Rev. O. F. Bowman, pastor of Frostburg Church of the Brethren officiated with Rev. Arthur Scrogum, pastor of Livingstone Church of the Brethren, Cumberland, assisting. Interment was in Philos Cemetery, Westernport.

Pallbearers were Harry Wilt, Nelson Wilt, Joseph Faulkner, Charles Stine, John McLaughline and James Darr.

DAVID SCHWINABART

KEYSER, W. Va. — David Markwood Schwinabart, 66, miner and farmer at Elk Garden, died at his home in Elk Garden yesterday at 10 a.m. following an illness of about 6 weeks.

Mr. Schwinabart was born at Sulphur, near Elk Garden, May 15, 1884, and spent his entire life in that area.

A son of the late John and Susan Sharpless Schwinabart he is survived by his widow, the former Elizabeth Burke, whom he married in 1909.

Also surviving are two sons, Richard, at home, and Carroll, student at West Virginia University, Morgantown; two daughters, Mrs. Frank Burgess, Elk Garden, and Mrs. Arnett Swisher, Keyser; and two sisters, Mrs. Morgan Bane, Keyser, and Mrs. Henry Duling, Gormania, Md.

A funeral service will be held Sunday in Elk Garden with Rev. Randall Prince, Mt. Lake Park, former pastor of Nethkin Hill Church, Elk Garden, officiating. Interment will be in Nethkin Hill Church cemetery.

The Nizam of Hyerabad used to cause all traffic to stop between five and six p. m. while he took his evening drive.

Cumberland Bank Reelects Directors

In the organizational meeting of the directors held after the stockholders' session, all officers were re-named.

The board is comprised of John L. Conway, James T. Coyle, William M. Dailey, Webster K. Edwards, Jennings W. Milburn, Marcus A. Naughton, Albert L. Weber, Arthur J. Weber and F. Brooke Whiting.

The directors elected Arthur J. Weber, chairman. President is Whiting; vice president, Naughton; cashier, Conway, and assistant cashier, Mrs. Alma Durst.

Perjury Trial Resumes

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—Federal Judge Gregory F. Noonan turned down three defense motions today and ordered the perjury trial of William W. Remington to proceed.

The government rested yesterday and the trial is to continue tomorrow with the defense opening its case.

Week Of Prayer Begins Monday In Frostburg

Nightly Services Will Run To Jan. 21

FROSTBURG — Universal Week of Prayer will be observed in Frostburg next week, January 15 to 21, every evening, Monday to Sunday, at 7:30.

The prayer series is under the auspices of the Frostburg Ministerial Association. The general theme of the series of services is "A Fellowship Without Frontiers."

The schedule of services is as follows: Monday, Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church, Broadway, Rev. Walter D. Mehrling, guest preacher on "One Christ"; Tuesday, Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church, Rev. J. Fred Zimmerman, guest preacher on "One Compassion"; Wednesday, First Congregational Church, Bowery St. and E. College Ave., Rev. Oscar F. Bowman, guest preacher on "One Confession"; Thursday, First Presbyterian Church, Broadway, Rev. John Bayley Jones, guest preacher on "One Cross"; Friday, Church of the Brethren, Stoyer and Beall Streets, Rev. George L. Wehler, guest preacher on the subject: "One Church"; and Sunday, First Methodist Church, Rev. Harold R. Stoudt, guest preacher on "One Commission."

The host ministers will conduct the services in their respective congregations with the exception of the Thursday evening service which will be conducted by Robert Jones, prominent Presbyterian layman.

The offering will be added to the Association's Hospital Fund. The public is cordially invited to attend.

75 Persons Attend Little League Affair

FROSTBURG—Seventy-five persons attended a recent Little League baseball meeting in Firemen's Hall, with Walter Mackay, representing the Rotary Club, presiding.

Albert S. Paye, Cumberland engineer and president of the Hot Stove League, who managed a Little League in Cumberland last year, gave details and advantages of the community-sponsored program. Remarks were also made by County Commissioner W. H. Lemmert and Arthur G. Ramey.

Movies of the Little League World Series, between Florida and New Jersey, was shown by Gerald Groves, member of the committee. Many of those attending promised support of the movement.

The next meeting will be held January 22, when cooperating groups will make their reports. The meeting will be public and all persons interested will be welcomed.

LONG UNCONSCIOUS—Little Jerry Dulaney, 9, of Pine Grove, W. Va., appears to be wide awake in his hospital bed at Wheeling, but actually he has been unconscious since October 8. On that date he was found unconscious in the yard of his parents' home near Pine Grove. The mother, Mrs. Lee Dulaney, shown with the child, has been his almost constant attendant since then, sleeping on a couch in his room. Her other children are cared for by neighbors Doctors believe the boy is suffering from encephalitis, or sleeping sickness. Other than keeping his eyes open much of the time in recent weeks, Jerry's only other signs of a rally have been his slight, apparent efforts to smile on one or two occasions. (AP Photo)

Mrs. McLane To Head Drive

FROSTBURG—Mrs. W. O. McLane has been appointed chairman of the 1951 March of Dimes.

This will be the 12th consecutive year in which she has headed the drive in this community. Her co-chairman will be Joseph Montana and other assistants will include Robert Powers and U. B. F. Edwards, containers; Maurice Spates and Harry Frost, theatres, and Caspar Taylor and Harry Frost, entertainment.

Mrs. McLane was appointed by John M. Robb, county chairman. The quota for this year is $2,000. because of the increasing number of polio cases in the state during the past 12 months. The quota last year was $1,000 and the amount raised was $1,534.

Robert Powers, of the containers committee, announced that a miniature iron lung will be displayed in all local business places from January 15 through January 31, and urges that liberal contributions be made to these "lungs." Persons desiring to contribute by check should send them to Mrs. McLane, chairman of the March of Dimes campaign, 167 East Main Street.

A meeting of representatives of fraternal and civic groups will be held at the McLane home, January 19, 7:30 p. m., for the purpose of planning a community dance or a number of small affairs.

Keyser Business Men Warned Of Socialism

Chamber Of Commerce Official Speaks There

KEYSER, W. Va. — Keyser business men were told, Wednesday night, to continue to inform "your congressman in Washington" of the dangers of socialism in government and stop the spread of Communism to America.

Duane Strawbridge, program adviser of the Southeastern Division of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, was guest speaker at a joint meeting of the Keyser and Piedmont Chamber of Commerce groups and the Keyser Kiwanis Club. He talked of the dangers that lie ahead that the small town business men can do much to stop.

The visitor said that he had been permitted to be present at big national meetings, and at briefing sessions held in the Pentagon, in Washington, where he had heard much information of the dangers that lie ahead of us in the world-wide threatening attitude of Soviet Communism. He said Keyser has a part, just as all other parts of our country, in the fight facing us in which we have to watch closely for under-cover activities that will wreck our government. He added that Keyser is one of many places where the Chamber of Commerce can be assisted in meeting this threat, which is of tremendous importance right now.

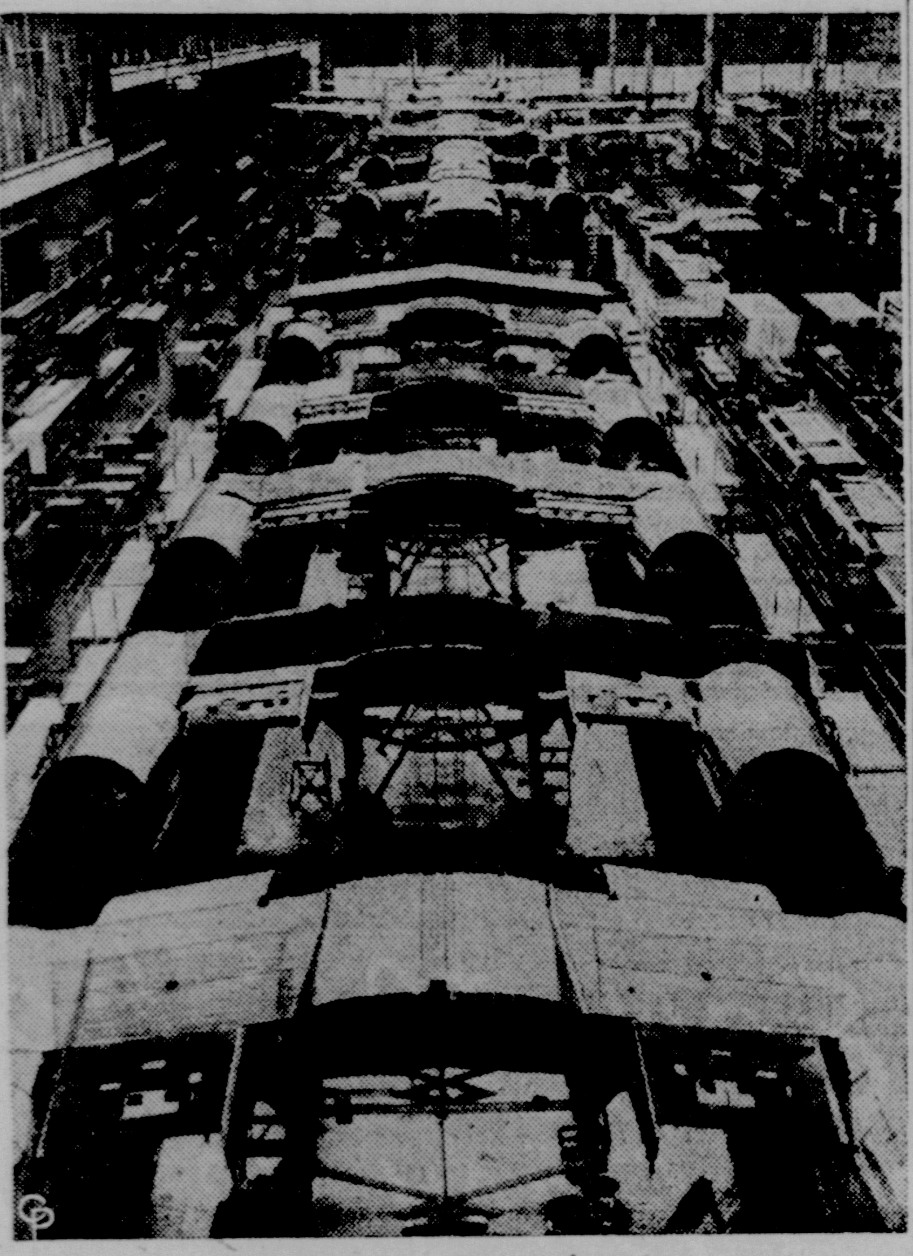
He said we must first look to the socialistic side, which, he said, may and can lead to many changes in our way of life if we are not alerted to its dangers quickly. We must do something about it now, to stop it before it advances beyond our control. Communism is only a step beyond that, he said.

Keyser Personals

Mrs. Nellie Baker, Oakland, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Longsdorf and other local relatives and friends.

Recent admissions to Potomac Valley Hospital include: Mrs. Marion Fallon, Keyser; William Kite, Keyser; Mrs. Bertha C. Zielan, Luke; Harry Dinsmore, Keyser; Lester Bosley, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bosley, Sr., Westernport; Mrs. Nora Hamer, Luke; Clarence Stanley, Keyser; Nathaniel Green, Piedmont; Elbert Broadwater, Barton; Miss Bessie Barger, Keyser; Mrs. Mary Frantz, Westernport; Mrs. Alice Watkinson, Lonaconing, and Robert A. Fisher, Sr., Keyser.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bennett, McCoole, announce the birth of a daughter at Potomac Valley Hospital on Thursday.



PRODUCTION STOPS—A walkout of almost 5,000 workers, who left their jobs in protest of the company's merit system and failure to reach an agreement on wages has halted all production at the Fairchild Aviation plant, Hagerstown. The strike started shortly after President Truman, in his State of the Union message, set a goal of 50,000 planes as necessary to the defense and security of the United States. The Hagerstown plant produces giant C-119 transport planes. (International)

KEYSER, W. Va. — Iota Pi chapter, Tau Phi Lambda Sorority of the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle, will have an initiation ceremony and installation service Monday, January 22, in the Colonial Room of the Old Homestead Hotel, Burlington.

A special meeting will be held Monday, January 15, to complete arrangements for the service. Adrian Clise tendered her resignation as musician for the coming year and Angela Dorsey was chosen to replace her.

Those who attended meeting Monday were Mary Kirby, Juanita Rotruck, Alma Payne, Mary Ellen Carpenter, Mary Kathryn Neville, Phyllis Dorsey, Loretta Keener, Mary Rotruck, Kathleen Harrison and Adrian Clise.

Auxiliary Leader Resigns Position

WESTERNPORT — The resignation of Mrs. Hazel Haywood, president of Victory Unit No. 155, American Legion Auxiliary, was accepted at its monthly meeting this week.

Mrs. Haywood stated her reason for resigning due to other duties and Mrs. Eliza Grandstaff, first vice president, will assume Mrs. Haywood's duties.

The unit will inaugurate a Teen-Age Night to be held every Monday night beginning January 15 at 7:30 o'clock. Chaperones will attend each night.

Plans were made at the meeting for a bake sale to be held Saturday, January 27, at the Tri-Towns Appliance Store, Main Street. Mrs. Marie Lyons will be in charge. It was also decided to hold a Valentine party at the next meeting, February 12.

New Year's Baby . . .

PARSONS, W. Va.—Melvin Neil Pifer is the first New Year baby for Tucker County.

The child was born January 1 at 7:30 a. m. at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pifer on White Ridge. Twenty five gifts await the new baby from merchants in Parsons and Elkins.

Ministers Seek Service Change

WESTERNPORT—The monthly meeting of the Tri-Towns Ministerial Association was held recently at the St. James Episcopal Church, with Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, rector of the host church, conducting devotions.

Believing that the graduation service could be held at a more satisfactory and convenient time than at 11 a. m. on Sunday which is now the custom, the association had as its guest speaker, Vernon A. Staggers, principal of the Piedmont High School. Staggers was definitely opposed to a change in time as it had been held at that time for a number of years.

Although no solution was found, work toward the change will be continued by the Ministerial Association. The meeting closed with prayer by Rev. Philip Demuth, pastor of Bloomington Methodist Church.

The Good Friday service will be held at Mt. Calvary Lutheran Church, with Rev. Robert E. Cassell, pastor, in charge of arrangements.

Novel Basketball Game Is Planned

KEYSER, W. Va. — Plans are being completed for the "Li'l Abner" and "Daisy May" basketball game by members of the Keyser High School Alumni Association in Keyser High School gymnasium January 25, 8 p. m.

Players will be dressed as characters in the comic strip.

Male members of the alumni association will match their wits and basketball training against females. None of the players will wear shoes, although they may wear socks. A rule of the game will be that none of the male members will be permitted to pass or toss the ball in their normal manner, for instance a left handed player must play with his right hand.

The game will be sponsored by the alumni association.

Leather Workers Elect

PARSONS, W. Va.—D. H. McClain was named president of Local 450 Leather Workers Union, of the Armour Leather Company here.

Other officers are Clyde Simmons, vice-president; Victor E. Patch, chief steward; Morris Harsh, financial secretary; Samuel Fansler, recording secretary; Ira Shaffer, chaplain; Robert Bennett, marshall and Samuel Fansler, reporter.

Parsons Girl Is Married

PARSONS, W. Va. — Miss Cynthia "Polly" Propst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Schilansky, Parsons, became the bride of Charles Allen Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ashton Roberts of Hendricks.

Rev. Paul A. Bell, pastor of First Baptist Church, Parsons, officiated at the ceremony at the home of the bridegroom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Linsey, Hendricks, December 31.

The bride, given in marriage by her step father, wore a navy blue street length dress with which she chose navy blue and white accessories. Her bouquet was of Talisman roses and she carried a bride's white Bible.

Mrs. Roberts graduated from Parsons High School 1950 and is employed as a stenographer in the office of the County Clerk.

Roberts, a graduate of Parsons High School, attended Davis and Elkins College and is a veteran of World War II. He is employed in construction work in Falls Church, Va.

Keyser Women Hear Talk On Banking

KEYSER, W. Va. — The Women's Club of Keyser held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening in the National Bank of Keyser with Paul G. Davis as the principal speaker.

He gave four suggestions to the group; keep your money in some bank, make a will, put your valuable papers in a deposit box, and get a birth certificate.

A movie based on the life of a "check" was shown by Edgell Grayson. Following this the women were escorted in groups by the bank personnel throughout the bank and various phases of banking were demonstrated.

W. Va. Sales Tax Up Two Millions

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 11 (AP) — Gross sales tax collections for first half of the current fiscal year increased almost $2,000,000 (M) as compared to the 1949 receipts.

Tax Commissioner C. H. Koontz reported that $16,775,455.09 (M) was collected during the same period a year earlier was $14,785,683.17.

Total collections for the month of December, 1950, were $325,155.45. Receipts for the same month a year ago were $180,702.64.

Prohibitionist Due In Keyser

KEYSER, W. Va.—Virgil C. Finnell, Winona Lake, Ind., chairman of the Prohibition National Committee and editor of the "National Prohibitionist," will speak in the Church of the Brethren, South Main Street at Fort Avenue, Sunday at 7:30 p. m. His topic will be "God Save America."

Finnell is qualified to deal with any phase of the liquor problem, his sponsors announce. He has been active in moral and reform work for a number of years. His lectures on these lines have taken him into 46 of the 48 states, where he has spoken in churches, schools, colleges and before lyceum, chautauqua and convention audiences.

Rev. I. S. Long, pastor of the Church of the Brethren said: "Church and temperance leaders point out that the demand for national prohibition is growing due to the increase of drinking by women and girls, the higher taxes due to costs of caring for those who have gotten into trouble through drinking alcoholic liquors and the mixing of alcohol with gasoline by some drivers of automobiles on the nation's highways."

Neaman Concert Is Well Attended

KEYSER, W. Va.—Yfrah Neaman, sponsored by the Community Concert Association of Keyser, played to an appreciative audience Monday night.

Despite the extreme cold, a large group was present to hear Neaman, who is still in his twenties but who has won wide recognition for his violin playing

Neaman has been engaged to play August 26 for the Festival of Britain in the new Festival Concert Hall in London.

Teachers May Ask Legislature For $200 Increase In Salaries

The Legislative Committee of the Maryland State Teachers Association may ask the General Assembly to increase teachers' salaries $200 a year in all categories.

It has been proposed that the request be made at this session of the General Assembly.

The decision to ask for an increase was made at a state-wide meeting last month of county legislative chairmen. They urged action by the Legislative Steering Committee to present a program at this session to increase the state minimum scale.

Statewide, the legislation, if successful, would make the beginning rate for teachers $2,400 instead of $2,200.

The state minimum salary ranges from $2,200 to $3,800 with 16 increase steps provided. The state does not provide extra renumeration for a master's degree but Allegany county adds $200.

Allegany county starts teachers with a bachelor's degree at $2,400 instead of the state minimum of $2,200. The top county scale is $3,900. It is presumed that in the event the state scale is upped, the county would maintain the same differential which now exists. This means a county teacher would start at $2,600 and reach a top of $4,000.

Harold C. Wickard, chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Allegany County Teachers' Association, represented the local group at the December meeting.

In teachers' salaries Maryland ranks fourth in the nation but although these salaries have more than doubled since 1935, records show the purchasing power of this income is only one-third higher than it was then because of the rapid increase in the cost of living.

From 1935 through 1939, the average teacher's salary was $1,495 with a 100 per cent purchase value. For 1950-51 the estimated salary of $3,620 has a purchase value of only $2,032.

VA Caring For 13,000 Victims Of Tuberculosis

Nearly 13,000 tuberculosis patients are being cared for in Veterans Administration hospitals, according to the latest reports of the Veterans Administration. Some of these patients, doctors of the agency said, leave the hospital too soon and against medical advice.

Leaving the hospital too soon is a serious year-round problem affecting both the patients and many persons outside the hospital.

When a patient leaves a hospital against medical advice, VA said, he is apt to retard his recovery and sometimes risks his chance of recovery or endangers his life. In addition, he creates the risk of spreading the disease to members of his family and friends.

Although a year-round problem, according to VA doctors, these dangers are especially acute during holiday seasons, when a patient is especially desirous of being in his home.

To combat the difficulty, the Veterans Administration has made every possible effort to explain the dangers frankly both to patients and to their families. Another step is to permit patients to visit their homes at as early a time as it is safe medically for them to do so.

Other methods which have been found by VA to cut down on the number of unauthorized leaves by tuberculosis patients are: furnishing good hospital entertainment for patients, with the aid of volunteer workers; assistance to the families of patients which have serious problems at home; and encouraging families to visit patients in the hospital as often as they can.

Two Kelly Men Injured In Fall

Two Kelly-Springfield Tire Company workers were injured yesterday in an eight-foot fall from a scaffold being used for painting inside the plant.

William Brady, 34, of 310 Furnace Street, suffered possible head injuries, and Benjamin J. Leydig, 59, Hyndman, Pa., sustained a possible fracture of the left leg. Both were admitted to Memorial Hospital for treatment and X-rays.

Plant officials said the men were standing on a board between two ladders, painting a window sash, when they fell to the concrete floor. Two ambulances rushed them to the hospital where attaches reported their conditions as satisfactory.

Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

New Sprig In The Allen Family Tree

THE Delphic oracle which resides in a sewer at the corner of Broadway and 45th Street and which I consult from time to time informs me that Arthur Godfrey will take off for Europe pretty soon to join General of the Army Eisenhower's staff for a short period. "Who," I asked my oracle, "will be attache to whom in this arrangement—Godfrey to Eisenhower? Or Eisenhower to Godfrey?" Got nothing out of him but derisive laughter.

John Crosby

At any rate, Godfrey's substitue will probably be a rising young (age 29) comic, fresh out of Hollywood, named Steve Allen who already has his own five-times-a-week show, the Steve Allen Show CBS-TV 7 p. m. EST and is being groomed for greater things around CBS. Hs is a bespectacled, brash, satiric, self-confident lad with a somewhat unfortunate air of hauteur toward sponsors, studic audiences and home audiences which may have to be curbed a little if he is to climb to the heights.

• — • — •

Still, he is a very funny man with traces in him of Dave Garroway, Robert Q. Lewis and Ransom Sherman. And he bears a distinguished name in this racket having been preceded by Fred and Gracie. The Allen dynasty is almost as old and difficult to extinguish as the Plantagenets. Last Monday, Allen was baptized (in Lipton's tea) on the Godfrey Talent Scout program when Arthur unaccountably got lost somewhere between Miami and New York. Did a handsome job, too. "This is Arthur Godfrey," he announced. "Well, this isn't Arthur Godfrey, really. I was just trying to scare my wife. I'm not replacing Arthur Godfrey. I'm replacing Robert Q. Lewis who usually replaces Arthur Godfrey."

The commercials on that show are always, to say the least, informal. Allen turned them into a shambles, pouring Lipton's noodle soup into a teapot and then pouring the whole mess into one of Arthur's ukeleles. "Lipton's noodle soup," he announced later. "It has that home-cooked flavor. You cook it at home." Allen handled the talent scouts and their guests (who were all pretty bad) very well and wrung more laughter out of the audience than Godfrey generally does. But then Arthur doesn't deal exclusively in laughter; his is a many-faceted personality and Mr. Allen, I should say, is about six facets short of him.

• — • — •

The edge of Mr. Allen's satire is considerably more in evidence on his own show, a shapeless but amusing affair of great promise. Here Allen wanders around among musicians, a bartender who may be a permanent part of the show, and stray vaudeville acts, musing aloud on things that interest him. Why, he will wonder plaintively, do they make paper cups that resemble wastebaskets or chimneys? Why not make a paper cup that looks like a paper cup? Why, in the movies does a man, who is trying to flee the villains, flatten himself, arms outstretched, against a wall? Why doesn't he take to his heels?

"Television is a wonderful medium," he observes cheerfully. "You can get at nine million people and none of them can get at you . . . We pause now for station identification. This station is five stories high and can be identified by the blue trim on the windows. Isn't that ridiculous? I've often wondered what would happen if someone called up and said they'd found an unidentified radio station at the corner of Madison and 53rd Street."

As yet unsponsored, the Allen show is occasionally interspersed with spot announcements which Allen views with hostility. "Here we pause for a spot," he'll announce glumly. "You know what Shakespeare said about spots. I feel the same way." At various other times, Mr. Allen has eaten a beaver's tale from Nino's ($27 per portion) without relish, played the "Third Man Theme" on a kitchen chair and been hoisted by a balancing artist on to a chair, balanced on another chair balanced on some beer bottles on top of a table. "Stop that lousy applause," he told the audience unhappily.

He also plays the piano with what I consider unwarranted self-depreciation. "Let's get some tricky camera angles to conceal the technical deficiencies." At the end of the show, he plunges—I suppose this is inevitable—into the audience and interviews the customers, treating them rather more roughly than is generally the custom which is all right with me. Some of the people he interviews sound like plants but I'll play along.

Glad To Talk With Taft

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said that he is always ready to discuss American foreign policies with Republicans in Congress but has no plans for calling in Sen. Taft (R-Ohio).

The administration, he noted, already consults the minority party through Republican members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

FOIL THE DANGER HAND

PLENTY of difficult No Trump games depend on a single factor, ability of the declarer to keep the dangerous defender out of the lead at the stage when he is in position to do maximum damage. In order to accomplish this, the fine cardsman uses whatever device happens best to fit the particular situation. It may consist of finessing an optional suit in the direction which, if it fails, will give the unfeared hand the lead. Or it may involve refusal to finesse, playing a top card which might fell a missing honor or at the very worst might cause the unfeared defender to win a trick he otherwise would lose.

South was ready to jump into 3-No Trumps as soon as he heard North's 1-Diamond, but bid the 1-Heart instead to give his side a chance to find a possible 4-4 major suit fit. The 1-Spade then furnished the key for the 3-No Trumps on a very sound basis.

West couldn't lead the unbid suit against that, since there was no such animal. With a set of risky choices, he chose his hearts, opening the fourth-best 6. South took the Q with the A, since he had at least one more sure stopper then. He scored the diamond K when East held up the A, then led toward the heart J for a dummy entry. West scored the K and returned the 5 to the J.

South, with hearts still stopped by the 10, finessed the club J to the Q and West hammered out the third heart stopper with the 7 to the 10, establishing his 9. Now South, with eight tricks sure, laid down three top spades hoping the 7 would set up. When it didn't, he sought the ninth by finessing the club 10. But the K won, and West beat him with the heart 9 and spade J.

South could have improved his mathematical chances by playing the A on the second club lead, hoping thereby to assure the danger hand not gaining the lead. If that presented East a trick with the K, it would be only the fourth defensive trick. If it worked, South would score two extra tricks. He should have tried it.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

We wish to take this means of expressing our sincere appreciation to our friends, relatives and neighbors, for the kindness extended to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our dear mother, Mrs. Nancy Obaker. We especially wish to thank the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes, and loaned cars for the funeral.
WALTER OBAKER, LEO OBAKER,
and MRS. BRUCE KEEFER.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our darling wife and mother, Eleanora Blacklin, who passed away three years ago today, January 12, 1948.

In memory's lovely garden
Where remembered joy blooms fair,
Your memory, dearest Mother,
Is the brightest blossom there.
Away in the land of the Sunrise
Standing by Heavens door.
Dearest Mother we know you are waiting
Not dead just gone before.
In that blessed land called Heaven
We pray we once more will be,
United with our good kind loving Mother.
For all eternity.

Sadly missed by your,
HUSBAND and DAUGHTERS

In memory of our dear father, Richard W. Long, who passed away January 12, 1949.

Our family circle has been broken,
A link has gone from our chain;
Some day we hope to meet you,
Some day we know not when.
We do not forget you nor do we intend.
We think of you always, and will to the end.
How sweet the memory still,
The world can never fill.

Sadly missed by his,
CHILDREN and GRANDCHILDREN.

Paw Paw, Bayard Defeat Silents

Mountaineers Break Loss Streak, 68-36

ROMNEY, W. Va., Jan. 11—The West Virginia School for the Deaf suffered two setbacks in games played this week.

Bayard High defeated the Silents in a Potomac Valley Conference at Bayard, 65-25. Allen, Bayard forward, scored 14 field goals and 33 points. Smith and Pyles led the home team with 11 and 10 tallies. Bayard's Jayvees won the prelim, 28-1.

Paw Paw snapped a five-game losing streak, defeating the Silents 68 to 36. Largent, McCabe and Rockwell with 14, 12 and 10 markers, paced the victors in scoring. M. Pyles topped the locals with 13 points.

West Virginia Deaf School's Jayvees defeated Paw Paw, 20-14. Tuell and Kelly headed the winners with six and five points. Lineups:

Freddie Scolari Balks At Taking Cut At Syracuse

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Little Freddie Scolari, one of pro basketball's top stars, said today that he will not play for the Syracuse Nationals.

The five-year veteran said he may pack up and go home to San Francisco because "one thing is sure, I'm not going to Syracuse despite the fact they drafted me."

The former ace of the Washington Capitols, who ranks eighth among the National Basketball Association scorers, was drafted by Syracuse when Washington dropped out of the league earlier this week.

He declined to say what he was going to do about his rhubarb with Leo Ferris, executive director of the Syracuse Nats. But it was reported that he will confer with NBA President Maurice Podoloff tomorrow in New York City.

Scolari said Ferris told him over the telephone that "I'd have to take a 25 per cent seasonal cut for the rest of the season because I was a little man." A retroactive seasonal cut of 25 per cent amounts to 50 per cent for the rest of this season, Freddie figured out.

"I'm not making a tremendous salary now and a 50 percent cut for the rest of this season would leave me just where I started five years ago," he said.

"I definitely was interested in playing for Syracuse before this talk because I like Al Cervi and his players—and the fans there."

Sunday School Games Are Transferred From AHS To Fort Hill Gym

Saturday games in the Central YMCA Sunday School Basketball League, scheduled for the Allegany High School court, have been transferred to the Fort Hill High School girls' gym, Clifton Van Roby announced last night.

The games transferred are:

12 noon—St. Mark's vs. Calvary. 12:55—LaVale Methodist vs. Wiley Ford. 1:50—United Brethren vs. St. Paul's. 2:45 — Maccabees vs. St. John's. 3:40—Central Methodist vs. Grace Baptist. 4:35—Living Stone vs. Grace Methodist.

The other Saturday games on the "Y" court are:

12 noon—First Baptist vs. Potomac Park. 12:55—Trinity Lutheran vs. St. Matthews. 1:50—St. Luke's vs. Park Place. 2:45 — Zion Reformed vs. Kingsley Methodist. 3:40 — First Presbyterian vs. Centre Street. 4:35 — Emmanuel Episcopal vs. First Methodist.

Market Stages Recovery To Post New 1950-51 High

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—The stock market raced ahead today in an amazing display of strength and established a new 1950-51 high.

Prices recovered all the ground lost in yesterday's severe slump—and more.

The gains ran to $1 and $3 a share among the leaders, and in some instances much higher. Superior Oil of California advanced $25 to $390.

On average the market again stands at the highest level in more than 20 years. Today's movement added an estimated $1,500,000,000 to the value of all listed securities on the exchange.

Inflation psychology plus renewed Korean peace feelers in the United Nations backed by the British were taken into account by brokers in explaining the upsurge of prices.

Steels, rails and motors led the way with quite a number of other groups and individual issues joining in, including metal mining, aircrafts, and air lines.

Just before the close there was big forward push that gave a substantial lift to rails and brought the radio-television division forward with a rush. The tape was a minute late at the close.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced $1.60 to $91.10, a new high since October, 1930. The industrial component was up $1.90, rails $1.70, and utilities 40 cents.

The volume expanded to 3,490,000 shares as compared with yesterday's total of 3,270,000 shares. International Telephone headed the list of the most active issues up 1⅜ at 15½. Discussion of I. T. & T's earnings prospects include war contracts to subsidiaries, its television connections, and the improving foreign currency situation which betters its foreign operations.

New York Central, an old favorite, was second up 1⅞ at 24½. There were several others not so frequently seen on the list including Standard Gas & Electric up 1⅛ at 11¼, Hayes Mfg. up ⅞ at 8⅛, Remington Rand up ⅞ at 15⅝, Chicago Corp. up ¾ at 13⅞, and Pepsi-Cola up ⅝ at 10½.

League championship teams at Barton High in the 1920s. On two other occasions his teams were nosed out for the title in playoff contests.

Raymond "Ike" Law, swimming instructor, basketball referee, baseball and football manager, and basketball promoter, who still talks of the "good old days," was coach of LaSalle's only W. M. I. League championship team in 1927.

Mel Henry, an alumnus of Penn Avenue High, where he started out as mascot, then starred in basketball and football; coached the gridders at Fort Hill and Virginia Tech, and is now football and basketball mentor at Hagerstown High, tutored the Central High cagers of Lonaconing who bagged W. M. I. honors in 1943.

J. Stanley Hunter, one-time Carnegie Tech grid star, coached Beall High quints that won W. M. I. League championships in 1921 and 1924. He started at Beall in 1919 and at one time tutored track, football, basketball and soccer. Football faded out in 1921 and was revived five years ago with Joe Hoopengardner as coach. Ed Finzel supplanted Hunter as basketball and soccer mentor in 1935 but the latter continued to coach track until 1948. Prof. is still a member of the Beall faculty.

The longest winning streak in the history of the league is credited to Allegany High School. The Campers won 44 consecutive games. They were undefeated in 1944, 1945, 1946 and 1947 and copped their four games of the 1948 season before being stopped by Fort Hill.

Matter Of Fact

Smith, of Maine, going along, Sen. Taft can hardly command a majority for his viewpoint on foreign and defense policy, except on minor matters. This is true although the issue has now been squarely posed by the speeches of Sen. Taft, former President Herbert Hoover, and Joseph P. Kennedy. For the time being, the great measures of the foreign and defense program, although they will be tumultuously debated, must be regarded as pretty safe to pass.

There is no safeguard, however, against real danger. The present program may get by. But the improvement in the Congressional outlook has not restored the real power of the government and the country to act quickly and decisively on the world stage. It has not assured a right response to the immense new challenges which the next months may bring. It has not even deprived the Hoover-Taft-Kennedy school of thought of its real asset, which is the want of confidence in the national leadership.

There is only one way to achieve these great ends and to unify the country. In 1943, in comparable but much less dangerous circumstances, Franklin Delano Roosevelt dismissed "Dr. New Deal" and called in "Dr. Win the War" (as he himself put it), in order to organize the nearest equivalent to a national coalition government that our system allows. Ten years later, almost every responsible leader of his own party believes that Harry S. Truman must do the same thing all over again, in order to carry the nation through the new time of peril.

State Coal Bill Introduced By Senator Kimble

DST Referendum Asked For Cumberland

Bills calling upon the state to buy only state-mined coal in Maryland institutions and for a referendum on Daylight Saving Time in Cumberland were introduced yesterday by Robert B. Kimble, Senate minority leader.

The first, Senate Bill 46, specifies that the State Purchasing Bureau must buy coal mined in Maryland unless the Board of Public Works in the event of an extraordinary emergency or set of circumstances shall direct.

The bill was referred to the Finance committee.

Kimble also introduced a bill to allow the Mayor and Council of Cumberland by ordinance to adopt Daylight Savings Time, and to require that any such ordinance must be submitted to the voters at a referendum.

The city now has an ordinance providing for DST in the city.

Among the other Senate bills introduced yesterday were:

SB47 — by Dippel — to provide that death sentences shall be carried out in a lethal gas chamber instead of by hanging (Judiciary).

SB48 — by Phipps — to authorize a $5,000,000 bond issue for construction of a state office building, and to specify that such a building must be constructed in or within five miles of Annapolis (Finance).

SB49 — by Phoebus — to repeal Maryland's "Jim Crow" segregation statute.

Western Maryland senators yesterday were appointed to major Senate committees. They were:

Kimble, (Allegany County) — Aviation, Roads and Transportation; Education and Rules.

Fraley, (Garrett County)—Labor; Education; Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Service Charges Delay Payments Of Tax Bills

Many of the delinquent tax payments have had to be referred back to taxpayers who forgot to add service charges and interest, George E. Davis, city tax collector, announced yesterday.

Davis said a service charge of 50 cents is added to each delinquent tax bill, plus two per cent interest on bills paid until January 14. The interest rate will jump to 2½ per cent after that date, he said.

Collections of delinquent taxes this week have been exceptionally good, he said, but nearly a score of payments were delayed by failure to include extra charges.

Improvements in the tax office will begin in the near future, Davis said.

The work will include the modernization of windows in the tax collector's section of City Hall, with outmoded window equipment replaced with modern fixtures.

The project will also provide additional room and a better display for the collection windows.

Farmers Warned On Income Tax

Owners of Allegany county farms were reminded yesterday by County Agent R. F. McHenry that they should file 1040F income tax forms and estimated 1950 earnings with the Collector of Internal Revenue, Cumberland Post Office Building, on or before next Monday, January 15.

The farmers have until March 15 to pay their 1950 Federal income tax.

McHenry and Joseph Steger, county assistant agent, have assisted a number of farmers in filling out their income tax forms. They recommend that other farmers who seek advice go directly to the Collector of Internal Revenue's office.

LaVale PTA Executive Board Holds Meeting

Plans were made to buy equipment for the school playground and to hold a square dance at a meeting of the executive board of the LaVale Parent-Teacher Association last night in the school building.

Carl O. Belt, president of the PTA, said last night the organization hopes to buy all necessary equipment for the playground this year.

The square dance tentatively is planned for March 2 in the LaVale Fire Hall and a floor show will be presented. Edmund F. Hoey, city recreation director, will call figures for the dance, Belt said.

A regular meeting of the entire PTA will be held next Thursday at the school beginning at 8:15 p.m., Belt stated. William G. Barger will be the guest speaker and his topic will be "Civil Defense."

Pack 8 Committee To Meet Tonight

A committee meeting of Cub Pack No. 8, sponsored by St. Mary's by St. Mary's Church, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the home of William J. Hay, 604 Elwood Street.

Plans for the observance of Scout week and the pack's participation in the Scout pageant next month will be discussed.

Baltimore Pike Fire Department's New Leaders

Six Men Seek Top Post In Textile Union

Election Will Be Held Jan. 22-24

A spirited campaign for top offices in Local 1874, Textile Workers of America (CIO), was predicted yesterday as six men were nominated for the post of president.

The election is scheduled for January 22, 23 and 24.

The nominees for president are Earl L. Snyder, Mt. Savage, the incumbent; Neil Toey, Cresaptown; James Stewart, Cumberland; Playford Aldridge, Bedford Road; Howard Bush, Cumberland, and Homer Berry, Cumberland.

Six For Manager

Business manager nominees are William Robinette, John G. Thomas, Melvin Harris, the incumbent; Carl Hinkle, Joseph Burley and Homer Berry.

Executive board nominees are Welby Lewis, Lillian Burch, Robert Baker, William Atkinson, Ira McBride, Harry Wright, O. J. Hutson, I. Glenwood Allen, Lindley Dye, Ishmiel Adams, Richard Jenkins, Raymond Dreyer, John Kreitzburg, Francis Monahan, Carl Hinkle, James Lease, Sylvester Martin, Charles Brode, Benjamin Brown and James Summers.

Incumbents are Baker, Wright, Adams and Hinkle. Aldridge was not renominated. Five will be elected to the board.

Nominees for board of trustees are John F. Fatkin, James Roby, George Harris, Roy Craze, Neff Herring, Charles Jones, Harry Wright, James McGann, David Rennie, Allan Mace, Richard Jenkins, Donald Roach. Declining for this nomination were Richard Boyden, Floyd Grady, and Steve Cesnick.

Incumbent trustees are Fatkin, Harris, Craze and Jones. Five will be elected.

Recording secretary nominees are John Estes, G. I. Allen, Madeline Carter, Charles Davis. Neff Herring declined. Gilbert Lewis, the incumbent, was not renominated.

Plans Announced

Auditing committee nominees are James McGann, David Rennie, Walter Hymes, Neff Herring and Peter Clark. Declining were Harry Troutman and James Roby. Three will be elected. McGann is an incumbent.

Nominees for warden are Francis Harvey, the incumbent; Walter Mahaney. Declining were Carl Hinkle, Homer Berry, Gilbert Lewis, James McGann, Richard Jenkins and Richard Boyden.

The election will be conducted by the Honest Ballot Association of New York City. Voting booths will be at the union hall on North Mechanic Street where ballots may be cast from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. A booth will be at the Celanese plant where votes may be cast at shift changes and ballots may also be cast at the main cafeteria, CA cafeteria and Block 5 cafeteria during lunch periods.

Union officials said that nominees have until January 17 at 5 p. m. to decline.

Candidates for the various offices must receive a majority of the ballots to be elected. There may be some runoffs necessary as in past elections.

Births Announced

Memorial Hospital announces the following births:

Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Shaner, Woodlawn, LaVale, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pressman, 18 Grant Street, announce the birth of a son last Friday at Miners Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Blackburn, Everett, Pa., a daughter last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Stroup, 127 Academy Street, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., a son last night

Kelly-Union Committee To Plan For Blood Bank Here

The Labor-Management committee of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant this week named a sub-committee to investigate the possibility of sponsoring a blood bank.

Named to the committee were H. C. Nelson, service manager, and A. C. Howard, safety director, for the company, and Ralph C. Beard, vice president, and John H. Chisholm, for Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastics Workers of America (CIO).

Beard said the committee will act as a fact finding board and report back to the committee.

Tentative plans discussed at a recent meeting of the union called for workers at the Kelly plant to have their blood typed and recorded so supplies of blood could be supplied on short notice.

The plan would also provide for building up a substantial blood bank in local hospitals for use in emergencies in the area.

New Cooling Unit Being Installed At Kelly Plant

Steam Jet Replaces Ammonia Type System

Preparations are underway at Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant to replace the present ammonia refrigerating unit used to cool water pumped to the plant, with a new steam jet unit, a company official said last night.

The new unit will be approximately 40 feet high and measure about 40 by 15 feet around the base. Construction work has already begun on the foundation the spokesmen reported.

The new refrigerating unit is being placed next to the refrigeration building near the machine shop at the Kelly and will be used to supplement the water tower at the plant for cooling river water used to cool rubber during the process of making truck and automobile tires.

The water tower supplies the main tire plant with water but sometimes the water needs additional cooling during the hot weather and the refrigeration unit aids this phase of the production.

The new refrigeration system uses low pressure steam to create a vacuum which in turn vaporizes and cools the water as it passes through the unit.

Kelly engineers began cleaning out the intake tunnel which pulls water from the Potomac River and pumps it to the Kelly plant Christmas week and are continuing the cleansing process in the outlet tunnel, taking sand and mud from the tunnel prior to the pumping of water through the refrigeration system.

The George F. Hazelwood Contracting Company has the basic contract for placing the unit.

Spring Gap 4-H Plans Program

The Spring Gap 4-H Boys formulated plans for the year, last night at the community building. Joseph Roby presided.

It was decided to sponsor a party for 4-H boys going into service, to be held February 8 in conjunction with the next meeting. Forestry will be studied in February and the county-wide recreation meeting will also be held.

A discussion on chickens will be given by Joseph Riley for the March meeting; William Twigg is to speak on gardens in April; Joseph Roby, James Ritchie, Herbert Shipe and Ray Rashenberger will give an electrical demonstration in May.

During the summer the outdoors is being stressed with a discussion on insects for June; campfire in July and a tour in August.

Swine will be studied for September; soil conservation in October; wild life in November and in December a Christmas party will be planned.

Weather

The slight precipitation which glazed the streets and sidewalks of Cumberland yesterday morning didn't turn out to be the order of the day as the weather waxed warm again and only .02 rainfall was recorded. The official thermometers registered a high of 41 and low of 31 with the 10 o'clock reading 35. City degree-o-mometers hit a high of 45 and low of 36 for the day. It's slated to be fair and not so cold today the weatherman says.

City's Traffic Record Is Good During 1950

One Fatal Accident Is Reported Here

Deaths and injuries from traffic accidents last year were the lowest in Cumberland since 1946, according to Lt. Edwin R. Lilya, chief of the traffic bureau of the Cumberland Police Department.

In his report to Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn, the traffic bureau head listed one death, 68 pedestrian injuries and 76 injuries in vehicles from the 292 accidents reported here last year.

During 1949, the 363 accidents resulted in 76 passenger injuries, 88 pedestrians and seven fatal accidents.

Property damage in 1950, however, totaled $56,380, as compared to 1949's $47,945.

The December, 1950, report in Cumberland showed 749 parking violations, including 18 state cases. They included four drunken driving charges and 15 counts on careless driving.

Total accidents for the month included five pedestrians struck by motor vehicles, 24 vehicle collisions, one collision between a vehicle and a train and five cases of collisions with fixed objects.

Saturday proved to be the most dangerous day to drive in this city in December, with 11 accidents recorded. Tuesdays had a clean slate for the month.

Traffic enforcement officers said the December record is notable in that streets were slippery for much of the month due to weather conditions.

The record proves, they said, that most accidents can be prevented if motorists drive carefully, as they must when road conditions are unfavorable.

Delay Costs Miner Benefits

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 11 (AP) — An Allegany county coal miner waited too long to apply for silicosis disability benefits, the Maryland Court of Appeals ruled today.

The court upheld an Allegany County Circuit Court judgment that Harry Theodore Gower, a coal mine motorman, was not entitled to compensation for a bad lung condition because he had claimed to be disabled from silicosis in 1948, seven years after his last date of exposure.

The State Industrial Accident Commission had awarded Gower compensation.

The high court pointed to statute specifying no one can claim compensation for silicosis who does not report disability before three years after last exposure.

Teachers To Meet

The Allegany County Teachers Association will meet Saturday at 10 a. m. in Fort Hill High School. The meeting was originally planned in Allegany High School.

Suggestion Plan Is Adopted For Police, Firemen

Board To Judge Merit Of Ideas

Members of the Cumberland Police and Fire Departments are being invited to make suggestions for the improvements of the departments, Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long, announced yesterday.

Suggestion boxes, Commissioner Long said, have been placed in Police Headquarters and at all of the city's fire stations.

He said the plan is being adopted to "give the men on the job" an opportunity to express themselves.

The suggestion plan, he said, has proved its worth during the years it has been in operation in industry.

A Suggestion Board will be named to meet periodically and discuss the merits of suggestions offered by members of the department.

The board will consist of Commissioner Long, Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn, Acting Fire Chief William L. Lindner and one representative each from the police and fire departments.

Suggestions which the board finds have merit will be given a fair trial, pending formal adoption or rejection.

Suitable recognition will be given to members who make worthwhile suggestions, Commissioner Long said.

All suggestions will be judged on merit alone and must be signed before they may be brought before the Suggestion Board.

Farmers Should Submit Reports

Between 50 and 60 of the Allegany county farmers who participated in the Production and Marketing Administration's 1950 lime and fertilizer program have not yet submitted their required reports to the county committee's headquarters, 37 Washington Street.

Albert O'Neal, chairman of the county PMA committee, said yesterday that farmers should have come to the headquarters and made out their reports by December 31, 1950. Those who have not should comply with the report requirement immediately. Some 400 Allegany county farmers participated in the program last year. Their reports are supposed to show how much lime and fertilizer was used and where it was placed.

The county committee met yesterday to formulate plans for the 1951 program. It is planned that lime and fertilizer will be distributed this year on the basis of need rather than a flat figure per acre.

Handbooks and letters will be sent out next week announcing the 1951 program to county farmers. They must come to the Washington Street office by April 15 to apply for participation in the soil improvement program.

Mr. And Mrs. L. B. Brown Visit Friends Here

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie B. Brown, Brigantine, N. J., have been visiting friends and relatives here for the past week. Mrs. Brown was Miss Gertrude Matlick of this city, and a brother of Major Robert Mattlick here.

Mr. Brown is remembered here for his activity in the formation of the local Boy Scout Council and work with Boy Scout Troops. He was scout master of Troop No. 5 for a number of years. He was associated with the Kelly Springfield Tire Company and the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, here for a number of years and in 1938 was promoted to assistant manager at Hagerstown by the insurance company.

He was later promoted to assistant manager at Frederick and then transferred to Washington, D. C. In 1948 he purchased a business at Brigantine, which he is now conducting.

Committee Says 30,000 Favor County Library

Only One Group Opposed Proposal

Organizations representing 30,000 persons are in favor of the establishment of a county library in Allegany county, according to a recent letter from two of the officers of a committee which recently surveyed the library situation in the county.

The letter, signed by Mrs. Stanley Buckley, committee president, and Mrs. Lester B. Reed, committee secretary, has been released for publication by Mrs. Reed. It was sent to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners last month.

William H. Lemmert, president of the board, Wednesday said the committee's proposal will be turned down. He said the county board is opposed to participation in the state air program under which the county would be required to set aside certain sums for a mobile library, or a permanent library building. He said the cost would be prohibitive.

"First things come first, and we do not have the money to appropriate for library service when there are thousands of our residents out of work and in dire need," Lemmert declared.

The committee's letter read in part:

"Acting as your appointed committee, we have canvassed the entire community. We sent questionaires to organizations representing the whole population asking their reaction to the establishment of a county library in Allegany County.

The letters brought affirmative responses from groups representing 30,000 persons. There was one negative reply received.

"We believe, gentlemen, that you will agree with our conclusion that Allegany county persons wish for and deserve library service. If any further information is desired in regard to the survey, kindly let us know.

The letter also listed the organizations which replied affirmatively to the library questionaires. They were:

Homemakers Clubs throughout the county, PTAs, 4-H Clubs, Coin Clubs Western Maryland Motor Club, VFW organizations throughout the county, VFW auxiliaries, Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Rebekah Lodges, Women's Societies of Christian Service, Volunteer Fire Companies and Auxiliary, Dapper Dan Club and Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Francis Petrott Dies Suddenly In Frederick

FRANCIS PETROTT

FREDERICK, Md., Jan. 11 (AP)—Francis Petrott, secretary of state under former Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor and Maryland's adjutant general during World War II, died suddenly tonight at his home. He was 54 years old.

Dr. R. W. aBer, Frederick County medical examiner, said Petrott collapsed at his home about 10:30 p. m. and apparently died immediately.

Petrott was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1896, moving to Frederick in 1925, when he married the former Miss Mary James.

He was appointed secretary of state by O'Conor May 17, 1939, and served until May 15, 1941. Two years later he became state adjutant with the rank of major general.

A well-known attorney throughout the state, he also served as magistrate here for several years.

In September 1945 he was appointed a member of the Unemployment Compensation Board.

Auto Tag Bill Is Introduced By Delegation

Would Authorize County Distribution

A bill to authorize the Board of Allegany County Commissioners to designate an officer, other than the county treasurer, to sell motor vehicle tags in this county was introduced yesterday in the Maryland General Assembly.

The proposed measure was introduced in the House by the Allegany County Delegation. It was referred to the Ways and Means Committee.

The delegation said the distribution of motor vehicle tags in this county has been discussed for some time and that various proposals have been made for a county set up.

They pointed out that the distributor would have to be a county official or an agent of the Commissioners, since the set up would have to be supervised and bond would have to be posted.

In many counties, they pointed out, the work is done by the treasurer, who is also tax collector.

Delegate Horace P. Whitworth, Jr. yesterday introduced a resolution HJR2, to ratify the proposed constitutional amendment limiting the number of terms any person may be president of the United States to two. The resolution was referred to the Judiciary committee.

The Assembly adjourned until Monday at 8 p. m.

Trinity Church Will Install New Officers

Newly-elected officers of Trinity Lutheran Church will be installed at the regular service Sunday morning.

The officers are John F. Chisholm, president of the congregation; Karl Kiiffner, vice - president; Elmer Welsh, reelected secretary; C. E Hieserman, treasurer; Walter Kiiffner, Sunday School superintendent; Raymond Wigfield, L. Bealky, A. Kiiffner, Harold Knippenberg and Cloid True, members of the Church Council.

Officers were elected Monday at the annual meeting of the Voters' Assembly. At that time the annual report of the treasury revealed a balance of $1,300 at the close of 1950. The auditing committee reported completion of its work and all books of the congregation were correct and in good order.

News In Brief

Aliens of this section who did not register at the Cumberland Post Office by deadline time Wednesday have been given a two-week grace period until January 24, Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon said yesterday. A total of 83 aliens have registered here, records show.

The total of returns in the Christmas Seal Sale is $11,329 toward a goal of $15,000, officials of the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association said yesterday.

"The Calling of Matthew," a Cathedral film, will be shown in the Church of the Brethren, Second and Cedar Streets, at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. The public is invited.

Answer False Alarm

West Side Fire Company and Truck Company No. 1 were called to Prospect Square last night at 9:30 o'clock by a false alarm. Firemen said someone pulled Fire Alarm Box 16 there.

Area Singled Out In Report On Employment

State Group Cites Reasons For Jobless

"With the possible exception of the Cumberland and Oakland areas, there is no present need for a public works program."

That was the conclusion of a State committee, which has urged Maryland communities not to wait for a depression to solve their unemployment problems, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Annapolis.

The committee complimented local groups in Western Maryland and said "their zeal has demonstrated the important service that such a committee can render in working toward preventing unemployment."

City Needs New Plants

"In Cumberland," the committee declared, "too much dependence has been placed on a few industries," and new industries must be attracted. "Only by industrial growth can the area be permanently benefited," it said.

Oakland's problem was attributed to a decline in mining and added "there seems little hope for any improvement in that industry." Development of recreational facilities would offer some assistance, the committee said.

The Committee on Employment and Relief appointed at the suggestion of the 1950 General Assembly also called for "a shelf of public works" programs to help take up future slacks in employment.

William H. Mahaney, chairman of the Department of Employment Security, headed the committee.

Reports, distributed earlier to legislators, were made public yesterday.

A group of Senators, Delegates and State officials was assigned to survey employment problems.

Public Works Question

Whether local public works projects should be encouraged headed the list of questions placed before the committee on its appointment by Governor Lane. Rising unemployment in Western Maryland a year ago was one of the main reasons for the study.

Stimulated by war in Korea, more jobs were becoming available throughout the State even as its investigation progressed, the committee noted. It suggested the legislature seek current employment data on Cumberland and Oakland, where the increase had not been as pronounced.

"Had as much state and local interest been displayed in the whole problem of unemployment before disaster hit, the unemployment problems which developed might have been averted or at least lessened to a considerable degree," the committee said.

Some 70,600, or 7.5 per cent of the labor force, were unemployed in October 1949, the committee reported. Last October the number had dwindled to 42,800, or only 4.5 per cent of an expanded labor pool.

The committee described Maryland Jobless Compensation Law as "one of the most liberal in the country," which did much to alleviate "distress caused by unemployment."

It referred questions on Federal-State-County relationship in Social Security affairs to Dr. Elwyn A. Mauck, director of the State Fiscal Research Bureau. He will submit a separate report.

Makes Recommendations

If unemployment remains acute in the Cumberland and Oakland areas, the committee recommended to the Legislature that:

1. The immediate needs of the area be given priority consideration.
2. Contemplated state projects be accelerated in order to put some unemployed to work.
3. Wherever possible, County-State projects be set up as a works program with a sliding scale of matching funds.
4. The Employment Security Department intensify its testing program to determine additional aptitudes and skills of the jobless.
5. Training programs be set up to rehabilitate workers to other skills.
6. Some immediate thought be given to advancing funds for transportation of unemployed workers to other areas of the State.
